He became a powerful Senate figure as Democratic party leader during the Eisenhower administration, and sometimes was called "the prime minister" in the Senate, he said the groundwork for his political sagacity that helped him in the presidency to squeeze through the Congress Kennedy legislation probably faster and in more complete form than Kennedy himself could ever have hoped to do.

Meanwhile, the Johnson wealth was expanding from its origins in broadcasting at Austin, Texas. The real market value of these holdings today is judged in excess of $9,000,000.

Johnson's bid in 1960 for the presidential nomination was smothered by Kennedy in a bid for nationwide party. Kennedy asked Johnson to be his running mate and Johnson surprised many by accepting.

But it was taken for granted he was near the end of his political rise. He was the best briefed vice-president in U.S. history and he travelled extensively, once inviting back a Pakistani camel driver.

But he was not happy. Then last Nov. 22 he became the eighth vice - president elevated by death to the White House. Observers feel he will make a strong bid to still be there after the 1968 election.

IN THE BALL — Welder Fred Schmidt of Vancouver is working inside one end of what will look like a giant dumbell. This is part of Pisces, a $60,000 self-propelled diving machine designed to operate in water up to 3,000 feet deep off the coast of British Columbia. Pisces will consist of two iron spheres each eight feet in diameter, connected by a crawl tube. It will be manned by a crew of two. (CP Photo)

Submarine Workhorse Being Built at B. C. Iron Foundry

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $60,000 submarine workhorse is being built at a local iron foundry to plumb the geological secrets and industrial possibilities of the 2,000-foot-deep waters off the west coast of British Columbia.

The machine, which has the appearance of an oversize dumbell, 25 to 30 feet long, will be manned by a crew of two and will be self-propelled although operating from a mother ship.

The rig, the idea of Don Sorte of Northwest Diving Co. and Al Price of Universal Diving Co., will be equipped with its own lights, radio and a mechanical arm for use in underwater surveys, exploration, salvage and repair work.

Gino Gemma, spokesman for the two principals, said the maximum depth capability of 3,000 feet is equal to the deepest part of the continental shelf off B.C.

The vessel, taking shape at the Vancouver Iron and Engineering Works, consists of two separate iron balls each about eight feet in diameter. The two spheres will be connected by a crawl tube to form the shape of a dumbbell.

One sphere will house a two-man crew and will be equipped with six-inch-thick portholes of quartz. The other sphere will carry batteries and motors. The outside working arm will be controlled from inside the vessel.

The vessel will have a speed of about four knots and will be linked by radio to the mother ship.

The rig, named Pisces, may prove useful in the recovery of tugs, barges and other vessels that sink in more than 300 feet of water, the maximum depth at which skindivers can operate.

"We would also hope to be able to repair or inspect submarine cables and collect samples from the ocean bottom for oil companies doing offshore exploration work," Mr. Gemma said.

AA Group for Teen-agers Doing Good Work in Wpg.

By JIM NEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Alcoholics Anonymous group established for teen-agers is helping a group of young Winnipeg alcoholics tackle their problem.

Twenty-five members ranging in age from 17 to 20 have been meeting once a week at the YMCA for six months.

T. W. Breen, staff member of the Alcoholism Foundation of Manitoba, says all members belong to adult AA groups as well.

"The main reason they set up their own group is because they have trouble identifying themselves with older alcoholics. It's different when a teen ager can hear the problems of another person of his age."

When attending a meeting of an older AA group, Mr. Breen says, the teen - ager with a drinking problem has a tendency to say "I can't be an alcoholic, I'm too young." But talking to other teens with the same problem "knocks some of this reasoning down."

The young people take part in the same activities as older AA groups—visits to hospitals, provincial jail and federal penitentiary to tell of their experiences.

While there may be no more teen-agers with an alcohol problem than in the past, Mr Breen says, the fact that the stigma attached to alcoholism is being curbed may account for the fact more teen-agers are seeking help at an early stage.

MANY IN DANGER

"There is no doubt our rehabilitation work with teen agers is increasing and the incidence of alcoholism in these young people is probably a little greater in the city than in rural areas, but this is hard to prove because no statistics are available."

However, statistics do show that one in 12 to 15 students in high schools is a potential or active alcoholic, Mr Breen says.

"High school students giggle when I tell them that out by the time our meetings are over they are beginning to add up the statistics themselves".

No segment of the population was free from the danger of alcoholism and it was a recorded fact that the earlier a person started drinking the greater the danger he would end up an alcoholic.

Mr. Breen says the young AA group has discovered that alcoholism is not simply a drinking problem, "it is a total living problem."

"I know no other disease which will destroy the individual so completely, physically, mentally, emotionally and spiritually."

He cites the case of one group member who became an alcoholic while still in high school and had to drop out. After joining AA he was able to complete his secondary school education.

"He now has been sober for more than two years and has entered university while still taking part in AA activities."

Woods Near McMahon Bluff Burned Over

PICTON (Staff) — Fire swept over a large acreage of woods on the south side of McMahon Bluff at Black Creek, Monday.

It is believed to have started during the afternoon but was not noticed until dusk when a resident of South Bay saw the reflection and raised the alarm. The fire started at the western end and was working toward the mouth of Black Creek. It burned from the water's edge to the crest of the hill. Leaves, junipers, stumps and brush fed the fire but did not damage the bigger trees.

Camp Picton fire department was called and many volunteers aided in beating the fire out.

WOMAN SEEKS SEAT

Announcement that several members of town council plan to retire this year, has resulted in a number of persons expressing interest in seeking office.

Mrs. George Elson stated, that "I wish to add my name to the growing list of those seeking election to town council. I am most interested in the town in which I live and in which I am bringing up my family."

Mrs. Elson is the wife of the high principal of Prince Edward Collegiate.

CONSTABLE MOVES

Provincial Constable Angus Grant, popular member of the local detachment for the past three years, has been transferred to the Kingston detachment and will report for duty there following two weeks' annual leave.

Chinese Junks Popular as Pleasure Craft

HONG KONG (AP)—The junk —the maritime mainstay of the East—has taken a tack toward the West.

The exotic boats that look like half moons topped with butterfly wings have become popular as pleasure craft in the United States, Europe and Australia.

Production and export of junks sport such non-oriental features as wine chests, electric ranges and refrigerators. They range in length from 35 to 60 feet and in cost from $2,000 to $20,000.

The shipbuilders employ artisans steeped in Chinese tradition to do the ornate carving which gives the junks their exotic, distinguishing look. Some of the carvings take longer to complete than the hull and superstructure.

Junk-building is one of Hong Kong's oldest industries. Junks were built here, before the British took possession of the colony in 1841, for pirates who raided shipping along the China coast.

Commercial junks in the East range in length from 15-footers, which flit around harbors and bays fishing and carrying cargo to shore from steamers, to ocean-going 100 - footers which carry cargo from city to city.

'Unprecedented Lead' Shown For Johnson in Nearly All Polls

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Public opinion pollsters have had a rough time in this U.S. presidential election year trying to divine the intentions of the American voter.

Is President Johnson in fact as far ahead of Republican Senator Barry Goldwater as the polls indicate at this stage?

Generally, the figures give Johnson around 60 per cent of the votes to be cast Nov. 3.

Some polls run higher than that and some show a slightly lower figure. On Oct. 18, George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, gave Johnson 64 per cent and described this as an "unprecedented lead."

Are some factors, deep-seated and difficult to measure, operating for Goldwater?

On Oct. 13, pollster Louis Harris said the republican candidate "has cut President Johnson's lead." Harris put it at 58 per cent to 34 for Goldwater with eight per cent undecided.

THE POLLS SWING

How many voters are still undecided, refuse to state a preference, or may switch between now and election day?

On Oct. 22, Goldwater's campaign chairman, Denison Kitchel said Republicans are receiving "very encouraging reports" about switching.

Gallup, in an interview with U.S. News and World Report, said in the magazine's Oct. 5 issue he believed "about 80 per cent" of the voters have made up their minds.

Pollsters generally emphasize that their findings are "as of today" and that positions may change by election day.

Meanwhile, there is the record for this year — and the stunning results of some other years.

The pollsters did not hit the nail on the head in the Republican presidential primaries in New Hampshire, Oregon and California.

They did not detect the tide of write-in votes that gave the New Hampshire election to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. In Oregon, polls showed Lodge leading whereas New York's Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller won. In California, Rockefeller led in the polls but Goldwater won in the ballot box.

The recent elections in Britain also confounded the pollsters.

The Labor party won by 0.7 per cent.

On election day, Oct. 15, three major polls published their final surveys.

The National Opinion Poll picked Labor by three per cent.

The Gallup poll saw Labor winning by 2.5 per cent. And The Daily Express published results of its own survey showing the Conservatives winning by 0.3 per cent.

But these reverse-English results, in both the United States and Britain this year, are minor slips compared with the shockers of 1936 and 1948.

POLLED READERS

In 1936, the magazine Literary Digest sent out cards asking the preferences of more than 2,000,000 persons. On the basis of replies, the magazine concluded that Alfred M. Landon would defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt. Instead, there was a Roosevelt landslide.

Analysts today believe that magazine's—cards sent mainly to subscribers and others who were in the upper income brackets and therefore largely Republicans.

Since then polling techniques and methods of analysis have been refined.

However, in 1948, New York's Republican Governor Thomas E. Dewey appeared to be running so far ahead of President Truman that some pollsters stopped surveying long before election day. The three major polls gave Dewey 49.5, 50.1 and 52.8. They rated Truman at 45.0, 44.5 and 37.5 per cent.

How about the present election?

The Rural Scene

PICTON — Did you ever stop to consider the importance of taking a good soil sample. The following points may suggest that you need to change your techniques of sampling.

1. If soil tests are to be most useful in predicting fertilizer needs in the field, the soil sample must be representative of the soil in the field.

This is just good common sense — written and spoken many times. It usually refers to the need for collecting a good composite sample of soil from a uniform area in the field. This is important.

But — how the soil sample is treated between the time it is collected and the time it is tested may be just as important.

2. In the laboratory, a small sample (usually 1 to 10 grams) is used for each test. The small sample is supposed to represent as much as 10 acres of the plow layer of soil in the field.

The plow layer of soil on 10 acres will weigh about 20 million pounds. If this small laboratory sample is to adequately represent that 20 million pounds of soil, samples must be collected from several places in 10 acres. These samples must be thoroughly mixed so that the final sample contains some soil from the different places in the 10 acre field.

3. Never dry your soil sample before sending it for analysis. All the soil tests presently being used are set up to test moist soil — similar to field conditions. If you dry your sample the test may not give a true picture of your fertility needs.

Perhaps you say these soil tests are not too reliable if all these things influence the outcome — this may be partially true but this is still the best way to find out what your soil requires in producing that crop.

APPLE HARVEST

The apple harvest is all but completed in this area. This brings us to the next phase of apple production and that is trying to keep the trees alive over winter. Generally growers do not have too much trouble with winter injury as such—but every winter too many trees are damaged by mice.

If growers had no way of controlling these rodents, then one would not be critical —however, there are several products available on the market which, if used according to directions, will give excellent control of mice.

Control materials include poison cracked corn, poison grain bait and ground sprays. There is no need to go into the rates recommended here as all growers should have received a special letter on Rodent Control by this time.

Rabbits cause a lot of damage to young trees. Again there are materials available which when properly applied given excellent control of rabbits.

These materials for control of mice and rabbits are like the materials you use for disease and insect control. You can buy them—but if you leave them in your spray sheet—or don't apply them according to directions your control is not too good.

As a note of precaution it should be added that before using any material be sure that you read the label and understand how to apply the material before you start to use it.

CHAMPIONSHIP SHOW

Quebec States Its Case

'Grievances Are Desperate Enough for Violence . . .'

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP) — The crackle and roar of debate among Quebecers about the future of their fast - changing province now can be sampled by English - speaking Canadians despite the language barrier.

French-speaking advocates of federalism, separatism and other projected solutions to the problems of the province are represented in a collection of speeches, editorials and statements, all translated and published in book form as Quebec States Her Case.

The book has been issued by Macmillan of Canada in paperback and hardback form. It was edited by two Montrealers connected with the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

Frank Scott, a member of the commission, and Michael Oliver, head of its research department, present their wide-ranging collection in a green and white cover that proclaims: "(Quebec's) grievances are desperate enough to produce violence, urgent enough to threaten Confederation."

A total of 24 selections make up the volume, including Marcel Chaput's thunderous advocacy of separatism, the anguished moderation of Andre Laurendeau, the socialist oriented nationalism of Andre Major, the heated anti-separatist critiques penned by Pierre-Elliott Trudeau.

In an introduction to the 153 pages of word-wars, Mr Oliver writes that the "old, smug days" of indifference among English-speaking elements toward the problems of Quebec will be slow to return after the terrorist outbursts of 1963.

New industry, growing towns, greater educational opportunities, the impact of television and other forms of mass communication—all have produced a "social revolution" in Quebec, says Mr. Oliver.

The result has been a feverish moving forward, sometimes marked by verbal, if not physical, violence.

The contents of Quebec States Her Case feature a score of ideological clashes among the spokesmen represented, and thus they belie the title. For there is no single "case for Quebec" stated here. Instead, the reader witnesses the mind of a community, white-hot and split from contemplation of its national fate, thinking out loud.

There is Premier Lesage asking extra tax rights for Quebec under the constitution and a terrorist pamphleteer asserting that such structural changes are not enough, that "a national revolution is a framework of independence" is what Quebec needs.

ATTACKS DOGMATISM

"Few things irritate me as much as the fiery speech of the separatist promising us heaven on earth as soon as we become a republic—unless it be the dogmatic tone of economists and sociologists who weightily proclaim (though they cannot provide proof) that independence is an economic impossibility . . ."

Mr. Trudeau, a law professor at the French-language University of Montreal, declares that nationalism is "reactionary" and would mean death by suffocation for Quebec.

Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson demands an end to what he calls the "beggar's attitude" of Mr. Lesage toward Ottawa.

Mr. Chaput, formerly a leader of separatist parties, declares Independence "the only way for Quebecers to become "masters of their own destiny."

But Mr. Laurendeau, a co-chairman of the commission on bilingualism, assails such ideas though adding that "separatism will perhaps make people think."

"No more mysticism," cries Mr. Major, a 22-year-old poet, as Quebec's left and right lines map their vision of the future.

Prime Minister Suggests That Places for Advanced Studies Be Established

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson suggested Tuesday that institutes for advanced studies in a variety of fields be established across Canada.

He told the annual dinner of the National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges that all parts of Canada would have a common interest in a greater degree of specialization in post-graduate studies.

At present graduates faced a nation-wide employment market—that might take a graduate from the Maritimes to a job in Toronto. Canada was not big enough to have advanced courses of the highest standard available in several universities at once.

"I wonder, therefore, whether there could not be a co-operative agreement to establish an institute for advanced studies in, say, economics in Montreal . . . physics in Toronto . . . public administration in Ottawa . . . chemistry in Vancouver . . . agriculture in Saskatoon . . . political science in Quebec City."

CONCERNS OTTAWA TOO

Education was a matter of provincial jurisdiction but there were ways it concerned the federal government. The federal government, through progressive reduction of its share of income taxes, would turn over $30,000,000 to the provinces this year.

"Earlier the conference heard a plea from Rev. Gerard Fortier, director of the University of Ottawa's extension program, for government aid for part-time students.

In a brief from the Canadian association of directors of extension and summer schools, he said part-time enrolment at many Canadian universities now is larger than full-time registration.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARTER, Sports Editor

There's a gallant gentleman, sportsman and one of the best sports columnists to wring copy out of a typewriter, down Kingston way whose cup of nostalgia ran over this morning.

He is Michael J. Rodden, personal friend, ex-collumn confrer, an erudite former sports editor, who was, like a great many more shocked at the news of the passing of Fred J. Mickey Ion.

I did not know Mr. Ion but the opinions of Mike Rodden, Frank King Clancy, Jolly Jawn Adams and a few other hockey experts are good enough for me.

Mr. Ion died at the age of 78 in a Seattle, Washington nursing home. He suffered in his later years from diabetes which eventually caused the amputation of both legs.

Ion came from the school of referees whose brilliant records marked them as tops of their profession—and that goes for present-day whistle-blowers. Ion, Mike Rodden, Cooper Smeaton were perhaps the greatest trio of hockey officials ever to thumb an erring player off the ice. Lou Marsh and King Clancy were graduates of this great three-man institution of official learning.

A few years ago Mr. Rodden told me that in his belief Ion was the greatest man in hockey ever to don the sweater and whistle—or bell.

"He was fearless and backed from no one, player, manager, coach, or the higher ups," Mike said. "He knew hockey and the players knew he knew it. His decisions were always final and he was one referee, I can safely say, who never made a wrong call."

"There's nothing but ice water running in his veins," said King Clancy discussing the merits of Ion as a referee. Clancy knew all this, because when he quit active hockey to take up refereeing, it was from Ion he learned the art of being an official in the great winter pastime.

Jack Adams told me that Ion was the greatest referee who ever lived because he never spoiled a hockey game by calling cheap penalties. "He knew the rules thoroughly and was a showman in his own quiet way and being a big league lacrosse player where it was tough and rough, we all knew he had guts and respected him for it."

Ion was born in Paris, Ontario, on February 25th, 1886, and his early sports activities were confined mostly to baseball and lacrosse.

Lacrosse was his first love and he made the jump to professional ranks with the Toronto Tecumseh as a defenceman, then went to Vancouver for three years and finished out his active career with New Westminster.

As a hockey referee he took up this part of the game first in 1912-13 and his first professional game was at New Westminster. He had, prior to this, worked as a referee in amateur games. Frank Patrick gave him his chance in professional company and he became the lone official in Pacific Coast League games.

When western professional hockey became inactive, Ion moved east and joined the National Hockey League and there became a top official working in hundreds of games, including the Stanley Cup playoffs.

His final game as a referee was in the Howie Morenz Memorial game in the Montreal Forum in 1943.

He was made a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame and enjoys that honor with three other top hockey officials: Rodden, Cooper Smeaton and Chancer Elliott of Kingston.

Elliott became a hockey referee in 1903 and it was said of him that he was one of the best men ever to step on the ice in the Ontario Hockey Association. For ten years he handled games, both league and highly important playoffs. He died in Kingston on March 14, 1913, at the age of 34.

Vancouver Clobbers Seals 10-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks scored their second straight lopsided victory over San Francisco Seals in the young Western Hockey League schedule Tuesday night, a 10-1 trouncing before 2,132 fans in Vancouver.

The victory moved Vancouver into a three-way tie for second place in the league standings with Los Angeles Blades and Portland Buckaroos—two points behind Seattle Totems.

The lone Seals' marksman was Larry Lund.

At Victoria, Lou Jankowski scored at 8:41 of sudden-death overtime to give Victoria Maple Leafs a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles Blades.

Also netting Leaf goals were Bill Shmyr, Milan Marcetta and defenceman Fred Hucul. Brian Smith scored twice for the Blades while Willy O'Ree got the other.

Victoria coach Rudy Pilous announced following the game that defenceman Claude Labrosse, a former Montreal Canadien chattel, will report to the Maple Leafs today.

Leafs Nip Hawks In Wordy Wing-Ding

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs must be taking Billy Reay's prediction seriously.

The Chicago coach called the Leafs to capture first place in the National Hockey League in a cakewalk. Toronto apparently agreed and now maybe even Reay believes his own forecast.

Reay's Black Hawks met the Maple Leafs for the first time this season Tuesday night and saw the Toronto club climb into the NHL lead with a 3-1 victory in a thrilling encounter that saw tempers flare.

George Armstrong, Andy Bathgate and Ron Stewart scored within a six-minute span during the second period as the Leafs overcame Chicago's 1-0 lead and hung on through a wild final period.

Stan Mikita scored the opening goal for the Hawks running his individual scoring output to 14 points, and Bill Hay tallied after Toronto had taken a 3-1 lead.

It took referee John Ashley to keep Bobby Hull, Bill Pavelich and Reay from exchanging blows after the game. The two men disagreed on a ruling Pavelich made in the final minute.

The linesman called the Hawks' goal offside when Reay attempted to remove goalie Glenn Hall for an extra attacker with 18 seconds remaining.

RADIO REACHES BOWCH

Pavelich ruled the extra man stepped on the ice before Hall got to the bench.

Mikita protested strongly and was handed a 10-minute misconduct penalty to be served for that and came into bodily contact with the official, he was banished for the rest of the game with a match misconduct.

The two penalties cost Mikita an automatic $75 and Ashley must make a report on the incident to NHL president Clarence Campbell who may deal further with those involved.

As the players and officials were leaving the ice, Reay made his feelings known to Pavelich and Ashley had to intercede to prevent a clash.

Toronto dominated the play, firing 40 shots at Hall while the Hawks tested Leaf goalie Terry Sawchuk with 30.

It was the first game of the Leafs heavy schedule this week They play four games in six nights and meet Montreal at home tonight while Boston visits New York.

The triumph moved the unbeaten Leafs into first place with nine points, two more than Chicago, Detroit and Montreal.

Play In Calgary Tonight

Lions, Stamps Eye First Place

CALGARY (CP)—If Calgary Stampeders can defeat British Columbia Lions at home tonight, they will break a two year jinx besides getting into first place in the Western Football Conference.

Stampeders' inability to beat the Lions cost them first place last year and again this season —so far.

Three times last year if Calgary had beaten the Lions they would have gone into first place Calgary's inability to beat B.C. in two previous meetings this year, has kept the Stampeders out of first place.

Over the last two years, the Lions have beaten the Stampeders five straight times, including 21-4 and 12-7 in their last two games.

The weatherman said tonight's game may be played in light rain or snow and freezing temperatures.

Dave Skrien's Lions need only to win against Calgary or against Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Vancouver Sunday to clinch first place and a bye into the three-team playoffs. Winnipeg is in last place in the five-team WFC.

Joe Stanka Draws $35,000

Baseball In Japan Pays Well

WAYNOKA, Okla. (AP)—Big Joe Stanka, who left Chicago White Sox of the American League after the 1959 season because his proffered contract wasn't too good, earns around $35,000 a year playing baseball in Japan and says he would not like to be in the sport in the United States now.

Stanka, a six-foot, five-inch redhead, pitched Nankai Hawks to the Japanese world series championship. He started four games in the series and won three, all shutouts.

"There are six teams in our league and three of them are in Osaka where we live," he said, explaining why he likes to play ball in Japan. "I'm home most of the time. Also, I pitch one night, then I'm off until I start again. I don't pitch in relief."

The 32-year-old right-hander is pleased with last season's performance that he's dropped plans to retire immediately and enter the insurance business in Oklahoma.

WINTER IN JAPAN

Stanka, his wife Jean, sons Joe, 14, and Jim, 10, and daughter Janet, 3, spend the winter here.

He won six games during the final month. It was his 4-0 victory in the seventh game that decided the Japanese championship.

Two other Americans are on the Hawks' roster. They are former Milwaukee Brave shortstop Johnny Logan and first baseman Kent Hadley, who played with Kansas City Athletics two years and with New York Yankees in 1960.

Stanka said he earns "around $35,000." The average American in Japanese ball draws an average of $15,000.

Mayor Faces Puck

Minors Open 1964 Season

Close games marked the opening of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association's 1964-65 season at Memorial Arena here last night.

Official opening ceremonies mid-way through the evening saw his Worship Mayor Jack Ellis take the faceoff against B.M.H.A. president Ed Adamson.

One shutout and two "cliff-hangers" featured the squirt division's triple-bill.

Teepees nipped the Leafs 3-2. Billy Coughlin, John Venutti and Grant Goegan triggered a goal each for the winners. Leaf goals were scored by Terry Bridge and Nick Adams.

Maroons defeated the Wings 5-3. Warren Day and Peter Moskaki fired two goals apiece on Maroons' behalf. John Masterson added the other goal. David Sullivan was a two-goal man with David Smith notching the other for the Wings.

Two midget section games were also played.

A second-period goal by R. Rosebush gave the Leafs a 3-2 decision over the Canadiens. D. Lambert and B. LaRue had the other Leaf goals and D. Atkinson drew one assist. A. Fort and W. Brown were the Canadiens' marksmen while R. Hannah had an assist.

Elks' Black Hawks got a four-goal performance from T. Wellesley while clipping the Wings 7-3. J. Cole added a brace of goals and D. Middleton one. D. Prentice earned two helpers and D. Whalen one. W. Mott fired all three Wing goals in a losing effort. E. Hanoski picked up as many assists.

The tyke, peewee and bantam divisions swing into action on the coming weekend.

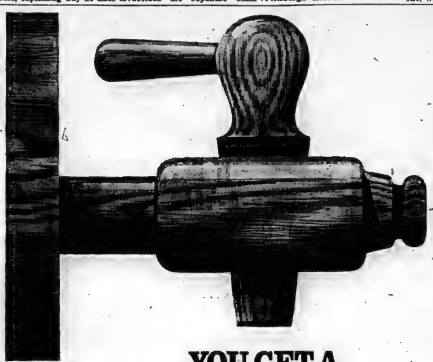
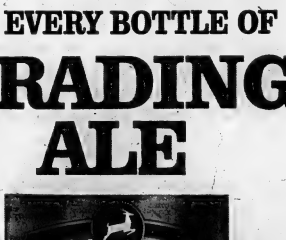
Will Spend $300,000 On Course

ST. CATHARINES (CP) Dredging of the Henley rowing course off Henley Island in the old Welland Canal near here will begin next week, it was announced Tuesday.



The public works department in Ottawa said that Antlel Construction Company Limited of St. Catharines has been awarded a $170,940 contract to construct a berm—an underwater retaining wall—as the first step to clean up the waterway.

The dikes will come still pumped from the bottom of the course which is the site of the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta, and all major Canadian rowing events since 1903.



The dredging project, expected to cost more than $300,000 when completed, is designed to bring the course up to international rowing standards in preparation for a world regatta here in 1967.

The regatta will be connected with celebration of Canada's centennial of Confederation with competitors from all over the world expected to take part.

Canadians Had Second-Rate Attitude

...Says Olympics Physician

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canadians are willing to accept a second rate place as a nation of athletes and are not willing to go out and fight to better their position, Dr. Paul B. Hauch, team physician for the 1964 Canadian Olympic team said Tuesday.

Other countries "think we're nice fellows but they don't regard us too seriously," said Dr Hauch, a Londoner, in an interview on his return from the Olympic Games at Tokyo.

Dr. Hauch, a well known figure in Canadian swimming, said this year's Canadian swimmers did much better than any previous team. So too did the rest of our contingent, he added

But unless Canada steps up its financing its program and work in swimming before the 1968 Games in Mexico "we'll only be finalists but not medalists."

The "second rate" attitude, he said, gets into Canada's athletes. Before leaving for Tokyo he sent medical forms to 70 of the athletes to complete. He got back 17, he said, none of them filled out completely.

Dr. Hauch said Canada's talent is too thinly spread and, unlike the Americans and Australians who have two or three swimmers in each event, Canadian swimmers and trackmen have to compete in two, three or four events.

There is a big need to get more people swimming competitively and more co-operation from public recreation centres, said Dr. Hauch, who added that there were about 3 000 amateur swimmers registered in Canada this year—not as many as in the state of Michigan.

In another criticism, Dr. Hauch said he thinks training in Canada is "dragged out" too long. He agrees with the Australian training where swimmers train for six months and for the next six months work out at various other sports, always staying in shape

Dr. Hauch said he believes there are many good athletes in Canada's country areas who never get a chance because of lack of proper coaching. He added that physical education programs in elementary and secondary schools need to be revamped to the position where they are not "just ballyhooing" the football and basketball teams.

Dr. Hauch, who managed the Canadian swimmers at the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne, and who has attended numerous international events in which Canadians have taken part, summed up his personal feeling on Canada's athletic accomplishments:

"It's disappointing when you don't see the Canadian flag on that masthead too often. You kind of get used to it but you keep hoping it'll change."

Aces Still Unbeaten

QUEBEC (CP) — Unbeaten and untied Quebec Aces romped to their ninth straight victory of the American Hockey League season Tuesday night, scoring three second-period goals to register a 5-3 triumph over Baltimore Clippers.

The Aces never trailed as Ed Hoekstra and Leon Rochefort provided a 2-0 lead in the opening frame and Guy Rousseau, Terry Gray and Cleland Mortson added tallies in the second period.

It was 3-0 before Baltimore scored, getting goals from Bryan Hextall in the second and Val Fonteyne in the third.

The victory left Quebec two games short of tying the AHL winning streak record of 11, set by Cleveland in the 1943-44 season.

Juniors Suffer First Defeat

Quinte Edges PECI 13-8

By ROBERT SNEPSELLA

The juniors suffered their first check of the season, absorbing a 13-6 loss.

The final games of regular season play for Quinte come next Friday, when they meet Napanee. For the juniors, especially, this will be a crucial game, as they are now tied with Napanee at four wins and a loss.

Throughout most of the senior game, it looked as though Picton would topple the league leaders. With one and a half minutes left in the game, Bill Gallagher scored for Picton on 35-yard pass play to give them an 8-7 lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, however, Grant "Speedy" Vandervoort raced down the sidelines, over and around would be tacklers and scored the decisive major for Quinte. The play covered 80 yards.

Vandervoort, who seems to thrive on kickoff returns, had scored the other Quinte major earlier in the game on a similar play.

Gallagher booted two singles for Picton as well as scoring their lone touchdown.

His was the second major to be scored all year against the Quinte defence.

The team as a whole has allowed 39 points in five games.

Interceptions by Jack Reppard and Ray Finkle and a fumble recovered by Harry Knott were key defensive plays for Quinte.

Eric Emerson gave Quinte a short-lived 6-0 lead with a spectacular 105-yard run for the TD. On the preceding play he had averted a sure Picton touchdown by recovering a fumble on the Quinte 4-yard line.

Picton started a relentless drive and worked their way to the Quinte four again, from where Larry Lawrence burst over for the touchdown.

Danny Dulmage blocked a Quinte punt and took it to pay-dirt for Picton's second score. The convert was good.

Had Spate Of Injuries

Als' Dixon Had Tough Season

MONTREAL (CP) —What's wrong this year with George Dixon, leading rusher in the Eastern Football Confe.rence the last two seasons?

The Montreal Alouettes' ground attack, which produced only 594 yards in 108 carries this season for a 5.5-yard average, and fumbled only six times left to play in the east'rn schedule.

"George is having a real tough time," said Alouette coach Jim Trimble after the game here last Sunday against Ottawa in which Dixon picked up two injuries. He fajured a hip and wrenched his thumb, and won't be in the lineup Sunday when the Als go against Hamilton Tiger - Cats in the EFC's final game.

Dixon's disappointing performance this season has been blamed on two things—a spate of injuries, and the fact that Alouettes have been concentrating on a pass offence. Montreal's twin flanker offence has cut short Dixon Dixon's ball carrying opportunities.

Also, in the absence of the retired Don Clark, his breakaway threat of the last few season, opposing teams have been keying on Dixon in every game.

Dixon has been troubled most of the season with a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg. The hip injury, a painful bruise on the bone which he suffered in Sunday's game, occurred on the left leg.

Mickey Ion Dies At 78

SEATTLE (CP) — Fred J. (Mickey) Ion, 78, a member of Hockey's Hall of Fame, died in a suburban nursing home Monday night.

Ion, a native of Paris, Ont., was a professional lacrosse player, in Toronto, Vancouver and New Westminster, B.C.

Turning to hockey, he began as referee in the old Pacific Coast League in 1912-13 and later moved east to embark on a career as top referee in the National League.

Ion refereed his final NHL game in Montreal in 1943. In later years here, he suffered from diabetes, both his legs were amputated.

He had been a patient in a nursing home in Redmond, Wash., for several years.

The Big Seven

Stan Mikita looks like a sure bet to pick up the first-half scoring title in the National Hockey League scoring race at the rate he is accumulating points.

But he may need it just to break even.

Chicago Black Hawks centre picked up two points on a goal and assist in Saturday's 5-2 win over Toronto Tuesday night. Mikita now has 12 points, six more than the Leafs.

The bonus money may balance his books. The scrappy performer has only 975 in the hole because of misconduct penalties, both picked up against Toronto.

He was banished for 10 minutes at 19:42 of the third period, then an automatic fine of $25. When he persisted arguing he was thrown out of the game, drawing an automatic $50.

Ada McKenzie Second In Women's Golf

PINE HURST, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Jack Somerville of Riverton, N.J., held a one-stroke lead today over defending champion Ada MacKenzie of Richmond Hill, near Toronto, in the annual North and South Senior ladies golf championships.

Mrs. Somerville shot a 78 Tuesday to Miss MacKenzie's 79 in the opening round of the 54-hole event at Pinehurst's country Club.

Mrs. John F. Haskell of Titusville, Pa., and Mrs. Victor Ryder of Flint, Mich., were tied at 80, two strokes off the pace and Mrs. Paul Streit of Chevy Chase, Md., was another stroke back at 81.

'Will Granny Get Medal?' Asks Prince

LONDON (AP)—On a richly carpeted floor of Buckingham Palace, Queen Elizabeth carefully measured out 22 feet, two inches for her four - year - old son, Prince Andrew.

That she told him, was the distance Britain's Mary Rand had broad jumped to shatter the women's world record and win a gold medal at the Tokyo Olympics.

"He just wouldn't believe anyone could jump that far," the Queen laughingly told Mrs. Rand at a buffet lunch at the palace Tuesday.

"Now every time somebody wins a sports event he says: 'Will they get a medal?' My mother's horse won a race on Saturday and he asked me 'Will granny get a medal too?'"

Mrs. Rand, triple medalist at the Games, was among more than 100 members of the British team who were entertained by the Queen at the palace.

Arfons Sets Another Speed Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Art Arfons figures he reached the 600-mile-per-hour mark when he again broke the world land speed record with a clocking of 536.71 m.p.h. Tuesday on these western Utah salt flats.

And his jet - powered car had a tire blowout. he said, when his air speed indicator showed 600 m.p.h.

But the Green Monster rolled to a stop without incident although the right rear panel of his car was damaged.

Arfons of Akron, Ohio, said he wasn't a bit frightened but "irritated" at the car did what we came out to do—break the record."

It was the fourth time in the last month that the record has been broken, and the second time by Arfons. He established the record of 434.02 that Breedlove broke.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Gerald Lee Hahn, 15, a sophomore fullback on the junior varsity team at Eastwood High School in Pemberville, collapsed and died on the football field at the school Monday. Authorities said they believed a heart ailment caused the death, but an autopsy was to be conducted.

Tournament Golf Said Overrated

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto golf professional Al Balding said Monday night that tournament golf is overrated when it comes to making a living.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Ontario Professional Golfers Association, Balding said:

"Many hockey and baseball players make $15,000 to $20,000 plus expenses. If you make $15,000 in golf, you haven't made a nickel. They always look at the money winnings, not at the expenses."

The 40 - year - old touring pro, who has nine years of experience behind him, suggested that the fault of the misunderstanding lies with the Professional Golfers Association in the United States. He said the PGA stresses money earned rather than scoring average.

Asked whether it is tougher to win on tour today than when he first started, Balding said no.

"There are better players, but when you do make a good showing you make money. When I started $300 or $400 was a good pay day. Now that's just expenses."

The former brewery truck driver said he didn't have much a guess as to when he plans to quit the tour. "It will all depend on when the right job comes along," he said.

Young Tops College Scorers

TORONTO (CP)—Eric Welter of second-place McGill Redmen has moved into first place in the Senior Intercollegiate Football League scoring race with five touchdowns in four games for 30 points.

Statistics released by the league Tuesday show Jim Young of Queen's Golden Gaels and Bryce Taylor of the University of Toronto Blues tied for second at 25 points. Vic Wozniuk of Toronto is alone in third spot with 24 points.

Heino Lilles and Cal Connor, both of Queen's, are tied for fourth place with 18 points while Art Froese of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs is fifth with 13 points.

Boom-Boom Wanted To Quit In .55

QUEBEC (CP) — Bernard Geoffrion, former star of Montreal Canadiens and now coach of Quebec Aces, said Monday night he wanted to quit the Canadiens at the end of the 1955-56 season.

Speaking to a service club, Geoffrion, who left Montreal last spring to take over the American Hockey League Aces, said that at the end of the 1955-56 season he asked the NHL team management to sell his contract or trade him.

Geoffrion was criticized by Canadiens fans for beating Maurice (Rocket) Richard in the NHL individual scoring championship in the 1954-55 season.

Richard had been leading but was suspended near the end of the season and Geoffrion passed him.

Despite all the admiration that I had for the Rocket," Geoffrion said, "I had no intention of presenting him the scoring championship and the money that goes with it on a silver platter."

After hearing fans' criticism for a month or so, he wanted out. "I could not take it any longer and I tell you I did not want to play in the metropolis any longer."

UP TO 36% OFF spring catalogue prices

Last winter, with the introduction of new tread designs, we decided to discontinue the WINTER EXPRESS, which had proven so reliable for almost a decade. But too many customers said "NO", and so many past users continued to demand the WINTER EXPRESS for replacement purposes that we simply could not afford to disappoint them!

Now the WINTER EXPRESS . . . the "old faithful" . . . is back in full production. Better still, as a special re-introductory offer, prices are at an ALL-TIME LOW! Because the cost of the molds has already been covered, you pay only for materials and labor. The result . . . HUGE SAVINGS FOR YOU!

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Rare Port returned Tuesday from a 40-40 sojourn on the Prairie racing circuit and ran away with the money in the featured seventh race at Greenwood.

The three-year-old colt of Golden West Farms, a candidate for the Queen's Plate until leg trouble intervened and sent him West, broke from the gate in front and stayed there for the seven-furlong sprint.

Back from a summer trip west in which he scored one victory and placed twice in six starts, Rare Port won Tuesday by almost six lengths over Tanwood and Spook Rider.

Ridden by Wayne Harris, Rare Port paid favorite's money of $6.40, $4.10 and $3.20 to backers among the 7 218 fans

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A quinella of $442.20—a record for the 1964 Ontario harness racing season — was paid Tuesday night at the Garden City Raceway.

One $5 ticket was sold on the combination of Favonian Melody, owned by Clayton Brock of London, Ont., and Wee Governor, owned by Mike McGrath and Ken Kavanagh of St. Catharines, in the sixth. This ticket paid $1,105.50.

In the featured $1,200 mile-pace, single heat, owned by James W. Baskin of Renfrew, Ont., came home 1½ lengths ahead of Dennis C. Grattan with Tommy Direct third. Single Goose paid $19.20, $10.90, and $4.30.

Driver Earl Shea of Bethany, Ont., was fined $50 and driver Harry Payne of Brighton, Ont., was handed five-night suspension following infractions during the raceway's opening Monday night.

TAYLOR BUYS HORSES

LONDON (CP)—Seven thoroughbred yearlings, among 11 purchased by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, will be flown to Toronto Monday by chartered aircraft. George Bockwell, who manages Mr. Taylor racing interests in Britain, said 10 of the 11 yearlings were obtained at the Newmarket auction last week.

BLAMES N.Y. PRESS

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — Tony Kubek says the New York press was partially to blame for the downfall of Yogi Berra, fired as manager of the Yankees the day after the World Series. The Yankee shortstop, who had to sit out the series due to a wrist injury, charged in an interview at his home here that "numerous incidents, like the one with Phil Linz and the harmonica, were blown way out of proportion."

SIGN GIBBS

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions signed Sonny Gibbs as a free agent Tuesday to back up quarterback Milt Plum, after the National Football League voted to liberalize its 40-player limit. At the same time, the Lions put quarterback Earl Morrall on the injured reserve list for the remainder of the season.

Generals Trounce Rangers 11-1

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Oshawa Generals extended their unbeaten streak to seven games here Tuesday night as they whipped Kitchener Rangers 11-1 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game.

The victory, Oshawa's fourth with three ties, gave them 11 points, one less than league-leading Niagara Falls Flyers. The Generals have a game in hand.

Bill Little, Bobby Orr and Danny O'Shea scored two goals apiece for the winners. Other Oshawa marksmen were Chris Roberts, Paul Reid, Darryl Leach, Bob Kilger and Wayne Cashman.

Hornets Add Two Players

GALT (CP)—Left winger Bob McKnight and defenceman Bob Hall have been added to the roster of Galt Hornets of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior League.

McKnight, a 26-year-old, has scored better than a point a game in four years with Galt clubs. He has 153 points; 65 of them goals, in 131 games. He formerly played with Toronto St. Michael's College Majors and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Hall, 21, scored 24 points in his rookie senior season with Welland Burloaks last year. The Toronto native won an appeal to the OHA for his release from Welland.

SCHMIDT LOSES

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manuel Gonzalez, fourth ranked welterweight, stopped Peter Schmidt of Toronto at 2:59 of the eighth round of their scheduled 10-round boxing match Tuesday night. Gonzalez, a native of Odessa, Tex., who fights out of Houston, alternated at playing tiger and mouse. But he found the range to rock Schmidt's head with a many as five punches in a combination.

Millionaire Started With Peanuts

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nat Bailey is a man of means who arrived non-stop from pauperdom.

Vancouver knows the 62-year-old Mr. Bailey as the man who runs the White Spots, a dozen drive-in restaurants sprinkled in choice locations across the metropolitan area.

Three generations of motorists have made the White Spot an institution with a public image guaranteeing Mr. Bailey a hearing before restaurants anywhere in North America.

Vancouver also knows Nat Bailey as the sugar daddy of the Vancouver Mounties, a currently extinct entity that ate up tens of thousands of his dollars trying to survive in Pacific Coast League baseball.

As with so many self-made men, he started with peanuts—literally as well as figuratively.

When Nat Bailey was nine he took to the street selling popcorn and peanuts.

Then it was 10-cent hamburgers from a truck in Stanley Park.

On the side he was Caruso Nat, the circus barker and announcer at the penny arcade and wrestling arena, and the mastermind of food-and-drink concessions.

Carhop service, key to a fortune, was born one day when an indolent friend shouted to the hamburger truck: "Why don't you bring it to us?"

STARTING IN 1928

An $11 cheque in payment for levelling the site of his first drive-in White Spot in 1928 overdrew Mr. Bailey's account by $7. But the drive-in flourished and held through the Depression and war years, with wife Eva throwing in two decades of toil herself.

Nat Bailey kept five men with him almost from the start—Bob Stout, Ernie Creamer, Cecil Eustache, Roy Parkinson and Art Jones. Reorganizing his holdings 12 years ago, Mr. Bailey sold his restaurant business to the five but kept ownership of all land.

His $10,000 annual salary as comptroller of their White Spot Restaurants holding company is incidental. His main income derives from renting his property to the company at a formula based on five per cent of volume.

"The income tax people say if you earn more than $50,000 a year you're a millionaire", Mr. Bailey says. "So I guess I'm a millionaire."

The empire owned by the five partners and sitting on Mr. Bailey's land includes:

STARTED AT BOTTOM — Nat Bailey, a 62-year-old restaurateur, who owns 13 drive-in restaurants in Vancouver and Victoria, started his career on the streets selling popcorn and peanuts. Now in addition to his White Spots, Mr. Bailey and five partners own an industrial catering firm, a chicken farm and the 70-room Villa Motor Hotel. (CP Photo)

BORROWED MILLION

Their annual gross prior to acquisition of the hotel last summer was more than $6,000,000. Buying the hotel was an unprecedented step for Mr. Bailey who came up with $150,000 cash and a $1,000,000 loan.

That took the hotel out of the courts where it had landed after the original owners lost a battle to keep going until a nearby freeway was built.

Mr. Bailey says it should be ready to pay about now and he's employing the techniques he has used all along—cost control and economization.

With an accounting system that defies an outsider's analysis, Mr. Bailey knows to the last fraction of a cent the price of each ingredient and sies in preparing the 2,250,000 hamburgers he sold last year, the 15,000 tons of potato chips, the 100,000 pies, the 200,0 dozen buns, the 75,000 three-pound loaves of bread and general commissary serves all Greater Vancouver outlets by truck, baking all breads and pastries, cooking chicken from the farm, laundering uniforms and storing everything for the operation.

HIRES EXPERTS

The best available experts on food services are hired to lecture the 50 restaurant managers. One expert came here from Texas last year and stayed two weeks at a cost to the company of $3,000. Carhops and kitchen staff take winter classes, and many of the 900-plus employees are asked to "solve business problems.

Mr. Bailey's father originally came to Vancouver from Seattle, and it occurred to Nat last year that he had never gotten around to becoming a Canadian citizen, so he did.

There is no university or secondary school education in Nat Bailey's background.

"Education?" he will ask a visitor, sweeping open the doors of a huge cabinet. "There's my education. Trade magazines. Hundreds of them. I read them all. I gobble them up."

One of six founders of the Canadian Restaurant Association, Mr. Bailey is pained to see restaurants racking up one of the highest failure rates in the country.

People who can't keep track of dollars and cents in the game fail, he says, "and they always will as long as they can go to city hall and get a license without an examination. They don't know their figures."

Panagabko Leads Central Pro

DETROIT (CP)—Pete Panagabko, play making right winger of Minneapolis Bruins, holds first place in the scoring race of the Central Professional Hockey League after the first full week of the season.

Panagabko, in his seventh season in the minor pro hockey ranks, scored nine points on two goals and seven assists in the Bruins' first five games.

Team - mate Billy Kelaher with two points behind with seven on five goals and two assists.

Joe Watson, also of Minneapolis, and Mel Pearson of St Paul Rangers share third spot with six points apiece.

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Good will Johnie, a 16-year-old gelding, is reaching the end of his racing career but he showed vigor Tuesday night at the Western Fair Raceway when he captured the seventh race, pacing the mile in a fairly fast 2:11 1-5.

With owner Lloyd Lorenz in the sulky, Goodwill Johnie came through the stretch on the outside to beat a field of $800 claimers. He returned $11.60 for the win and fashioned an exacta of $41.70 with Huron Boy in second spot.

'Only Roommate I'll Have Is an Otter' - Jane Fonda

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The nagging question when you see Jane Fonda is: Is she becoming another Brigitte Bardot?

She's been the toast of France for nearly two years.

And at 26, she's four years younger than Brigitte.

"I don't think I've changed much," says Jane, back in Hollywood to make her first western Cat Ballou. "About the only thing I enjoy now that I didn't enjoy two years ago is travel ling."

But basically, Jane's still Jane — an exotic product of childhood as the daughter of a Hollywood star of eastern private school training, and of several years as a star in her own right.

There's another similarity to the old Jane. She still does for men she can least resist.

Two years ago, it was Greek director Andreas Voutzinas. Jane was making Period of Adjustment at MGM and going over her lines after work in her Malibu beach house with Andreas.

Roger's almost always around, too. Sometimes, the effect's rather bizarre

"There we were on location in the hills of Colorado," says a co-worker.

"And here was this French man in horned rim glasses reading Mad magazine all by himself, sitting on a camp chair on the mountainside."

"They weren't stand-offish," says the co - worker. "They joked around with everyone. He's a friendly guy."

When she's finished Cat Ballou, Jane and Roger will fly back to France where she owns a farm outside Paris.

Will she live there as Jane Fonda or Mrs Roger Vadim?

"The only roommate I'm going to have is an otter" says Jane. "I'm not going to settle down for a long time."

MAKES UN CONTRIBUTION

CANBERRA (AP) — Acting Foreign Minister John Gorton of Australia announced Tuesday the Australian government had agreed to contribute $100,000 toward United Nations costs of a third period of three months of the UN peace force in Cyprus.

Provincial School Already Too Small

VANCOUVER (CP)—A school of technology in suburban Burnaby has itself become the victim of effects it was set up to stem—the rate of progress that outmodes everything it touches.

British Columbia's Provincial Institute of Technology, just launching its first year's courses, is already too small, says principal E. Cecil Roper.

He has spent a year assembling a staff of 87 instructors to teach the first year's schedule of 17 courses to some of the first of their kind in Canada.

Equipped at a cost of $7,000,000, the Institute has an initial freshman class of 750, with another 750 to be enrolled next year. Annual fees are $150.

Such schools are sorely needed, Mr. Roper said. The changing pattern of job opportunity in the last 10 years shows a big increase in semi-professional and professional occupations.

There were only 2,000 graduates from technical institutes available to the Canadian labor market in 1961, although 18,000 were required and could have been placed. At the same time many men were unemployed because they lacked specialized skills.

To meet these needs of high school graduates and those whose skills have become obsolete, the institute offers 12 science or engineering programs, three business and commercial courses and two medical courses.

Most of the courses can be completed in two years, but the equipment needed for 16-to 18-struction is costly.

In one field alone, furnished motel and hotel rooms, a front offices and a cocktail bar were built on one of the building's three floors to facilitate courses in hotel managements.

Among the most costly items are a medical hospital laboratory and radiography equipment for X-rays.

Students also will make use of an $800,000 restaurant, coffee shop and kitchen, which will also serve the mealtime needs of students on the spot and the nearby Burnaby Vocational Institute.

Trying to Lick Habit Of Too Much TV Watching

NEW YORK (AP) — The woman who always wants to know what Hugh Downs is really like was raking leaves before 8 o'clock in the morning.

"A new exercise idea?" asked a puzzled friend.

"No," replied the woman, leaning gratefully on her rake. "It's that story in the paper today—the one about the "tired child syndrome' brought on by too much television watching.

"Those doctors found that some children who were nervous and sleeping and eating poorly were watching TV too many hours. Well, the doctors haven't discovered it yet, but there is also 'tired adult syndrome' from TV and I figure I've got it.

"I worry about the awful hour Hugh Downs has to get up in the morning to do his show. I'm nervous because I can never remember the location of the wild car in concentration. And the troubles of my daytime serial families are so stressful that I open hardly chicken a proper lunch. And now that there's Peyton Place in the evenings, my nightmares are getting worse."

She looked at the pile of leaves and started back to work.

"Until I feel better, I'm kicking the habit," she said resolutely. "It's going to be a long dull fall."

Mr. Novak, NBC's weekly dramatic tribute to teachers, took up the delicate subject of high school football fatalities Tuesday night—but walked cautiously around it.

The plot centred on a tough coach whose star player was killed in a scrimmage. The story then backed nervously away from the problem of death in sport and concentrated on the coach's reaction and whether he realized the player was not feeling well before the practice session.

Common Sense Important Attribute for Zoo Doctor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Common sense is an important attribute for a zoo doctor, says Dr. Richard K. Drew, veterinarian for Stanley Park Zoo.

"If you had a sick tiger, it wouldn't be too different from a sick pussycat.

"But in treating such patients, being too heroic could be a fatal thing."

Dr. Drew, 38, became zoo doctor after graduating in 1946 from the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph upon completing a six - year course in animal medicine and surgery.

The zoo brings pythons, sea lions, penguins and even polar bears into his regular practice of cats, dogs and other household pets.

He knows he isn't popular with the zoo animals — "Ever see a dentist that was popular with children?"—and "it's not a very large part of my practice but it is the most interesting part."

One reason is that zoo inmates suffer from a variety of ailments. Monkeys often need padding up after fights, for example.

And there was the case of the chick sharp. A fast arrangement enabled Dr. Drew to give a 20-minute injection of vitamins, corticone, penicillin and saline solution while the fish swam in circles around his tank.

TREATED ALLIGATOR

Another patient, an alligator, faced slow death because his rough, hard skin was scuffed. Attendants placed a small net around the alligator and Dr. Drew entered the tank, "placed so I could vault right out if he looked sideways at me," and gave him a couple of shots of coagulating material.

He also applied healing ointment to a boa constrictor which had suffered huge holes from fighting rats which it swallows live for dinner.

These are some of the more unusual cases, however. More routine are such tasks as giving seals and penguins vitamin shots every three weeks.

And treatment is not always successful. One seal failed to respond. An autopsy showed she had died from "a ballyful of money" after swallowing coins tossed into her pond by spectators.

Dr. Drew has personal likes and dislikes among the zoo's inhabitants.

"I'm not crazy about snakes but lately I've become fond of them."

He likes monkeys best because they have more personality—"monkeys all look different; they're individuals."

But he is aware that, as a doctor, some monkeys don't like him. Such is the one that shook its clenched fist at him when he entered the compound one day.

Memory Is Life's Most Constant Friend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Money may vanish, love may fly, but memory always remains.

It never diverts you, it never goes bankrupt. It is life's most constant friend.

You had to have a button hook to put on a pair of shoes.

Al Jolson was more popular than any three entertainers you can think of today.

You could impress a girl by taking her for a trolly ride out to the end of the line and back.

Most butcher shops and saloons had sawdust on the floor. But you could always tell a butcher on the job from a bartender—because the butcher wore a straw hat and had a pencil behind his ear.

If you wanted ice, you put up a sign on a front porch pillar so the iceman would know.

A Romeo was called "a dude." A "dickster" was a young fellow who wore a pork pie hat, sideburns, a tight jacket, and wide - bottomed trousers.

It gave you a real feeling of mystery to eat in a Chinese restaurant — the atmosphere seemed so romantic and vaguely sinister.

Old maids felt skittish about taking a trip by Pullman car, because they would have to sleep in a car with strange men.

A hostess considered her dinner a failure if her guests didn't consume at least three big bowls of thick gravy.

A man who couldn't read at least some Latin and Greek was hardly considered educated.

No one thought of throwing away a pair of shoes unless they had been half-soled at least twice.

Half the men in North America had never tasted lipstick and were against women wearing it.

The average mother would rather catch her son chewing tobacco than smoking a cigarette.

A family was coming up in the world if it could afford a two-horse brougham.

There didn't seem to be much future for a girl who couldn't learn how to make good fudge.

Those were the days. Remember?

Doctor, Woman Face Charges On Abortion

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto doctor and a Hamilton woman face multiple charges in connection with an alleged abortion ring centred in southwestern Ontario, morality squad detectives said today.

Arrested in Hamilton today was Joanna Harrigan, 36. She was charged with attempting to procure an abortion.

Mike Barack, 41, a suburban Scarborough doctor, was charged with two counts of attempting to procure, two counts of conspiring to procure and several charges connected with administration of drugs.

Police said the ring has been in operation for about three years but declined to say where. They said there may be more arrests.

ACTOR DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A veteran Chinese character actor, 63-year-old Sammee Tong, was found dead in his home Tuesday. Police said an empty bottle of sleeping pills was nearby. A screen performer for 25 years, he was recently appearing in the television series, Mickey.

QUADS DIE

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — The last two of quadruplets born here last week died Tuesday. The first of the four infants died the day after birth and the second last Sunday. All four, ranging in weight from less than a half-pound to three pounds, had been in incubation at Naples University clinic.

MANAGER ROBBED

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) Three men held up the manager of an exclusive boardwalk jewelry shop Tuesday night and escaped with gems the value of which may be as high as $500,-000, police said. Police said the bandits accosted Louis Gold, 43, manager of the Nat H. Yarmon jewelry store in the Hotel Traymore, after he had closed for the night and was walking to his car about a half-block away.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For October 29

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Warning signals are "up." Go slow in the romance area. Don't speculate. Study offers, proposals. Evaluate potential. Think of future, security. Remember family responsibilities.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Attend to routine matters. Strive for greater understanding. If you overlook details, you ask for trouble. Ask questions. Do not permit pride to stand in way of knowledge.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Take steps to enhance security. Avoid disputes with relatives, in-laws. Be charming. Bring forth wonderful sense of humor. "Screen" that appears to be brewing will pass. Relax.

Cancer (June 21 o July 22): Be positive. Resist unfounded apprehensions. Offer aid to one who was loyal in past. Money situation due to improve. Know this — act accordingly. Finish projects .Be careful in traffic.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 23): Display originality of thought, action. Start new enterprises. Highlight tremendous showmanship. Dramatize briefs. Engage in creative pursuits. You are going to succeed!

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): You are on the brink of discovery. Remain quiet within. Sum up. Then put cards on table! You gain allies. Support dues from those in authority. People previously inactive now become active.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): What people promise and what they can deliver . . . may not coincide. Be aware, skeptical. Check various alternatives. Friends are well-meaning. But they may lack necessary assets.

Scorpio (Oct 23 to Nov. 21): Bind contracts. Fulfill obligations. . . be sure others do the same. There are minor matters which require special attention. Be on your toes! Discount gossip. Go after facts!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Your ideas are to be given real chance. Now show you can handle added responsibility. Avoid being "cheap" with self. Volunteer for extra duty. You can make fine impression.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Favorable lunar aspect lets today highlight travel, gain through written word. Excellent for mapping buying, publicity programs. Spread influence. Check with specialists.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Urge associates to be patient. Your judgement vindicated by tonight. You have been through some emotionally hectic days. Now get needed rest. Insist on degree of privacy.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): If you pass too hard, you lose out. Light touch provides answers. Stress maturity, understanding. Obtain valuable hint from today's Aquarius message. Speak softly to fellow worker.

If today is your birthday . . . you possess degree of extra sensory perception. You know when something of importance is about to occur.

Most of the Investigating Bodies Approve Fluoridation

By Reuters News Agency

A world wide controversy is raging over the fluoridation of public water supplies.

Western and Communist nations alike have established commissions to investigate these arguments for and against the artificial treatment of water with fluoride.

One medical expert who opposes the idea says that fluoridation could lead to a human race of "dwarfs or giants." Another says that it could lead to cancer or "the birth of a monster."

Yet most of the investigating bodies have approved fluoridation. They have found that if fluoride is not taken in excessive quantities, it helps to prevent tooth decay.

West German scientist Heinrich Hornung, who claims to have blazed the trail for fluoridation in Europe, says: "Only the ignorant oppose fluoridation."

Yet in his own country, only one town, Kassel, uses fluoride in the water. Most West German sceptists cannot agree on the issue.

France turns its back completely on fluoridation. French health experts say that there is insufficient proof that it is completely harmless.

There also has been no fluoridation of public water supplies in Italy.

CANADA APPROVES

In Canada, the federal government has indicated its approval of fluoridation after 16 years of research. About 20 per cent of the Canadian population now drinks fluoridated water.

Many Russian experts favor a small amount of fluoride in drinking water. But in Moscow itself the experts are making plans to reduce the natural fluoride content because it is too high.

Soviet medical men have recommended fluoridation plants for Leningrad and the Volga cities of Gorki and Zelenodolsk after a detailed study of the water supplies in these areas.

China is conducting further studies of the question because of the international controversy.

In the United States, 2,504 communities, embracing a population of 45,000,000, drink fluoridated water. Of the 12 largest American cities only New York and Los Angeles are holdouts.

The British government generally supplies fluoridation but has left it to individual communities to make a choice. Both the British Medical Association and the Dental Association support fluoridation.

The British Dental Association has distributed thousands of advertising stickers bearing the slogan: "Fluoride in water halves tooth decay in children."

FIRST IN BRITAIN

As the debate continued, Reuters correspondents in world centres made the following reports:

London—In June, Birmingham became Britain's first town to put fluoride in its water. The head of the British Anti - fluoridation League described Birmingham's action as "totalitarian, absurd and shameful. . . ."

Paris—Two French hygiene experts, Rene Truhaut and Louis Truffert, said in a report that the best way to combat dental decay by fluoridation is to take fluoridate pills on a doctor's prescription. They said this method would "not expose the whole population to doses of fluoride far above the indispensable optimum."

Stockholm—Swedish health authorities favor fluoridation. The government has approved legislation enabling communities to take such action if they wish, but few have done so.

Copenhagen—Public opposition forced the government to abandon fluoridation legislation, but since January fluoride toothpastes have been permitted.

Rome—No government action has been taken because of disagreement among scientists.

Lagos—The Nigerian government is still working on a proposal to introduce fluoridation in areas where there is no natural fluoride in the water supplies.

Johannesburg—A South African government commission is studying the question. Dental authority Jan Starr told the commission that a man would have to drink two baths full of fluoridated water a day to be harmed.

Tokyo — The Japanese welfare ministry has asked leading scientists to investigate fluoridation. Opponents say that Japanese foodstuffs already contain sufficient fluoride.

Sydney—A leading Australian dental authority says Sydney's plan to build a giant fluoridation plant to serve 2,500,000 persons will reduce tooth decay in the region by 60 per cent.

Wellington — Five New Zealand cities with a total population of 200,000 now are drinking fluoridated water and another four towns with 200,000 more people are preparing to install fluoridation plants.

TRAFFIC FLOWS ON THIS STREET — Residents of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, row along a flooded street in the city, parts of which were under 10 feet of water Tuesday. The industrial section where nearly two-fifths of the city's 500,000 live was inundated after the rain-swollen Sava River broke its dikes. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Belgrade).

WILL MEET OFFICIALS

OTTAWA (CP) — Citizenship Minister Tremblay said Tuesday he will be meeting with his officials "within some days" to decide upon legislation for an Indian claims commission. Mr. Tremblay said in the Commons all briefs from Indians have been received and analyzed.

WINS AWARD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Christmas Cracker, produced by the National Film Board of Canada, won the Golden Gate Award for the best 35-millimetre, animated short at the conclusion Tuesday night of the eighth annual San Francisco International Film Festival.

Successful Living

Sharing Fears With God Lightens Our Burden

DEAR DORIS — Your column is a wise and necessary addition to our paper. Your answers are wise and thoughtful.

I think your advice to "Haunted" to talk her problem over with a trusted friend is good, only you omitted the name of the friend. He is the Eternal Father, God.

DORIS CLARK

Obviously her husband was haunted by his near failure to be faithful; and wanted, or had to, share it with her. She may be sure he will not be found in bed with any other woman.

I am sure this sort of thing has taken place in the lives of countless men away from home. I once read one man's confessions that when he stayed at a hotel, he always placed the picture of his wife and family on the dresser. Others were kept from such affairs because there was a Gideon Bible in the room. Tell this lady to take her fears and her nightmares to God in prayer.

To hate one's husband because of a silly woman, Miss Clark, is terrible. No other hatred is as destroying. Once I was moved between murder and suicide, and on the verge of insanity. But what the Lord did for me was worth even that hideous experience. — IN HIS SERVICE.

DEAR IN HIS SERVICE — I am sure Haunted and others will appreciate your sharing this personal experience. (I have forwarded a copy of your complete letter to her.)

Confidential to DONNA S. — Since you have not identified yourself, I will not be able to answer your question. Write again, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

(Ask Doris about what's troubling you. She has successfully counselled thousands of others.)

Ontario Medicare Bill In New Year

Next Session Brings Action Says Robarts

Refuses Details On Government Plans

SUDBURY (CP) — Premier Robarts said Wednesday his government aims to place a medical care insurance plan before the next session of the legislature, likely to start in January.

The premier, in Sudbury on the last day of a three-day tour through Northern Ontario by the provincial cabinet, said he could give no details of the plan because the government has not yet received the report of a provincial committee appointed to study a voluntary private-carrier plan favored by Ontario.

Dr. J. G. Hagey, chairman of the 14 - member provincial committee, said in Toronto Tuesday his report should be ready by the end of the year but that he was in no position "to say what the final report will be."

Dr. Hagey refused to confirm or deny a published report that coverage will be provided through private carriers — insurance companies and doctor-sponsored groups.

The report said the committee will recommend a voluntary scheme with government subsidies for those who cannot meet the premiums. It said the recommendations would follow the pattern of medical insurance legislation introduced by Alberta last year.

AIDS FLOOD VICTIMS

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross sent a cash grant of $1,383 Wednesday for the relief of Jugoslav flood victims in addition to $4,117 worth of bedding and clothing already sent from a European stockpile. The cash was sent in response to a further appeal for help from the Yugoslav Red Cross.

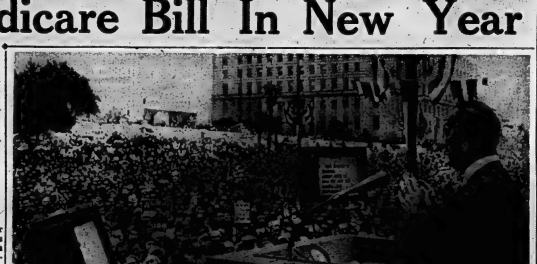
2 Share In Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The Nobel Prize for physics was awarded jointly today to Prof. Charles Townes of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and to Professors Nikolai Basov and Alexksandr Prokorov of Moscow's Lebedev Physics Institute.

Townes will receive half of the 273,000 krona (about $53,000) award. The two Russians share the other half.



The three men won the prize for "fundamental work in the field of quantum electronics, which has led to the construction of oscillators and amplifiers based on the maser-laser principle," it was announced.

The maser principle allows light waves to be focused into a narrow, high intensity beam which can be applied for purposes ranging from drilling to surgery.

The Swedish Royal Academy of Science said Townes was a professor of physics at Columbia University in New York when, with his collaborators, he reported his first results of maser in 1953, and on his applications to visible light in 1958.

Basov joined the Lebedev Institute in 1948, and Prochorov became associated with the institute two years earlier.

Robarts Pleased With Tour

TORONTO (CP) — Pleased with his cabinet's three - day tour of northwestern Ontario, Premier Robarts flew into Toronto from Sudbury Wednesday night with an armful of northern problems for the attention of government officials.

Mr. Robarts said he regarded the cabinet trip to the Lakehead, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury as "very worthwhile." He indicated that the ministers next would travel to northeastern Ontario—the North Bay and Kirkland Lake areas—probably next year.

"We as a government are determined that we will treat every part of the province in the same way," the premier said in his concluding remarks Wednesday afternoon to a Sudbury high school audience.

Earlier he had told Sudbury Officials, who pleaded for help to get their city out of financial distress, that he likely would appoint a committee of his cabinet to study problems peculiar to Sudbury—a city built on rock.

Mr. Robarts and most of his cabinet ministers flew to the Lakehead early Monday, spent the day there hearing briefs from local groups, then flew to Sault Ste. Marie Tuesday, where the process was repeated.

The cabinet arrived in Sudbury by train Tuesday night and was wined and dined by a city

Communism — both foreign and domestic—took the U.S. political spotlight today. Barry Goldwater accused the Democrats of Communist backing while President Johnson talked of the need for America to guide the future changes in Communist lands.

Johnson, in a speech prepared for a meeting at the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, said the new Soviet premier, Alexei Kosygin, had written him that "the Soviet Union would maintain its present policies and seek better relations—and maintain its own search for peace—with the West."

Johnson said "inside Russia today a powerful force for change is at work—education, the bedrock of democracy, the enemy of dictatorship. Inside the Communist bloc, powerful currents are surging against the dam.

"We cannot sit idly by," he continued. "We must work to

"Now I am not accusing any Democrat of being a Communist but I am getting a little sick and tired of their not denouncing this party, this Communist group, not denouncing their backing. . . ."

Goldwater's running mate on the Republican ticket, vice-presidential nominee William E. Miller, said President Johnson was more interested in social security as an issue than as a way to help the elderly.

Miller, who is touring the West, told a crowd at Montana State University in Missoula that Johnson could have won congressional approval of the 1964 social security bill if he had not insisted on including a plan of medical care for the aged.

Meanwhile, sharp criticism of the Republicans came from Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

In a speech prepared for a rally in New York City's garment district, he said the Americas people "do not want jingoes, loud-mouthed anti - Communists who talk about nuclear annihilation because they lack the bravery of responsible action."

This followed his speech in Falls Church, Va., Wednesday night denouncing "puny little minds and dirty little souls" for attacking the character of President Johnson.

'Sick Leave' for Magistrate During Profanity Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said today he has decided to grant Magistrate Gordon Jermyn a six-month sick leave rather than accept the Kingston-area magistrate's resignation.

Mr. Wishart's department launched an inquiry last week into reports that Magistrate Jermyn had used profanity on the bench. Two days ago Mr. Wishart told reporters he had received Mr. Jermyn's resignation.

Magistrate Jermyn's family doctor and a number of others had asked the attorney-general not to accept his resignation but to grant him sick leave, Mr. Wishart said today.

There was no comment, however, on the nature of Mr. Jermyn's illness.

The use of profanity in court was reported by the Kingston, Whig-Standard in an editorial Oct. 14. It was not the first time Mr. Jermyn's activities on the bench had come into the public eye.

Earlier this year he apologized to Mr. Wishart for remarks he made during a trial of five members of a family accused of assaulting a school principal. Each was charged and pled a girl student in the family.

The county council of the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville, where Magistrate Jermyn serves as juvenile and family court judge, voted about four weeks ago to ask for his dismissal from the bench.

'Education First' Canada Asks UNESCO

PARIS (Reuters) — Canada called on UNESCO's general conference Wednesday to give education first priority over science in its programs for many more years to come.

Henry Hicks, leader of the Canadian delegation, told the conference "there can be no scientific progress unless there is a sound educational system."

Referring to the expansion in UNESCO's membership and recruitments," he urged that "this expansion should only take place at a pace that will permit adequate support on the part of our membership for constructive and down-to-earth programs."

You Can't Win 'em All!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Ulysses Pryor reached for another man's wallet Wednesday and came up holding the hand of the president of the United States.

Just as Pryor, a 30-year-old transient, was about to lift the wallet, watchdog officers said, the street crowd along the president's motorcade route shifted and pushed forward to the presidential limousine. Pryor was shoved along with it and his outstretched hand got a hearty shake from a smiling Lyndon Johnson.

Pryor was booked on suspicion of attempted robbery.

3 Students Fined $50 At McMaster

HAMILTON (CP) — A spokesman for McMaster University said Wednesday that three university students have been fined $50 each by the student council for smuggling strip - tease artist into a men's residence during homecoming celebrations last weekend.

The additional 10 students, who helped collect money to pay the stripper's fee and watched her performance, have not yet been dealt with.

The three students, who were not named in the announcement, have also lost their right to entertain women in their rooms for the remainder of the school term. Students are allowed to have girls in their rooms at specified hours two nights a week.

New Flag Rejected By Dief

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker flatly rejected as unacceptable Wednesday night the single maple leaf flag design reported to have been approved by a 10-to-4 vote of the Commons flag committee.

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked on the CBC national television network whether a design of a single red maple leaf on a white background with a vertical blue bar at each side would be acceptable.

"Certainly it wouldn't," he replied. "I am not prejudging what the committee will do. If it was virtually unanimous, then I would have to reconsider the situation in the light of the statements I have made. But certainly we couldn't accept that type of flag."

Mr. Diefenbaker was interviewed on the program, The Nation's Business by Geoff Scott of the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Mr. Diefenbaker reiterated the stand he took six weeks ago when the question of a Canadian flag was sent to the Com-

Members Critical Of CBC

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC took it on the chin in the Commons again Wednesday, with Conservative charging it has produced "revolting" plays that could corrupt young Canadians.

Percy Noble (PC — Grey North) lauded the corporation for much of its news but criticized three recent plays in the festival series.

"Each play appeared to be an effort to outdo the previous one in vulgar language and in portrayals of seduction and illicit love," Mr. Noble said.

"Thousands of television viewers across the country were alarmed and disappointed to think that the CBC with its great influence would give time to such revolting plays, which not only displayed bad taste but could be instrumental in promoting immorality in our young people.'

Seek $100,000 Wiretap Gang

HAMILTON (CP) — Police here have been looking to waiter for a car believed driven by the leader of a wiretap gang that has taken more than $100,000 from Ontario and Quebec banks this year.

Police said the car was seen Wednesday three miles from Hamilton less than an hour after they had been told that Hamilton was thought to be next on the gang's list.

The gang usually deposits a cheque in an account minutes before a bank closes. Next day, before the cheque has been cleared, an accomplice presents a cheque on the account, a police spokesman said.

When the bank tries to phone the person in whose name the cheque has been forged, the gang intercepts the call with its wiretap equipment and approves payment.

Crisis Feared As Committee Reports Today

Diefenbaker Cancels Trip for Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons flag committee held a crucial two-hour meeting today preparing the final version of its report to the Commons as an atmosphere of tension mounted on Parliament Hill.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, scheduled to speak today in Regina to a provincial Conservative meeting, cancelled his trip west in order to be on hand for developments in the Commons.

Prime Minister Pearson, who remained at his Ottawa home with a cold Wednesday, will be in the Commons today, his office said.

There was immediate word on the morning's flag committee developments. It has been meeting in secret and shifted today to a little used committee room in the West Block.

A source close to Mr Diefenbaker said he cancelled his western trip because the presentation of the flag committee report as precipitating a crisis in the Commons, currently bogged down in protracted debate on interim spending authority for November and December.

A LONG DEBATE?

There was speculation that the report might precipitate another prolonged debate on the flag issue which occupied the Commons for 22 days earlier in the year.

Herman M. Batten, chairman of the flag committee, is to present the report at the opening of the Commons sitting today.

But, if the design turns out to be, as informants say it will, a red maple leaf on white background with vertical blue bars at the sides, a stormy passage is assured for it.

Ford Threatened With Crippling Strike at Many Plant Levels

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Company was threatened today with a crippling strike, just as General Motors Corp. got its fifth assembly plant going again after a 16-day walkout by the United Auto Workers Union.

The UAW set a strike deadline Wednesday of 10 a.m. Nov 6 for its bargaining units at Ford which lack local working agreements to supplement the newly-negotiated Ford-UAW national contract.

Ford figures that 23 of its 90 UAW bargaining units lack such agreements. Strikes by them would involve, among others, nine Ford assembly plants and three key stamping plants.

General Motors still is hobbled by similar local-level stoppages.

The UAW called off a national strike against GM last Sunday. But at the same time it authorized units without at-the-plant agreements to remain out until local issues are resolved.

Then 28 of GM's 130 UAW bargaining units had such agreements. Twenty-one still do, and 18 of 23 assembly plants still are shut.

In striking GM Sept. 25, the UAW permitted members working for Ford, Chrysler Corp. and Ford to stay on the job, thus keeping GM's chief competitors in operation.

Ford, which employs 165,000 and reached a national contract ahead of a strike deadline Sept. 18, was left in operation while local - level negotiations continued.

Chrysler and the UAW reached national agreement Sept. 9 and since have wrapped up all local-level pacts. American Motors Corp., the country's fourth automaker, and the union have reached both national and local accord, but the latter still is subject to worker ratification.

GM Works Monday

OSHAWA (CP) — Materials from General Motors Corporation supplier firms in the United States began arriving at the General Motors of Canada, Limited plant here Wednesday. Production is expected to resume Monday when 11,250 automobile workers will be back on the job, Recalls began Wednesday at Dupiate Canada Limited, which manufactures glass for cars.

The workers were made idle by the GM strike in the United States which ended last weekend.

Meanwhile, contract negotiations which started Sept. 9, are continuing between the United Auto Workers (CLC) an General Motors of Canada. The current three-year contract expires Saturday.

At St. Catharines, most of the 3,235 workers laid off at McKinnon Industries Limited, a GM subsidiary will be back at work Monday.

General Spring Products Company of Kitchener, which produces seat springs and metal strappings, will begin calling back 300 workers on a gradual basis.

Must Increase Canadian Exports to U.S. Says Gordon To Peterborough Conference

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Wednesday night no country can be truly independent without control of its commodities outlets and financial institutions "and in one way or another, the general nature of the decisions made by those who direct its basic industries.

"We Canadians must place ourselves in this position if we wish to retain our national identity and a reasonable amount of national independence, he said in an address to an industrial and municipal relations conference. Mr. Gordon added:

"In this, to a large extent we should equate political independence with economic independence.

"I say this because no nation, including Canada, can pretend to be independent politically if it surrenders too much economic power to the residents of other countries.

He said the best way of correcting Canada's situation — a huge annual deficit in transactions with the United States plus too much unemployment in parts of the country — is to increase Canadian exports to the U.S.

MUST INCREASE

"Furthermore, we shall have to increase very considerably our exports of processed and fully - manufactured goods.

"This must be a major goal of Canada's economic policy.

Mr. Gordon said: "Our difficulty is to persuade the absentee owners of these Canadian subsidiary companies to reorganize them, to rationalize their production and to permit them to export to other countries, including the United States, if necessary, in competition with their parent companies.

"If the basic decisions for so many of our manufacturing companies continue to be made in the United States and not in other countries, we may not be successful in bringing about the kind of reorganization, the kind of expansion and the kind of new thinking that will be needed.

"This is the crux of the problem we are faced with."

Given Life On Non-Capital Murder Count

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP)—Basil De. Lemmon, 36, of Odessa, was sentenced Wednesday to life imprisonment for non-capital murder in the shooting death of his estranged wife Judith Mae.

After 7½ hours of prosecution evidence, the defence asked to change Lemmon's plea from not guilty of capital murder to guilty of non-capital murder.

Lemmon was sentenced by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly. People is possible in five to seven year' time, depending on good behavior.

Judith Mae was shot dead at Lemmon's home 10 miles from Kingston, July 27. Lemmon's parents and his 17-year-old girl friend testified Judith Mae admitted she was pregnant by another man.

Lemmon's father said his son's life had been a hell on earth. Lemmon has two small sons.

Bertha May Harris testified Tuesday she started keeping company in July with Lemmon and they planned to be married after he obtained a divorce.

of the committee's report, reading: "Informants have said four Conservatives declined to back the red-leaf design as a reasonable compromise. But they said it did get an earlier 1964 vote when the committee was expressing preferences among several designs.

CANADIAN RED FLAG

The committee's report also was to deal with the question of a flag to mark Canada's membership in the Commonwealth. It was clearly speculated that the Canadian Red Ensign or some variation of it would figure in any recommendation for a Commonwealth flag.

The committee met for a night session shortly after Mr. Diefenbaker's television appearance. A further session was slated for today to tie up the final wording of the report Mr. Hellen was to deliver in the opening of the Commons.

The opposition leader, asked whether the red - leaf design would be acceptable as a national flag, replied:

"Certainly it wouldn't . . . If it was virtually unanimous, then I would have to consider the situation in the light of the statements I have made. But certainly we wouldn't accept that type of flag."

The Burglar Stole a Kiss

LONDON (AP) — Pretty Mrs. Ann Murphy, 24, was sleeping soundly this morning when someone kissed her on her cheek.

"Darling," she said, emerging from her slumber.

But darling—in this case Mr. Murphy — was sound asleep beside Mrs. Murphy.

Turning from her husband to the bedroom in general, Mrs. Murphy saw two shadowy forms, one of them carrying a dimmed flashlight.

She screamed.

The shadowy figures scrambled through an open window. Mrs. Murphy heard them clattering down the apartment house fire escape. By this time the husband had awakened.

"Did you kiss me?" demanded the wife.

"Did I do what?"

"Somebody stole a kiss—"

"They probably stole something else too," said the husband hopping out of bed.

Murphy was right. While his wife called the cops, he discovered that the thieves had stolen a tape "recorder, an electric razor and some cash.

Wins After Lawyer Fails To Show

A Toronto man whose lawyer was unable to represent him today successfully defended himself on a careless driving charge in county court Wednesday. He also pleaded not guilty to a charge of improper passing, but was found guilty and fined $35 for the offence.

Both charges arose out of an accident on Highway 401 near the west end of the two lane stretch east of Marysville. Evan Hughes testified that he was attempted to pass a car driven by a Kingston man and he side-swiped the car that was in the house trailer being pulled by an oncoming U.S. tourist's car. Hughes testified that with the normal westbound lane of the highway laid out, though not opened, to traffic Wednesday, the highway indicated it was a normal highway — two track road. He claimed that the car was contributing factor in the accident. He also said that the design of the trailer, a model not normally sold in Canada, made it difficult to tell whether the car-trailer unit was coming or going.

He said he had driven about 300,000 miles since last involved in an accident and that he had not been to blame for the previous accidents.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills found Herriott guilty of improper passing on the evidence heard for the careless driving charge, and the crown withdrew the careless driving charge.

Should Join Conservation Water Resources

TORONTO (CP) — Hollis Beckett, chairman of the Ontario legislature's select committee on the Municipal Act, said Wednesday that conservation and water use in the province should be under the control of a single body similar to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Mr. Beckett (York East) said during presentation of a brief from conservation authorities that there was need for more co-ordination of the two functions.

He said water was more important than electricity to the people of the province and should be as carefully controlled.

Ross Lord, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority, said in presenting the brief there was room for co-operation between the conservation authorities responsible for flood control and the Ontario Water Resources Commission which controls water supply and pollution measures.

The brief presented by the authorities asked the government to permit conservation and Region Conservation Authority, said in presenting the brief there was room for co-operation between the conservation authorities responsible for flood control and the Ontario Water Resources Commission which controls water supply and pollution measures.

The brief presented by the authorities asked the government to permit conservation authorities and the municipalities to appeal decisions by municipalities to drain swampland. The committee said it did not feel the measure should be adopted.

SAVE NO WORK

At present conservation authorities have no power to appeal such decisions. The group told the legislature's select committee on the Ontario Municipal Act.

Draining of swamps and other lands often has a serious effect on wildlife and conservation measures, they said.

The group also asked that the government set up a commission of the purchase of conservation areas. The rapid growth subdivisions in the Toronto area threatens conservation plans which may be thwarted.

The group suggested that conservation authorities did not have the money or the means to buy all the areas that should and because of this "there will result building encroachments, erosion of valleys and distortion of flood-control potentials."

Bar Hunters From Hydro Site

In order to protect Hydro workmen engaged in road construction, land clearing and surveying operations in the vicinity of Mountain Chute Hydro Project on the Madawaska River, the Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests has authorized the closure to hunting of certain Crown lands in this area.

The Crown lands involved are in Brougham, Blithfield and North Canonto Townships.

Crown lands within the area will be posted with signs reading "Hunting Prohibited". Fire-arms Not Permitted in This Area — Men Working". Posting Approved by Department of Lands and Forests."

This closure to hunting does not prevent the use of hunt camps on the affected Crown land. It will, however, be necessary for hunters operating from these camps to hunt outside of the posted area.

The Department regrets the inconvenience to hunters but feels certain that they need to ensure the safety of the large number of workmen in that area will be understood and appreciated by sportsmen.

Four Arrested After Theft of 2 Sports Cars

TORONTO (CP)—The discovery of some parts along a highway near Bancroft, Ont., east of Peterborough, led to the arrest Wednesday of four Toronto youths in connection with the theft of two sport cars from metre underground parking garages.

Charged with car theft are Hugh Newman, 20, John Garbutt, 19, Bruce Cormack, 17, David Porter, 18, was charged with possession.

Police said the cars were stolen and the motor of one was found elsewhere in Toronto and its steering wheel in a downtown lane.

The shell of the other car was found on a Bancroft farm after Toronto police received information about parts scattered along a highway.

Wellington Voters Turn Down Liquor Store, Beer Questions

Voters in the lakeside villages of Wellington, 20 miles south of Belleville, yesterday voted against the opening of a liquor store and beverage room.

"Yes" votes on both questions were about 51 per cent of the total ballots cast. A 60 per cent vote is necessary for liquor questions to carry.

More than 86 per cent of the total 623 eligible voters turned out at the polls. "Yes" votes on the liquor store question totalled 306 with 263 voting no. There were 35 spoiled ballots.

On the beverage room question the vote was almost identical with 306 "yes" and 251 "no" and 26 spoiled ballots.

Yesterday was the first liquor plebiscite in Wellington's history.

According to Ontario law at least three years must elapse before another vote on either of the two questions can be taken.

IN MEMORIAM

McGRATH — In fond and loving memory of a dear son Douglas Arthur McGrath, who passed away October 20, 1964.

Nothing can ever take away,
The love in each heart today.
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance comes to stay.
—Always remembered by mother.

GREN — In loving memory of my dear husband and daughter Margaret Gren who passed away on October 20, 1963.

In a quiet hillside graveyard,
Where the wild flowers grow,
Lies a loved one sleeping,
That we lost just one year ago.
Sadly he left us without warning,
That loved her most sincerely,
We never did say good bye.
Forget you, mother dear.
—Sadly missed by son Harold, Marie and grandchildren.

GREN — In loving memory of a dear mother Margaret Gren, who passed away October 20, 1963.

Sleep on dear mother and sleep,
Yet we are sure that He knows best.
His will, not ours is right.
Behind the clouds comes stealing through,
A rainbow bright and fair,
On grant us faith to look beyond,
And trust Thy tender care.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Evelyn, Ada and family, Everett, Margaret and family.

Member Admits Irregularities In Election

REGINA (CP)—An admission that he was "unduly returned or elected as a member of the legislative assembly" was filed with the registrar of the Saskatchewan Supreme Court today by former CCF attorney - general E. A. Walker.

Mr. Walker, member of the legislature for Hanley, filed his admission under Section 25 of the Controverted Elections Act.

The section states that when such an admission is filed and accepted by Court of Queen's Bench, the seat shall be declared vacant. This would clear the way for a by-election in Hanley.

Mr. Walker said admitting irregularities in the April 22 provincial election in Hanley constituency, as he had done, did not link the irregularities with any particular candidate.

Liberal Industry Minister Herb Pinder won the election in Hanley by 30 votes over Mr. Walker on the basis of the official count of ballots, but Mr. Walker was awarded the seat by two votes in a subsequent judicial recount.

FILED PETITION

Monday, Robert Emigh of Saskatoon, lawyer for Mr. Pinder, had filed a petition in Court of Queen's Bench asking that Mr. Walker's election be declared void under the Controverted Elections Act on grounds of irregularities in election procedure.

Mr. Walker earlier had offered to resign if Premier Ross Thatcher would call an early by-election, but Mr. Thatcher declined to commit himself.

The Liberals have 32 seats in the 59-seat legislature, the CCF 26 and the Conservatives one.

Rotarians Visit Crippled Children's Centre

Members and their wives were taken on a tour by hospital representatives and given a behind the scenes look at what is being used in the crippled children.

A spokesman at the hospital said there were as high as 150 in-patients and from 160 to 300 out patients. A new addition for extra classrooms for in-patients and treatment areas is under construction.

The Centre covers four-and-one-half acres of land with beautiful landscaped grounds and it is not an uncommon sight to see children in wheelchairs playing together.

Every modern convenience to make a crippled child as comfortable as possible is available at the hospital with a staff of over 400 including permanent and volunteer help.

Located directly across from the Crippled Children's Centre is a rehabilitation centre where patients from 19 and up are treated.

The tour of the Centre was arranged by Enos David, chairman of the local Rotary Club's Crippled Children's Committee. Members and their wives were taken in two buses and returned by Rawson Coach Lines.

Following the tour the group attended the O'Keefe Centre to see Victor Borge and the Royal Alexander featuring, "Barefoot In The Park."

Proposals Made by Publishers Studied by Printers' Unions

TORONTO (CP)—Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) said Wednesday it is "preparing suggestions" which it hopes may end a strike that started at Toronto's three daily newspapers July 9.

Local 91's negotiating committee said it was studying proposals made by the publishers in late August before contract negotiations under a government conciliation officer became deadlocked and were abandoned.

The statement came three days after the union elected a new negotiating committee of four men to replace the old seven-man unit in an effort to break the deadlock in negotiations.

The Star, The Telegram and The Globe and Mail have continued publishing since about 800 printers and mail room employees walked off their jobs.

The publishers' proposals referred to by the union included a lifetime guarantee against unemployment as a result of automation, but insisted on the right of publishers to introduce and use new equipment.

The publishers also asked that foremen and assistant foremen be excluded from the union and called for an end to "featherbedding" practices.

Meanwhile, Toronto board of control has declared a temporary "hands off" attitude towards the strike after the publishers rejected the board's latest proposal for a settlement—that the newspapers negotiate separately with the unions.

Controller Allan Lamport said the board should wait to see if the new union negotiating committee "opens up any new channels."

Union members picketed Wednesday the homes of three Globe and Mail employees who is the strikers' ranks to return to work. They shouted as the men left for their jobs, but did not molest them.

Quebec Election Law Catches Federal Eye

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec's electoral law, unique in Canada for its stringent restrictions on campaign spending, will be given a solid once-over by the federal government's committee on limiting election expenses.

Francois Nobert, a Trois-Rivieres, Que., lawyer named to head the five-member committee, said Wednesday the legislation will be studied by the committee.

Obviously we will study the law because of the preliminary work which has already gone into it," he told a reporter.

But, he emphasized, electoral laws of nations where parliamentary government exists will also be studied.

Mr. Nobert, 48, was in Montreal to attend a meeting of the Canadian National Railways board of directors, his first since his appointment to the board Oct. 15. He was appointed to the election expenses committee Tuesday.

The question of limiting campaign expenses was the subject of a speech by president of the Quebec Liberal Federation in 1959 and 1960.

The other committee members are M. J. Coldwell, former leader of the CCF party; Arthur F. Smith, former Conservative member of Parliament for Calgary; Gordon B. Isnor of Toronto, a lawyer involved in financing federal and provincial campaigns for the Liberal and PROGRESSON Nor als, and Professor Norman Ward of the University of Saskatchewan, a political science teacher and author.

Curling Club To Open With Mixed Spiel

Preparations for another curling season was made last night, when members of the Quinte Curling Club held their semi-annual meeting. The members of the several rinks and the time of the draws were distributed by Bob Alexander, chair man of the committee.

Ken Pinder, president of the club was in the chair and before the meeting proceeded with the usual business paid tribute in memory of Steve Flintoff, honorary and charter member of the club.

The dues of the previous years were endorsed and each of the directors in charge of certain phases of the club's activities reported on plans for the coming year. Ken Pinder detailed the plans for the opening mixed bonspiel on Nov. 7th. This will be a spiel of mixed curling after which a social evening and dance will be held with dancing to orchestra to follow. This is a get-together to introduce the new members and generally start the season on spirit of fellowship.

Ken Pinder, chairman of the ice committee was complimented on having an excellent sheet of ice to start the year off. Fred Maund, publicity chairman, will issue a monthly bulletin on the activities of the club and the many coming events. A lengthy discussion was held on pay-as-you-play curling and it was left to the executive to look over for a decision in this regard.

The members of the Board of Directors were re-elected as well as the new members who have joined the club for the coming term. At the conclusion of the meeting a social hour was held in the "11" room and "shop" was the common talk.

District Council Of Scouts Elects Officers

The annual meeting of Belleville District Council, Boy Scouts of Canada, was something unique in the annals of scouting in Belleville. Opening with the flag Order Commanding the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, of the Queen Scout Parchment signed on behalf of Her Majesty by the Governor General, Chief Scout for Canada, to Scout Bruce Downing. In making the presentation with appropriate remarks District Commissioner A. J. Fort, Col. Willcocks congratulated Scout Downing for his fine record of his future success in scouting. D. C. Fort, Mrs. A. J. (Elizabeth) Fort and Scout Arthur Fort were next on the receiving end as Mrs. Fort received a long service pin from Mr. A. J. Fort in recognition by the Council of her service to scouting with particular reference to her auxiliary work, D. C. Fort his long service medal for outstanding service to scouting in various locations in past years and Scout Arthur Fort his "A" award in recognition of his success in passing six proficiency tests

The year end reports were presented from the president, secretary, treasurer, badge committee, finance committee, swimming committee, publicity committee, finance committee, ladies' auxiliaries, District Commissioner.

The Quinte Regional Conference is to be held at Camp Hope on Saturday, November 14.

INSURANCE PLAN

Registration of all Cubs and Scouts will be completed by the end of October to insure covering of the boys against Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, today urged the Roman Catholic Church to take a new look at its teaching on birth control.

Leo Josef Cardinal Suenens of Brussels put the matter squarely to the worldwide assembly of Catholic prelates in St. Peter's Basilica, telling them:

"We must not be afraid to look at our traditional doctrine to see if it represents the final word . . . or if its use in the past not a new approach that can be taken."

Cardinal Leger said: "Some are afraid of a review of the theology of marriage. . . . We need clear principles, avoiding fear of conjugal love."

Melchite Patriarch Maximos IV of Antioch said the council must also if our ideas (on marriage and conception) are not outmoded, due to a bachelor psychosis."

WENT DEFIEND

Other speakers in today's council debate on modern world problems also urged the assembly to define more clearly the question of morality and birth control in the council shema on this thorny issue in the modern world.

All, however, cautioned against complete abandoning of traditional church teaching on this subject."

Malaysia Invaded Again

JOHORE BAHRU, Malaya (Reuters)—Several armed Indonesian troops were captured in a clash with Malaysian security forces following a guerrilla landing in southwest Malaya this morning, the Johore state secretary announced.

The official statement by Dato Abdul Rahman Bin Zaffar followed reports in the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur that security forces had been called out and a curfew clamped on Malacca area of southwest Malaya after reports of an Indonesian sea landing.

Zaffar did not indicate the strength of the Indonesian forces or say how many were captured. He said, however, that they were regular Indonesian army troops.

The clash took place in the neighboring state of Malacca after marine police found three sampans near Muar in Johore province, early in the morning.

There were no casualties on either side. Zaffar said and officials reported the situation was "under control."

Safety Wins Scout Badge

Ability to keep a bike in proper running condition, to do a thousand required safety rules, has earned Cub Gordon Burns his 14th badge; the highest honor in Cub work.

The badge was presented to Gordie at the going-up-to-Scouts ceremony for Cub and Bellville Cub and Scout Troop at the Christ Church on Monday evening, by Cub Master.

Gordon will have the distinction, shared by Scout Downing, of wolf badge on his Scout shirt to show he had qualified for the 14 Cub badges.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Burns, 22 Harris Crescent, Belleville.

Church Asked To Take Look At Teaching

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Three leading churchmen, including Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, today urged the Roman Catholic Church to take a new look at its teaching on birth control.

Leo Josef Cardinal Suenens of Brussels put the matter squarely to the worldwide assembly of Catholic prelates in St. Peter's Basilica, telling them:

"We must not be afraid to look at our traditional doctrine to see if it represents the final word . . . or if its use in the past not a new approach that can be taken."

Cardinal Leger said: "Some are afraid of a review of the theology of marriage. . . . We need clear principles, avoiding fear of conjugal love."

Vandalism In Town Parks Is Reported

TRENTON — Vandalism in the town parks was reported Tuesday night to the members of the Trenton Parks' Board by parks' gardener, Bart Boers.

Mr. Boers said broken glass had been strewn on the newly-paved surface of a playground area in Hanna Park. The board means to install an ice surface here for outdoor skating. The glass had been "ground" into the asphalt surface and had to be entirely removed as summer activity, such as tennis, is planned for the paved square.

One (or more) would-be vandal was foiled however, when he tried to punch out the wash room window in this park. The board last year installed fibre glass windows, against just such eventualities.

In other discussion, the board decided on planting evergreen trees and flowerbeds on the Gilmour Hill Park, now under construction. Trees will be planted for spring viewing. In the spring, the board will decide on the type of flowers to plant in this park. Design will hinge on costs.

Trenton Horticulturist Marion Baker will write to the OAC at Guelph for suggestions as to how to plant the flowers on the Bayley Heights Park, (the former gravel pit) with soil which will support grass, trees or shrubs or plants. Top soil for this area would be too expensive. Meanwhile which is being put on the slopes. The board is anxious to get the sides of the former pit "anchored" to stop soil from blowing away.

Hold Hunter Class

TRENTON — Twenty six of the 32 persons who wrote examinations in connection with the recent Hunter Safety Class are being notified that they now be able to obtain their first licence. Some of those attending the two-night course were old-timers, already holding licences. Applicants between 18 and 20 years were permitted to apply for licence if their parents had consented.

Instructors were Sgt. Gordon Steenburg and Constable Garry Davis from the Trenton Police Department, provincial officer, Dennis Atkins and W. "Curly" Halladay.

Revision Court Opens

TRENTON—Hearings before the 1964 Trenton Court of Revision has began last night with five cases heard.

Board members are Councillor Edward Todd, chairman, Lloyd Worrall, James Coad, F. J. Aziz and Frank Pillon.

The court spent most of its time getting organized. More than 150 appeals against assessment will be heard during the regular meetings, starting November 10 and going through to Nov. 25. Last night's cases were concerned with requested rebates in business tax assessments and rebates sought by firms gone out of business during the year.

Assessment Commissioner, J. Allan Smith and assessor Carl Charlton are in attendance at all meetings, supplying necessary technical details. The two members of the assessment department have gone to endless trouble preparing briefs on all appeals, and each appeal is given the undivided attention of the court.

Stresses Family Life

The importance of good family relationships, was stressed to pupils at the Sister's Separate School in Trenton at the annual commencement exercises last week.

Speaker was Rev. W. J. Lynett of the Kingston Cathedral staff, who addressed the pupils for the next few years while they are still in school they should contribute to society by being good members of their respective families.

"As the family goes, so goes the nation, and as the nation goes, so goes the world," he said.

School graduates were as follows:

Rose Marie Angelo, Donna Bertrand, Pauline Calvi, Sandra Elmslie, Evelyn Garrett, Christine Gorman, Anthony Hamilton, Randy Hollingsworth, Elizabeth Hunter, Patricia Hyatt, Bonnie Jeffrey, Elaine Kelly, Arlene LaFleur, Helen Lamphie, Stephanie McDonald, Eileen McGinn, Elaine McLaughlin, Joseph Mollenhauer, Gerald Peters, Bonnie Sheppard, Lawrence Schmidt.

Trenton Sports

By ELMER BONTER

TRENTON — If you haven't seen Sgt. Bill Fanjoy recently don't be concerned about his furrowed brow and glum expression. He's been having his worries, too.

The Globetrotters' likeable business manager will tell you Belleville's withdrawal from the Intermediate B division came as a great surprise and causes additional complications before a substitution can be obtained. Belleville folded last Tuesday, the day the decision shot down plans for a compact four team league. The area seemed to be tailor-made for the hustling brand of hockey district fans prefer to follow.

Originally, the Eastern division was to comprise representation from Belleville, Napanee, Picton and Trenton. With Belleville out league officials are faced with the problem of finding a replacement.

Sgt. Fanjoy's prime tip, Sgt. Fanjoy is convinced the hockey public would not support a Kingston entry. "Fans, no matter how loyal they are, would get tired of looking at the same "old" faces every night," he explained.

Regardless of what seems to be a serious problem there seems be a brighter cloud looming on the horizon. Lorne Cook, O.H.A. district convenor and Jack Devine, the first vice president of the Association have their heads together. Team sponsors hope they will provide a solution here. Both are concerned.

An entry from Cobourg has been suggested as possible fourth team but Sgt. Fanjoy here would be to effect a transfer for them from the Eastern division. Brighton seems a logical point desert ing the uppermost considera tion.

Back in Trenton the Globetrotters will hold a practice and a pre-season workout with the Kingston Aces Senior A entry. Game time Tuesday night place at the Community Garden at 9.00 Friday night.

APPOINTED MANAGER

TRENTON — Robert W. Wright, formerly of Marmora and Madoc, and a native of Belleville, has been appointed assistant manager of the district office of the Metropolitan Insurance Company in Kingston.

Mr. Wright, past vice-president of the Trenton Legion Branch No. 110, was transferred to Kingston from Trenton earlier this year.

Funeral

MRS. LAURA HARRINGTON

TRENTON — On Tuesday, a service was held at the Weaver Funeral Home for Mrs. Laura May Harrington of R.R. 3, Trenton, who died last Saturday at Trenton Memorial Hospital at the age of 71.

Conducting the service was Rev. Charles Judd and Rev. Frederick Lane.

The bearers were: Clifford Wannamaker, Harold Schriver, Edward Ross, Glenn Arthur, Graham Brundage and Allen Lawson.

Interment was in Mount Zion cemetery.

Born in Canada, Mrs. Harrington was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter. She had lived in the Trenton area for the past 56 years.

Mrs. Harrington is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Clarence (Ida) Sleep, Whitby; Mrs. Kenneth (Madeline) Ellis, Sudbury; Mrs. Robert (Geraldine) Gilpin, Kingston; Mrs. John (Doreen) Benston, Pennsylvania, and Reta Harrington, of Kingston.

Also surviving are two sons, John and Archie, both of R.R. 3, Trenton, 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild and a brother, Jack Hunter of Hamilton.

Mrs. Harrington was predeceased by her husband, Stephen.

Senior Citizens Of Marmora Pay Visit

TRENTON — Tuesday night, a busload of senior citizens from the Marmora Club visited the Trenton Senior Citizens' Club in the Recreation Hall on Ontario Street. The visitors were led by Marmora president, Mrs. E. Nobes, and were welcomed at the door by Trenton vice-president, Mrs. M. Lemoire, in the absence, through illness, of president, Mrs. Celia Rosenplot. Others in the Trenton group extended the hand of friendship as the visitors hung up their wraps and got seated.

Recreation director William Workman showed the combined groups three short films, "The Opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway," a film on the lives and occupations of whites and Eskimos in the Arctic, and a short-short about skiing in Sweden.

Prizes were awarded to the oldest, the youngest, the nearest birthday and a lucky prize winner was the visiting club president.

Mrs. Lena Phillips, secretary of the Trenton club came in for quite a few applause when she gave one of her popular readings. The social hour ended with the singing of "God Be With You," and Mrs. Nobes graciully thanked the Trenton group for their hospitality, while inviting them to visit Marmora.

Bolivia Miners Strike

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—The tin miners' union called a 24-hour nationwide strike today against President Victor Paz Estenssoro as turmoil continued in Bolivia.

Ten persons were reported killed Wednesday in Oruro, a mining center 163 miles south of La Paz. Violence was feared as Paz Estenssoro's opponents and labor unions scheduled a "freedom march" against the government and the president's National Revolutionary Movement called for a counter demonstration.

The government accused Communists and leftists of a plot to take over Oruro. The miners' union accused the government of repressive measures and of jailing several labor leaders.

The government charged that leftist and agitators attacked a radio station and the city hall in Oruro Wednesday. It said four "defenders" and two soldiers were killed and many were injured.

The students reported four of their number were "killed in action" Tuesday. It began during a funeral procession for two students killed in earlier unrest a government declaration.

The government's current troubles began two weeks ago when it said it had smashed a plot to assassinate the president, who in August began serving his third four-year term in 12 years.

Trade and Hunger

The Canadian Wheat Board's announcement this week that Russia had purchased another 10,600,000 bushels of wheat is welcome news to Canadians.

Last year's sale of 339 million bushels was the sensation of our economic year. China's purchases of wheat have also brought jubilance in recent times to Canada's trade officials.

Naturally, we look to a resumption of such large-scale dealings in the future. In fact, it should give us nothing but the greatest of pleasure to find more nations in need of vast quantities of our wheat.

Actually they are and can do little about it.

Canada's wheat has been sold abroad, for the most part, because the national crops of Russia and China failed to yield the required tonnage.

These nations were fortunate, for they possess the resources to call upon an alternate source of supply in the emergency. In this instance Canada.

But what about the poorer, undeveloped regions in Africa, South America and the Far East?

When food becomes scarce and cannot be replaced out of the national resources, the inevitable happens. Prices soar. The victims are those who, in normal times, exist on the impoverished verge of life itself.

For example, last year food prices rocketted 100 per cent in Indonesia. There were other percentage increases: Brazil, 67; Congo, 68; Chile, 49; Colombia, 39; Korea, 33, and Argentina, 23.

These are many other examples, but these provide a fair cross-section of world areas where living costs affect millions of poor people.

Worse, for five years now the world's food production has shown no per capita increase. Last year, production actually lagged behind.

Even a marginal decline plunges the children of hunger into that misery which does not even grant the boon of a quick release. They are condemned to die by the inexorable process of slow starvation.

The brutality of the situation is compounded by the fact we know it exists, and yet there is no reasonable way of correcting the trouble.

One day, posterity may identify our time with the most monstrously unenlightened of eras.

Jobless Teenagers

The rate of unemployed among Canadians in the 14-19 years age group who are in the labor force is more than three times the unemployment rate for those in the 20-64 years age group who are labor force participants, notes the St. Catharines Standard. The further fact is that during the coming winter, when there will be close to 700,000 teenagers in the labor force, it is probable that about 13 per cent will be unemployed and seeking work.

This is very easy, of course, to overstate the economic importance of teenage unemployment. Only about one-third of persons in this age group are in the labor force, and few of those who are jobless support themselves, or support a family. But jobless teenagers, particularly for themselves, are a serious social problem.

The more serious aspect of the situation is that if this problem of teenagers is not effectively dealt with, 'whole lifetimes will be lost in idleness and bitterness, with corrosive long-term effects on our economic and social structure. Consequently, the problem of the untrained, unskilled, unemployed teenager requires special study and profound reflection.

Many solutions are being attacked, for special training courses are widely available. Fitting themselves for jobs is mainly up to the teenagers, and recent reports show that more and more are continuing their education. For those who left school with little education, finding employment will not be easy. The government is assisting, industry and labor must also lend a hand in meeting this difficult situation. In the long run, however, success of any program to assist those who left school too early, those who are untrained and unskilled, depends upon their effort to help themselves. Unless they have a willingness to improve themselves, the assistance of others will not be effective.

I hate to see kids walking around the streets looking like they were lousy. — Gracie Fields, on the Beatles.

Ottawa Offbeat

News Media Shown to Be Superior Super Salesman

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — For a politician — as for a department store, a soap manufacturer, a movie corporation or your next-door neighbor trying to sell his house — a line in the newspaper is worth 10 minutes on radio or television.

An exaggeration?

Perhaps — except that it comes from a man who has made a profession of public relations.

He's Grant Deachman, freshman MP from Vancouver, and one of Parliament's quickest-witted and nimblest-tongued phrasemakers.

He ll was who pin pointed Paul Martin as that rare and deadly breed of politician, human that "softly stones his enemies to death with marshmallows."

And saw Old Pro Jack Pickersgill as that equally rare variety of political artist, so cunningly clever in his own quite remarkable way as to be entirely capable of "knitting a stove if you toss him enough wool".

Then finally, it was Grant Deachman who was saluted by The London Daily Express for verbally cutting the Quebec terrorists down to size after he said they would do the Queen a lot less harm than ever had the Campbells or the Stewarts — this after Canadian expatriate Campbell Stewart, in London, had publicly warned that Her Majesty would visit Canada only at the very peril of her life.

EVEN THE LIBERALS LAUGHED

Grant Deachman has the other boss fidey an ability to score on public relations than simply having made a profession of the still rather mystical craft and merely being one of Parliament's glibbest phrase-makers.

The most important of these other qualifications probably is that he managed to get himself elected.

He campaigned almost in the same senior league as initially did New Democratic Deputy Douglas Fisher when he surprised himself, astounded most Canadians and stunned the Liberals by beating the late great C. D. "Trader" Howe, the never-to-be-forgotten Mr. Minister of everything" in the Cabinets of former Prime Ministers Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent.

Grant Deachman's opposition was just about as tough and at the outset, looked every bit as impossible.

For he beat Conservative External Affairs Minister Howard Green, a veteran of 28 good and productive years on Parliament Hill.

It looked like such a one-sided contest, indeed, that Deachman, that even the Liberals were laughing.

What? This Nobody-from-Nowhere beat good old Howard Green, so well-respected a man perhaps even hated by many not only on the West Coast, but all across Canada.

They told Grant Deachman to stop being silly, and bluntly that he was wasting his time and cut of the Liberal Party campaign war chest for such a ridiculously forlorn election effort as he was proposing to fight in Vancouver-Quadra, against the seemingly impregnable and well-liked Howard Green, internationally known Preacher-for-Peace.

WIFE HELPS

The trick then, relates Grant Deachman, was to convince the doubting Thomas Liberals that he wasn't really a Nobody-from-Nowhere, but very much a Somebody-from-Somewhere.

And that is when he discovered that just one little line in the newspaper is worth a whole half hour of what the radio-television medicine men call "air time".

What? This from politicians — to - the - editors about him to the Eastern newspapers, and when a few were printed, he had them photostated and circulated among West Coast Liberals to show them that he not only was known, of course, in Vancouver but was something of a national figure across the land.

Then he wrote a few things, and made a few statements, all on the bright if brittle side, and he got a little more notice in the Eastern Canadian Press.

And suddenly, he was that Somebody-Going-Places.

He thought his big public relations moment had come, however, when he was invited by a radio Emcee into one of those "hot line" programs that solicit off-the-cuff opinions by phone from the listeners. He got a really tremendous "play-back" on that until it occurred to him that the same small special group of people who listen to these oddball - type radio shows were doing all the calling.

With TV, the restriction of audience was different, but the problem the same: too few people were looking and listening, at any one time, and if they missed him, then, that was it.

But with his single line in the paper — of course, he'd prefer that line as a headline and with a picture — there was the permanency of record, his name to be read, this afternoon, tonight, tomorrow or whenever anybody cared to look and read.

Give me the newspaper space, he says; and let my opposition have the air time, and I'll outsell him on everything from votes to Volkswagens.

Baby Powder For Hunters

St. Thomas Times-Journal

With the hunting season almost at hand, wives of sportsmen may be glad of some advice recently offered by well-known outdoor writer and broadcaster, Lee Morrow. They may be glad of it even if their husbands are not.

With straight face, Mr. Morrow suggests the little woman pack the following items for her big manly husband before he leaves for a week of rough camp life: a sewing kit, a bottle of hand lotion, and a baby powder.

We do not know what Mr. Morrow has against sportsmen who go hunting in the fall, but it is talk such as this that could keep a lot of them at home. If most hunting camps are like hers, we can think most probably are, bottles of hand lotion and cans of baby powder, not to mention needles, are conspicuous only by their absence. A man who washes his face more than once a day is viewed with some suspicion.

We are afraid we understand why Mr. Morrow would have wives pack a sewing kit and hand lotion, but the baby powder had us puzzled for a while. But it's for dusting in your socks, fellows, so your tootsies won't develop blisters!

Now we get the whole picture. We can see ten hunters daintily stepping out of their sleeping bags at 4 a.m., and ten bottles of hand lotion followed by ten cans of baby powder flying in the direction giving light of a newly-awakened wood fire as the men prepare for the day's adventures.

The Great Depression of the 1930s began when share prices began to drop on the New York Stock Exchange 35 years ago today — in 1929. Frenzied selling saw 12,000,000 shares change hands. By the end of the year, stocks had declined from $87,000,000 in value and losses to the end of 1931 have been estimated at $50-60,000 with 30,000,000 persons affected.

1850 — Israeli forces invaded Egypt and moved to within 2 miles of the Suez Canal.

1938 — Rescue workers at Springhill, N.S., coal mine found 12 miners alive seven days after they had become entombed by a mine "bump."

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1914 — Turkey entered the war against Russia, bombarding Odessa, Theodosia and Novorossick on the Black Sea; the Battle of Gheluvelt began in Belgium; Prince Louis of Battenburg resigned as British First Sea Lord.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—the arms embargo repeal by the U.S. Senate was called a "victory for the Allies" while three key Moscow newspapers attacked the Senate for its neutrality; in Prague, minor skirmishes between Czech patriots and police followed a week of disorders.

Strictly Personal

Religion Is Not What We Believe

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Refusing to let a child read a book because he won't understand all of it is as foolish and short-sighted as refusing to let him climb the monkey-bars in a playground because he's too little to get all the way to the top.

Acquiring the ability to accept a bad situation as a man learning to treat it like a pill — which must be swallowed down rapidly, and not chewed over, so that the bitter taste remains to choke us for a long time.

The practice of medicine, and the pocketbooks of patients, would take a tremendous turn for the better if more doctors could bring themselves to use the four simple words: "I do not know."

One of the real gradations in friendship was admirably put by Wilde, when he said: "Anybody can sympathize with the sufferings of a friend, but it requires a very fine nature to sympathize with a friend's success."

A pig is one who denies the child that remains within him, while a lamb is one who is ruled by the child that remains within him; the former is a tragedy of the past being tyrannized by the present, while the latter is a tragedy of the present being tyrannized by the past.

The same man who firmly believes that "there are too many laws" made a new law passed immediately some interest of his adversely affected and he has no legal recourse.

Religion is not what we believe, not what we profess, not what we think, not what we hold sacred in the fastness of the soul—it is anything meaning-ful, it is the way we translate our deepest feelings into our everyday activities, so that "religion" is not a single strand among others but an ambience that unconsciously colors our attitudes and acts.

Those who worry about the increasing complexity of the social organism in the modern world would do well to reflect upon Whitehead's observation: "Each human being is a more complex structure than any social system to which he belongs."

There are no true synonyms: the words "officer" and "policeman" and "cop" may stand for the same objective referent, but they connote quite different attitudes toward the constabulary.

(In response to scores of letters, I apologize for having credited Ring Lardner with a line from James Thurber — "While he was no dumber than an ox, he was no smarter" — which I wrote in the country, with no reference books available.)

Boeck's Sarcoidosis Nodular Defect in Tissues

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes Boeck's sarcoidosis? I have it around the face and on my arms and back. — Mrs. P. W.

Other readers have asked about this disease, which requires considerable skill to diagnose.

It is a nodular defect in the tissues — and not necessarily where Mrs. P. W. has noticed the nodules.

Common symptoms are enlarged lymph nodes, skin nodules, shortness of breath, fatigue, possibly cough and fever.

The cause is not known. Once it was thought to be due to tuberculosis, but that has been disproved. (About four per cent of patients may have tuberculosis as a complication, however.)

In any event, symptoms for the most part resemble those of tuberculosis. So chest X-rays may be taken and disclose nodulations or "spots," or may show enlarged lymph nodes at the root of the lung.

Then examination of tissue is necessary to exclude TB and to prove that it is sarcoid instead.

For some reason, Boeck's sarcoid is common in warm areas, and less frequently found in cellars. (It is not hereditary.)

The ailment runs an erratic course that is difficult to predict. However, study of a large number of cases indicates that there is about a 70 percent chance of the disorder disappearing in less than one year with the chest returning completely to normal. Use of the steroids (cortisone-type) drugs speeds improvement.

But if the disease persists more than three years, near total cure is the rule. In the latter and the problem is prolonged. These are approximate time limits based on observation; the disease is erratic, thus making it difficult or impossible to know what to expect in any given case.

Dear Dr. Molner: In an article on emphysema you said that with proper care it can be helped. What do you mean? Can it be cured? I have bronchitis, too. Is it true that emphysema indicates the lungs have lost their elasticity? — Mrs. L. M.

When I said the condition can be helped, I meant just that. But it cannot be cured. The lungs have lost some of their ability to expel air; thus less fresh air can be inhaled with the next breath.

Bronchitis along with emphysema is not at all unusual — and the bronchitis should be treated as part of the means of relieving the emphysema. Because of the questions now arising about emphysema, I've gone into the problem in detail in a booklet, "How To Control Emphysema." That is the goal: Control it. Don't let it become worse through lack of attention. (Send 15 cents in coin and an unstamped, long, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill. for a copy of the booklet.

Dear Dr. Molner: In 1960 my husband had a slight stroke. Later the doctor gave him a blood thinner which he took until about a year ago, when he stopped. He notices no difference.

Is this inviting another stroke? X-rays showed a plug in an artery in the back of the head, located so that surgery is not possible. — Mrs. F. N.

No, this is not inviting another stroke. Blood thinners are used in certain cases for varying lengths of time as a temporary measure. Collateral (additional) circulation then develops — other vessels increase their capacity to carry blood, making up at least in part for those which have been shut off.

You must accept the fact that another stroke could occur due to the cause of the earlier one: plugging of some other artery. But again, this may never occur.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 29th, 1944

A hit-and-run driver was reported to have collided with a parked automobile on Station St. late Monday night, speeding away under the cover of darkness. Found near the scene of the accident was the hub cap, presumably from the left front wheel of the vehicle to be in collision. Police are in possession of the hub cap and investigations are in progress to locate the driver of the alleged hit-and-run car.

Traditional white gloves mildicating the absence of criminal cases on the docket, were presented Mr. Justice Greene at the opening of the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court here. "The absence of criminal cases from this court reflects well upon the people of Hastings County, especially at this time," remarked His Lordship as he accepted the gloves.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market dropped fractionally today—the 35th anniversary of the great stock market crash of 1929 — in moderately heavy morning trading. Speculative action appeared improved and prices generally advanced.

Industrial prices, however, were lower, but most losses were ¼ or less. Typical drops of ¼ went to Alberta Gas Trunk A, Bank of Montreal and Bell Telephone at 34¾, 67¾ and 50¾, while Moore Corp. and Algoma Steel each declined ½ to 56 and 73¾.

Quebec Natural Gas lost ⅜ to 11¼, while Abitibi, CPR and Dominion Bridge each eased ⅛ to 14¾, 31¾ and 30¾.

Montreal Locomotive gained ⅜ to 16¾ after touching a high of 16¾, while Canada Malting advanced ⅜ to its high of 24¼. Brazilian Traction added 20 cents to $4.85 in heavy trade.

Among penny stocks, Key Anacon tacked on 10 cents to $2.44, Camflo 14 cents to $1.90 and Base Metals ½-cent to its high of 30 cents. Area rose six cents to $2.33.

On index, industrials fell .20 to 164.85, the TSE index .18 to 133.99 and base metals .10 to 71.32. Golds rose .21 to 149.50 and western oils .06 to 91.88 while volume at 11 a.m. was 1,367,000 shares compared with 1,439,000 shares traded at the same time Wednesday.

Volume was 5,363,000 shares compared with 4,657,000 traded Tuesday. Last time the figure was higher was July 31, when volume totalled 7,850,000 shares.

A healthy list of speculatives produced the increase. About 10 issues traded heavily, and one, Canadian Keeley, almost turned over a half-million shares. The stock traded 489,225 shares and gained 11 cents to 39 cents.

Other heavy traders included New Calumet, up two cents to $1.24, Base Metals, up five cents to 29 cents, Jonsmith, up 3½ cents to 28 cents and Metals Mines, ahead 13 cents to $1.45. In other penny activity, Area gained nine cents to $2.27 but Angle Rouyn lost 10 cents to $1.05. Highland-Bell was ahead 3½ cents to $7.45 in light trading.

Harrison Minerals traded 581,000 shares and was unchanged at eight cents after selling as high as nine cents.

Some issues had good gains. Included in this list were Dominion Stores, up ½ to 22¾, Imperial Oil, ahead ⅜ to 53¾, B.C. Forest Products, up a point to 32¾ and Moore Corp., up ⅝ to 56¾.

The senior base metals list sig-sagged through the day. Falconbridge gained 1½ to 82½, its high, but Inco dropped a point to 91.

Gold trading was weak with Giant Yellowknife down ¾ to 14¼. Cochenour Willans advanced 10 cents to $3.30.

On index, industrials fell .32 to 165.05, the TSE index .31 to 154.08, golds .27 to 149.29, base metals .07 to 71.52 and western oils .49 to 91.82.

Foggy Roads Cause Mishaps, Cow Killed, Truck Overturns

A heavy ground fog which settled over the Quinte area early today resulted in two accidents in Prince Edward County, one on the county road between Rossmore and Rednorville, and the other on No. 14 highway near Mountain View.

Shortly before seven this morning an east bound car driven by David Stanton, R. R. 1 Carrying Place, ran into a herd of cows about two miles west of Rossmore, killing one animal and injuring another.

The cows owned by Jerald Anderson, R. R. 1, Belleville, were being driven to their pasture when the accident occurred. The front end of the Stanton car was badly damaged but the driver was un-injured.

At approximately the same time a southbound McFarland Construction truck driven by J. Guy Leclerc, R. R. 2, Belleville, was forced to swing right to avoid another truck which had stopped to make a left turn into the Mountain View Cheese Factory. Leclerc's truck went off the shoulder of the road, down a bank and rolled on its side.

Provincial Constable Earl Graves of Picton, came onto the Mountain View accident as he was answering the call to the one at Rossmore.

CPR Reports Profit but CNR a Loss

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway reported a profit and Canadian National Railways a loss Wednesday on their September railway operations.

CPR, with revenues of $41,802,681 and expenses of $38,672,352, reported railway earnings of $3,130,329 for September. Earnings in September, 1963, were $2,243,046 on revenues of $37,794,784 and expenses of $35,551,738.

Net earnings for the first 10 months of 1964 were $32,160,897 compared to $25,577,856 for the similar 1963 period.

CNR's September railway operating loss was $267,000 compared to $190,000 in September, 1963. Revenues were $65,394,000 and expenses $65,661,000 for September, 1964, and $59,469,000 and $60,249,000 for September of last year.

Ten-month earnings for 1964 were $10,452,000 compared to a loss of $3,754,000 in the same period last year.

Calls for National Tolerance

"Certain noisy elements" which would foment racial troubles in Canada must not be allowed to succeed, former Belleville mayor A. Mackeracher Haig told the C.N.R. Pensioners Association yesterday.

Speaking at the Association's annual stag luncheon at the Club Canada, Mr. Haig called on responsible citizens to show tolerance and flexibility and to keep partisan politics out of national problems.

All levels of government, Mr. Haig said, are asking for a new appraisal of the national constitution. There are likely to be amendments to the British North America Act and there will probably be a new distribution of responsibility among federal, provincial and municipal governments. He described the changes and proposed changes as "trying times in the affairs of our nation".

In his speech, the third before the group, Mr. Haig applauded the organization and its action to have a notice board placed on the centre flag pole south of the station. This serves to identify any deceased employee or pensioner for whom the flag is flown at half mast. The Association has also provided the railway improve the general area around the flagpoles.

Teen-Age Canada
Writer Started Column Nearly Four Years Ago

By JACK HUTTON

The questions that keep popping up in the mailbag of a youth columnist follow a pattern that never seems to vary. And I'd like to answer a few today.

The most frequent one: don't you ever run out of topics? There can't be that many topics that would appeal to your readers.

On the contrary, it's impossible to touch on more than a few of the interests that grip our readers between the ages of 13 and 21. They are living in the most exciting age the world has known — and taking advantage of it.

Next most frequent question: how long have you been writing your column and how did it start? Next February will be the fourth anniversary.

It's harder to answer the second half of the question. But months of research went into writing the column three and one-half years ago. No cross Canada column existed then devoted to the interests of readers your age.

First I read every similar column that was being written in the United States and tried them out on friends. The impression we got then — and I have not changed my mind — that 80 percent of the material was being written down to its readers.

I was lucky enough to find a number of friends, varying from first year high school to university, who served as something like an advisory panel. (They still tell me which columns they think are "lousy").

DEPEND ON REACTION

The vast majority of adults never again learn as much as they did in the years before they reached 21. They are churning years, filled with questions, curiosity, and interests that switch with the speed of a kaleidoscope.

That's the express train that I humbly try to ride. And I depend a great deal on reaction from readers to keep me on the right track.

Next question? Which topics draw the most mail?

Well, it's a sure bet any mention of the Beatles or Elvis Presley will draw angry letters from readers who feel an idol has been threatened. The most well-organized fan clubs in Canada, in my experience, are those devoted to Bobby Curtola.

But you're wrong if you think that's what most teen - agers read. I've found that columns on space age mathematics attract the most interest. The mailbag record is still held by a column in which I asked readers to figure the average speed in orbit of the Russian spaceman Yuri Gagarin.

I promised to print the first correct answer but suddenly found myself swamped with 400 letters. (I still have the letter from a Saskatchewan reader who said after working out the problem: "These are fun and I look forward to them in high school. I am a 12-year-old in Grade 7.")

Another question: have you ever had a proposal of marriage? The answer: no, but a girl living close to London, Ont., kept writing to ask when I was going through her town and insisted she'd like to show me around.

LOST CONTACT

Haven't heard from her in two years, so I presume her boyfriend is censoring the mail.

Question: does a column ever accomplish anything besides amusing its readers?

I'm rather proud of some of the things we've accomplished through your letters. We've helped stamp collectors, chess enthusiasts and others with stranger hobbies establish correspondence although they are hundreds of miles apart.

A column of ours formed the basis of a discussion group on whether 16-year-olds or 17-year-olds should be allowed into adult movies at the first international meeting of censors held in Canada.

Our columns on whether 18-year-olds should be allowed the vote have been quoted in the House of Commons and, I like to think, helped our MP's find out what potential young voters thought.

We've provided a forum of opinions for any reader who felt moved to sit down with pen and paper to air his. And their opinions have gone to an audience of readers their own age across the country.

Those are only a few of the questions you've asked. But do me one favor: don't stop writing.

Frankford

FRANKFORD — Frankford W.C.W. held their annual harvest time tea and bazaar in Rose Lowery Hall on Wednesday evening.

Rev. C. R. Judd opened the bazaar to the buying public and welcomed the many guests who attended despite the rainy weather.

Mrs. C. Judd assisted Mrs. C. Bennett, president in welcoming the guests at the door.

The tea table covered with white damask held a huge pumpkin containing a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and was set with shining silver tea services.

Presiding at the tea table, assisting ladies from local churches and neighboring communities, Mrs. J. McDonald, Frankford, Mrs. Wrightman and Mrs. G. A. Down of Trenton, Mrs. Earl Stickle, Johnstown; Mrs. L. Bedford of Trenton; Mrs. McColl of Wooler; Mrs. H. D. Ireland, Carmen; Mrs. A. Chase of Zion; Mrs. William Pitcher of Stockdale; Mrs. William of Stirling and Mrs. C. Judd of Frankford.

There were heavily ladened sale tables with home baking, aprons, quilts, fancy work, home produce and a white elephant table. The girls of the C.G.I.T. and the Explorers' group were in charge of the sale of candy and for the children, the fish pond was the main event of the evening.

Various other members presided over prettily appointed individual tea tables centred with hurricane lamps.

The efforts of the members who worked so diligently before and during the evening resulted in making it a most successful venture.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart S. Rosenberg

How does one live with personal defeat? How would Micah help solve this most difficult of all human problems. He might say: live with a recognition of and a faith in a world that is just. If we are to keep our sanity, we must hold on to the unconquerable faith that what we believe in — if it is just — can never truly be overcome or vanquished. When a scientist dies, he is missed — mourned, but his colleagues do not give up their belief in science because they have lost a scientist. When six million Jews went to their death, those who survived developed a faith in the justice of the Jewish cause by laboring to create new life — the State of Israel. If one does not give up a belief in the just cause and seeks the fulfillment of justice, he can maintain his balance, even in the presence of upheaval.

SUPREME SACRIFICE

Abraham was so firmly committed to belief in one God Whom he believed to be a good and just God, he was ready to make the supreme sacrifice — his son Isaac — he was able to surrender without accepting defeat, because he believed that a just God would not forever destroy His own justice. We do not always understand God's world, and are often tempted to rail and to rant against what appears to be patent injustice. Sometimes we cannot do otherwise: a beloved child has been taken from us in the vigor of life; a brother or a sister, a husband or a wife have been snatched up from our very midst and our hearts are torn and broken.

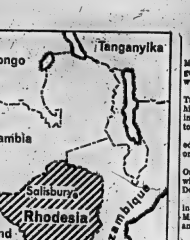
Yet religious teaching suggests that it is no good to cry your life away; no good to walk without faith, bereft of hope. It is not wise to prolong mourning or lamentation over the children who were never born, or for those who have passed away, to weep for the fame that was never won, or the riches that have been lost. We must go on, as Abraham did, believing in the inscrutable justice of a just God, even though we seem to be defeated. We must learn how to surrender, and yet not be lost.

MATURE RELIGION

Mature religion teaches this lesson, and yet few have learned. You watch a pious man say his prayers throughout a whole lifetime, hear him recite each morning, the prayer — "Blessed are You, O God, Who raises the dead, who are bowed down." But if he does not live this when tested, he does not really believe it. When you see a man live the prayer, surrender to his fate when he cannot change it, take positive attitude toward his trouble, you know that he must believe: if God has given me the to endure, there must be yet something worthwhile for me to do in life. When a man feels that way about his trouble and his defeats, you know that his religion is really working for him.

Here is a woman destroying her life because of prolonged bereavement, yet not knowing what to do with her trouble. Here are a husband and a wife who live in unholy misery because all they can see is their neighbor's backyard; they never have eyes for the treasures which are their own children. Religion teaches that when we face something which we cannot change, there is wisdom in resignation. It will not our own, but it also teaches that we must not run away from trouble, must deepen our commitments and hold on to our belief in the ultimate goodness of life. We may fail and our world seem to be defeated; but our world is not the whole world.

Jaycee Driving Tips



With the production of every new car, driving hazards increase, on our already crowded highways. Increased hazards create the need for you, the drivers of today and tomorrow, to be alert and skillful. A driver cannot learn too much.

1. Many experts agree that the most important quality possessed by a topnotch driver is: (a) great skill; (b) a very fast reaction time; (c) a good driver attitude or (d) superior vision?

2. If you become very sleepy while driving, the best thing to do is: (a) to talk to someone; (b) to stop and rest; (c) to let in plenty of fresh air or (d) to drink coffee?

3. What makes it more difficult to stop a car on a downgrade than on a level road: (a) force of friction; (b) kinetic energy; (c) centrifugal force or (d) force of gravity.

TROUBLED TIMES IN RHODESIA — Angry words over the future of Rhodesia have been exchanged by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Prime Minister Ian Smith of the African self-governing colony. The British government has informed Rhodesia's white rulers that any unilateral declaration of independence would be an open act of rebellion. Rhodesia, formerly Southern Rhodesia, is the last remnant of the now dissolved Central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. It has 3,600,000 blacks and 221,500 whites. British insistence that the entire population of voting age be allowed to select a government is opposed by the territory's white rulers.

GETS NDP SUPPORT

The CBC—with several Conservatives and a handful of Liberals attacking and New Democrats and other Liberals defending—has been the main subject during the last three days of an interim supply debate that opened last Friday.

The government is seeking operating money for November and December, and the opposition may debate on any topic and keep the discussion running as long as it wants.

Today the Commons special flag committee is to table its report but there was no indication when it will be debated. Acting House Leader J. J. Watson MacNaught said at the adjournment hour Wednesday evening the interim supply debate would continue.

Mr. Noble said "this sordid mess" in CBC plays must be discontinued "because we cannot continue to sow such vulgarity without reaping the demoralizing reward.

"There is an abundance of clean, informative, constructive and entertaining program material available to the CBC which would assist parents in getting their children on good moral foundations and by which they could make a really creditable contribution to our way of life."

SHOULD SELL STUDIOS

Hugh Horner (PC — Jasper-Edson) suggested the CBC's main stations and studios be sold to private broadcasters.

Dr. Horner proposed the corporation vacate the radio and television program production field in favor of private broadcasters and the National Film Board.

Arnold Peters (NDP — Timiskaming) defending the Festival series although personally disliking it.

"I think the people who take part in it are a bunch of nuts," he said.

"... But I realize there are a great many nuts in this country who believe this is a very worthwhile type of program."

Mr. Peters said he wanted the corporation to continue showing controversial programs.

STILL PIONEERING

"While the CBC has made mistakes we must remember that the CBC is pioneering, certainly in this country in this field, if not on the North American continent."

Harold Danforth (PC—Kent, Ont.) repeated demands for a broadcasting committee to question CBC officials.

"You would think that the CBC would welcome this opportunity to present their side of the story," he said.

He said there is a growing opinion in the country that Parliament has no control over the corporation, that it is given an open cheque to spend money and that it is an entity unto itself.

Frankford

FRANKFORD — Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rose were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Crook of Wellington.

Chatham Judge Has Not Come To Decision

CHATHAM (CP) — Juvenile Court Judge W. H. Fox of London, Ont., said today he has not been able to come to a decision yet in the case of Brian Russell D. Horsburgh, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Judge Fox said Nov. 10 as the date on which he will hand down judgment and said it would be "peremptory."

"There will be no further postponement," he told Crown Attorney Blake Ward and Defence Counsel C. E. Perkins. Both lawyers agreed to the deferment.

Judge Fox said the large amount of evidence that had to be sifted and weighed was the fact that his own court calendar was a busy one caused the delay.

The 45-year-old Chatham United Church minister, charged with eight counts of contributing to juvenile delinquency has been awaiting judgment since his trial ended Oct. 8. He is free on bail while awaiting the decision.

Every home heating fuel claims economy, dependability, cleanliness, convenience.

But compared to other fuels Natural Gas is best.

Just how economical is economical? How dependable is dependable? Just how clean is clean? Compare one fuel to another and the facts will prove that Natural Gas is best no matter what the others claim.

Fact: Natural Gas costs far less than electric heating, and in most areas of Ontario less than oil.

Fact: Natural Gas is so economical that you can heat an entire house with normal insulation evenly, including basement . . . no need for individual room thermostats, for closed off rooms.

Fact: Natural Gas requires none of the extra thick wall and ceiling insulation, or the special basement insulation required by electric heating.

Fact: Natural Gas is dependable. Supply lines are buried underground. Weather and road conditions, power failures or burned out fuses do not disrupt the flow of fuel.

Fact: Natural Gas burns cleaner. All its volume is turned into heat energy. No soot. No greasy deposits. No baked-in dirt on walls or drapes.

Fact: Natural Gas forced air systems make living more comfortable and healthier. The warm air is circulating and being filtered constantly. Uncirculated air, as provided by electric heating, is stale air.

Fact: Natural Gas lets you conveniently and economically use your heating system for air conditioning during Summer months. Lets you humidify the circulating air too.

Fact: Natural Gas, properly installed, with Automatic shut-off and other modern safety controls is as safe a heating system as you'll find anywhere. Electricity leads the list of fire causes over all other forms of energy. (Ontario Fire Marshal's Report.)

Fact: With Natural Gas, service is free.

There is other evidence. But these facts are enough to show that although every fuel makes the same claims, if you compare one fuel to another, Natural Gas is best.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM JOHN DERRY

Derry—Thompson

MADOC — A pretty wedding took place recently at Sacred Heart of Mary Catholic Church in Madoc, at high noon, when Rita Bernadette Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Charles Thompson and the late Mr. Thompson of Eldorado became the bride of William John Derry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Derry of Madoc. Rev. W. P. Healey of Marmora officiated and Larry Thompson, nephew of the bride was the acolyte.

The altar was decorated with pink and white gladioli and mums. The organist, Bob Stoklosar, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Bob Burke of Belleville.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Wilfred was elegant in her floor-length gown, designed with a rounded neckline and long, lily pointed sleeves. Her bodice was adorned with scalloped imported guipure lace and carried through on her bell skirt, delicately hand clipped at the hemline. An inserted cummerbund of peau de soie was accented by a matching detachable walloon train caught from the shoulders with two flat bows. Her pearl wedding ring headdress was highlighted with a silk illusion finger-tip veil worn delicately over the face. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor was Theresa De Genova, sister of the bride and the bridesmaid was Dianne Pigden, niece of the bride. They were identically gowned in peacock blue, floor-length peau de soie with detachable embroidered trains extending from the neckline. They chose matching waterlily headdresses centred with a pearled flower and worn with an over-the-face veil. The junior bridesmaid, Darcel Thompson, niece of the bride, was gowned in a floor-length peacock blue, peau de soie with a detachable full length train. Her miniature wedding band headdress was worn with an over-the-face veil. The attendants wore matching shoes and white wrist-length gloves. They carried posesys of white and blue carnations.

Best man was Dr. Clifford Derry, Ottawa, brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Carl Derry, Madoc and Gerald Thompson, North Bay.

The reception was held in the Canadian Legion hall where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a two-piece imported silk knit suit in royal blue, adorned with an embroidered jet beaded jacket and black accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who chose a turquoise three piece silk knit-ted suit with gold accessories.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with doves carrying wedding bands.

Following a reception at the home of the bride, the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip through the eastern United States. The bride chose a three-piece Italian knit suit of delightful shade of wedgewood. This was accented with a brown hat and brown alligator shoes and bag. The couple are living in Madoc.

Guests were present from Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Hamilton and Burlington.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Don Smith, at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Grace Gordon with Bev Hurley as hostess and was presented with a tri-lite by the choir of Sacred Heart of Mary Church. The accounting department of the Marmoraton Mines presented the bride and bridegroom with a divan and chair and the staff members of the Marmoraton Mines gave them a vacuum cleaner. A stag was held in honor of the bridegroom when he was presented with a lazy-boy chair and a purse of money.

Holloway Street UCW Hold Attractive Tea and Bazaar

Large baskets of colorful autumn blooms formed the background setting in Holloway Street United Church auditorium when the United Church Women held their Christmas tea and bazaar yesterday afternoon under the fine convenorship of Mrs. A. McMillan assisted by co-convenors Mrs. D. Richardson and Mrs. W. Tweedson.

The convener along with Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. T. Poste and Mrs. C. Hubbs warmly greeted the many guests at the entrance in the upstairs lobby. Here, the children's nook was located with a wide assortment of babies and tiny tots knitted and home sewn apparel sponsored by the Energetic Club of the church and convened by Mrs. L. Bowes.

Upon entering the downstairs hall a hive of activity could be observed with each of the sales tables well patronized and each clearly identified with their particular line of sales goods.

ATTRACTIVE TEA ROOM

Mrs. A. Campbell was convener, assisted by Mrs. B. Oliphant in the tea room which was decorated in keeping with the autumnal decor and was outlined with panels of green, orange and brown with the white picket fence entrance highlighted with two large baskets of giant poms and stately gladioli. Here, the tea table was laden strikingly covered with a cocoa brown linen cloth adorned with autumn leaves in the tea room were Mrs. J. D. Robertson, Mrs. C. Greeo, Mrs. E. C. Wolfrey and Mrs. Harrison. Pouring tea throughout the afternoon were Mrs. F. Townsend, Mrs. C. Holmes, Mrs. Moorman and Mrs. Hick.

The sweetie pantry tables were most colorful with their pastel pink place mats and centred with rose bowls containing yellow and white mums and pink carnations mingled with golden sprayed greenery. Other members of the organization assisted in serving and replenishing the tasty refreshments which were prepared in the kitchen under the supervision of Mrs. H. Outtogdyke assisted by Mrs. L. Reid as co-convener, with other ladies assisting.

SALE TABLES

A fine assortment of aprons was displayed to fine advantage with these being in charge of Mrs. G. Dobbs. The plain sewing had a wide range of items and was convened by Mrs. A. Bartlett and Mrs. R. Jose. The pantry shelf was well supplied with everything from jams, relishes, pickles to African violets and other house plants and was convened by Mrs. G. Coulter. The homebaking table did a landslide business having a bounteous supply of tasty delicacies and was in charge of Mrs. C. Wannamaker assisted by Mrs. Lough and Mrs. Cameron. The assorted boxes of candy and cellophane bags of mix'n'bolts sold rapidly and these were in charge of Mrs. C. Vader and Mrs. R. Scott. The novelties table had a wide range of goods so appropriate for the coming Yule season handily decorated pine cones, Yule candles and table centres as well as many other novelty items and was in charge of Mrs. H. Hutt.

EVENING ACTIVITIES

The event was resumed again in the evening with a number of ladies performing double duties while others who assisted were: receiving, Mrs. C. Holmes; pouring tea, Mrs. A. McMillan, Mrs. VanOsten, Mrs. H. Dixon, and Miss Lenore Wilkes; tea room convener, Mrs. C. Lowther; evening hostesses, June Burrows, Beth Robertson, Mrs. Alyea and Mrs. D. Ferguson with members of the C.G.I.T. and Hi-C groups assisting in replenishing and serving.

Treasurers for the afternoon and taking tickets at the entrance to the tea room were Mrs. Talbot Ketcheson and Mrs. Walter Simmons.

A.N.A.F. V.C. LADIES' AUXILIARY NO. 49

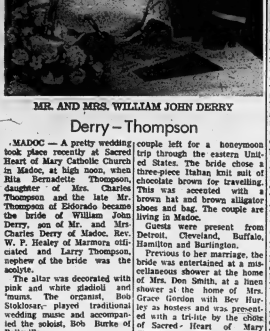
The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans took place in Memorial Hall, Front Street with comrade Elizabeth Buckley presiding. Following the opening procedures, the initiation of four new applicants was enacted, Mrs. Jean Hart, Mrs. Kathleen Clark, Mrs. Annie Bawden, Mrs. Marie Scott.

Committee reports were given and much activity shown within the past month, with the catering to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Foot union and turkey dinner which proved highly successful and duly appreciated by all who had the privilege of participating. This report was enjoyed in the auditorium also No. 201 ANAFVC.

Wives and mothers of the veterans were in the meantime being looked after in the Sgts. Mess at the Belleville Armoury. A delicious turkey buffet lunch was arranged under the supervision of Comrade Gladys Fitzgerald and Comrade Alice Storms assisted by several of the auxiliary members. Mr. Harold Ashley expressed on behalf of all registered high school boys appreciative praise for a wonderful weekend which was much more than an ordinary meeting of Comrades.

With several banquets on the schedule, a request for help will be forwarded to all members available.

ASKS ASSISTANCE



Comrade Marion Dracup spoke briefly on the urgency of co-operation on Nov. 6th and 7th in the poppy sale drive, and to instill upon those out in the know that "We shall not forget" volunteers for tagging would be appreciated.

Among the several reports read was a card one, Mabel Gaskin to notify of the sudden death of Immediate Past Dominion President Lillian Bradley of Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Mrs. Seth (Edith) Burrus of London, Ontario. Mrs. Elizabeth Lundberg, past president of the above accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Garbraith attended the funeral.

The meeting was drawn to a close with a social hour enjoyed in playing darts, cards and a delicious lunch.

STARTS SCHOOL

Headmistress Geraldine Lack is forming an experimental type school in Britain to bridge the gap between school and university that will offer discussion periods for students and teachers.

GRAVY TRAIN

Dear Susanna: Your column has provided me with many time and labor saving hints, and I am happy to be able to pass one along to you which I feel is worthy of mention. It is a new train of thought on an old subject.

I have just learned of a quick and foolproof way to mix flour and water for thickening soups, sauces, gravies etc. All that is required is a widemouthed small jar, or tumbler with a tight fitting cover. Place about a half a cup of cold liquid in the jar — water, milk or vegetable stock — and add a heaping tablespoon of flour. Shake vigorously a few times. Pour directly into whatever hot mixture you wish to thicken.

This method is guaranteed to give perfect results, but you must begin with the liquid in the jar — never the flour — and I do want to give credit for this nerve saving gem of an idea to my mother-in-law. — Mrs. Lawson.

A bouquet of flours to your mother-in-law for helping to smooth out life's lumps when things are getting a bit thick. You find yourself in a stew or your stock is at a low ebb. — SUSANNA

HONEYMOON HOUSE

Dear Susanna: We are newly married, and it may sound silly Susanna, but our little bungalow in a row with all the other little bungalows) is absolutely my dream house. . . but I am worried about something.

We have just had broadloom laid, in a very light shade, in our living room. We are also starting to entertain our friends and relatives and I just know that before long someone is going to spill tea or coffee or a cold drink on our lovely carpeting. Could you give me a plan of attack for such an emergency, as I don't want to go and do it wrong ting and be left with one of those ghastly brown stains on our rug. — M. L.

You are a wise girl to take this attitude, for the very first rule is to "blot the spot" immediately. Use clean white absorbent materials. The longer the spill remains, the harder it is to remove.

For the liquids you have mentioned, you may also apply a solution of one teaspoon of neutral detergent (the type for washing delicate fabrics) in a pint of lukewarm water. Just use a spoonful at a time, work it in with your fingers and blot up immediately. Next sponge with a little luke warm water and blot dry. Then "sour" the spot by sponging carefully with a solution of 1 part white vinegar and 1½ parts lukewarm water. Allow this to remain on the spot for 2 or 3 minutes, then apply a little luke warm water and dry again. Finish by blotting up remaining moisture with a pad of dry cloth or paper towels or tissues weighted in place with a book.

If by any remote chance this method does not remove the stain entirely, you have done nothing to "set" the mark, and it is already for your professional rug cleaner to come and finish off the job. — SUSANNA

Mrs. Goldwater Feels Butterflies When She Thinks Of Occupying White House

WASHINGTON (CP) — Mrs. Barry Goldwater, asked once whether she enjoyed the thought of being a president's wife, replied: "No I don't. It scares me to death, really. I feel butterflies."

Peggy Goldwater, 35, mother of four and grandmother of four, has never hidden her nervousness about life in the public eye.

But she has travelled thousands of miles and shook thousands of hands along with her husband, the Republican presidential candidate.

She has been called "the most shrivel political wife in recent memory."

She avoids political talk, answering most questions with a terse "of course," or "of course not."

"I still think a women's place is in the home," she says. "Since Barry prefers me not to make speeches, I don't."

FAMILY HAS MONEY

Mrs. Goldwater was born of a wealthy Indiana family and met Barry Goldwater on an Arizona vacation. They were married in 1934.

Most of the family money is reported to be here—her father was a founder of the Borg-Warner Corporation—but she dresses simplicity in her own life.

In the Goldwaters' small Washington apartment, she does all the cooking and most of the cleaning. In their big and ultra - modern Phoenix home there are two servants.

Mrs. Goldwater stands five-feet-three, has blue eyes and brunette hair swept back. She dresses smartly, reflecting her training as a New York fashion designer and manager of a dress shop in her home town of Muncie. She also studied painting for three years at a New York art school.

She likes to smoke—despite her non-smoking husband's disapproval—and says she has to fight to keep her weight down.

She made her first post campaign trip with a flight to Muncie for celebration of Peggy Goldwater Day.

On the way, she chatted easily with reporters about her childhood, about cooking—one of her favorite topics—and about her life as a politician's wife, shuttling back and forth between Washington and Phoenix.

LOVES TO TRAVEL

Of her present life, in the midst of a hectic campaign, she says:

"It's fine—I love to travel, to meet people. I'd do anything Barry asked. I just try to make sure he leaves Sunday a clear nothing day, whether we're at home in Phoenix or in Washington. That's my job—to make sure he gets some rest."

Asked whether it bothered her when people made personal attacks on her husband, she shook her head.

"It used to. But my skin is thicker now."

All her children joined her for the Muncie affair. They are Joanne, 28, wife of Dr. Thomas H. Ross of Torrance, Calif., and the mother of four; Barry Jr., 36, on leave from a Los Angeles brokerage firm to serve as national chairman of the Youth for Goldwater organization; Michael, 34, on leave from a training course in a Phoenix bank to take part in the campaign, and Peggy, 30, recently married to Richard Arlen Holt of Los Angeles, an oil firm employee.

Mrs. Goldwater says she is looking forward to the end of th. campaign and the vacation that will follow.

"I'd like to watch the returns at the bottom of Grand Canyon, in a place called Phan' m Ranch. But Barry says the mules can't carry all that television equipment down there. So we'll be home in Phoenix, all the family."

ORMTA Holds Workshop for Music Teachers

Miss M. Woodard, president of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers, Belleville branch, welcomed the teachers on Monday to Albert College Manor where the music teachers of the city and district attended a workshop conducted by Mr. Gordon Hallet of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

Mr. Hallet was introduced to the teachers by Sister Mary Polycarp of St. Joseph's Convent. Throughout the day Mr.

Ladies' Club Enjoys Slides Of Holy Land

The Prince Edward - Belleville Ladies' Club have resumed their meetings after a summer recess at the Recreation Centre under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Baird.

Guest speaker at the first meeting was Rev. T. F. Townsend, who had recently returned from a visit to the Holy Land. Mr. Townsend showed a series of colored slides and gave a story of several churches and castles at Copenhagen and on to Rome where there were more beautiful cathedrals, coliseums, statues, monuments, fountains, many lovely gardens of flowers and wonderful roads, the River Nile, Cairo and district, and the pyramids, where a group of 45 were taken by camels.

He showed a museum and gave a recording of a prayer from the Moslem Tower, also the city of Damascus, River Jordan, Dead Sea, Bethlehem, Garden of Gethsemane and a YMCA on the shore of Galilee.

All were beautiful and most interesting according to Mr. Townsend's explanation of each picture.

Mrs. Townsend sang a solo, and accompanied Mr. Townsend in a duet.

The program for the second meeting consisted of readings by Mrs. White, Mrs. Sharpe and Mrs. Garbutt. Miss Helen Solman, guest speaker, gave two readings.

The members of the club and friends have enjoyed two bus trips, one during the summer to Hamilton and another this autumn when the trees were so beautiful, around the shores of Prince Edward County. They stopped for dinner at Lake-on-the-Mountain summer resort.

Hallet's lectures and remarks stressed to the teachers the value of perfection and constant drilling in the early years of the student. Strong emphasis was placed on the value of technique in the senior grades. Mr. Hallet demonstrated many of his points to the teachers in his playing.

At the close of the session Sister M. Bibiana of St. Peter's Convent, Trenton, thanked Mr. Hallet for his untiring efforts and leaving everyone with such valuable and profitable information.

'Toddler's Fracture' May Be Cause of Some Infant Pain

MONTREAL (CP) — "Toddler's fracture" may be the cause when an infant suffers leg pain of uncertain origin, in the opinion of four Montreal X-ray specialists.

The fracture, usually a break in the shinbone, may result from a tumble from a highchair or some other fall or injury. The child may be in pain but diagnosis of the discomfort may be difficult.

The doctors drew their conclusions following a 10-year survey at the Montreal Children's Hospital.

"Toddler's fracture" usually occurs in youngsters from nine months to three years of age, said Doctors J. S. Dunbar, H. T. Owen, M. B. Nogrady and R. McLease in reporting the survey in the Journal of the Canadian Association of Radiologists.

Examination may reveal certain symptoms. The child may be unable to bear weight on the affected leg for a few hours or even as long as two weeks after the injury. He may appear well yet be irritable.

A test of the skin temperature on each side of the lower leg almost invariably will show a "slight increase in heat over the lower anterior (frontal) shin on the affected side."

After describing technical details of X-ray studies to establish diagnosis, the authors say that the symptoms sometimes may lead to a wrong diagnosis, such as infection of the bone or even bone tumor.

"Since Toddler's fracture is not known to give rise to complications, its non-recognition is not disastrous," said the report. "But suffering can be spared the child and parental concern and expense can be avoided if the true nature of this rather obscure entity is recognized early."

Women Prove To Be Good Bus Drivers

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Girls in trim grey trousers and jaunty caps are driving big public buses through central Paris. There are 43 such chosen women along with 6,000 male drivers who weave through the dangerous traffic in their single-decker buses.

Women taxi - drivers have been a common sight here in the last decade, but lady bus drivers are comparatively new.

Tests held four years ago proved so successful that the ranks of women bus drivers are growing fast.

Even the most irascible drivers of private cars admire the pert girls behind the wheels of the big buses. Officials of the transport service say women bus drivers show nerves of iron and can cope with traffic problems as well as men.

Bus driving is one of the few jobs in France which pays a woman a salary equal to that of a man. Women ticket takers were encouraged to train as drivers after the men turned to higher-paid jobs in offices and industry.

Most of the women bus drivers are between the ages of 20 and 30. They work a 47-hour week for 823 francs (about $164 monthly.

Red - haired Marguerite Lasserre, the first woman to be hired, says it is far easier to drive a bus than a car through Paris traffic.

"One is so vulnerable in a car," she says. "They are so small and fragile in an accident. My bus is as protected as a fortress."

Marguerite, 30, has been driving professionally in Paris for the last four years. She is convinced her profession is far easier than working in a factory or an office.

CAREER WOMAN — Mrs. William Woodman, 80, of Edmonton has been in business for 19 years. When she was 62, she entered the chick hatchery business and now is a full-time working partner in the $75,000 enterprise. Mrs. Woodman works eight hours a day, six days a week and is "usually the last out of the office". (CP Photo).

Lively Great Grandmother Operates $75,000 Business

By ANNE MASON

EDMONTON (CP) — Mrs. William Woodman, an energetic, ambitious great - grandmother, with an instinct for business affairs, is convinced that age is no handicap.

She was 62 when, with a few dollars and second-hand equipment, she started a chick hatchery with a son.

Now 80, she puts in eight hours a day six days a week supervising the thriving $75,000 business.

She writes all the advertising copy for the hatchery and two years ago took a 10-week evening course in advertising.

Mrs. Woodman attributes her success to "honesty, a personal touch, faith and a refusal to become discouraged."

"I love my work and don't think I would have lived this long if I hadn't worked."

She admits she knew little of the business when she started, and it was "nip and tuck" for a long time.

"I grew with it and learned the office work as I went along. I did all the jobs in the hatchery, except making the chicken boxes.

This meant that, besides doing all the office work, she cleaned floors, put thousands of eggs on trays, took the newly hatched chicks off and put them in boxes for shipment.

LIVED ON FARM

A native of Brantford, Ont., she and her husband moved west in 1911 to a farm in Loreland, Sask. Mr. Woodman died in 1935 and two years later, after the Depression almost annihilated the family assets, she left with sons Arthur and Morray and daughter Marion. They moved to Edmonton and rented a farm.

In 1939 the family bought five acres of land within the city limits and Murray, then 19, built the family home. After wartime service with the RCAF he helped his mother at Woodman Hatcheries in 1946.

"We had only two second-hand incubators then but we shipped 13,000 chicks our first year," Mrs. Woodman recalls.

Now she and Murray ship 30,000 chicks a week throughout Western Canada in the busy spring season. They estimate annual shipments at 500,000 chicks.

Mrs. Woodman did all the office work until four years ago when expansion required a stenographer's help. The firm employs three other men.

But Mrs. Woodman is usually the last out of the office and is on call at all times except Sundays. She lives alone at the hatchery and Sunday is reserved for church and family.

She has missed only one Canadian Hatchery Federation convention since 1951 and was presented with a plaque for outstanding leadership and service to the industry at its 1961 convention in Banff, Alta.

Talk on Poisoning Given at Wooler W. I. Meeting

The October meeting of the Wooler W. I. was held in the Institute hall with Mrs. A. Austin acting as hostess. Mrs. Hilliard Morrow was chairman and conducted the business portion of the meeting.

Mrs. Alec Bell, convener of home economics and health, took charge of the program and read a poem.

She introduced the guest speaker, Dr. J. E. Nelles of Belleville who is the director of the nearest "safety in poisons" centre at Belleville. This has been in operation for the past five years and is a treatment centre where they treat cases of acute poisoning and look after emergency treatments.

Discussing the "Use and Misuse of Poisons" and demonstrating his talk with the showing of slides, Dr. Nelles described the work being done at the institute. The misuse of poisons, especially among children between the ages of one and three, is increasing every year. The prevention aspect occupies a major part of their work, whereby they hope to decrease the number of cases of accidental poisoning.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE

At the institute information is available on what drugs prescribed medicines contain as well as the contents of household and patent medicines. In this way it can be known how to treat the patient of the several poisons which she may have swallowed. All antiseptics, detergents, insecticides, cleaners, etc., are, where possible, analyzed to determine what poisons they contain, so accidental poisoning from these may best be treated.

Thus it should be the responsibility of persons mainly in the home to protect their children from poisons. All drugs, poisons and other household chemicals should be kept out of the reach of children and away from food.

All poisons should be clearly labelled and the left-overs needed out regularly from medicine chests—especially any prescription drugs, also disposed of safely, making sure the contents cannot be reached by children.

SPEED IS VITAL

It is necessary, too, to be informed on what to do when poisoning does happen. Speed is vital and the doctor should be called or the victim taken to the nearest emergency department. Take bottle of poison with you to help identify it. One should know, also, when to induce vomiting and when not, after poison has been swallowed.

Dr. Nelles was thanked for his informative and advisory talk on a most important subject.

Mrs. A. G. Austin rendered a medley of old fashioned tunes on the piano after which a social half hour and lunch closed the meeting.

Hints to Make Hallowe'en Cakes

By MARY MOORE

Twenty-four little cup cakes are sitting all in a row waiting for little party people or knockers-on-doors.

We were trying to serve several purposes, the most important one being to make the children happy on Hallowe'en. The next was to make life easier for their mothers. An extra dividend is added for hostesses by grown-up celebrations for they can add party touches that make amusing desserts.

The basic batter for our cup cakes is a dark devil's food recipe made by the quick streamlined method.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY
(Guests)

Pork Goulash from Budapest (see tuesday); Potato Pancakes; Crusty French Bread; Celery Curls; Pickled Beets; Bavarian Cream with Cocoanut and Fresh Frozen Fruit (see Wednesday); Tea.

SUNDAY

Blanketed Veal (see Tuesday); Steam-Fried Green Pepper Strips; Noodles; Marinated Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers; Marge's Creamy Pumpkin Pie (see Wednesday); Coffee.

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 1-3 cups sugar, ½ cup cocoa, ½ teaspoon single-acting baking powder, 1¼ teaspoons baking soda, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening (room temperature), ¾ cup cold water, ¾ teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs.

Put your sifter over your mixing bowl and sift together the sifted flour, sugar, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Add the salt shortening. In the measuring cup add the vanilla to the water. Add a little more than half of this liquid to the ingredients in bowl. Now beat this until smooth. If in electric beater, beat for 2 minutes. If by hand 100 strokes. Now add the eggs and remaining liquid and beat 2 minutes longer or 100 more strokes. Have ready 24 medium-size paper baking cups, standing them in your muffin tins, to make handling easy. They do not need to be buttered. Spoon batter into paper cups, being sure you do not fill them more than 2/3 full. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. Lift cup cakes from muffin tins and cool them on cake racks. Do not remove paper cups.

When cool frost tops with Orange Frosting (see variations which follow): Cream together until smooth 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups icing sugar, 3 tablespoons (or a little more) milk, ½ teaspoon yellow food colouring and about 25 tiny drops red food colouring. This gives you a delicate but definitely orange-tinted frosting. If you want to make "faces" on top use chocolate chips or raisins for eyes and nose and curved narrow strips of maraschino cherry for mouths.

Or for a party dessert for children or adults, with sharp knife cut a shallow cone from top of each cup cake, put small scoop of vanilla ice cream in hollow, replace cone on top, point up for a "hat" and to make a "face" on the ice cream use chocolate chips for eyes and nose and a narrow curved strip of maraschino cherry for a mouth on each.

SCOTT'S U.C.W.

SCOTT'S U.C.W. Eleven members were present for the October meeting of Scott's U.C.W. on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. E. Dafoe.

Mrs. M. Dafoe, the president presided. Invitations were read from Stone, Foxboro, Wallbridge and Stockdale to attend tea and bazaars.

Mrs. Pollard was in charge of the program based on "Now the world is in our neighborhood". Mrs. Earl Dafoe read a clipping about the activities of the Scott Station lass, Christmas. Mrs. C. Sine read an article on "What is the church and why should read "who is the church". The church is wherever its members are. Therefore the church does go into all the world.

Mrs. C. Sine conducted the Bible study.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

QUESTION: Last Sunday, we had invited some friends — a young couple who live in the neighborhood — to come for a visit around four. When they hadn't put in an appearance by five, I decided to phone to see what happened. The wife answered, said they'd been delayed and would be along shortly. Since the time was getting late and running into dinner hour for our children, I suggested they postpone their visit. The wife sounded a bit put out, and my husband said he thought it was rude to "suggest" they forget about coming. I think I was perfectly right about this and that it was rude of the couple not to show up when they were expected and doubly rude no to phone to say they'd be late. What's your opinion? — Mrs. M. O., Detroit, Michigan

ANSWER: I share your's, if unavoidably detained, guests should phone to ask if it will be alright to show up late. When, as in your case, arriving later would prove inconvenient, the hostess has the option of saying no.

QUESTION: Some women have no manners. One who visits at our home recently sat on the sofa with her feet tucked under her, shoes and all. I don't mind people making themselves comfortable, but I draw the line at putting dirty shoes all over expensive upholstery. She obviously was embarrassed when I asked her to be mindful of the fabric and either take her feet off the sofa completely or at least remove her shoes so she wouldn't leave stains. Maybe I was a little rough on her, but it just annoyed me that any "lady" could behave so carelessly. — Mrs. A, F., Cincinnati, Ohio

ANSWER: When guests have thoughtlessly, there are times when a hostess has to take protective measures, but she should try to be tactful about it. It's equally thoughtless to bawl out a guest in front of others. Tact is needed. In this case, you might have offered the guest a foot stool, suggesting it would be more comfortable, as she could stretch her legs. This would have removed both the irritation and her feet from the sofa in one easy step.

Tweed Kinettes Hold Hallowe'en Costume Party

TWEED — The regular monthly meeting of Tweed Kinette Club was held at Hotel Tweedsmuir on Monday evening in the form of a Hallowe'en party. The room and tables were decorated in the Hallowe'en theme by Mrs. Pat Hathaway. The meeting was presided over by President Mrs. Marlene Spencer. All members were dressed in their best Hallowe'en attire and the winners were most original costume, Mrs. Alice Thompson best comic, Mrs. Ruth Maines and best dressed, Mrs. Hope Begley.

One guest, Mrs. Dorothy Rashotte of Belleville was welcomed by the president. Mrs. Jean Taylor was the capable sergeant-at-arms.

COLLECT FOR BLIND

During the business session Mrs. Phyllis Thurston reported that almost $1,000 had been collected in the recent blind campaign with some canvassers still to be heard from.

Mrs. Muriel Wood will convene the rummage sale on Saturday and is soliciting help from the members.

It was unanimously agreed to invite the husbands of Kinettes to the Christmas meeting. Mrs. Ruth Ostman will convene the Snow Queen contest which is an annual event of the Kinette Club.

The draw prizes were won by Mrs. Pauline Hughes, Mrs. Shirley Smith and Mrs. Ruth Crawford.

A social hour followed the meeting.

Home and School News

HILLCREST SCHOOL

On October 19 Hillcrest Home and School Association held its first meeting of the season in the school auditorium.

Before the meeting the teachers were present in the classrooms to see parents and to discuss progress or problems thus far in school.

As there were no previous months minutes, the president, Mrs. McKechan told of the Grade six graduation party last June and how it was greatly enjoyed by everyone. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. D. Hodgins and room count was won by Miss Scott's class.

Mr. G. Rutledge of the Belleville District Home and School was present and installed the following slate of officers for 1964-65: president D. Mansfield; secretary — Mrs. R. McPeak; treasurer — Mrs. D. Hudgins; corresponding secretary — Mrs. C. Howard; and executive members — Mrs. J. Stolliker, Mrs. T. Cooley and Mrs. G. Cowan.

Mrs. Chapman's kindergarten class won the prize for attendance last year.

The school principal introduced the teaching staff and explained the "point system project," on attendance.

Refreshments were served by D. Stolliker and her committee.

Guest of Honor Drunk, Tries to Shift the Blame

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Last night my husband and I gave a cocktail party. Polly, the guest of honor, was never much of a drinker and I was surprised when she became plastered.

ANN LANDERS

After Polly complained that it was frightfully hot in the house and began to disrobe I took her aside and told her she'd had too much to drink. My husband suggested she lie down.

She became furious and shouted, "That's a lie. I am just as sober as anyone in this room." Then she fell flat on her face. My husband carried her to a bedroom where she passed out.

This morning when we awakened Polly was gone. A note on the dresser read: "You humiliated me before your guests. I will never forgive you."

I am heartsick over this. Shall I call Polly and try to patch thing up? My husband says if he never sees her again it will be too soon.

Please advise me. — CHAGRINED.

DEAR CHAGRINED — Your friend's note was a feeble effort to shift the blame for her disreputable performance. Don't fall for it.

Make no effort to patch thing up. If Polly apologizes, accept it graciously.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My problem concerns both etiquette and ethics. I'm a college student whose university is a convenient bus or train ride from home. Each time I make the trip I manage to draw a seat mate who insists on pouring out his or her life's story. No tale is too lurid, too intimate, too tragic, or too long to repeat.

I listen politely, Ann, hoping perhaps the unhappy soul will get some measure of relief from pouring out his problems. At times, however, I think I'm being imposed upon and that these people just like to hear themselves talk.

The point at which my patience snaps is when some stranger tries to pump me for details of my personal life.

My question is two-fold. What obligation do I have to a person who happens to be seated next to me on a bus or train? What is an appropriate way to avoid answering improper questions? — COED.

DEAR CO — You have no obligation to listen to ANYONE'S life story. Some folks enjoy having their ears talked off (believe it or not) but those who would prefer to read or just gaze out the window should not be robbed of the pleasure by some tasteless, big-mouth bore.

How to turn away an improper question? Simply say, "I don't care to talk about that."

DEAR ANN LANDERS — What can I do about a husband who has been out of college for 19 years but is still there, emotionally. He can't wait until his college bulletin arrives so he can read aloud the current adventures of people I don't know and don't care to know.

Yesterday he accepted the chairmanship of the 20-year-reunion dinner. This means he will be working like a horse for four months. And who do you think will have to type all the letters he writes? Me.

I went to the school of hard knocks myself and all this rah rah stuff seems juvenile. Shouldn't a man over 40 have outgrown such stuff? If you don't agree please don't bother to answer this letter. I've got enough trouble now. — G.R.

DEAR G.R. — If some colleges didn't have the support of loyal alumni they'd have to close their doors. You ought to be pleased that your husband is devoting his time and energy to something worthwhile.

Quit criticizing and give him a hand with the project. Your grips sounds like sour grapes.

Bishop Makes Appeal for Role of Women

VATICAN CITY (CP) — A Canadian bishop asked the Vatican ecumenical council Wednesday to give proper emphasis to the role of women in society and in the church.

Bishop Gerard M. Coderre of St. Johns, Que., said that up to the present time women have not been able, either in society or the church, to fulfil perfectly the role their total personality demands.

Speaking about a section dealing with human dignity in a document about the church in the modern world, Bishop Coderre said the church should urge men to do their utmost to help women attain their proper place.

"Today we live in the midst of very profound and universal change," Bishop Coderre told 2,100 fellow bishops.

"Woman has become aware, little by little, of her own dignity and of the role God intended for her, which is not that of an inferior being.

He called this one of "the signs of the times" offered to the church in council.

Successful Living

Misbehaving Child Is Often a Neglected One

DEAR DORIS — I see a recent letter in your column about unsupervised children when parents work. This is becoming a more acute problem where we live, and one wonders if there is not something we could do? I have seen wanton vandalism, knife throwing, B.B. gun shooting, sling shot firing only this summer — and all gone uncorrected.

Those of us/home with our children become responsible for all these other children in a sense. Therefore, I wonder, could we not find a means of bringing the responsibility to the parents' doors?

DORIS CLARK

Some of these children are unhappy, obviously, and all one can see ahead for them is more unhappiness. At times (B.B. gun times) I have called the police for fear of bodily injury to the many small children about, as well as others, but being a sort of stool pigeon is only a gesture perhaps in the right direction. — NURSE.

DEAR NURSE — They know not what they do. Social workers and psychiatrists, clergymen and teachers — all the helping professions — establish beyond question that the erring, too-daring child is the neglected child. Yet many a working parent cannot read the signs which say: "This means you!"

Most homemakers know that babes-in-arms need full-time attention; but some taper off far too soon. Characters are still being formed, for better or worse, in the teens. Those who let the police take on their job of child control and guidance are either stupid or uncaring — or both.

Character-building agencies do their best. But parents are still in the driver's seat. Perhaps they should be required to pass a test for a licence to occupy it?

DEAR DORIS — I am 18 and go steady with a boy 20. He is well mannered and well groomed. He says he loves me and has proved it in more ways than one. I like him very much. I could even go as far as to say I love him, for I know it's more than a 'puppy love.' I tell him I love him but how can I show it? — IN LOVE AND CAN'T SHOW IT.

DEAR IN LOVE — By thoughtful acts, by interest in his interests, by keeping dates on time, by giving affection. But not by physical capitulation, which only cheapens love.

Robarts

determined to do a pubuc relations job to get help from the government. And Mr. Robarts lent a sympathetic ear Wednesday to Sudbury's tale of financial woe.

In a brief to the cabinet, Sudbury claimed that it faces the worst financial problems of any city in Ontario.

During the last five years the city had undertaken a $12,000,000 sewage program, but one-third of this program has not yet been completed. Other public works projects have been put off because there is no money for them.

It said the city hall is inadequate, libraries are few and roads aren't maintained

FIREMEN NEEDED

The fire department has only 56 men and relies on 106 volunteers while the police force needs 20 more constables.

The city's brief said Sudbury residents pay 20.7 per cent more taxes than the provincial average and the city borrows $3,000,000 a year, the maximum it is allowed. In the last five years, the debt has risen to $23,000,000 from $13,000,000.

Education Minister William Davis said that the government has no plans for changs in policy regarding the autonomy of school boards.

New Flag

mons committee for decision—the recommended design must be supported by at least 13 members of the 15 - member committee.

The committee, composed of seven Liberals, five Progressive Conservatives and one each from the New Democratic, Social Credit and Creditiste parties, is scheduled to make its report to the Commons today.

The Canadian Press quoted an informed source Sunday night as saying four Conservative MPs on the committee declined to support a recommendation to the Commons that the one-leaf design become Canada's flag.

The informant was quoted as saying that earlier in the committee's proceedings, when members were expressing preferences among several designs the red-leaf design was given a 14-to-0 vote. But in the later voting it mustered only 10 votes as a design to be recommended to the Commons.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if the committee's report does not produce virtual unanimity the Conservatives will revert to their demand for a plebiscite at the next general election.

Referring to the single red leaf design, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"You mention that the recommendation, may be a flag with a red maple leaf with a white background and two bars of red. Well, all I have to say about that, aside altogether from the fact that it shows nothing of our heritage, is that it would be far from being distinctive.

Campbellford News

MRS. RUTHERFORD

23 RANNEY ST. 653-3822

Only Ratepayers Are Allowed to Join Association

CAMPBELLFORD — The Ratepayers' Association held a meeting on Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple, with President William Smith presiding.

This is the first open meeting since the organization meeting on September 22.

A constitution had been drawn up, copies printed and presented to those present, in the membership section, the constitution reads as follows: "Article 4: Any owner of property in the Town of Campbellford shall be eligible for membership in the association, provided such membership shall undertake to be governed by the Constitution and By-Laws of the Association." This limits membership to property owners only, tenants may not become members.

One tenant remarked: "Tenants as such are allowed to hold municipal office, to participate in spending large sums of money as a municipal official, to vote on municipal election, these permissions are by government regulations, if and when Campbellford builds a sewage disposal plant of any nature, tenants will no doubt be assessed for payment in some rate structure, why then should they be denied membership in a Ratepayers' Association?"

The constitution on motion of W. Skinner and Arthur Brown was accepted as read.

REPORT GIVEN

F. K. Mabee gave the secretary's report stating some members of the executive felt some research should be done as to what other municipalities had done in regard to sewage disposal. Stirling, Peterborough and Lindsay were places visited and in the case of Stirling and Lindsay a lagoon system was found to be cheaper to build and operate.

A speaker from the Ontario Water Resources had been promised for the meeting but at a late date sent his regrets saying it would be better to come after town council had decided on what type of sewage disposal they wished to construct, then the O.W.R. commission would investigate the finances of the town of Campbellford and a public meeting could be held later.

Mr. Harold Dunk spoke on sewage disposal from his experience, living for some years in the town of Elmira. He stated the situation in the western part of Ontario bore little resemblance to a town on the Trent River. He said the lack of water sources had rendered some consideration of a proposed water pipe line from Lake Huron to carry water to inland towns. Kitchener and Waterloo use wells. He also spoke of water contamination which had existed for years and the government did nothing, now had become suddenly concerned, why not Fort Perry, with no sewers at the head of the system instead of Campbellford lower down.

NOT MANY PRESENT

Mr. Dunk said he was disappointed in the number present; he had thought the Masonic Temple would be full; about fifty people were present.

Mr. A. C. Newman introduced Mr. A. Dove, reeve of Colborne, which village is at present in the process of building a sewage disposal lagoon. Mr. Dove outlined minutely the surveying and building of sewers in the village as well as a lagoon. The village purchased 32 acres of land for $12,000, they have built 1½ to two miles of sewers. This will be financed by an established frontage of $32 plus a service connection rate of $7 annually and the increased mill rate necessary, which to an average home means $71 yearly.

The Ratepayers Association was organized to give constructive advice to council, as no organization can operate without membership, citizens were urged to buy membership cards.

Three Injured In Accident, Car Hits Tree

CAMPBELLFORD — Three young Campbellford people were injured in a car accident about midnight Saturday, two miles out of town towards Havelock on Highway 30.

The car driven by Gary West, 23, went out of control into the ditch hitting a tree. West received a fractured jaw, severe face lacerations. He was taken to Campbellford Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Terry Cook, 20, a passenger received a fractured jaw, compound leg fractures, face lacerations. He was taken to Campbellford Memorial Hospital, shortly after admission was removed to Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Mary Wade, 17, the third occupant of the car, received a fractured leg, multiple cuts and bruises. The condition of all three was late reported as satisfactory. The car is considered a write off.

Constable Albert Creasy investigated.

PUT TOGETHER, THEY'RE 208, AND FEELIN' GREAT! — "Whiskey, cigarettes and women never hurt me," says Frank Bogue, left, as he tells of plans to "go out to a bar and have a drink and a glass of beer" to celebrate his 105th birthday anniversary Saturday. Posing with Bogue is his 103-year-old Seattle convalescent centre roommate, Charlie White, who says there "isn't a man in Seattle who can say he's seen me drink" and plans to let Bogue go it alone. Maser stands for molecular amplification by stimulated emission of radiation. Laser stands for light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

The maser development is based on the principle that molecules give off radiation when they are converted from a higher energy state to a lower energy state.

They can be induced to do this if they are subjected to radiation at a frequency corresponding to the change in energy levels.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Softball League closed its season on Saturday night with a banquet at George's Restaurant. About 65 attended. President Tom Smith presided.

A delicious meal was served by Barb Linn and her assistants. Thank-you was expressed by Dante Pace.

President Tom Smith expressed appreciation to referee Vincent Herrington.

Mr. F M. Rutherford presented the Rutherford trophy to the championship team, Ex so, sponsored by R. E. Fox and Son.

In presenting the trophy, Mr. Rutherford congratulated the members of all the teams for their fine sportsmanship at the games; he also emphasized the fact that all competitive sports need spirited arguments and lively objections at times, kept on a gentlemanly level to keep spectator interest high.

He also paid tribute to the Campbellford Kinsmen Club for having provided an excellent diamond when the league found itself without a playing field after having been ousted from the high school grounds. The community is now provided with an excellent diamond and backstop with the latest in lighting.

The treasurer's report by Brian Runions showed the league with a balance of $106.51.

Careless Driving Charge Brings Fine of $25

PICTON — Charged with careless driving on the 17th of Oct., 20-year-old Gerald Williams of R.R. 1, Bloomfield appeared in Magistrate's Court Wednesday morning. Williams accompanied by Leonard Whattam 19, also of R.R. 1, Bloomfield led local police a merry chase through the streets of Picton before proceeding out of town, through Cherry Valley, on to Salmon point and back again to Cherry Valley-Milford Road where their vehicle left the road and the two men left the car and ran across the fields. Picton police had chased the men to this point but did not succeed in stopping them as the two men kept veering their car in front of them to prevent the cruiser from drawing alongside or passing.

During the chase in town police stated that Williams, who was driving at the time, was travelling at speeds well over 50 miles per hour. When apprehended, Whattam had no licence (only a temporary permit) was suspended for three months. Whattam, his passenger, had an operator's licence.

Roger Ferguson, 17 and Ronald Langford, 16 were both charged on October 22 with the theft of two ducks from the property of Roland Wellbanks, Picton. Roger Ferguson also appeared in court charged with consuming liquor under the age of 21. Ferguson had also had a previous break and entering charge against him. His case was remanded for one week pending a mental examination. Langford received a suspended sentence for one year plus costs and restitution to be paid in one month.

Raymond Hart, Edward Nolan and Robert Cook all appeared in court in connection with the theft of approximately $800 worth of articles, including a movie camera, 8mm still camera and electric shaver from the residence of Prince Edward Collegiate principal John Syrett of Paul Street, Picton. Their case has been remanded until December 2 to permit them time to obtain legal aid. They are all released on their own bail bond.

Prepare Plans Remembrance Day Services

PICTON (Staff) — Plans are being made for Remembrance Day services by the Picton Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion. The annual church parade will be held on Sunday, Nov 8, at the Presbyterian Church. The Nov. 11th parade at the Legion Hall at 10.30 will form up at the Legion Hall at 10.30 a.m. and proceed to the cenotaph via Main Street. The annual Remembrance Day banquet will be held in the Legion Hall, Nov. 11th at 7 p.m. This banquet is not restricted to members, but for all veterans. The Royal Canadian Legion, Picton Branch, is sponsoring free skating time for all school children up to the age of 12 to begin this Wednesday, Nov. 4th, and the first and third Wednesday of every month following. Skating at the community centre is now well under way and the new figure skating club-use the centre's facilities two afternoons a week.

Parliament At a Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 28, 1964

The Commons debated the government's request for $740,000,000 in interim supply to meet November and December expenses.

Hugh Horner (PC—Jasper-Edson) suggested the CBC's stations and studios be sold to private broadcasters; it ...d become an expensive plaything the public cannot afford.

Percy Noble (PC — Grey North) said liaison is needed between the CBC and the public so protests about programming can be effective.

Arnold Peters (NDP — Timiskaming) said without controversial programs the CBC would become "more colorless than we (Canadians) are."

Harold Danforth (PC—Kent-Ont.) said opinion is growing that Parliament has no control over the CBC.

THURSDAY, Oct. 29

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to continue debate on interim supply. The Senate stands adjourned until Nov. 3.

Former P. M. Will Continue To Lead Party

LONDON (Reuters) — Former prime minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home denied Wednesday night any intention of giving up his position as leader of the Conservative party.

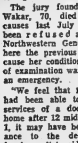
In a national broadcast he told an interviewer: "I have made it quite clear that I am leading the Conservative party and mean to go on doing so as long as I am useful in that position."

Asked if he saw himself as the party leader for the indefinite future, he replied firmly: "Yes."

The interviewer had referred to speculation in political circles that the 61-year-old Tory leader is planning to stand down from the leadership in favor of a younger man—possibly the former chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald Maudling.

Maudling, whose new appointments in the opposition "shadow" cabinet Wednesday astonished Labor-Home said: "There is no deputy leader to me."

Maudling replied: "Quite.



The "shadow cabinet will act as spokesmen for the party in the House of Commons and critically examine the party likes to regard as its "modernizers."

Besides holding there is Edward Heath, Britains negotiator in the abortive European Common Market talks. Heath will handle economic affairs and become chairman of the party's policy committee. He replaces R. A. Butler as the party's chief idea man. Butler will continue as spokesman on foreign affairs.

Back from the party's top ranks came Iain Macleod and Enoch Powell, two former ministers who refused to serve under Douglas-Home last year.

Macleod will be the party's chief spokesman opposing Labors plan for nationalizing steel. Powell, former health minister, will be shadow Labors spokesmen on transport.

Four Killed In Explosion

GYTTORP, Sweden (Reuters) — Four persons were killed in an explosion at a nitroglycerine plant here today, the Swedish news agency reported.

Ambulances rushed to the factory following the midmorning area shuttling injured to hospitals. It was not immediately known how many persons were injured.

Windows over a wide area within a three-mile radius of this central Swedish town were smashed by the force of the explosion which occurred in a dynamite processing shed.

Claims Universities Have Far Too Much Confidence In Results of Grade 13 Exams

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP) — The heads of Canadian universities were told Wednesday they should not base admission requirements exclusively on the results of final matriculation exams.

J. R. McCarthy, deputy minister of university affairs for Ontario, said universities in his province have "far too much confidence in Grade 13 exams ... I don't have much regard for their degree of confidence."

He told the annual meeting of the National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges there should be a number of criteria, such as a student's record from Grades 9 to 12, school marks on Christmas and Easter exams. Later, he added, a student's extra-curricular and athletic participation could be included as a measuring factor.

The "rigidity of Grade 13 exams was mainly the responsibility of universities. "Quite a few" Grade 13 students were failing in February or March "to start a university course."

POSES QUESTION

G. S. Brady, executive director of the national conference, asked some 300 delegates this question:

"Might not schools release their brighter students earlier (than after matriculation)?" This would mean they would enter universities in staggered numbers.

He said schools "quite stupidly" graduate whole classes at the same time."

Mr. McCarthy was critical of standards set by the government in have an "equally high level of marks in each of nine subjects" to obtain admission to some universities.

The discussion arose out of a round operation of the university.

YEAR-ROUND SCHEME

Earlier delegates heard five ideas on the year-round scheme, including one from Dr. H. D. B. Wilson of the University of Manitoba. He said that the "financial joker in the trimester system was that Canadian universities were on a full-year course system. U.S. schools converting to three-term operations had already set up semester system.

The open discussion indicated that a majority of delegates were opposed to year-round universities.

Several felt their institutions were year-round now with extensive summer courses and graduate work on a 12-month basis. A "great deal" more planning is required.

Waterloo University, which has had year-round operations for three years and a trimester program more recently, was pleased with its success.

Jobless Insurance Fund Headed for Another Dive

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—Despite high employment and a steady drop in unemployment, the unemployment insurance fund for years to be headed for another dive into the red, it was estimated Thursday.

Government experts have taken a careful look at the fund's condition and estimated that it could be short as much as $25,000,000 by the end of May, traditionally the low point each year.

That forecast is based on job conditions existing about the same as they were earlier this year.

Given a continued improvement in the economy, they expect the fund could end up only $1,000,000 down.

That means the fund will end up borrowing money from the government for a fourth year in a row.

WAS BUILT UP

At Sept. 30, latest available figure, the fund had $37,833,285. This was built up during the summer months after wiping out a $30,658,443 deficit that existed at the end of March. The fund keeps increasing until the end of December. Then benefit payments usually begin to outpace receipts and a sharp dip begins.

A year ago the forecast was for a $26,000,000 deficit by the end of May, 1964. But an unexpected improvement in the job picture cut the actual loss to less than one-third of that.

Forecasts have also been made of how the fund will be affected by changes in the unemployment insurance act.

Top Civil Servants Due For Increase

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says "big pay increases" for Ontario's top civil servants are expected to be announced soon.

It said a government source predicted Wednesday the ceiling for civil servants will go up to $24,000 a year from $20,000 the rate set in 1960. Only deputy ministers receive this top rate.

The newspaper said the increase may also speed up pay boosts for more than 2,000 junior civil servants who have been pressing for increases.

Some of these employees earn from $5,000 to $15,000 a year and the paper says the government's view has been that increases in this range would be difficult while deputy ministers were limited to $20,000.

One government official was quoted as saying department of health senior medical specialists earn about $15,000 when they could earn up to $30,000 in private practice.

The paper said top civil servants believe the signal for pay increases was given last week by Premier Robarts when he announced he is considering pay increases for members of the legislature, who now get $7,000 a year.

Predict $1 Billion From 1967 Tourists

KINGSTON (CP) — Revenue Minister Edgar J. Benson said here Wednesday night the Canadian government travel bureau is in the first cause of a three - year plan which it is hoped will net the country $1,000,000,000 from tourists by 1967.

"Travel promotion costs money," Mr. Benson said during the Kingston Winter Carnival charter dinner. "But sown in fertile ground it can produce travel harvests a hundred-fold.

Canada's initial extended tourist promotion into the United States market this year, Mr. Benson said, the trade Minister Mitchell Sharp opened a new office in Minneapolis Wednesday day and the travel bureau's operation in Los Angeles will be enlarged by opening an office there, replacing the present travel promotion officer, he said.

A program of Canadian travel promotion will soon be initiated in the Pacific northwest states.

Britain's New Import Curbs Raise Storm of Protest

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's new import curbs have raised a storm in parts of Europe with the result that the Wilson administration now must defend its action much the same way Canada defended its import surcharge during the 1962 currency exchange crisis.

The allegation against Britain, as expressed by Foreign Minister Trygve Lie of Norway, and echoed in other European quarters, is that a specific tax on imports, instead of using import quotas, is a violation of international trade obligations since the higher specific duty could nullify existing tariff contracts.

Reducing imports through quotas, Britain tends to be slow and complicated process, compared with the swiftness of an immediate 15-per-cent duty. And a higher tax gives a government the prospect of added revenue, whereas a quota on volume of imports yields a government nothing.

CAN CITE CANADA

It is not likely, therefore, Britain would yield under pressure from the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade to revise the method of slowing imports. And while the GATT membership may criticize and condemn the 15-per-cent import duty, there is always the argument, as one London newspaper observed, that Britain can point to the 1962 Canadian precedent Canada at that time erected extra duties ranging from five to 15 per cent.

Amid the heat of debate and criticism, there also is the prospect that Britain may use the temporary tariff wall as a means of providing special deals with certain European partners with the result that the split will widen between the six-country European Common Market and the seven-country European Free Trade Association of which Britain is a member.

To offset the criticism of the 15-per-cent duty among EFTA partners, Britain is reported ready to accelerate tariff-cutting within this trade bloc. About 60 per cent of the tariffs already have been cut with the remaining 40 per cent to be stripped by 1970. The first 10 per cent cut is due in January and Britain may unilaterally agree to make a larger cut.

ECONOMIC NONSENSE

In Paris, Frank Figgures, secretary - general of the Free Trade Area, described the split of the two trade blocs as "economic nonsense." The bigger the trade bloc, the easier it would be to produce economic ally and keep prices down.

But French President de Gaulle has been strongly opposed to Britain's entry into the European Common Market and during the last election campaign Prime Minister Harold Wilson virtually turned his back on any further negotiations to enter this European community.

Druggists Get Trade Talk

About ten per cent of a pharmacist's stock accounts for about 40 per cent of his store volume, the Quinte Pharmacist Association members were told last night by the retail sales training director of a drug manufacturer.

Donald Walker of Toronto was one of three representatives of Warner - Chilcott Laboratories at the semi-annual meeting of the Quinte Pharmacists Association at the Shrine Club last night. Mr. Walker, sales director A. D. McPhail and company vice-president Dr. H. Dunham all spoke briefly on trade problems.

W. F. Jones of Picton was elected president of the association and A. E. Boyd, of Belleville, secretary-treasurer.

ELECTED by Quinte Pharmacists' Association were new president W. F. Jones of Picton, (right), and secretary-treasurer A. E. Boyd of Belleville.

Finds Ways To Produce Plump Chickens

HAMILTON (CP) — A. J. Roncari, a health surveyor at McMaster University's nuclear reactor, says he has found a way to produce plump chickens with high-frequency sound waves.

By exposing fertilized eggs to the waves for up to 60 seconds, the chickens, after they hatch, grow larger and faster, he said Wednesday.

At three months they are as heavy as the ordinary five-month-old four—the extra weight being normal tissue, not excess fat caused, by forced feeding, he said.

Mr. Roncari chose chickens for his experiment because, he said, they have almost human-like characteristics in tissues and over-all general development. The forced feeding could be important economically, he said.

But several combinations of frequency and exposure time will kill the chicken in the egg or produce leukemia in the birds, he said.

Emergency Health Service Proposed to Pharmacists

Plans for an emergency health service in Hastings and Prince Edward County were proposed last night by Quinte Area Emergency Measures Organization co-ordinator, Angus Duffy, to the Quinte Pharmacists' Association.

The plans, for use in case of a national emergency, are hoped to maintain health services in the Quinte area for refugees from bombed areas, Belleville and district has already been designated a reception area for refugees from Toronto.

Health units, under the direction of a medical officer, are proposed for Q.E.M.O. district headquarters at Marmora, Bancroft, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed, Thurlow township, Deseronto township, Belleville, Stirling, Sidney township, Trenton, Ameliasburg and Brighton.

Each unit would include a sanitary section, with a foreman and four inspectors, a radiation-monitoring team, with four technicians, a supplies section of a pharmacist and two storemen and first aid posts, each manned by a nurse and six orderlies. There will be more than 50 first aid posts around the counties. "The area's four hospitals, at Bancroft, Trenton, Picton and Belleville are expected to operate at about ten times their normal capacity in case of national emergency," Mr. Duffy said.

The speech was the first of a series planned among medically-oriented groups, in order to test the reaction to the plan At Col. Duffy's request, the pharmacists passed a motion to co-operate with QEMO and authorized the association's executive to appoint a committee to help work out details of the plan.

Specific co-operation asked of the pharmacists was that they specify the supplies likely to be required in case of emergency, and which of these supplies are available in the district. Other medical groups will be asked to co-operate in working out other details of the plan.

EMERGENCY MEASURES health-plan was outlined last night to Quinte Pharmacists' Association, in Shrine Club. Q.E.M.O. co-ordinator Col. Angus Duffy explains the proposed plan.

Mom Is a Schoolkid

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—With her nine children, Amalo Nocera sits down at 5:45 each morning. She has to—so she won't be late for school. Mrs. Amalo Nocera is a freshman at Rhode Island College.

At 37, Mrs. Nocera hadn't been a student for some 20 years when she decided to go back to school to fulfill a long ambition to be a teacher.

"I'll make it," she vowed.

Mrs. Nocera's day begins at 5:45 a.m. when she does her laundry. While the machine is running, she starts breakfast of pancakes, oatmeal and toast.

Her husband, a high school mathematics teacher, feeds the baby. The older children help with the dishes while Mrs. Nocera makes beds and tidies up.

Mrs. Nocera gets home from classes by 3 p.m., prepares dinner, helps the children with their homework, tucks them into bed by 8:30 and then starts her own homework.

He Wants His Teddybear Back

He claims it's an old family heirloom, and he wants it back.

He is also suing her for the return of two other family treasures—a cut glass decanter and an 18th century table.

The case is to be heard later in High Court.

"The teddy bear and the other articles have been in my family for years and years," he said, "and that is why I have issued the writ to get them back."

Middleditch is also asking for damages for wrongful detention of the teddy bear, etc.

Mark Time In Rhodesia Crisis

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today called another cabinet meeting as he awaited a formal reply from Southern Rhodesia to the stern warning on the independence issue he announced Tuesday.

Wilson has made it clear he hopes Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith will hold discussions with the British government before taking any possibly irrevocable action toward a unilateral declaration of independence.

"Government officials here stressed again today that Wilson's invitation to Smith, to visit London for talks still stands.

However, the Rhodesian high commissioner in London revealed yesterday that there was no indication Smith would visit England next month as had been hoped.

The British government has stated it is unwilling to grant independence to Rhodesia until more of the colony's 3,500,000 Africans get a share in government. A white population of less than 250,000 now controls the government.

Pinch Hitting

By CASEY ALEXANDER

How long can an "old man" keep playing winning games in a young man's league?

There are five National Hockey League clubs anxious to know the answer—and in case you haven't guessed by now—the "old man" is the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs were too old to win the NHL championship three years ago. And the youth injections received by the Leafs in the last 36 months can be counted on one hand, with a finger or two left over.

So, please tell, how can the same Leafs be starting the 1966-67 season with three consecutive Stanley Cups on the trophy shelf, plus all indications that a fourth will come next spring?

Hockey experts, and there are plenty of them around every fall, have sentenced the Hogtown boys to the also-ran class, mainly because of advancing age, all three years.

This fall is no exception.

Writers from the six NHL cities again picked the Chicago Black Hawks to lead the pack this winter. And while no clear favorite was picked, the same Hawks were given the edge for Lord Stanley's coveted cup in the post-schedule playdowns.

Yet, a quick glance at the NHL standings shows the same group of escapees from an old folks' home right up on top of the heap.

It's mighty early yet to be handing out championship crests. However, the Leafs left no doubt in their right to the top rung of the ladder when they walked into Chicago on Tuesday night and clipped the Hawks 3-2.

In recent years it was an accepted fact that the Leafs would beat the Hawks in Toronto and the Hull-Mikita sparked boys would even the score in Chicago. Victories in the opposing city were something of a rarity for either club. Thus the Leaf triumph in the Hawk nest is that much more impressive.

While the Leafs and Hawks are definite threats to take home the honors next March, a third club wearing Montreal Canadien sweaters will again be in the thick of the battle all the way. Toe Blake's lads proved that point in Toronto last night.

The Habs, Leafs, Hawks, Red Wings and even the Rangers are locked in a tight battle right now, so before the race gets any closer, your agent will crawl out on the already-crowded limb of prediction.

It always hurts to choose a team other than your favorite at eventual top-spotter.

But, with tear in eye—and the hope that we will be wrong as usual—this is the way it looks from here.

Leafs will survive their cold spots, commonly called slumps, to emerge at the head of the field after 70 games, followed in close order by the Canadiens and Black Hawks, then the Red Wings, Bruins and Rangers.

Perhaps by sentencing my beloved Hawks to third spot we can inspire greater things. Don't bet on it, however, we tried that with the Cardinals, too, and be damned if they didn't do exactly as predicted—beat the Yankees.

Actually, the best way to pick a winner from the top trio is to shake the names out of a hat, but for us, it's too late for that now.

Mr. Gordon Howe and a young goalie who has already caused some red faces will spark the Wings into that final playoff berth.

The Bruins-for-fifth choice is from the heart instead of the head, and no smart cracks from the cheap seats, thank you.

As for the Stanley Cup, the heart again says "take the Hawks," but if we had to call one club for a big bill it would have to be those same pesky Leafs.

But just wait, if you can, until Mr. Punch Imlach runs out of water from his private fountain of youth.

It's got to happen sometime within the next ten years!

Robinson Boots Lions Down A Notch

Won Olympic Gold

Boxing Champ Had Broken Hand

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I'll gone all that way. I wouldn't let one hand pull me back," said Olympic heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, explaining why he fought the championship bout with a broken left hand.

Frazier, a six - foot, 196-pound Philadelphia slaughterhouse worker, broke the hand in a semi-final fight at Tokyo, but told no one.

Frazier, 20, threw numerous left hooks throughout the final fight as he gained a 3-2 decision over Germany's Hans Huber.

"It happened when I hit the Russian in the second round," said Frazier at a local hospital where he is receiving treatment. Frazier knocked out Vidim Yemelyanov in the second round of their semi-final.

Frazier was the only American to win a gold medal in boxing.

He said he didn't know how badly his hand was injured at first.

"I couldn't get a grip like I wanted to, so I started to soak it.

"It began to feel a little better and I felt I could make it through one more fight.

"Besides it gone all that way, I couldn't let one hand pull me back."

CALGARY (CP)—Larry Robinson's powerful right foot helped Calgary Stampeders even-ing two years of smarting at the hands of B.C. Lions with a 20-14 win Wednesday night before 20,000 fans. The victory allowed Calgary to replace Lions atop the Western Football Conference.

Robinson, 22, a native Calgarian, blasted field goals from 48, 47 and 11 yards, converted two first - quarter touchdowns and added a pair of singles on field goal attempts to pace Stampeders' scoring.

It was Calgary's last game of the regular 1966 season, its sixth consecutive victory and the first over B.C. in two years.

The loss was the second this season for Lions, who complete their league schedule Sunday at home against the last - place Winnipeg Blue Bombers. B.C. needs at least a tie to clinch first place for the second consecutive year and gain a bye into the best-of-three final.

SHOTGUN ATTACK

Quarterback Eagle Day alternated with substitute Jerry Keiling in Calgary's shotgun attack—a formation in which the quarterback stands 10 yards back of the line of scrimmage to take the snap.

Day scored Calgary's first touchdown on a three-yard run and Keiling passed 14 yards to halfback Jim Dillard, sealing his first action since he suffered an ankle injury Aug. 17, for the other. Jim Furlong booted a 47-yard single for Calgary's other point.

B.C. scorers were halfback Bill Lasseter on a nine-yard pass from quarterback Joe Kapp and halfback Willie Fleming on a three-yard end run. Peter Kempf converted both.

Robinson's 12 points boosted his total to 106 for the season, all but ensuring him of his first scoring title and the first by a Stampeder since 1952. Kempf, so with 73 points, appeared relegated to second place in the scoring for the second consecutive season.

Winners Get $8,622.19 Each

Cardinals, Yanks Split Up Series Loot

NEW YORK (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals pocketed $8,622.19 each for winning the World Series and New York Yankees collected $5,809.39 for each losing share.

Last year each Los Angeles Dodger got $13,794.00 and each Yankee $7,874.52. The small size of the St. Louis park made the difference.

Commissioner Ford Frick announced the financial figures Wednesday, pointing out that the fifth place teams — Los Angeles Angels and Milwaukee Braves—shared in the series cash for the first time.

Frick estimated the fifth place shares of $218.81 for each Brave and $195.82 for each Angel probably meant a difference of about $100 in the winning and losing shares.

The breakdown confirmed the news that the Yankees had voted a full share to Mel Stottlemyre, the rookie pitcher who compiled a 9-3 record after coming up from Richmond Virginians of the International League in mid-August. Pete Ramos, the relief specialist from Cleveland Indians in September, too late to be eligible for the Series, got a half share of $2,654.65.

The Cardinals whacked up 27 full shares, including manager Johnny Keane and coach Vern Benson, both of whom later left to join the Yankees. Barney Schultz, the 39-year-old relief pitcher who was brought up from the minors in late season, got three-fourth of a share, or $6,466.64.

Reserve infielder Dal Maxville, who played the entire series due to the injury to second baseman Julian Javier, also drew three-fourths of a share, as did pitcher Gordon Richardson. Bob Humphreys and infielder Phil Gaviano.

The Yanks didn't spare the horses and dished out 34 full shares, plus half shares to Ramos and Harry Bright, who was with the club only until May 13. They also parceled out a few cash awards. Bud Daley, troubled by a sore arm and shipped to the minors in early season, got a full cut.

Charged Official

Mikita Prexy's Concern

TORONTO (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said in a telephone interview Wednesday that he was "much more concerned with Stan Mikita charging into a referee official" than with Billy Reay's verbal outburst against lineman Matt Pavelich and referee John Ashley.

The incidents occurred during and after Chicago Black Hawks' 3-2 lose to Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night in Chicago.

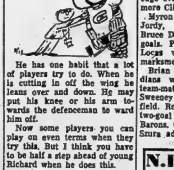
Reay, Chicago coach, hurried to the exits used by both the Hawks and the officials to reach their dressing rooms and unleashed a heated verbal attack on the officials until they reached their quarters.

In the Mikita incident, Chicago was staging a power-play attack when Pavelich whistled the play dead Goalie Glenn Hall failed to get within 15 feet of the Hawk forward when the sixth attacker jumped on the ice, Pavelich ruled.

Mikita, the sixth attacker, ran into Pavelich. He received two 10-minute misconducts and substantic fine totalling $50. He had received a game misconduct, the penalty word it have come since automatic review by the league.

Campbell said he discussed the Reay incident with referee-in-chief Carl Voss, who attended the game. Voss's league's report of the game includes new evidence, the president indicated, the case will be closed.

"I don't think it amounted to much more than some heated words. From what Carl Voss tells me, Ashley acted on the basis of break it up before anything developed," Campbell said.



Gordie Howe Hockey

By GORDIE HOWE

Every now and then a new player will pop up in the National Hockey League who gets a goal or two the first couple times he plays against each team because he has a deceiving shift.

But as soon as they learn this move, the defencemen, at least the older fellows who keep mental notes on everybody who comes into the league, will anticipate the shift and ride him off or stop him.

For instance, when Henri Richard of Montreal starts rushing the puck, you'd better be moving pretty good on the back of your heels, skating backwards, because he is very quick like Toronto's Davey Keon.

He has one habit that a lot of players try to do. When he is cutting in off the wing he leans over and down. He may put his knee or his arm towards the defenceman to ward him off.

Now some players you can play on even terms when they try this. But I think you have to be half a step ahead of young Richard when he does this.

He leans so close to the ice that if you put a little weight on him, he goes down. He draws a great number of penalties this way for holding, hooking, or interference.

In contrast, Montreal's Jean Beliveau is much more upright. He has more reach and strength. When he makes the turn he doesn't have to rely on swiftness or getting low to the ice.

He stands up high but he powers his way through with brute strength. When he's shoving, he can push pretty good. I think one of his great assets, just as with Toronto's Frank Mahovlich, is their tremendous reach.

In forechecking them, you think you have them beaten. All of a sudden they get the blade on the puck and you're beaten.

Of the two, I think Mahovlich has the freer, longer stride. He bends a little more when he drives. Beliveau's stride is standard and yet it is a very strong, upright skating style.

Bears Climb With Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The closely-knit battle for the four lower rungs of the American Hockey League's Eastern Division continued Wednesday night with Hershey Bears gaining a second-place tie with idle Providence Reds. Each has six points.

The Bears staged a second-period rally, scoring three goals in a 4-2 win over Pittsburgh Hornets.

Quebec Aces, undefeated in nine games, lead the Eastern Division.

In other AHL action, Springfield Indians missed an opportunity to create a three-way tie for second when they tied 4-4 with Cleveland Barons.

The Indians hold a two-point edge over cellar-dwelling Baltimore Clippers.

Myron Stankiewicz, Roger Dejordy, Keith McCreary and Bruce Draper scored the Bears goals. Pete Goegan and Yves Locas were the Pittsburgh marksmen.

Brian Kilrea paced the Indians with two goals while team-mates Bill White and Bill Sweeney also scored for Springfield. Ron Attwell turned in a two-goal performance for the Barons. Gordon Wilkie and Joe Szura added the others.

LANCASTER RECOVERS

REGINA (CP)—First - string quarterback Ron Lancaster is likely will be back in action with Saskatchewan Roughriders when they meet Edmonton Eskimos in a Western Football Conference contest here Saturday. Head coach Bob Shaw believes it now is safe to play Lancaster without taking a chance on aggravating his rib injury and losing him for the playoffs.

S. S. Football Schedule Cleared Up

A misunderstanding by school officials led to the announcement yesterday that Brighton and Moira football teams would play under the lights Friday, rather than in the afternoon.

A Moira Secondary School official said Wednesday afternoon that the double-header would be played at the Belleville Fairgrounds Friday afternoon, as scheduled.

The junior game will commence at 1:00 and the senior game at 3:00 p.m.

Thus, the only changes from the original schedule have Picton and BCVI's playing at the Fairgrounds tonight, at 6:30 and 8:15, rather than Friday night.

The games are the final scheduled tilts in the Bay of Quinte COSSA Junior and Senior "A" season. The city's third school in the grouping, Quinte S.S., completes its schedule at Napanee Friday afternoon.

Four Clubs Open Quinte Puck Loop

Entries this season are Horlock Electrics, SACO (Stephen-Adamson) Ter-Harr Daubers and Rosamore.

Double headers will be played each Thursday night, with the first tilt starting at 8:00 and the second at 9:15.

In tonight's opening action, SACO and Ter-Harr tangle at eight o'clock, Rosamore and Horlock in the nightcap.

Unhappy With Rules

Threatens To Withdraw

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corporation says it will pull its factory sponsored cars out of the National Association of Stock Car Automobile Racing competition next year unless the group changes or suspends some new rules.

In a letter to the association Chrysler said the new rules will "arbitrarily eliminate" from NASCAR competition the finest performance cars on the 1966 circuit, including the car of the grand national champion, driven by Richard Petty.

The rules that have Chrysler —one of two major automobile manufacturers to sponsor racing teams—in a huff are the raising of the minimum wheel base from 116 to 119 inches and the use of production design engines.

This would eliminate Chrysler's 426-cubic inch HEMI engine. Also, it would disqualify Ford's new high-rise engine.

"Under these new rules the equipment running on NASCAR tracks in 1965 will be inferior to the best the automotive industry can produce for this purpose," said the letter from Romney Householder, director of competitive products from Chrysler.

The letter was directed to NASCAR president Bill France of Daytona Beach, Fla., who replied:

"The 1965 NASCAR specifications were designed to provide fair competition among all 1965 American standard - sized production automobiles.

"If the Chrysler Corporation feels that its standard 426-cubic inch automobiles are not competitive with comparable size cars of other American manufacturers, then I would be the last to criticize Chrysler for its withdrawal from NASCAR racing."

Habs' "Shootout" Pays Big Dividend

Whip Leafs 5-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Toe Blake told his charges to "shoot" but he forgot to warn them to duck.

Most Canadiens have been guilty of blowing scoring chances this season by passing when they should be firing at the net—Blake has been muttering to himself and losing sleep in the process.

"I can't figure it out," he says. I've talked to them between periods. I've repeated myself many times over in practice, but they don't like the idea of shooting the puck."

The Canadiens finally caught on to the idea Wednesday night, bombarding Johnny Bower with 39 shots as they dumped Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2. New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins 3-1 in the only other National Hockey League game played.

The Habs were trigger-happy. In fact, they sprayed so many pucks around Maple Leaf Gardens that they even began mowing down each other.

Dave Balon, for example, needed to be assisted from the ice in the second period when he was struck on the head by teammate Jacques Laperriere's slap shot. He returned later in the game.

The Leafs held Montreal to a 1-1 draw after the first period but the effort cost Toronto's big 3-2 win in Chicago Tuesday began to show. Montreal scored four times in the last two periods and Toronto replied only twice.

Claude Larose scored twice for Montreal while singles were added by Claude Provost, Ralph Backstrom and Bobby Rousseau. Don McKenney and rookie Ron Ellis tallied for the Leafs.

McKenney opened the scoring in the third minute and Provost evened it soon after while Bobby Baun was in the penalty box. Rousseau sent Montreal ahead in the second on a power play goal but Ellis drew Toronto even while the Habs were shorthanded minutes later.

Larose struck 26 seconds later while left unguarded in front of the net and put Montreal two ahead in the third period, taking Gilles Tremblay's pass and sifting it into the lower-left corner.

Baun was in the box for a second Montreal power play when Backstrom added a clincher on a freak goal. He missed an open net, retrieved the puck and raced around the other side of the cage to deflect a shot off Bower into the net.

The triumph moved Montreal into a first - place tie with Toronto with nine points and left the Habs undefeated in six games. It was the Leafs first loss in seven contests.

New York shot into a second place tie at seven points with Chicago and Detroit, handing the hapless Bruins their sixth loss in seven games.

Vic Hadfield notched his second goal of the season in the opening frame while Phil Goyette and Earl Ingarfield sent the Rangers ahead 3-0 in the second. Rookie Roger Crozier spoiled Marcel Paille's shutout bid at 12:58 of the finale with his second of the season.

The Bruins try again tonight, travelling to Detroit for a meeting with the Red Wings in the only game scheduled.

May Challenge For Yates Cup, Football Title

TORONTO (CP)—A team that is not even in the Intercollegiate Senior Football League could win the Yates Cup, symbol of supremacy in the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association Football League, it was revealed here Wednesday.

The proceedings of a spring meeting of athletic directors released Wednesday said that, under the agreement, three teams in the Ontario Intercollegiate Football Conference — McMaster University, Waterloo University and Guelph University— may challenge the winner of the Senior Intercollegiate League for the Yates Cup provided one of these teams wins its league title.

At present, McMaster is tied with Ottawa University for the lead with 5-0 records. The two teams meet in the final game of the regular schedule Nov. 7.

If McMaster wins, it could exercise its option and challenge the O-QAA winner for the cup.

Hoop Loop Expects Five Teams

Early indications point toward a strong five-team Bay of Quinte men's basketball league, it was announced following a meeting last night.

Moe Jeffery, of Trenton, was chairman for the season's initial meeting, held in Trenton.

Attending the meeting were representatives of five teams from four different centres, all considered definite starters. The teams were: Cobourg Kiwanis, Trenton Wilson Concrete, Picton Town, Trenton RCAF Flyers and Belleville Lightfoot Construction.

A league spokesman said this morning that a sixth team would be welcomed but the loop expected to have just the five starters.

Another meeting, to complete league plans, has been called for next Wednesday night. Team representatives and other interested persons are asked to attend, at 3 Dundas Street, West, Trenton, at eight o'clock.

The Picton Town team may play league games at the army camp and the Belleville team hopes to play in a city school gym.

Don Smith, of the Lightfoots, expects to make arrangements for an open practice next Monday night.

Present plans are for the league schedule to open a week from Monday, November 9.

Williamson Takes Lead

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Bud Williamson, sharp shooting Lincoln, Neb., pro took the first round lead in the $35,000 U.S. Senior Open golf championship Wednesday, with a five-under-par 67 over the tough Washoe Country Club Course.

Close behind Williamson in a tie for second place at 68 were Al (Dutch) Harrison of Ellisville, Mo., three-time national senior champ, and John Barrum of Belmont, Mich.

In the amateur division, Bud Shank of San Francisco carded a gross 68 to take the lead. His four handicap gives him the lead in the net scoring with 64.

'Sonny Will Be Mine In Nine'

BOSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay or Muhammed Ali, the world's heavyweight boxing champion by either name, predicts former champion Sonny Liston "will be mine in nine" when they meet in Boston Nov. 16. "But I may have to shorten that a bit."

Clay held a full-blown press conference Wednesday when he kicked off his Boston training sessions. Most of the adjectives he used in the room crowded with sports writers, photographers and newsreel cameramen were in praise of his talents.

"He's in for a bloody battle, I'll tell you that," Clay proclaimed.

"There'll be no hurt locker," he said, referring to the February fight in which Clay won the title from Liston when Liston failed to answer the bell for the seventh round because of an injured shoulder.

"The fight will end with Liston on his back," Clay said. "I'll guarantee that."

"Right now, I'd say he's mine in nine, but I'm in such good shape—the best of my life—I may have to shorten that to four just before the fight."

His newly-acquired "strategy adviser," old-time Negro comedian Stepinfechit, said he is briefing Clay on techniques used by Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion of decades past.

"But they is secret," Stepinfechit drawled, "but they is going to surprise lots of folks."

The champion said he now weighs 213 and will be down to 207 for the fight, two pounds less than for the first Liston fight.

The 15-round match is set for the Boston Garden and before a theatre television audience.

Protest Upheld, Sudden-Death Game Ordered

NORTH BAY (CP) — The Northern Ontario Rugby Football Union Wednesday upheld a protest by Sudbury Hardrocks that North Bay Tiger-Cats had exceeded the 28-player limit in the first of a two-game total-point final series Oct. 25.

The NORFU ruled the sudden-death game be played at North Bay Nov 1 to decide the league championship. The Tiger-Cats won the protested game 21-13.

The league teams had agreed before the season opened that a 28-player limit would be imposed for games played after Oct. 1.

RCAF Trenton Meets Kingston On Friday

Exhibition hockey will be the main item on the Trenton sports menu tomorrow (Friday) night when Kingston Aces and Trenton RCAF Globetrotters clash.

The game will be played at nine o'clock Friday night in the Trenton Community Gardens.

The Globetrotters, of the OHA Lakeshore Intermediate League, will be making their initial start against Kingston's entry in the Ottawa Valley Senior loop.

Among the well-known players in this area wearing Kingston uniforms will be Pete Weston, Alf Treen and Jim Gibbard, the latter a former RCAF player. Danny McLeod is the Kingston coach.

At least four Belleville players are expected to suit up with the Globetrotters, coached by Charlie Drake. The players are Stu Muirhead, Floyd Crawford, Wayne "Weiner" Brown and Ralph Plane.

INCREASES GOLF PURSE

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The sponsored St. Paul Junior Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday the purse for next year's St. Paul Open golf tournament will be $85,000, making it one of the 10 richest on the U.S. pro circuit. The purse is being boosted by $20,000 over 1964.

Ted Green Has Fine Rescinded

TORONTO (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League president, Wednesday rescinded a $100 fine levied against Boston Bruins defenceman Ted Green for fighting during an exhibition game in Boston Oct. 4.

However, a $100 assessment against Reg Fleming for the same offence and additional $50 fines to Green, Fleming and Forbes Kennedy of the Bruins and Dave Richardson, Rod Selling and Earl Ingarfield of New York Rangers, will stand, Campbell said in a telephone interview from New York.

Acting on a Boston request, Campbell held a hearing with the players involved and coaches in New York. Bruins had protested the severity of the fines on the basis that players are not paid for exhibition games.

Campbell said that in Green's case, there was such a ghastly conflict of evidence that I felt there was a basis for lifting the additional fine Fleming made no attempt to present a case for rescinding his fine. It was quite apparent that he was putting on a show [in the game].

GRIFFITH FIGHT SET

LONDON (AP) — World welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York will meet British lightweight champion Dave Charnley in a 10-round non-title fight in London Dec 1, promoter Jack Solomons said.

Will Take Movies

Clay Hears 'Dirty Fight' Talk

BOSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay said Wednesday he has "heard a lot of rumors that things will come up dirty for this fight."

Clay told reporters after his arrival here for his Nov. 16 heavyweight championship bout with Sonny Liston that he is "having movies taken of everything that happens in Liston's corner as well as my own."

Tommy Rawson, Massachusetts boxing commissioner, was present and assured Clay that both fighters will get absolutely fair treatment from the officials assigned to the fight. He also invited Clay to "enlighten the commission about you: fears," promising that the Massachusetts state police would investigate immediately.

Clay reiterated his charge that the Liston corner used a foreign substance to blind him during the fight in which he won the title from Liston last February.

He also said he had invited "15 delegates in the United Nations from various foreign countries to be at the fight so the world will know if I am cheated."

The Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Although Montreal Canadiens are tied for first place in the National Hockey League, you can hardly tell by examining the individual scoring race.

Canadiens haven't been listed in the NHL's big seven most of the season and only Wednesday night did Montreal's Bobby Rousseau manage to crash their ranks, squeezing in via a six-way tie at the bottom of the ladder.

Rousseau scored once and picked up an assist as Montreal downed Toronto 5-2. The only other significant advance was made by Kent Douglas, who earned an assist to move within five points of leading Stan Mikita.

CNS VESSELS SOLD

HALIFAX (CP) — Five former Canadian National Steamships vessels, purchased by the Cuban government in 1958 and tied up since then in Halifax and neighboring Dartmouth, have been sold for scrap, shipping sources said here Wednesday. The ships, three moored at Halifax shipyards and two in Dartmouth, were bought by an unidentified Canadian agent. It was reported negotiations now are under way to resell them to a European scrap firm.

Canada's National Game

Introduce Hockey Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is hockey and hockey is Canada.

With those words Jack Roxburgh, former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, introduced a bill in the Commons Wednesday to declar hockey to be Canada's national game.

The bill was given first reading, a formality.

Mr. Roxburgh, Liberal MP for Norfolk, described hockey as clean, fast and exhilarating. He said the "dash, crash and smash" of the game represents the tempo of Canada's youth.

Throughout the world hockey had become synonymous with Canada, largely through the international tours of Canadian hockey teams.

The game had caught the interest and enthusiasm of thousands in this country and continued to give them pleasure both as players and spectators.

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The first dead heat win of the current fall meet at the Western Fair Raceway was posted Wednesday night when Roys, Prince Dillard and Miss Monreal hit the wire together to manufacture two westhwhile exactas

Royal Prince Dillard paid $3.20 for the win and compounded an exacta of $46.60 when combined with Miss Monreal. The latter paid $7.20 for the win and returned $58.70 when hooked up with Royal Prince Dillard.

Splits Lose Four Games-And Coach

WINDSOR (CP)—After only four games of action in their return to prime junior hockey, Windsor Spitfires are searching for a new coach today.

Harvey Teno, well - known Windsorite and former minor pro goaltender, tendered his resignation Tuesday. The Spits had lost their first three games in the OHA Junior B Western League and dropped their fourth straight Tuesday night in London.

Teno, in the sporting goods business here, said he was unable to find the time to devote to full-time coaching of the juniors.

Both he and team general manager Jim Kimmerly stressed that the parting was friendly. The early record of the Spitfires is no way had anything to do with Teno's departure.

Kimmerly had leads out in several directions in an attempt to replace Teno and was expected to announce his replacement within a day or so.

TKO'S DECISION

MONTREAL (CP)—Dave Hilton, Canadian featherweight champion, won a unanimous 10-round decision Wednesday night over Harry Mason, Jamaica's featherweight champ, in a non-title boxing match. Hilton, a Sherbrooke, Que., boxer who fights out of Montreal, dropped the Jamaican once in the third round and all but put him away for good in the final round before a slim crowd of about 200.

Sport Snapshots

By JOE DUPUI S

MONTREAL (CP)—The retired athletic great, asked what he would do if he had his life to live over again, usually replies that he wouldn't change one word in the script.

Not Herb Trawick.

If he could go back to page one, he says, he'd never play football.

"It's too brutal a sport. The fans don't understand the punishment a man takes. I wouldn't encourage my kids (he has a son) to play the game.

"I'm not bitter. I was lucky. But there are hundreds of kids playing the game who end up as athletic bums."

This is the same Herb Trawick who played 11 seasons with Montreal Alouettes, was twice voted outstanding lineman and, on quitting in 1957, had his No. 56 sweater retired as a tribute to his greatness.

And it's the same Herb Trawick who fought his way up from a Pittsburgh slum, a Negro who today gripe hard-earned security as a Montreal businessman.

But though he may have mixed feelings about the sport that helped him on the way, he really isn't bitter. And he can't conceal a certain affection for the game.

"I was fortunate to be able to play football and, because of it, to be exposed to opportunities," he says. "As long as I am healthy, I don't intend to lose the opportunities I have been given."

COACHES RIFLES LINE

And so, while running a busy distribution agency and a trucking business—a couple of firms that employ 60 people at peak periods—Trawick is line coach with Quebec Rifles, new entry in the semi-pro United Football League.

He's associated with two old buddies—Sam Etcheverry, the former Alouette quarterback who is head coach of the Rifles, and Ray Cicia, Rifles executive director, who was Trawick's partner on the Alouette line.

The fact is that Trawick has never really been far from football even in retirement. He has coached amateur teams in the area and one of his clubs Lakeshore Alouettes, won a Canadian intermediate title.

And he brings more than a little understanding to the job of coaching linemen in a league where players get $1,500 a season, about what Trawick got when he came to Canada after the war.

"They're like me when I came up in pro ball," he says. "I know their problems."

One problem is the danger that the players will squander their football earnings and be left with no money and no career when their playing days are over.

That didn't happen to Trawick. He invested much of his football pay in the distribution agency. The truck-washing business is a recent acquisition.

He'd probably like to be able to devote more time to coaching without the burden of business interests.

But with a wife, son and daughter at home in suburban St. Laurent and another daughter at college in the U.S., Herb Trawick is not going to let go of enterprises that spell security.

DIAMOND RECORD

Diamond sales through South Africa's Central Selling Organization exceeded $99,290,000 in the quarter ended Sept 30, the second highest quarterly figures ever.

Buckaroos Share Top

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Buckaroos won a share of first place in the Western Hockey League Wednesday night when they defeated Vancouver Canucks 5-4 on the strength of five first period goals.

Portland, playing before almost 5,000 fans moved into a tie with Seattle Totems each with 10 points. Vancouver was left in a second-place tie with Los Angeles Blades who eight points.

Portland's goals came from Argue and Cliff Schmautz, Andy Hebenton, Mike Donald on and Ron Hergott.

Jim Baird, Dave Duke, Howie Hughes and Bob Plager scored for Vancouver.

PICKED FOR AWARD

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The late Hugh Fullerton Sr. has been selected for the J. G. Taylor Spink Award by the Baseball Association of America, it was announced Wednesday. Joe McGoff of the Kansas City Star President of the BBWAA made the announcement. Fullerton, who died at the age of 72 in 1946, will be honored for meritorious service to baseball writing.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Future Time, a three year old filly which won two races last season, won her first race of this season Wednesday and returned a whopping $138.90, $68.10 and $33.80 across the board.

If the happy bettors who wagered on the longshot had seen her performances earlier in the day they probably would have never given her a second look, let alone risk their money.

The daughter of Futuramatic, owned by La Hacienda Stable of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was supposed to have "blown out" an eighth of a mile from the gate in preparation for her mile race. Instead, she ran away with the exercise boy and wasn't pulled up until she had raced five furlongs.

The morning exercise didn't affect her. She came from last place in the race with a cavalry charge and won by 1¼ lengths. Future Time was ridden by jockey George Gubbins.

In the featured sixth race Wednesday Vincent de Paul, the favorite and the season's top stakes winning horse, finished third to Ramuntcho and Johns Champ. Vincent de Paul, owned by John Smallman of London, Ont., went off at odds of 1-to-4 while the winner returned $29.70 to win. The quinella of Ramuntcho and Johns Champ paid $160.60.

INSPECTS WORK

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Yvon Dupuis, Canadian minister without portfolio, currently visiting Kenya, met and inspected Wednesday the work of five Canadian forestry officers who have been seconded to the Kenya government. The Canadians came here at the request of the Kenya government to work on a survey of the country's forest resources and to train local staff inserial photograph interpretation and forest inventory work.

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Fanny Symbol, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Orlie Witte of Toronto, led all the way at the Garden City Raceway here Wednesday night to capture the featured General Brock $2,000 invitation trot and register her 10th win of the season.

The nine-year-old brown mare combined with Flash Song in second place for an $8.40 quinella. Lallwater First was third, 1½ lengths behind the winner.

Armbro Adanac, owned by Armstrong Brothers of Bramp ton, Ont., also clocked 2:0 as he won the co featured $1,100 St. Catharine's Gyro Club purse.

Girlie Dillon, owned by the Botts and Arthur Sable of Otterville, that combines with Championdale, owned by the McEann Brothers of Lucan Ont., for a daily double of $58.90.

Queen's Painter
Fishmongers Made Him Famed Artist

TORONTO (CP) — The Worshipful Company of Fishmongers commissioned Pietro Annigoni to paint the Queen's portrait and, thinking he was being hired by a group of fish-peddlers, the Italian artist almost turned down an assignment that has since made him a favorite portraitist of the Royal Family.

Annigoni told about it while visiting the Ontario College of Art in Toronto where art students watch for an hour each day as he works on a portrait of Col. Eric Phillips.

Annigoni explained that his meagre English didn't include the word fishmonger. A friend said it meant fish-peddler. Figuring a peddler wanted him to copy a photograph of the Queen, he was about to decline when he learned that the company is a venerable London trade guild.

Since then he has done portraits of the Queen, Prince Philip, Princess Margaret and the Queen Mother, although not without unhappy incident.

The artist was painting the Duchess of Devonshire in his London studio when also painting the Queen at Buckingham Palace. The duchess asked if the Queen posed well. Yes, Annigoni replied.

Does she speak? the duchess asked. Perhaps too much, Annigoni replied.

The duchess said she would pass the word along to the Queen and did so despite Annigoni's protests.

DIDN'T UTTER WORD

At the next sitting the Queen didn't say a word. Nor did she speak for the next four sittings.

"It was getting not nice," Annigoni says. Finally, though etiquette demands that royalty initiate conversation, he decided to break the ice.

"I started to talk about the weather."

He said the Queen thawed, and eventually allowed him an unprecedented 18 sittings instead of the usual four.

"She is very nice, very simple," Annigoni says. "But she is not an easy subject to paint. Her face is so changeable. For Her Majesty, 'F' sittings were quite a lot, but not for me. was very nervous."

The Fishmongers liked the formal portrait of the Queen in her robes of Sovereign of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, and a year later commissioned a companion portrait of Prince Philip.

When Annigoni returns to London in November he expects to put the finishing touches on his second portrait of Philip. Begun two years ago, it will go into the Royal Family's private collection.

Melrose

MELROSE — Several ladies attended the bazaar and tea at the County Home on Wednesday afternoon. Through their representative, Mrs. Gnaedinger, it was arranged for them to help serve at the tea and donate food for it, as well as for the bake sale.

The Melrose branch curator, Mrs. Ken McMechan and a number of other ladies attended the Tweedsmuir tea held at the Quinte W.I. hall on Saturday afternoon. The attendance at this, the first gathering of this kind, showed great interest has been aroused in compiling local histories and the books themselves are creative and intensely interesting.

Mr. Bates, pastor of Melrose United Church, with supervising minister, Rev. H. Poulter, were present at the morning service on October 25th. The two sacraments of the church were administered when six children were baptized and communion was observed. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weese of Toronto, presented their baby daughter Cindy Lynn for baptism; Mr. and Mrs. Don Macfarlane, their baby daughter, Trudy Delphine; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Quinn were received into the membership of the church by profession of faith and four of their younger children received the rite of baptism, Charlene Alice, Debra Agnes, Dennis Alexander and James Arnold.

Mr. John English, student at Moira Secondary School attended the Life Science Seminar at Guelph University from October 23 to 24.

The local intermediate ball team was successful in winning the cup in the finals. A dance was held for them in the township hall on Friday evening.

A party honoring the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. James Lazier (nee Reid) was held in the township hall on Saturday evening. A large crowd assembled for an evening of dancing and pleasant conversation, followed by refreshments. Mr. Leslie McLaren extended best wishes on behalf of the gathering.

Mrs. A. English is a patient in Belleville hospital where she underwent minor surgery on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McLaren returned home on Wednesday from Toronto where they spent a few days on their way from Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Cole and children recently visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John English. Lynn is now chief chemist at a newly opened mine east of Noranda, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. King and children of Oshawa, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howard.

Queen Meets Ontario Dairy Princess

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen met the aristocracy of the dairy world at the Royal Dairy Show today, including Ontario's dairy princess, Elizabeth Crawford of Welland, Ont.

Madoc

MADOC — Trinity United Church celebrated its 114th anniversary, October 25th. Two services were held with the Rev. J. F. Lane, a former minister of the congregation as guest preacher. The services were conducted by the minister, Rev. David Potter. The special music for the occasion was conducted and directed by Mr. Ivor Hughes with Mrs. Emma Reid at the organ.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. E. Lough and children over the sudden death of Mr. E. Lough. Funeral service was held in the United Church, Tuesday, with Legion ceremonial at the cemetery.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Adams on the birth of twins, a boy and a girl, born Monday, in Madoc.

Mrs. William Caterer returned from visiting her grandson, Mr. Barry McCann and other relations in Greenwood and Halifax, Nova Scotia. Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling recently stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caterer in Dunvale, Welland for a holiday.

Elizabeth Montgomery Gets Role Without Father's Help

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie crowd, being a sentimental sort, always draws special cheer when a second-generation performer achieves success. That's why there is double delight in the achievement of Elizabeth Montgomery.

The town also likes a sit. and Miss Montgomery's television vehicle, Bewitched, appears to be a runaway success. Ratings, reviews and general feeling have bestowed the aura of a winner on the new ABC show.

For Liz Montgomery Bewitched could be a particular triumph. She got the role without help from her father, Robert Montgomery, suave star of films in the 1930s and '40s, later television producer of his own series.

But Liz is not one to brood over her lot as scion of a star. "Sure, people are always mentioning that I'm Robert Montgomery's daughter," she said. "Why should that bother me? I'm proud of the fact.

HELPED GET STARTED

"It helped me a great deal when I was getting started in me Bewitched is."

acting. It is bound to be.p anyone to start with a famous name; anyone who says differently is just kidding himself.

"But after that initial advantage—then it's entirely up to you. You have to prove your self, or else."

The tall-tressed blonde has been following her father's profession for 10 years. She appeared in 230 live television plays. She played on Broadway in Late Love and in a Gary Cooper picture, The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell. In recent times she has won an Emmy nomination for The Untouchables and starred in the films Johnny Cool and Who's Been Sleeping In My Bed?

And then, Bewitched

She and husband Bill Asher, television director, have a son, William Jr., born last July 24. By that time, most filmed series are well into production Bewitched had only the pilot.

"I went back to work three weeks after the baby," said Liz. "I get a little tired some days but you don't mind when the show is a success, and they tell

TV Radio Column

Dinah's First Daytime Special Not Entertaining

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Dinah Shores first daytime Special for Women, an ABC Wednesday, turned out to be more of a soap opera with Perry Mason overtones than a serious treatment of the problem of the molestation of children.

The hour-long story, called Child in Danger, was a routine court room drama about the trial of a haggard, worried fellow charged with hurting a 10-year-old girl in a park playground. The girl looked pretty bad for him when even his lawyer—played by Nina Foch—was repelled by his ugly crime. But in the end it turned out he was innocent. In a courtroom confession the little girl admitted she made up the story to avoid a spanking for tearing a new dress.

And the worried fellow, it turned out, was acting that way because he felt he was responsible for his own 10 - year - old daughter's death in an automobile accident.

Along the rather familiar trail, cast members delivered little lectures to parents about warning and educating their children in this area. Miss Shore suggested that parents write to the FBI for special reporting books which would explain the danger to children.

Despite the billing and the trimmings, however, the show was really just a rather unappetizing entertainment show.

Sammee Tong's tragic death in Hollywood on Saturday came according to ABC sources, after producers of the comedy series, Mickey had completed all of the programs originally contracted for—17.

Recommended tonight — The Perry Como Show, NBC, 10-11 EST—season premiere for the singer's occasional variety shows, this time from Detroit's Cobo Hall.

MRS. RUTHERFORD

C of C Holds Tourist Hospitality Conference

CAMPBELLFORD — The Chamber of Commerce held a Tourist Hospitality Conference in the Masonic Temple, Campbellford on Wednesday, October 28.

The morning program was taken up with tourist promotion and development under the direction of Al. Wood, representative of Tourist Industry Development Branch, Ontario Department of Tourism and Information. The second topic hospitality services under Frank Ruddy, Tourist Industry Officer Ontario Department of Tourism and Information.

Under the Wood's department of Tourist Promotion and Development, Mr. Wood stated there must be a definite purpose in healthy and expanding visitor industry will benefit everyone in the community. This requires good leadership qualities, sound and adequate financing, an industry of tourist attractions, accommodation, potential market and transportation financial impact on community.

This program requires preparation, printing and distribution of tourist literature, maps, folders and brochures. There should be publicity on press, radio, T.V. and photography. An assessment should be made each year's operations on a comparative level.

The workshop on hospitality conducted by Mr. Frank Ruddy had many valuable suggestions to hold the same tourists or visitors from year to year or induce newcomers. All tourists at some time require assistance in some form, general information, road directions, reference to accommodations and interpreter services. Willing gracious and accurate response to requests, will result in longer stays, good public relations. He said public information centres play an important part as to location of facilities, rates, fishing or hunting facilities, housing, number when normal accommodation units full, baby sitting service, information on current rates of currency.

LUNCHEON SERVED

Luncheon was served at noon to about fifty-five guests, by Bemersyde Chapter I.O.D.E. of Campbellford. Guests at head table introduced by Mr. Rod H. Thomson were Frank Ruddy, Al Wood, Douglas Maybee, Mayor Tanner, Earl Dicknoother, Barry Penhale.

The speaker, Mr. Rod H. Thomson, Assistant Director Canadian Tourist Association, was introduced by Barry Penhale, who was chairman of arrangements for the day. Mr. Penhale spoke of the President's award, and award of merit having been given to the Campbellford Chamber of Commerce.

In his remarks Mr. Thomson said that tourism had been regarded only recently as an industry.

In stating tourism as an industry Mr. Thomson said not in the same sense that an industry is usually recognized with buildings and machine shops but a reverse export and import idea. Canadians travelling and spending money out of Canada should bear a favorable balance to visitors from other parts of the world travelling in Canada and money in Canada. In 1963 for the first time since 1950 more money came into Canada from tourists than was spent by Canadians outside. This year the reverse has happened. Canadians are spending more outside the country than is coming in. The said tourists last year spent a large amount on liquor and food and a considerable amount on accommodation.

Mr. Thomson said If 24 more tourists per day could be attracted to Canada it would be as great as a one hundred thousand dollar a year industry.

The tourist industry contributed an amount equal to two-thirds of the sale of all agricultural products in Canada in one year, and twice retail sales of autos manufactured in Canada in one year.

Tourist research in Canada is almost non-existent and quoted some rather surprising United States statistics, 70 per cent adults never travel two hundred miles away from home, 33 per cent have no desire to travel, 75 per cent have never travelled in an aeroplane, 50 per cent have never spent a night in a hotel. When asked if given $5,000 to do with as they pleased could not decide what they would spend any on travel.

TWO PEAK MONTHS

July and August have been considered two peak tourist months, some operators now report a trend in June to enter sports and carnivals are now important. Other sections with multiple attractions promote autumn color tours or other seasonal promotions. Conventions, sales meetings, company meetings are one means of getting away from regular routine, and are time to give weekends of both business and pleasure. Wider viewpoints are gained by tourist travel beneficial to visitor and hosts.

Mr. Thomson concluded with a quotation by St. Augustine, "The world is a great book in which they who never travel read only one page."

Douglas Maybee, president of Campbellford Chamber of Commerce, thanked Mr. Thomson for his excellent address.

The afternoon topics were training courses developed by Mr. Earl Dicknoother, manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. Tourist attractions and events were discussed by Tom MacKay, Baker public relations. Any unusual physical features, lakes, hills ,etc., or man made attractions too numerous to mention, religious shrines, old bridges, caves, historic sites, etc.

An expression of appreciation was made to Campbellford Chamber of Commerce for an informative and interesting day.

DETECTS FORGERIES

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet jurist and a mathematician have created an electronic detector so skilled it can detect almost any forgery, says the Soviet news agency Tass. To test it, handwriting experts forged about 1,000 signatures. The forgerie "were absolutely indistinguishable from the real ones," Tass reported, but the machine quickly found the fakes.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For October 28

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Now you must prepare, study, plant seeds for future growth. A day to obtain some privacy. Think plans through to completion. You find the answers "within." Relax tonight with friends.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Surprises due. May involve children, members of opposite sex. Be aware of past promises. Good to accept added responsibility. Now you can open door to adventure.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Unsettling conditions could occur at home base. You would do well to complete current project. This helps ease basic problems. Day could provide valuable lessons, answers.

Cancer (June 21 to July 23): You are due verification of beliefs, theories. How you handle this information is important. Be perceptive, original. Day for pioneering action. Say yes to new ideas, challenges.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Fine for special attention to hobby, recreation. Suggestion made by associate will prove valid. Keep mind open. Obtain hints from today's Gemini and Cancer messages.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Obtain maximum service for your money. Be there "in person." Make sure others keep promises. Make this easier by showing personal interest. Be alert and aware.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Experience from your past is applicable today. Be confident. Avoid needless suspicion. If you are thorough, you can succeed . . . if careless, you lose. Act accordingly!

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be wary of "surroundings." Stay out of disputes. You may be tempted to argue with one not worthy. Be true to principle. Don't waste energy trying to convince stubborn individual.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Surprise invitation likely May involve business associate. Stress charm, diplomacy. Key is relaxation. Express appreciation. Present views in calm friendly manner.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Information at hand may not be complete. Take time to study various angles, alternatives. Avoid deceptions. Face facts as they actually exist. Highlight practical approach.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Money agreement in spotlight. Involve business or marital partner. Your view should be toward future security. Study investment possibilities. Find out how to check budget lead.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Best to listen. Assert views only after all facts are obtained. Pay little heed to gossip, rumors. Important communication likely to be received. Good for evening "on the town."

If today is your birthday . . . you are the possessor of powerful emotions. Could succeed as writer, actor or teacher. You would do best in field where you have constructive outlet for energies.

General Tendencies: People tend to be ultra-critical. Spotlight remains on Virgo, special word to Aries. Avoid excess. Be sensible, moderate.

Roman Catholic Parochial School in Winnipeg Forced To Close, Runs Out of Funds

By JIM NEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP)—The long-standing dispute over public aid to separate schools in Manitoba has erupted again with closure of a Roman Catholic parochial school because of a lack of funds.

Trustees of Precious Blood School in the largely French-speaking city of St. Boniface, next door to Winnipeg, advised the Norwood public school board it would close its doors on 600 students effective Oct. 30 because the parish could not afford the $8,000 monthly operating cost.

The public school board agreed to rent the premises on a five-year basis and retain the 23 teachers involved. The lease is renewable and will allow the public school board the option to buy.

A Winnipeg public school trustee, Andrew Robertson, said leaving all the teachers, among them five nuns, in the school would be another way of accepting a parochial school into the public school system.

"I can't condone it if the school is left the way it is," he said. "There should be no hint of any religious teaching if it is now a public school. It should be the same as any other public school."

SEES SUBSIDY

Mr. Robertson said it means the taxpayers would be subsidizing a private school.

Private and parochial schools in Manitoba, under the School Act of 1909, receive no government financial bid although private schools are allowed to operate financed by private resources.

Rev. Raymond Durocher, editor of the French language weekly La Liberte et le Patriote in St. Boniface, termed the takeover a "tragedy."

He said the school will become a public school and will cease to be a parish school.

OTHERS MAY CLOSE

Rene Prefontaine, president of the Manitoba School Trustees Association, said other Roman Catholic schools may be forced to close because of insufficient funds.

The chairman of the Winnipeg public school board, James Wilson, said the move by the Norwood board could lead to the complete integration of public and private schools.

He said all private schools could be taken over by public school boards, their teaching staffs retained and provision made for a daily half-hour of religious instruction.

Meanwhile the special legislature committee prepared to hold public meetings on Premier Duff Roblin's "shared services" proposal introduced to the legislature earlier this year.

The committee is to investigate means whereby pupils of parochial schools may share certain services of public schools, in public schools and at public expense.

$114 Million For Medical Facilities

Ontario Doctors, Dentists, Nurses Get More Schools

University Hospitals To Receive $64 Million

TORONTO (CP) — A $50,000,000 program to provide expanded medical, dental and nursing training facilities in Ontario was announced Thursday by Premier John Robarts.

The premier said an additional $64,000,000 to assist university teaching hospitals will be spent during the next five years.

The program calls for the establishment of a medical school at McMaster University in Hamilton, a dental school at the University of Western Ontario in London, and the expansion of medical facilities at University of Toronto and at Queen's University in Kingston.

The hospitals affected by the program are at the University of Ottawa, Toronto, Queen's and Western.

Education Minister William Davis, who is also minister of university affairs, said the $50,000,000 represents only capital construction costs. No target date was set for completion of the four construction programs, but university officials indicated the facilities should be in full operation between 1968 and 1970.

WERE RECOMMENDED

Premier Robarts told a press conference the four major projects were recommended to him by the government's advisory committee on university affairs.

The program, designed to offset the growing shortage of qualified personnel in the medical and dental professions in the province, will make room for about 900 additional medical students and 400 dentistry students.

Mr. Davis said that at present there are about 2,400 medical students and 500 dentistry students registered in Ontario universities.

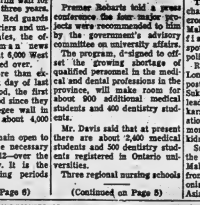
The Wall Open Again To Berliners



BERLIN (AP)—Thousands of Happy West Berliners streamed into the Soviet sector today to visit relatives after the Communists opened the Berlin wall for the second time in three years.

A few hours after Red guards raised the steel barriers and unlocked the steel gates, the official East German news agency reported that 6,000 West Berliners had crossed over.

This was far more than expected. On the first day of last year's visiting period, the first 24 feds had allowed since they built their anti-refugee wall in August 1961, only about 4,000 crossed all day.

The wall will remain open to persons with the necessary passes until Nov. 12—over the All Saints' holiday. It is the first of four visiting periods

Rout Malaysia Invaders

SUNGEI RAMBAI, Malaysia (AP)—Indonesia's latest invasion of the Malaysian mainland collapsed today when 25 shaken guerrillas meekly surrendered less than 36 hours after they landed.

A strong Commonwealth task force hunted for a half dozen othe. guerrillas still believed at large from a force of 56 men who landed by boat Thursday near this village on Malaysia's south west shore.

Clad in drab, mud - covered uniforms, the guerrillas emerged from the swampy jungles with no resistance after being pinned down by British, Australian and New Zealand troops.

Malaysian police rounded up 25 other invaders Thursday.

It was Indonesia's third raid of the mainland since August.

A foreign ministry spokesman said Malaysia planned to protest to the United Nations. Australia, whose troops went into action against the Indonesians for the first time, said it would report the action to the international organization.

In Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia, a foreign ministry spokesman denied knowledge of the invasion. The Indonesian press and radio did not report it.

The Malaysian government charged that the Indonesians crossed the narrow Strait of Malacca from Sumatra in five fishing boats. Fishermen spotted the boats and notified police.

Reports reaching diplomats in London from Asian listening posts suggest that President Sukarno's days as Indonesia's leader may be numbered. Sukarno, 63, underwent an operation in Vienna earlier this month for the removal of a kidney stone.

Sukarno has vowed to crush the 13-month-old federation of Malaysia, which he calls a front to preserve British colonial influence in Southeast Asia.

PAINTING SHOWS HOW FLAG WILL LOOK — This painting shows the maple leaf flag flying on a pole to show how the design — recommended to the Commons Thursday — will appear in actual use. Flag Report Adds More Dynamite to Potentially Explosive Political Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—Something's gotta give.

This was the view of political observers and many politicians themselves late Thursday after the flag committee report on it. He was tabled in the Commons.

It came on the heels of heightening political tension which prompted Opposition Leader Diefenbaker to cancel a scheduled trip to Regina, and brought Prime Minister Pearson back to the Commons from a day spent at home with a cold.

Conservative party sources say that, as Mr. Diefenbaker sees it, they are virtually in command of affairs in the House of Commons. They have the power to force a new general election unless the government shelves the flag issue and drops other legislation the Conservatives oppose.

Liberal sources were keeping their party's strategic plays a close secret. They can, at Conservative insistence, shelve the flag question. They can decide, as Mr. Pearson has said in the past, that Parliament must come to a decision on it. He has expressed the hope this would be by Christmas.

Real Caouette, leader of the 13 member Creditiste group, saw the makings of a general election in the situation. Other minor parties see it the same way, and say candidly that in finances and in party organization, they aren't ready for an election.

Even before the committee report was tabled, there was a flurry of reports Thursday that Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker might meet to discuss the so-called crisis. It was hinted that the initiative might come from the opposition leader.

Mr. Pearson told the House later that, as he had promised to do when the flag committee was set up Sept. 10, he would consult leaders of all party leaders. It now is tentatively scheduled for Monday.

But the flag issue is not the only one on which the Conservatives now are riding high.

Mr. Diefenbaker feels he has found a flaw in the government's re-introduction of his government's formula for constitutional amendments, the so-called Fulton formula. By this flaw, Mr. Diefenbaker says, the Pearson formula would balkanize Canada, letting provinces infringe on federal fields of jurisdiction, and enabling them to establish themselves as separate states.

Mr. Pearson argued in the Commons Thursday that his government's formula is the same as the Fulton formula. Justice Minister Favreau and Transport Minister Pickersgill pounded their desks with such delight at this statement that OTTAWA (CP) — A political time bomb is ticking away as the Commons enters the sixth day of tense debate on interim supply today.

Que. PC Leader: Election Would Divide Nation

New Flag Design Born In Swirl of Controversy

OTTAWA (CP) — Leon Balcer, named earlier this year as Quebec lieutenant to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, split cleanly with his chief on the flag issue Thursday.

Mr. Balcer said in a press statement that the red maple leaf design recommended by a majority of the Commons flag committee "should now be adopted without delay by the house."

"This is the consensus of the Quebec caucus," he added in an interview, indicating that most or all of the 10 Quebec Conservatives will support the new flag.

Pessimism In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — We can't go on like this.

Almost without exception this was the cry from members of Parliament as the flag committee gave birth in a swirl of political controversy to a new design for a Canadian flag—a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a vertical red bar at each side.

In most cases the widespread pessimism seemed to mean that another federal election cannot be far off. January or April were the months on which betting centred.

The flag committee's report, introduced in the Commons by committee chairman Herman M. Batten (D—Humber - St. George's), was accompanied by two politically - important developments.

In one, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who had rejected the single-leaf design as unacceptable on the eve of the committee report, was in direct conflict with his chief lieutenant, Leon Balcer. The Trois-Rivieres MP issued a statement on behalf of the 10 Quebec Conservative MPs calling for adoption of the proposed Canadian flag without delay.

In a second, Grant Deachman (L—Vancouver Quadra) came under fire for an article which revealed the committee's flag design choice before the com-

Heward Grafftey (PC — Brome-Missisquoi) told reporters he definitely favors the committee's recommendation.

Mr. Balcer's statement did not refer to the position taken by Mr. Diefenbaker but disagreed with it on several points.

Mr. Diefenbaker said outside the House his party will take a "strong stand" against the proposed design because it "completely denies our heritage and our past." He would continue to press for a flag plebiscite to coincide with the next federal election.

ELECTION A 'MISTAKE'

Mr. Balcer said he finds the proposed flag attractive. "It would be a mistake if we had an election on this issue.

"The undue prolongation of the debate would inevitably result in a general election which would be fought on the French-English issue and would set province against province, group against group and would place in jeopardy the future of Confederation."

Mr. Balcer said the 10-to-4 vote in favor of the flag in the committee represents a sufficient and substantial majority, making a plebiscite unnecessary.

Mr. Diefenbaker said a majority of at least 13 committee members should have been achieved. Lacking this "virtually unanimous" recommendation, a plebiscite was necessary.

Drama at the Vatican

Leading Prelates Protest Changes

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Leading conservative prelates argued today against a new look at birth control by the Roman Catholic Church. They told the Vatican ecumenical council that married couples should trust in divine providence.

Two Vatican curia cardinals—Alfredo Ottaviani and Michael Browne—rose in the council in St. Peter's Basilica to oppose demands by other prelates for fearless re-examination of all aspects of marriage morality. Cardinals and bishops, many of them leading progressives, said Thursday the problem must not be avoided in the current council debate on its schema on modern world problems.

"I came from a family of 12 children," said Cardinal Ottaviani, son of a Roman baker and secretary of the powerful Vatican Holy Office. "I was the 10th. My father was a worker. My parents never doubted divine providence . . . can it be possible that the church has erred for centuries?"

Saying he disagreed with present wording in the schema under debate that married couples should be free to plan the size of their families, Cardinal Ottaviani said:

"This is something unheard of in the past ages of the church. Married couples should never doubt divine providence."

He concluded by citing a biblical passage about birds and flowers being taken care of by God without worry or toil.

Cardinal Browne, Irish-born Dominican theologian who has worked in Rome for years, told the council: "We must stress that the primary end of marriage is the procreation and education of children."

Speakers had praised the schema Thursday for avoiding this traditional church teaching, that procreation in marriage is primary with precedence over love and sex.

Cardinal Browne said family planning was a subject "about which a discussion cannot usefully be held."

Several other bishops, arguing along the same lines as Cardinal Ottaviani, said the schema should emphasize trust in God's providence in bringing children into the world.

Bishop Juan Hervas y Benet of Ciudad Real, Spain, speaking for 126 prelates of several nations, said: "There is nothing in the text about trust in providence or accepting of the Cross. . . . Large families are also 'the source of many vocations to the priesthood and the religious life."

The council is deep in debate on marriage problems and other issues of the modern world. Theologians attached to the council said a definite shift is coming in the church's traditional outlook on the sexual side of marriage, but none would predict how soon and how far Catholic dogma would be altered.

"We are in a stage of transition, and all the problems of such a stage surely exist," said Rev. Arthur McCormack of Belgium's Louvain University, a moral theologian specializing in world overpopulation and hunger problems.

"A poor couple that is sincerely worried wants the answers tonight. It's not that easy."

Leading prelates said in dramatic speeches at the council meeting in St. Peter's Basilica Thursday that the official position of the Catholic Church must be revised on the basis of modern science, that churchmen should have no reason to fear a deep investigation, and that conjugal love has as equal a divine basis as the command to procreate children.

For years the Catholic teaching has been that marriage's primary end is to procreate and educate children, with conjugal physical love taking a secondary role. That distinction is missing from the council's document on marriage problems, an absence that brought praise from prelates who have spoken on the topic.

Father McCormack said the old idea of "have as many children as you can, and God bless you has been disappearing."

"Until the end of the last century an average of eight children per family was needed to replace the population," he said. "Now it takes only 2.2 children."

Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini of Palermo, a prominent conservative in the council, quoted the fourth-century words of St. Augustine, that, when a man and wife interrupt natural sexual intercourse the wife is acting like a prostitute and the husband acting like an adulterer.

Leo Josef Cardinal Suenens of Brussels, who urged a fearless new look at traditional church teaching on marriage morality, followed Cardinal Ruffini and said at one point: "Certainly we have learned much since the days of St. Augustine." Council sources said they understood the Belgian prelate inserted the words into his prepared speech as a rebuttal to Cardinal Ruffini.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Clouds and snowflurries will clear during the morning across Northern Ontario with mostly sunny skies prevailing over the province today. Afternoon temperatures today will be mostly in the high 40s or low 50s. Prospects for Saturday are for the sunny skies to continue in the southern portions of Ontario and for more cloudiness in the north country with warmer temperatures in most areas.

C of C President:
Belleville-Toronto Dayliner Considered

Chamber of Commerce activities of the past week were reported last night to the membership by Chamber president, J. C. "Pat" Houston, at the annual meeting held at the Shrine Club.

"The Chamber's transport committee," he said, "had required a poll before deciding to promote establishment of Dayliner rail service between Belleville and Toronto." The CNR, Mr. Houston added, is now considering the proposal.

"Requests from the Chamber that liquor store hours be lengthened and that mail delivery in the downtown area be made earlier in the day are also under consideration," he said.

"The Chamber arranged a 'ladies' day' program for the wives of Ontario Building Officials Association when the association held its annual conference in Belleville," he said, and it arranged a tour of the city by teachers who moved to the city this year. The Chamber published, about 3,000 tourist brochures, and about 5,000 shopping directories during the year.

NO PROGRESS MADE

No progress was made on a suggestion that floral baskets be hung from lamp standards in the downtown areas, he said, or on the suggestion that the city get another access road to Highway 2. The Chamber could take at least part of the credit though, he said, for the cleanup of the mouth of the Moira River.

"The Chamber will meet its budget this year, which makes up part of last year's deficit," he said. Part of this is due, he added, to the move of the Chamber office to a new location, and part is due to the industrial promotion program under which the Chamber took a building at the Belleville Fair, and sold space in the building to local industries for Fair week.

A proposal that the Chamber of Commerce buy the Frankford house on Bridge street for use as a museum has been rejected, Mr. Houston said. As to the program for the annual meeting was a speech by Ross Smyth, head of the speakers' bureau for Air Canada.

Family of 3 Forced Out By Apt. Fire

A family of three were temporarily forced to leave their home as the result of a fire last night believed to have been caused by a hot iron.

Belleville firemen were call ed at 8.47 to an apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Christopher and their small daughter at the rear of Kemp's Drive-In-Restaurant on Canniffton Road. The couple had just recently taken over the drive-in business.

A fire department official said Mrs. Christopher had been ironing in a utility room near the front door when the electrical appliance. He said it is thought the iron may have fallen setting some children's clothing ablaze.

Considerable smoke and water damage was caused to the family's furnishings and rooms.

Mr. Christopher, who was working in the restaurant at the time, ran into the apartment and took his 15-month-old daughter, sleeping in a bedroom, to safety.

The department was also called to 60 Donald Street shortly before noon yesterday to attend a chimney fire. There was no damage.

Sir John A. Rover Crew Sponsors Military Whist

Parents and friends of the Sir John A. Rover Crew, 9th Belleville, enjoyed a fine evening's entertainment last night at St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church hall.

Military whist, in charge of Mr. Jim Ritchie, was played throughout the evening with prizes awarded to the winners' and losers' teams.

The event was arranged by members of the Crew in charge of Mate Barry Bickle and a number of members did an excellent job in serving refreshments at the conclusion of the evening.

SAVE MONUMENTS

A women's organization in York, Pa., has been formed to preserve ancient monuments by raising money for restorations.

New Sundial Is Accurate Time Keeper

Big brightly illuminated electric clocks outside banks are a common sight these days but the Victoria and Grey Trust Company at the corner of Front and McAnany streets has a timepiece with a difference.

It is a modern day version of the century old sundial which actually tells the correct time when the sun is shining.

Sundials were used by the ancient Egyptians and they did more or less keep track of the time of day, but in the many centuries interval very little has been done to make sundials really accurate.

But the garden sculpture sundial in the Victoria and Grey Trust Company window, with co-operation of the sun, tells the time right to the minute.

It was designed and developed by G. R. Johnson of Toronto, an ex-navy radar expert and practicing geophysicist.

Measuring about 18 inches high, the solar clock appears something like the framework of a miniature terrestrial globe. But with adjustments to set for the proper latitude, time and longitude, the user — is indicated on a curved scale by a bright narrow line of sunlight.

Napanee Rector To Be Canon At Cathedral

The Right Rev. K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, announced the appointment of a Canon of St. George's Cathedral and Rural Dean Deans within the Diocese.

The Rev. W. L. Simmons, Rector of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Napanee, is to be Canon of St. George's. Canon Simmons has been rector of Napanee since 1953. Since his ordination to the Diaconate in 1940 he has served for varying periods in the Mission of Westbourg, the North Hastings Mission at Bancroft and the Parish of Lansdowne near (Gananoque), before coming to Napanee. He has been Rural Dean of Leeds Deanery and of the Deanery of Lennox and Addington. His service on various Committees of Synod has included the Diocesan Executive Committee, the Committee of Information and Stewardship, and the Board of Religious Education and others.

Canon Simmons is a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, and was raised to the Priesthood in June, 1941.

The Rev. Alex N. Brandon, rector of the Parish of Tamworth, is the new Rural Dean of the Leeds and Addington Deanery. Mr. Brandon was ordained Deacon in May, 1946, and was raised to Priesthood in October, 1940. He served in the Missions of North Frontenac, Parham, and Maynooth and the parish of Adolphustown. For one year he was rector of Oxford before coming to the Parish of Tamworth with Marlbank and Enterprise in September 1959.

The Rev. Robert H. Stewart is the new Rural Dean of Hastings. He is rector of Marmora and came to this Diocese from the Diocese of New Westminster. He is a graduate of U.B.C and was ordained in May, 1955. He was appointed rector of Marmora with Bonesaw and Rawdon in November 1962. Mr. Stewart is 35 years old, is married and has two children.

C of C Members Hear Talk On Future of Air Travel

"It is most unfortunate," Belleville Chamber of Commerce members were told last night, "that the money being spent on supersonic airliners is not being devoted to vertical and short take off aircraft suitable for local service."

Ross Smyth, public relations head of the Air Canada speakers' bureau was quoting an Air Canada report dealing with a speech to the annual membership meeting of the Chamber, held last night at the Shrine Club.

Development of supersonic airliners, he added, will not make the difference to air travel that the big jets came out," he said. "Service is improved, travelling speed was doubled and the cost of air travel halved. When the supersonic jets are put in service, he continued, the only major saving will be in time.

Development of better short range aircraft though, would make it practical for local air service to cities the size of Belleville and Kingston, cities which could not at present afford to be served by private and small business aircraft.

Mr. Smyth pointed out that although conventional helicopter service is available in some areas, such service is unable practical only by very high fares and a government subsidy equal to about half the operating costs.

RECALLS OTHER DAYS

Speaking on the development of air travel, the speaker recalled the days of Trans-Canada Airlines, (then called Trans Canada Airlines) opened its first transcontinental service. The aircraft used were converted Lancaster bombers which carried 10 ten gallon passengers and mail, he said, and each flight had to carry about 1,500 gallons of fuel. "The weight of paperwork equals the weight of the aircraft," one of the pilots quipped, "when it's time to take off."

Development of air travel has demonstrated the establishment of the International Air Transport Association and International Civil Aviation Association, he said, and the aircraft of today are more than 100 passengers each on a trans-Atlantic flight. On the average flight across the 3,725 miles Hiram crossed the Atlantic with a total of nearly 8,000 passengers.

Mr. Smyth was introduced to the meeting by George Hume and thanked for his speech by Gerry Wishart.

Jaycees Here For Convention

About 100 Canadian and U.S. Jaycees will converge on Belleville this weekend for the first international Jaycee convention ever held in the city.

Called an "Americda convention," the annual event is held alternately in Canada and the U.S.

Last year's conferences was held in Ogdensburg, N.Y. Delegates are expected from Ontario, New York and the New England states.

The program includes water polo at the Y.M.C.A. pool this Saturday afternoon; a tour of Trenton RCAF Station Sunday, a speaker Sunday evening and business sessions throughout the weekend.

Speaker for Sunday is Gil McDermott, the Public Relations Branch of the Canadian Centennial Commission. In charge of arrangements for the weekend is Stan Abbott, chairman of convention committees.

Grocery Store, Legion Hall Burns at Cardiff

BANCROFT — A fire of unknown origin caused several thousand dollars damage early Thursday when it completely destroyed a grocery store which also housed the Cardiff Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 506, in Cardiff.

The fire discovered about 5:00 p.m. this morning, is believed to have started in the Legion quarters, located in the rear of the cement block structure.

The building, which has been closed since mines ceased operation in the area, was recently purchased and opened by Mrs. Christine Bing of Cardiff in July of this year.

It is believed the store contained about $3,000 worth of groceries.

Cardiff townsite volunteer fire department was unable to save the building.

Apsley Ontario, Provincial Police are investigating.

White Cane Club Enjoys Mock Program

The October business meeting of the Belleville White Cane Club was held at the Salvation Army citadel on Wednesday evening. The 26 members and escorts were welcomed by President Helen Wardhaugh.

Two popular visitors from Kingston were present, Mr. Preston Tennins, CNIB Field Secretary for this area, and his assistant, Mr. Douglas McCallum.

Following the short business period Mrs. H. Rollins read a letter from the convener of education of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Council of the Blind. This letter dealt with "fire prevention", and also included plans for escape from a burning building, that could be made by a blind person and his family. Practical suggestions for self preservation in case of fire were also listed.

All joined in sing-song of old favorites while the stage was cleared for the evening's entertainment.

FINE PROGRAM

Arlie Scott introduced Mr. Clyde Chalmers who in turn introduced the members of the "Dixie-Five Plus One" group. Members of the group made a mock radio broadcast and the humorous commercials were greatly enjoyed.

The audience gave their undivided attention to the musical numbers rendered by this splendid orchestra. Mrs. Marlene Chartrand, accompanied by the orchestra, sang the delightful solos. Mr. Lamont Parks, choir director at Park Street Baptist Church, favored with two well known hymns.

Ted Rose thanked the entertainers for giving so freely of their time and talent.

The sudden death of Mrs. Robert S. Baverstock. Mrs. Baverstock was the mother of past president Pat, and a valued associate member of the club.

Scouting activities

The 5th Belleville Cub and Scout Mothers' Auxiliary held their October meeting recently at Collège Hill United Church. The meeting opened with all members repeating the Scout mothers' promise. Discussion on the Country Store was to be held on November 11. The mothers are to send anything they would like to donate to Mrs. E. Panos 50 North Park St., or Mrs. L. Reynolds as soon as possible so it can be priced before that day. The mothers can also send it to Cubs or Scouts with their boys and it will be picked up.

The sewing convener was given permission to purchase material for scarves. The members decided they would save I.G.A. tapes instead of Canada Packers labels. The meeting closed with the repeating of the Scout minpah.

NOTICES

Would all auxiliaries send the reports of their meetings and any other material of Auxiliary importance to Mrs. Ed Panos, 50 North Park St., or phone WO 2-6805.

The uniform exchange is badly in need of Cub and Scout uniforms. Would any one having uniforms for sale please contact L. Reynolds, WO 2-2337 as soon as possible.

6TH MOTHERS'

The 6th Belleville Mothers Auxiliary held their first fall meeting of the year at Tabernacle Church with 18 members present. The meeting opened with repeating the Scout Promise. A short business meeting followed. The officers were installed by a past president, 6th, Mrs. Reta Winstanley. President, Mrs. D. Cairns; vice president, Mrs. M. LaDuc; secretary, Mrs. J. D. Semark; treas., Mrs. F. Thibaudeau; social, Mrs. J. Winstanley; sewing, Mrs. H. Bochon and Mrs. A. Savage; program, Mrs. B. Stenson; contact, Mrs. G. Grant; visiting, Mrs. E. Christopher, publicity, Mrs. K. Lane.

The retiring president, Mrs. Edwin Lott thanked everyone for their co-operation and received in her two years and then vacated the chair for the new president, Mrs. D. Cairns, who closed the meeting with the repeating of the Scouts Minpah.

A social time was enjoyed with Mrs. Winstanley serving cookies, tea and coffee.

15TH ANNIVERSARY

The first meeting of the 15th Belleville Cub and Scout Ladies' Auxiliary was held at Sir Winston Churchill School on Oct. 21 with Chris Bodley presiding.

The meeting got under way with the mother's promise followed by a warm welcome from the president to all the mothers present. Special guest for the evening was introduced: Mrs. Betty Forte, president of the Belleville District Committee for Ladies' Auxiliaries, who conducted the installation of the elected officers in an impressive flag ceremony, with the following slate of officers:

Mrs. Forte congratulated each officer giving them the Scout handshake and wished them success, stating that the executive board stands to help them in any way possible.

There was a question and answer period which proved helpful to the new mothers.

The president thanked the outgoing executive members for their help and cooperation.

Refreshments were served ending a very successful evening.

Find Indian Bones At Fort Erie

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP) — A second group of Indian bones and artifats has been found about two blocks from the site of an earlier find, but the second discovery is being kept hidden.

City officials said the latest find has been covered over again and will remain buried until a team of archeologists from the University of Toronto can come to Fort Erie at the end of the year.

Rhodesian P. M. Retreats From His Threat

SALISBURY AP)—Ta.e crisis over Rhodesia eased today after Prime Minister Ian Smith's retreat from his threat to proclaim independence unless the white-ruled east African territory.

Bowing to a stiff warning from Britain's Labor government, Smith said in a television interview Thursday:

"The British government's moves of the past week have upset everything and I can see no prospect of independence by Christmas as I had hoped."

Smith also told the Rhodesian Parliament he would not regard the expected "Yes" vote in a referendum over Thursday as a mandate for a unilatera. declaration of independen.e from Britain.

Parliament approved Smith's motion "that the House takes note of the attitude of the British government toward he in.dependence issue and rejects any policy based on the result of the referendum. . . " it thes adjourned until Feb. 23.

STILL OPPOSED

But Smith remained adamant in his opposition to Britain demands for a constitution assuring ultimate control of Rhodesia to the black majority.

"We are not prepared to be sent as far as to overthrow the European has built up over the last 60 years sold down the river to the local terrorists."

He also gave no indication whether he planned to accept an invitation from British government to discuss the issue in London.

Prime Minister Wilson's new government had warned Smith that Rhodesia would be guilty of treason against the Commonwealth if he pursued his plan to perpetuate the white minority voting rule there are only 13,000 blacks and 80,000 whites.

Invest Belleville Members of St. John's Order

Five Belleville members of the order of St. John yesterday and today were invested by Governor General Vanier in 45 minutes ceremonies at Government House in Ottawa.

Some 74 members of the Order were invested Thursday with the ceremony repeated today as new grades were granted by the Governor General.

Council Figures How to Pay For New Sewer

TRENTON — Mulling over how they could possibly pay for a 21-inch sewer between Quinte St. and McGill St., at a council meeting in Trenton yesterday, the members came up with the following figures: the town has "saved" $50,000 this year by not installing a sewer on Dundas St. Near approaching the airport; $40,000 has been saved by not installing a sewer on Bay St.; the town hopes to save $8,000 by having PWD workmen prepare the widened part of Division St. for paving and having the McFarland Company do the paving here and on Sidney St.; and expects to get back from the government $50,000 of the $150,000 earmarked this year for acquisition of land forming approaches to a new bridge.

Against these figures stand a loss of $60,000 on this year's sewer construction program and the cost of the McGill St. sewer itself, which would run into $100,000 by the time interest charges, engineering, etc. were considered. A winter works subsidy of $11,000 would apply to the proposed sewer installation and Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. would "forgive" $18,000 of the money borrowed to install the sewer. Council also hopes to clinch a deal with a Hamilton company for the sale of land behind Queen Elizabeth School for $15,000.

Dump Garbage In Gravel Pit

TRENTON — A Stanley Heights resident reported last night that someone dumped a carload of garbage in the gravel pit-cum-garbage dump-cum-amphitheatre. The dumper, evidently two months behind in his news reading, seemed unaware that the former gravel pit was no longer being used for garbage disposal. It has been turned over to the Trenton Parks' Board and the members of the board are even now planning on grassing the slopes.

RIDES TO STUDY

Not Enough Money to Do Many Public Works Jobs

TRENTON — The town is faced with a problem....which can be summed up: too many public works jobs to do, and not enough money to do them with.

This situation was highlighted at a meeting of the council yesterday morning. The meeting had been called to open tenders for the installation of a sanitary sewer, extending from Quinte St. to McGill St. Present were: Councillors Joseph Gould, Rose Burtt, Duncan McDonald and Gerald Weaver, Clerk-Comptroller O. W. Larry and town engineer, Eric Aldersey. Absent was the mayor, D. J. MacDonald, and Councillors C. V. Graham and Edward Todd.

Four tenders were submitted, with prices ranging from Carr's, Trenton, $62,396.28; Thibaud, Belleville, $94,113; Lightfoot, $123,210 and Tripp Construction of Port Perry, $150,211. Tripp's tender arrived in an envelope marked "X", and considering the variance in prices, the councillors thought the company wasn't very anxious to get the job.

As Mr. Carr said in an accompanying letter he thought he might be able to do the job for less money if he found some other way of loading the 21-inch sewer other four sets of railway tracks other than the tunnelling specified in plans, the council-lors were more than interested in his bid.

However....there's a slight question of money.

Councillor McDonald wondered if it would be wise to accept the lowest tender, or any tender, considering the telling blow dealt recently when council-cil learned road reconstruction done this summer would cost the town $60,000 more than first estimated. Yesterday, those at the meeting learned this figure would have to be raised to $80,000, with interest and other charges considered....and maybe more than that.

WANT FIRMER FIGURE

Consulting engineer Jack Tomlinson was present and will be in Trenton yesterday afternoon and what councillors were at the meeting were waiting for him.

They wanted a firmer figure on the increased cost than "somewhere in the neighborhood of $80,000." But Mr. Tomlinson failed to show.

Meanwhile, the Ontario Water Resources Commission wants the town to "review" its program of sewer installation. And the OWRC would like to see the sewage treatment plant enlarged.

Mr. Aldersey said that he had, in the past, recommended that the town go ahead "with everything," and raise the needed money by imposing an adequate sewer surcharge on water users' bills, "as much as 100 per cent" of the present bills. The town had planned by January 1 to levy a 50 per cent sewer surcharge.

Councillor Weaver thought this suggestion had merit.

"Better, than increasing the mill rate," he commented, "people gripe about an increase in taxes, but everybody pays their telephone bill and hydro bills without question."

A suggestion put forward by the clerk-comptroller was also considered to have merit.

Mr. Larry thought it was about time council sat down and discussed the situation with someone from the OWRC and the Ontario Municipal Board, "lay it on the line," so to speak.

And this was definitely the wrong morning for council to be confronted with a request from the school board that eligible voters in the Dec. 7 elections be asked if they were in favor of the town giving a grant of $29,000 towards cost of a swimming pool in the high school. The pool would cost $101,000. Trenton Lions Club has promised $25,000 (if plans for the pool are got underway this year,) and the board means to raise the other $47,000. Council will "think about" placing the question on the ballot.

TRENTON — The Booster Club movement which waned after becoming popular several years ago is making a strong comeback here.

The revival has the backing of the local Lions Club and Legion sponsors of juvenile and midget hockey respectively.

Under the new, set - up membership cards are sold on a monthly basis — adults $1.00 and students 50c. The holder pays in advance for activities provided by the juveniles and midgets at the Community Gardens Sunday evenings.

When the membership, say for October (pink in color), runs out after a designated period, another in a different color is issued and made available to Club members and prospective "joiners".

The main purpose of the Booster membership is an attempt by the sponsors of both teams to keep their operating costs down. The attendance, over 000 at the pre-season exhibitions last Sunday evening, indicated Booster memberships are already an accepted method of assessing fans equally.

When contribution by silver collection was in effect the average take from each customer watching evening games worked out to 4c apiece, according to one of the team backers. The sponsors, needless to say, turned financing of these worthy projects could be a rough affair before they decided to try something different in an effort to stop their money supply from requiring regular transfusions.

Furthermore Lions and Legion members hope their introduction of crowd control patrols will prevent unsavory incidents that spoiled the Gardens' management at times last season.

Five members from each organization will be on hand Sunday evenings to deal with possible problems. Legion officials have been on deliberately cresting distractions for spectators and players.

Election Expenses

The federal government has taken a short, but significant step toward cutting election campaign costs.

A five-man committee of experienced politicians has been set up to investigate ways and means of limiting the amount of money spent by both parties and their candidates at federal election time.

Such legislation already is enforced in Britain, Australia and other democracies. In this country, the province of Quebec showed the way in recent by-elections.

Under Canada's election laws a candidate in a federal campaign is limited to expenses of $2,000 for specifically defined purposes—such as travel and accommodation. There is no such restriction, however, on his official agent. All that is required of the agent is that he file a return of his expenses, showing all contributions over $25. Nor is there any limit imposed on national expenditures by the federal parties.

The implied threat in a democracy is obvious. The day could come when the party with the biggest campaign funds could, to all intents, practically purchase the office of national government.

The vital democratic element of individuality thus is threatened.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker put it succinctly when commenting on the committee's appointment: 'Certainly the trend in recent years resulting from television and radio and other media of necessary information has brought about such an increase in constituency and election expenses that it renders it difficult for an average Canadian to take his part in public life."

The Essential Resource

The appearance of the Moira River in Belleville to the contrary, water is our most vital resource.

Yet that same pathetic trickle is a prime example of past mismanagement by Canadians who took the unprecedented abundance of their water supplies for granted.

And there may be new threats on the horizon.

Resources Minister Laing this week warned that United States interests—"at the moment non-governmental"—are casting eyes on Canada's water resources. The object appeared to be to use Canada as a vast storage area for continental water resources.

Such a program would involve billions of dollars. But the coming crisis in continental water supply is foreseen as so acute that expenditures of such vast sums may become economic.

Mr. Laing urged the Commons committee studying Great Lakes water levels to take a firm stand in favor of treating Canadians as a strictly Canadian, rather a continental, resource.

His warning should be heeded.

The day is approaching when proper management of that resource will determine the prosperity of Canadians for all time.

Co-operative Action

On Broughton Island, NWT, 100 miles inside the Arctic Circle, a couple teaching at an Eskimo school faced a problem, says the Ottawa Journal. They wanted to grow green things to include in the diet of 15 of the children they looked after in two hostels. They had a greenhouse, but no soil.

Their solution to the problem is as happy a demonstration of co-operative action as can be found. Last month they sent out a newsy, form-letter to "friends, relatives and even mere acquaintances" in the South and asked if they would mind sending five pounds of "good, rich garden soil in a plastic bag to preserve the moisture." We have heard no reports of results but we suspect nothing would please southerners more than to send some good rich soil to the frigid north, knowing what good it would do.

Phan Khac Suu has been the surprise appointment as chief of state in South Viet Nam. And by the time you learn how to pronounce it the chances are he'll have been replaced.

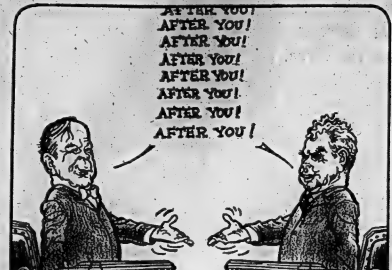
An Ohio man was recently fined $50 and sent to jail for giving his wife a black eye. Which merely proves that you can't beat a good woman.

The times are out of joint when they add more horse power to car engines and require less horse sense behind the steering wheel.

May Rebel Against Noise

Christian Science Monitor

Reading reports by city complaints about noise are the chief cause of rising turnover in rentals in New York and other cities and for occupancy problems in new apartments.



This is a surprising statement to appears in a recent report to the Wall Street Journal. It was made a long way from both its miles and subject — from a remark by a British minister about the boom of new aircraft, that "people would learn to live with it." But it points to a possible rebellion in an over-complacent age.

This is the rebellion against the invasion on privacy and on liberty, which some people, yes and institutions, seem cannot be stopped from erecting noise. It is true that the human ear and soul can adapt itself to the inevitable, and especially to that which seems to be an accomplishment and irreversible fact. But just how inevitable and irreversible is a given fact can still be open to debate.

The fact of noise has become all too mentioned by acceptance, indifference, or by being signed, by many people. But so has the noise of government at one time; so was the noise of mid- all sorts of harsh laws leading to

Calculations based on the

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 30th, 1944.

The question of selling, operating or otherwise disposing of the gas plant now in corporation will be decided by the ratepayers in the form of a question to be submitted to the electorate at the next municipal election, according to a by-law passed at the closing session of the council on Monday evening. The vote was 8 to 7. Considerable discussion took place before the vote was taken and many of the points were rehashed that have been the medium of discussion on this utility in the years past. It was a lengthy session, the time being extended and deliberations were not concluded until the small hour. It was suggested that the amount of money that it might take to convert the plant to new gas that could be used to compensate the gas users that would have to turn to electricity.

Soap Today's Best Symbol

Sault Ste. Marie Star

The spirit of 1776 — industry free enterprise has a variety of symbols. Most common is the dollar sign, but freedom is represented by glowing steel mills in silhouette, tape-spitting stock tickers and by dazzling models in lawnmower advertisements.

If the day ever comes, however, when the Great Symbol Debate replaces the Great Flag Debate, and we are forced to choose one representation to decorate the banner of free-America (and we doubt it today, here might be the ideal symbol:

An ordinary, prefer ably home-made, bar of soap.

Critics will charge that we are trying to reduce the often deified image of Wall Street and Madison Avenue. It's not so. A bar of soap just fairly tingles to the best illustration of the tenacious spirit of modern commerce and industry.

Our grandparents came too early for the soap and soap production. They didn't have to be constantly goaded into buying things they didn't need just to keep the nation's economy on an upward trend. So they simply made soap — a bar of soap, and used it to clean themselves and their surroundings.

Now, our rising standard of living demands that people buy more of everything, and develop more products for sale. Only that way can they keep money flowing through the economic bloodstream, and keep hiring more workers at higher wages.

So instead of buying a bar of soap, today's people buy many separate products for washing dishes, clothes, walls, windows and children. She buys fabric softeners, soaps for diapers, shaving soaps, shampoo for men, shampoo for women, bubble bath powder, pre-shave lotion, after-shave lotion, cleansing cream for women, cream for women, cologne for men, talcum powder for women, talcum powder for men, underarm deodorants, air deodorizers, dry sprays, furniture wax sprays, window sprays . . . .

The list is almost endless. Hundreds of products, employing thousands of people, all as modern replacements for the humble but versatile bar of soap. It's the perfect illustration of today's western world.

Strictly Personal We Are Living in A New Time

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Freud wrote an important book many years ago, called "Beyond the Pleasure Principle." What our present generation needs is a book by as bold and perceptive a social scientist called "Beyond the Power Principle."

What our age has yet failed to grasp — except for a few lonely and unheard voices — is the overwhelming fact that the principle of "ultimate power", by which the human race has been directed since its origins, has suddenly vanished, leaving only a void in its place.

Since the Trojan War, and before, the power principle has been the final and most decisive factor in the behavior of rulers and nations. It guided all kings, statesmen, generals, and dictators, from Hittites to Hiroshima. Then, in a flash of atomic fission, it disappeared — but hardly anyone seems to know it yet.

This is the most important truth of the 20th century. We are living in a new time — new in a qualitative sense. The conditions under which we survive (if we do) are unique, in the purest sense of the word: for the power principle has evaporated into the atmosphere.

In their more sober moments, when they are not brandishing the latest weapons of overkill, all national leaders recognize this and admit it.

What does this admission mean, in concrete terms? It implies the striking paradox that power has become so great that it is almost itself out. We have finally achieved the reductio ad absurdum of force: to go beyond this would take the ultimate step to war is self-defeating. No one possesses much power that it can never be used wisely.

And this changes the whole traditional pattern of Machtpolitik. When opposing forces each have the power to blow up, not merely the enemy, but the whole world as well, then both are virtually impotent, and both are the slaves of their mutual doomsday machines.

In the past, it was always the implicit threat of waging war against the enemy — a war in which there would be losers and winners — that weighted down the velvet glove of diplomacy. Whatever talk of justice and law and liberty was spouted at the conference tables, all knew that, at bottom, force was the determining factor.

Now we can still talk, but we can no longer act, beyond a point. Our massive power has curtailed our freedom rather than expanded it. And, as more and more nations acquire the capacity to make the bomb, our differences in size and population and wealth shrink to insignificance.

Some other principle must supersede the power principle, if we are to have a future. This is the great question to which we

To Your Good Health Impaired Circulation Could Cause Leg Cramps

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Almo t ilem.) every morning. I awaken with severe cramps from my knees to the bottoms o. my feet. I have to get up immediately to overcome the cramps. Rubbing with alcohol helps. I go to bed does not seem to help. I am in my mid-20's. — Mrs. R. S.

Your age puts you in a different category from the older folk who have leg cramps and foot pains, even though some of the same basic factors may be involved. Impaired circulation is one.

However, I suspect muscle spasms resulting from such things as arch defects, a shoe problem, varicose veins, excessive smoking and inadequate calcium in the diet.

Shifting from high heels during the day to low heels at night can cause cramps in the back of the leg. If this is the case, wearing a more conservative heel during the day is advisable. Massage of the leg muscles as well as of the feet may help. (I have no objection to the use of rubbing alcohol, but just plain massage will probably do as much good in this instance.)

You'd better consult your doctor as to whether varicose veins (which impair circulation) or arch defects are involved.

But if you are overweight, you won't need your doctor to tell you that! It's a frequent element in such cramps, as well as in other troubles.

Calcium intake a lot, try cutting out tobacco for a while and see if it makes a difference. As to calcium in your diet — do try to get a glass or two of milk every day; or cottage cheese. (Skim milk contains just as much calcium but avoids calories if you have a weight problem.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Two months after my daughter's marriage she was operated on because of an ectopic pregnancy. What is her chance of becoming pregnant again? Would both tubes have been removed without her knowledge? Have there been cases of pregnancy after this operation? — Mrs. E. R.

There have been any number of pregnancies following such an operation, assuming that the remaining tube and ovary are functioning properly.

No, the other tube would not have been removed without her knowledge. If there is any question, your daughter's medical record, the surgeon's record and hospital record would immediately answer it.

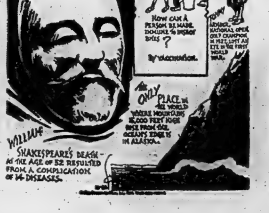
Dear Dr. Molner: What is the growth rate of fingernails, toenails and hair? — Mrs. D. C.



Fingernails grow about one-eighth of an inch a month, on the average. Toenails grow somewhat more slowly.

Hair growth varies quite a bit depending on location, age and health of the individual, and length of the hair.

With men, hair growth on the chin averages about ¼ of an inch per month. Hair on the crown of the head, armpit, and eyebrow grow less rapidly, in that order.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oct. 30, 1964 . . .

With its motto: "Better to live a day as a lion than 100 years as sheep," Italian Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini gained power 42 years ago today — power he would maintained for 20 years. The one-time laborer imposed his dictatorship on 60,000,000 Italians until he was slain in 1945 by anti-Fascist partisans and his corpse left on public display.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1914 — Allied governments presented an ultimatum to Turkey; Lord Fisher was appointed First Sea Lord to succeed Prince Louis of Battenburg; Allied armies in France reported they had recaptured Lille; Serbians began to retreat from the line of the Drina River.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today— in 1939 — German bombers were driven off from a flotilla of British destroyers in the North Sea; RAF planes made extensive reconnaissance of North German airdromes; French armies repulsed patrol raids on the Western Front.

Time-Limit On Secrets

Ottawa Journal

Is 50 years too long to keep historical documents secret?

This question is an issue in Britain. Prof. H. J. Hanham of Edinburgh University has called the 50-year rule now in force "absurd." So has Labor MP. Aneurin Bevan, says he will ask the Prime Minister to abolish it.

The argument interests Canada, which has no general rule about documents of government. Former Cabinet ministers in Canada usually donate their papers to the Public Archives, but this late Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was one of the few who said they could be available for public use immediately. Others impose limits, often requesting they be kept from public view for 25 or 50 years.

The British rule makes easier the task of custodians of papers up to be confronted with demands for publication before the date proposed by the donor, who may have died. The British official in refusing applications is not left to ponder whether it would be in the public interest to allow publication or whether embarrassment would be caused living persons.

Yet it is galling to historians 30 years after the start of the First World War to be denied access to the papers of the Foreign and Colonial offices in London which are less than half a century old.

If the control system were stringent there would be less complaint. Prof. Hanham emphasizes that it is not:

"One can obtain documents in America and Canada which are not available (in Britain), where some Government officials will feel they are being exposed to controversy if their confidential memoranda are let out.

"Yet the politicians are allowed access to these documents, which are denied to historians, and the public gets a field covered from only one point of view."

Historians know that if public men were not under the greatest immediate publication they could give archives only the most innocuous papers which could cast no light on controversial historical interest. With a guaranteed time limit donations to archives would be further encouraged. A limit of 30 or 35 years and reasonable, but 50 years is too long. After 30 years, as Prof. Hanham says, knowledge becomes dead and the characters colorless when both should be meaningful.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were firm, but changes small in light trading on the stock market today.

Base metals put on the best performance with the index gaining .35 to 71.72. The Sullivan group improved after reporting increased earnings last week. Hastings added 10 cents to $4.80 and East Sullivan 20 cents to $5.40.

In the industrial list, B.C. Telephone advanced ¼ to 66, Imperial Oil ¼ to 56¼.

Golds and oils were quiet.

On index industrials were up .12 to 165.36, golds .02 to 14.794, western oils .03 to 91.82 and the Exchange Index 14 to 154.36. Volume at 11 a.m. was 948,000 shares compared with 1,267,000 shares traded at the same time Thursday.

The market staged a general advance in moderately active trading Thursday.

Industrials, after early weakness, broke through to establish highs in a handful of issues.

Most industrial gains were less than ½-point. Typical were advances of ¼ to Abitibi, Algoma Steel and Burns at 15, 74 and 16¾ respectively. Dominion Bridge rose ⅛ to 21⅜, Montreal Locomotive jumped 1⅛ to 17¼ on volume of 19,500 shares. Massey-Ferguson gained ¼ to 29¼.

Among speculatives, Canadian Hardup, which rose heavily Wednesday, lost two cents to 27 cents and traded more than 319,000 shares. Base Metals lost 1½ cents to 27½ cents and New Hosco jumped 35 cents to $2.35.

senior base metals, Brno tacked on ⅛ to 91⅛ and Craigmont 1⅛ to 17¼.

On index, industrials gained .19 to 165.36, the TSE index .14 to 154.22 and golds .43 to 168.72. Base metals fell .25 to 71.37 and western oils .03 to 91.79. Volume at the close was 4,074,000 shares compared with 3,363,000 shares traded Wednesday.

PRODUCE MARKET

Butter prices: Agricultural Stabilization Board wholesale carlots: buying 40 cents 63½; buying 93 selling 93.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—A light supply of choice dry-fed steers and heifers sold at barely steady prices at the beginning, but firmed near the close at the Ontario public stockyards this week.

Lower grades of slaughter cattle and cows were lower. Bulls were steady.

Veal calf prices were about steady on choice grades and under pressure on lower quality. Hog prices opened higher and closed about steady. Lamb prices were steady.

Cattle receipts were estimated at about 11,300 head, about 1,300 less than last week and 1,900 head more than the same week in 1963. Western cattle receipts were 1,044 head, an increase over last week of 455 head. Western stock calves totalled 1,913 head which was a little more than double that of last week. One hundred and 36 lambs were received from Western Canada. Included in the receipts were 117 cattle from British Columbia and 10 cattle and 104 calves from New Brunswick. One hundred and nine cattle were shipped off the market for slaughter in the United States and there were no shipments to Eastern Canadian slaughterers.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers sold at $22.50-25.50 with dry-fed steers 24-24.80; good 21.50-22.50; medium 19-21; common 14-18; choice heifers 21-23 with fancies to 22.40; good 19-20.50; medium 17-18.50; common 13-16.50; choice fed yearlings 22-24 with odd tops to 24.50; good 20-21; good cows 14-14.50 with sales to 15; medium 12.50-13.50; canners and cutters 8-12; good heavy bologna bulls 17-18 with a few tops to 18.50; common and medium 14-17.

Calves: Choice vealers 29-31 with odd singles to 31-33; good 25-28; medium 22-24; common 18-21; boners 12-17.

Hogs: Grade A 25.85-27.10; heavy sows 17.50-18.15 with light sows gaining a $2 premium.

Sheep and lambs: Lambs 17-22 per hundredweight with good lambs closing at 20-21 and sales to 22; sheep 3-6 according to quality.

Jury Disagrees

TORONTO (CP)—A jury of seven men and five women disagreed Thursday after deliberating for more than 10 hours on whether Mrs. Lucille Cloutier, 30, was guilty of manslaughter in the death of her husband.

Mrs. Cloutier was charged with the shooting death of Jean Cloutier, 32, in their home Aug. 31.

Mr. Justice Gale told the jury it could bring in a verdict of guilty of manslaughter, not guilty or guilty but insane.

The jury was dismissed after it said it was unable to reach a verdict.

NEW SCHOOL built by Maranatha Christian Reformed Church congregation is north of Belleville on Highway 401.

The Christian School - - un-Canadian?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The letter which follows properly belongs to the editorial page, but because of its length, has been given space elsewhere in the paper.

When a Dutch couple (Mr. and Mrs. E. Bergsma of Caledonia) has twice been denied Canadian citizenship because they do not believe in God, the newspapers cover the story extensively. The matter is brought up in the House of Commons and the Minister of Justice is asked for a legal opinion. From all sides the freedom not to believe is defended and it is argued that the oath of citizenship, stating "so help me God" should be changed or at least the decision of Judge Leach be overruled by the Minister of Justice or even by Parliament itself.

When a group of people from Dutch origin, but mostly Canadian citizens now, decide to start a elementary school just north of Belleville on highway 401, because they feel the christian education of their children should be based completely on God's Word, other people, other Canadians ask resentfully: "Aren't our Public Schools good enough? Do they want to establish this school to perpetuate their Dutch language, customs and culture in Canada? Are they afraid of integration and Canadianization of themselves and their children?"

Since the undersigned is the pastor of the Maranatha Christian Reformed Church (not of "the Dutch Church", our denomination has existed for more than 100 years on the North American continent), and since many of his parishioners are very active in the Christian School movement, he will try to explain a few things, in order that every citizen of Belleville may know our motivations and aims in sending our children to this Christian School, and why we are willing to spend hundreds of dollars beside the tax dollars we pay to the public schools in our city.

First of all then, we have opened this Christian School, which we prefer to call a Canadian Christian School (the word of Dutch is spoken in the school) because we believe that God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ demands this from Christian parents.

We are the covenant, but parents are directly responsible for the education of their children. The Bible teaches us that parents shall bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. (Ephes. 6:4). Again and again God's Word emphasizes that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of all wisdom.

As Christian parents we think

believe God's Word, try to practise His commandments and to follow His instructions. To one can hold this against us. On the contrary, we hope many other Canadian Christians will listen to our convictions and join us. For, when we send our children to the Christian school we do so, not merely that they may receive some knowledge of the Bible and learn to pray. (This we can do at home as parents just as well and we also are religious instruction in the church. The Christian school is not a parochial school, as is the Roman Catholic school, neither is it church-controlled and no specific doctrines are being taught.)

But we send our children especially that they may study all their subjects in the light of God's revelation, given both in nature and in the Holy Scriptures. In other words, our desire is not merely to add the fourth "R" (religion) to the three "R's"; but to teach all subjects from a positive biblical and Christian point of view.

That the latter is needed and can not be done in the Public School needs no proof. Last year one of the pupils in grade 8 asked me during the period of religious instruction: "Why do we always learn about Christianity here? Why not about Mohammedanism or another religion?"

That positive Christian teaching makes good and loyal Canadian citizens should be apparent to all who know what the Bible tells us about our attitude towards the government and all who are in authority over us.

That Christian Schools are contributing to the fundamental principles of civil and religious freedom may easily be acknowledged by the objective reader. In Russia schools are strictly government-controlled, which means in this case, a complete and systematic tyranny of thought.

We thank God that here in Canada we are still living in a true democracy, where our civil and religious liberties are guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and upheld by the courts (or by Parliament we trust in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Bergsma.) But even in this fair land of ours there are those who would deprive us of these liberties in the name of false patriotism or in the name of a false idea of community. There are some who would have the government compel all our children to attend not our schools, but theirs. Those who advocate this, however, are themselves un-Canadian, in that they would contradict the God-given freedom of the parents to educate their children according to the dictates of their conscience.

Much more could be said about the Christian School. But I am thankful to the publisher of this paper that he has given me space to explain some aspects of this matter and I will not take more space now.

Let me, therefore, conclude with a quotation from Dr. J. Gresham Machen, that great Presbyterian defender of Christianity, who said:

"I believe that the Christian School deserves to have a good report from those who are without, I believe that even those of our fellow citizens who are not Christians may, if they really love human freedom and the noble traditions of our people, be induced to defend the Christian school against the assaults of its adversaries, and to cherish it as a bulwark of the State."

This same author also stated: "A Christian boy or girl can learn mathematics for example, from a teacher who is not a Christian, for truth is truth, however learned. But while truth is truth, the purpose of truth, even in the sphere of mathematics, may entirely differ from the Christian from that which they seem to the non-Christian, and that is why a truly Christian education is possible only when Christian convictions underlie not a few only, but all, of the curriculum of the school. True learning and true piety go hand in hand, and Christianity embraces the whole life — those are great central convictions that underlie the Christian school."

President Johnson Comes up With New Campaign Slogan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson came up with a new campaign slogan today while his Republican opponent, Senator Barry Goldwater, accused him of "trying to reduce American politics to a popularity poll."

The slogan, unveiled in a speech prepared for a rally at the airport in Detroit, urged citizens:

"To the polls Tuesday and vote, along with your conscience. The vote you cast will be your own and the world you save will be your own."

Johnson clearly was trying to paint himself as the man best equipped to guide U.S. policy in a troubled world but Goldwater drew a different picture.

Goldwater, in a speech prepared for a rally in Cheyenne, Wyo., said Democrats are letting the free world fall apart while American prestige sinks.

LOSING FRIENDS

He said that the United States is losing friends, and he cited Turkey as a current example.

Stating that Turkey had sent a trade and culture mission to Moscow, Goldwater said: "I charge that Lyndon Johnson's unsteady hand at the helm of the ship of state has done so much else ally and has lost us another major skirmish in the cold war."

On another subject, Johnson at a Democratic dinner in Philadelphia Thursday night took issue with a recent Goldwater statement that questioned the propriety of clergymen endorsing a political candidate

"I hope the day will never come," the president said, "when any man, for any cause, will try to keep religion out of our national decisions and who shall lead us or the direction we shall go."

REPEATS THEME

Meanwhile, Representative William E. Miller, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, hammered on a theme used frequently by his party recently—the alleged left-wing support of Johnson.

Speaking at Earl Warren Park in Santa Barbara, Calif., Thursday night, Miller said that Johnson has the support of the Communist, socialist, and liberal parties.

The Democratic vice - presidential nominee, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, also hammered on a theme used frequently by his party—the alleged unrepublicanism of Goldwater.

"Senator Goldwater advocates reactionary ideas wholly outside of the best traditions of the Republican party," Humphrey said in a speech prepared for a rally in Pocatello, Idaho.

JOHNSON FAVORED

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1964 United States election campaign nears the wire with 440 daily newspapers calling for election of President Johnson and 339 supporting Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade magazine, said Thursday. It said the pro-Johnson newspapers have an aggregate daily circulation of 26,597,400 to 8,977,215 for the senator's supporters.

Pessimism

mittee report was presented in the Commons. He was one of the 15 committee members who were bound by secrecy.

The Conservatives immediately served notice they will propose a privileges committee investigation of Mr. Deschman's breach of the secrecy imposed on the flag committee's deliberations six weeks ago. An attempt Thursday was ruled out of order but another effort was forecast for today.

The significance of such a move lay in the fact that motions of this kind are debatable and take precedence over all other business.

The Canadian flag design was recom-pa-nied by a separate committee recommendation that the government take steps to make the Union Jack the symbol of Canada's Commonwealth connection.

This, too, promised political repercussions. Creditiste MPs vowed to oppose it. Reid Scott, the New Democratic member of the flag committee, said he plans to move that the Jack be replaced by the Red Ensign.

CHANGED PROPOSAL

One Conservative, who declined to be quoted, charged that Liberal members proposed the Jack change at a night sitting and the following day Liberals moved the amendment for the Union Jack, thus making the Commonwealth flag recommendation conform to the original proposal of the government last May.

The Conservatives abstained on grounds there must have been tampering overnight, the Conservative said.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Pearson invited leaders of the other four parties in the Commons to a conference Monday morning to discuss Commons procedure on the flag report.

Mr. Diefenbaker has already given his party's ideas on this question. He said Wednesday night the Commons must return to the government's original flag resolution and his party's two amendments to it.

The original resolution, introduced last May, called for a flag of three red maple leaves on a white ground with a vertical blue bar at each side. The Conservatives moved amendments calling for a national plebiscite at the next election on the flag and setting out a number of design choices.

DEBATED 22 DAYS

The debate on these ran for 22 days before the Commons agreed to arrangements by the five party leaders to have a special flag committee attempt to find a compromise design.

The report by Mr. Batten Thursday was the product of six weeks of hearings and 45 secret sessions. It set out in detail how the two recommended designs were arrived at.

On the Canadian flag, it went like this:

Motions for the Red Ensign and a national plebiscite were defeated by votes of 10 to 4 and 9 to 5, respectively. The 2,000 odd designs were narrowed down to three — the government's proposed three - leaf design, the one-leaf design finally recommended and a design containing a Union Jack, a maple leaf and a fleur-de-lis.

In voting on which of these to retain, the three-leaf design was retained by 8 to 6, the one-leaf design by 13 to 1 and the third was eliminated by 9 to 5, a check sent more to the granting of interim spending authority for November and December.

By holding up that interim spending authority indefinitely —which the government needs to pay its bills and civil servants—the Conservatives can force a general election, during which the flag can be met by Governor-General's warrants.

A motion to designate the Red Ensign was made. An amendment to substitute the Union Jack was moved and, in the voting, was approved 7 to 2 with five abstentions. The motion as amended then was carried by 8 to 1 with five abstentions. A report embodying the Union Jack recommendation was adopted 8 to 1 with five abstentions.

Must Maintain Right to Lock Out Employees

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A. R. Emerson, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, says that management faced with strikes must maintain the right to lock out employees.

Addressing the International Asociation of Chiefs of Police on the duties of railway police in connection with labor trouble, Emerson said:

"Where employees have the right to strike in attempt to secure their demands, it follows that employers must have reserved to them the right of lockout to endeavor to forestall having objectionable conditions perpetuated or imposed on them.

"With the one must follow the other, for the two go hand in hand—where a strike is a legitimate tactic, so is a lockout."

Parliament At a Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

THURSDAY, Oct. 29, 1964

The flag committee by a 10-to-6 vote recommended a flag with a red maple leaf on a white field with a vertical red bar at each side.

It also recommended by a vote of 8 to 1, with five abstentions, that the Union Jack be used as a symbol of Commonwealth connection.

A newspaper article by Grant Deachman (L — Vancouver Quadra) outlining the flag committee's deliberations was made a question of privilege.

Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South) said the story in the Ottawa Citizen was a violation of the committee's secrecy rule.

Mr. Deachman apologized, saying he did not know the newspaper would be circulated before the Commons sitting started.

The Conservatives lost by a vote of 118 to 59 in an attempt to bring the matter up during interim supply debate.

Jack Horner (PC—Acadia) asked for a Commons committee on broadcasting to look into the CBC on a growing mammoth "with nobody at the purse strings."

Flag

some reporters wondered whether the government intended to change it.

The Conservatives are also hammering the government on two other questions: Will Parliament be given an opportunity to deal clause-by-clause with the British North America Act, now 97 years old, when it is "repatriated"? Will the government really ready and willing to proceed with the Canada Pension Plan?

Mr. Pearson said he or Justice Minister Favreau will make a statement on the latter shortly. So far as the pensions plan is concerned, it has to take effect next year and the granting of interim spending authority for November and December.

'Keep the Bible In Sunday School'

TORONTO (CP)—The Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada voted Thursday against Sunday school material which is not based solidly on the Bible.

The decision came at the close of the fellowship's annual convention here.

Although it did not mention specifically a recent curriculum proposed for use by the United Church of Canada and some other Baptist groups, the fellowship's resolution on the subject appeared to be aimed at that controversial subject.

It said: "In view of recent attempts by large denominations in Canada to sponsor religious education materials in their churches which call into question much of the supernatural in the Bible, thereby training a new generation to doubt the accuracy of the Word of God, we therefore go on record as deploring this attempt to undermine the faith of young and old alike, and—Hereby reaffirm our own determined confidence in the divine inspiration and inerrancy of Holy Scripture . . ."

Magistrate Granted Six Months' Leave

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate Gordon Jermyn was granted six months' sick leave by Attorney - General Arthur Wishart, was complimented Thursday in magistrate's court here.

Lawyer Stuart B. Scott of Gananoque and Kingston wished Mr. Jermyn well in the future. "I wish not to bury Caesar but to praise him," said the former Queen's University lecturer.

"I have always considered your judgments and treatment of counsel as fair," he said.

Magistrate Jermyn, who has been publicly criticized for his court - room conduct, replied with one word: "Thanks."

He commences his leave of absence after a final court session in Brockville today.

GRANTED LEAVE

The attorney - general announced earlier Thursday that he had decided to grant Mr. Jermyn sick leave rather than accept his resignation.

Mr. Wishart's department launched an inquiry last week into reports that Mr. Jermyn has used profanity on the bench. Two days ago, Mr. Wishart told reporters he had received Mr. Jermyn's resignation.

Magistrate Jermyn's family doctor and a number of others had asked the attorne- general to accept the resignation so Mr. Jermyn could take rather than seek sick leave, Mr. Wishart said Friday. There was no comment on the nature of Mr. Jermyn's illness.

The use of profanity in court was reported by the Kingston Whig-Standard in an editorial Oct. 14. Earlier this year, Mr. Jermyn had advised Mr. Wishart for remarks he made during a trial of five members of a family accused of assaulting a school teacher because the teacher had strapped a girl student of the family.

Sudan President Is Still the Boss

CAIRO (AP) — Sudan got a new civilian government today, but President Ibrahim Abboud remained chief of state and his power appeared only slightly diminished.

A communique broadcast by Cairo radio said Abboud would exercise "all the constitutional powers" but with the "approval of the cabinet."

Abboud commanded the army before leading the coup six years ago that installed a military government in the big country south of Egypt.

Ibkhiaten Khalifa was named premier and head of a 15-man cabinet. In a broadcast he announced the abolition of martial law and the post of military governor.

Skating Club Opens Season, 108 Members

PICTON (Staff) — 108 newly enrolled members were on the ice Monday afternoon to open the season and the new Prince Edward Skating Club. There are ten adults in the group. They will be given basic training and dancing on skates.

A separate group of boys between the ages of 4 and 10 who are interested in playing hockey are taught special things concerning this sport.

The other children are taught according to their experience and skill.

Mrs. Tatton is the instructor and spends two afternoons a week at the arena from 4.30 to 6.30 p.m.

SWERVES INTO DITCH

At 7.35 a.m. Tuesday an accident occurred on Highway 14 near junction of old Highway 14. A dump truck owned by M. J. McFarland Construction Company, Picton, and operated by 27-year-old Jean Guy Leclerc, R.R. 3, Belleville, proceeding south on the highway swerved to the right to avoid hitting another southbound vehicle turning left into a driveway. Leclerc stated that due to the dense fog he was unable to see the other vehicle until it was too late to stop. The vehicle went out of control and plunged into the west ditch, rolled on its left side and then came to rest on its wheels facing west. Damage to the dump truck was estimated at approximately $400. There were no injuries sustained.

QOR Company Now Billeted At Camp Picton

PICTON (Staff) — A company group from the 1st Battalion, The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada from Victoria, B.C., arrived at Camp Picton Wednesday and are billeted in Camp Picton.

They will spend the remainder of the week here completing final training and preparations for a demonstration in Ottawa next week of Canadian procedures for air transported operations.

The demonstration to representatives from member countries of the United Nations Organization conferring on peacekeeping forces will be conducted at RCAF Station Uplands during the morning of Nov. 4.

Aim of the demonstration is to describe Canadian Force's organization for conducting peacekeeping operations and in particular the procedures for air movement at an advance base.

In addition the demonstration will illustrate the composition and training of Canadian Standby Force.

The 1st Battalion, The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada is the Canadian army's premier standby battalion for U.N. operations. They were designated for this role when the 3rd Battalion, The Canadian Guards were despatched to Cyprus last month.

The visitors carried big shopping bags filled mostly with such items as butter, coffee, cocoa and fresh fruit. They are scarce or very expensive in the East.

Taxes through the wall were good for only one day, until midnight.

And East German guards, who usually have only a few looks for the west, were relaxed, but they were backed by huge propaganda signs.

"Stop the nuclear armament of West Germany and work with us for a stable peace in Germany," said one.

About 300,000 West Berliners with relatives in East Berlin were eligible to apply for wall passes under the first agreement signed last month between West Berlin and East Germany.

This was the second such agreement concluded since the Reds built the wall in August, 1961, to prevent the escape of East Germans. The first agreement ran for 18 days.

In addition to the current two-week period, West Briners can cross through the wall during the Christmas and New Year holidays, during Easter and over the Whitsun holidays.

ROYAL AGRICULTURAL WINTER FAIR
NOV. 13TH—21ST

The Royal Horse Show promises excitement. Choose your team and follow it through all the action of the International Jumping Team. This year teams from Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, The United States, and Canada meet at the Royal for this competition highlight. Some riders will come to the Royal straight from the Olympic Games in Tokyo.

The Horse Show is just one feature of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. Each morning at 8, another fair day begins in the Royal Coliseum. See prize-winning livestock, apple display; vegetable show, flower and fashion shows, and good dining facilities.

Watch your children's eyes light-up at the Children's Royal. It's a delightful collection of animal babies, big-eyed and lovable. Be sure to bring your camera.

$5 Millions For Moncton Water Project

By JOHN MOSHER

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Work is under way on a $5,000,000 project, scheduled for completion by the end of 1965, to meet growing water requirements in the greater Moncton area for at least 50 years.

The city, with a population of more than 43,000, uses an average of 4,000,000 gallons daily from two reservoirs supplied by small creeks. About 15 000,000 gallons a day in a minimum dry year, and much more in rainier years, will be provided by the new development.

The project includes a Turtle Creek dam 10 miles from the centre of Moncton and a 1,100-foot concrete - lined cylinder tunnel under the Petitcodiac River bounding Westmorland and Albert counties. Moncton, beside the Petitcodiac, is in Westmorland and Turtle Creek in Albert.

A 36 - inch - diameter pipeline through the tunnel will taper to 24 inches after crossing the river. Five former coal miners from Springhill, N.S., began excavation work for the tunnel. A concrete caisson 15 feet in diameter will go through 104 feet of overburden and solid rock on the south bank of the Petitcodiac. The north shaft on the Moncton side of the river will be about 138 feet deep.

Engineer A.F. Brodie says the Turtle Creek watershed development could meet Moncton's needs for much longer than 50 years—perhaps the next 100. He is resident engineer of James F. MacLaren Limited, consulting engineers for the project.

Work is expected to start soon on a complementary underground reservoir at Garden Hill park in central Moncton. The 5,000,000 - gallon reservoir will provide water for firefighting and emergency use. After this construction, the park will be restored and re-landscaped.

Lady Bird Johnson Does First-Class Campaigning Job for Her Husband

WASHINGTON (CP)—In less than a year at the White House, Lady Bird Johnson has turned over precedent with the regularity of a Texas barbecue spit.

The petite brunette, wealthy and independent-minded, had already spent more than half her life as a politician's wife when Lyndon Johnson stepped into the presidency last November after the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

She went into the new role with typical energy and discipline, considering it a job in itself.

"You could regard it as a tool which can be used—and one which I want to use wisely and energetically," she said after six months.

Not surprisingly, when someone asked Johnson last summer whether his wife would campaign for him, he replied: "She is—and she will."

But the one-woman swing through the South and her later solo plane trip farther west were something new in American politics.

MADE 36 SPEECHES

She made 36 speeches at 36 stops, telling listeners in her southern drawl that to this president and his wife, the South is a respected and valued and beloved part of the country."

Carefully, she ticked off her southern ties, from her love of watermelons to her family tree.

But she also had a word of support for the administration's civil rights program.

"I think that we all understand that the hard duty of assuring equal constitutional rights to all Americans falls, not only on the president of the United States, but upon all who love this land," she said.

"I am sure that we will rise to that duty."

At each stop she met with prominent leaders, both Republican and Democratic, and spoke to gatherings ranging from a few hundred to several thousand persons.

She was introduced by Democrats and Republicans alike, and was cheered by both.

Her trip was a success in terms of votes for her husband. Texas went for Johnson by a wide margin.

BOOSTS HER HUSBAND

And all along the line she boosted her husband.

"He's a mighty good man to have around in an emergency," she said.

Mrs. Johnson was born 51 years ago in Karnack, Tex., the daughter of a wealthy rancher, and christened Claudia Alta. But a nurse dubbed her Lady Bird and the nickname stuck.

She studied at the University of Texas, taking degrees in arts and journalism, and ending her education in 1934.

She met Johnson the same year. Two months later they were married.

At the time, Johnson was a secretary in a federal representative. In 1935 he was named director of the National Youth Administration in Texas and in 1937 Lady Bird borrowed $10,000 from her father to finance his successful campaign for a House seat. He rose steadily through the House, Senate and vice-presidency to the top post.

Lady Bird meanwhile, raised her two daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, and ran a $67,000 inheritance into a multi-million-dollar family fortune through radio television and ranching.

But when the Johnsons went to the White House, the family interests went into trusteeship and Lady Bird concentrated on the new life, holding luncheons for "women-doers," running the White House and travelling by herself and with the president into poverty-stricken areas.

Couple Honored On 25th Wedding Anniversary

FRANKFORD — On Saturday evening friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Losey, R.R. 2, Frankford to honor them on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Jack Welbourn of Peterborough acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion. An enjoyable program took place, a humorous wedding skit was enacted and games were played.

An address was read by Mrs. Harry Harrington all composed in rhyme.

The bride was the former Sadie Welbourn, and the minister who married them was Rev. J. F. Lane. For a time the couple lived in Peterborough, but returned to Frankford. They have three children, Brian, Karl and Carol Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. Losey were presented with a gift from the assembled guests. Mr. Bruce Losey, the eldest son presented his parents with a purse of money. Frank and Sadie thanked everybody.

A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. A. Stickle, Mrs. G. Harrington, Mrs. Ivy Welbourn of Belleville and Mrs. F. E Stickle of Brighton.

Guests were present from Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Oshawa, Picton and Frankford.

Susanna's Family Fare

STOLE ROLL

Dear Susanna: Where do you hang the fur stole? Our evening sweaters worn by elegant guests? These pieces of apparel always either slip off or poke out on ordinary hangers and the centre bar is too narrow or shallow to drape them over. — R. S.

Here is one way to handle the situation. Take an ordinary coat hanger. Cut the bar in the middle and spread the two wings wide enough to insert a fairly long cardboard calendar-type roller. Cover the cardboard with a piece of velvet to cut to size so that it can be joined lengthwise with an overcast stitch. Leave enough hanging over each end so that you can shirr the material in with a draw thread. Cover the wire hanger with velvet or satin ribbon (just wind it around) and then insert each end of the wire into the roller.

Finish off by attaching a minibunch or artificial flowers near the top, and you have a functional, glamorous hanger, on which your stole, Loder, Helen gorgeous clothes. . . and it also makes a lovely gift for the woman who has everything! — SUSANNA

SERIOUS SITUATION

From the Public Information Office of the Lake Arthur's Fair office I have received a small cardboard sign outlining "Fire Prevention Week" which reads:

I will only list the first three rules, but if you would like to have the complete card to hang in a prominent place, please let me know.

If fire breaks out, if you see or smell smoke, or smell gas:

1. Wrap the children in blankets — do not take time to dress them — get them out of the house.

2. Phone the fire department — after the children are out — from a neighbor's house — Do not delay.

3. Stay with the children — accidents can happen in your absence — never leave them except in an emergency and then only when you are sure they will be safe. — SUSANNA

CHEESE PLEASE

Dear Susanna: A matter that used to give me considerable trouble was cheese drying-out in the refrigerator after the package was opened. No matter how carefully I opened the cheese wrapping, it never seemed to go back in place properly.

Now, I slice right through the upper wrapping while cutting off the cheese, leaving the bottom paper intact. Then I simply fold the bottom layer snugly up over the cheese and turn it upside down to store. This way, there are no loose ends to worry about tucking in and the cheese stays moist and fresh. — Mrs. Oullette

The moral of this story is, of course: Save the wrap and spoil the cheese!

Skin Problems Are Discussed In Second Lecture of Series

The second of five lectures in the fall series of Nursing Education was held at Belleville General Hospital Education Hall Monday evening. The topic of this month's Dermatological Problems and Nursing Care" was clearly presented by Dr. J. Russell Scott, who has been associated with the Dermatological Clinic at Toronto Western Hospital for the past two years.

Dr. Scott was introduced by Mrs. Edith McLennan.

The audience listened with interest as the doctor stated "There has been a great increase in the problems in the past years due the numerous chemicals, drugs, detergents and other cleansing agents now on the market. People's skin can't seem to accommodate to these new discoveries."

NEW DRUGS DAILY

The dermatologist said that all drugs have caused dermatological problems at one time or other. Even aspirin causes skin reactions in some people. Because there are one hundred new complicated names of drugs out on the market per day, nurses must be alert to recognize if a new drug is causing an allergy. It must be found out whether the skin disorder is more severe than the condition being treated.

Dr. Scott stressed that even though cortisone works in 90 percent of the diseases, it should not be used as a continuing treatment unless the benefits to the patient offset the cessation of this drug causes a flare-up of the skin disorder.

OFTEN OVER-TREATED

Most skin conditions are over-treated rather than under-treated, Dr. Scott concluded, not only to burn themselves out. It is important, however, to use symptomatic treatment. He said that in most cases, Burrow's solution 1.10 can be used for cooling the burning sensations and pills given to stop the itchiness.

Dr. Scott discussed the cause and treatment of various common skin disorders, including acne, ivy, dandruff, psoriasis, athlete's foot, impetago, housemaid hands and painful sweating. Chemicals in some make-up cause contact dermatitis.

NEEDS DETECTIVE WORK

The speaker closed by saying that "detective work" is often necessary to discover the cause of some skin disorders. Working people can't always remember when the first blemish appeared.

A very interesting question period followed. Mrs. Pearl Herrington thanked Dr. Scott for the informative lecture. Refreshments were then served by the student nurses.

These nursing educational lectures are sponsored by the Community Nursing Registry every Monday evening for the next three weeks. Next Monday Dr. A. Rota will discuss "Pathological Tests, Indications, Preparations and Readings" and Dr. P. C. Loder will speak about "Radiological Examinations and Preparation."

Any graduate nurse interested is urged to attend.

VISIT CANADA

TORONTO (CP)—Three Moscow women, members of the Soviet Women's Committee, have visited seven Canadian cities in a two week Canadian tour. Guests of the The Voice of Womed organization, they were invited on a visit paid by six Canadian women to the Soviet Union last year. The exchange began their trip in Vancouver.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The last regular meeting of the month of the Women of the Moose was held in the form of a Hallowe'en party for members and their families in the Moose hall with Senior Regent Nellie Shandrew presiding.

Judging of costumes took place prior to the meeting with members of the Loyal Order acting as judges. Those participating were Sid Welch, Fred Reid, Bob McCamon, Stirling Shandrew and George Seames.

Prize winners were as follows: ages one to six, Ricky Lake, Joanne Casdeen, Bernadette Hizner; eight to ten, Dorothy Nolan, Cathy Mitchell; ten to 12, Larry Newton, and ages teen group, Clara Seames, Pearl Welch and Ollie Van Norman.

Everyone enjoyed the games, peanut and candy scrambles and the bobbing for apples.

It was announced that Lillian Campbell and her committee are holding a penny sale at the next meeting. All members are urged to contribute goods to assist in this project.

Marguerite Keller, an active co-worker, is reported to be undergoing surgery in Belleville General Hospital.

The draw donated by Audrey Donnelly was won by Alice Newton.

Following a brief meeting refreshments were served by Audrey Donnelly and her committee.

Woman at 100 Brushing up On Her French

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — Life may begin at 40 for some people but for Dr. Annie Higbee, at 100 one of Canada's oldest physicians, it began when "you can work at what you like."

Dr. Higbee now, lives in retirement at a home here where nurses said she reads several books each week and currently is brushing up on her high school French.

Born at Port Hope, Ont., Annie Carveth attended Toronto General Hospital school of nursing and now is the school's oldest surviving graduate

After receiving a medical degree in 1893, the then Dr. Carveth went to California where she met Charles Higbee, a high school principal. They were married and in 1912 went to a 640 - acre Alberta homestead, where Dr. Higbee continued practising medicine.

Seven years later they moved to Toronto, where Dr. Higbee worked 10 years at Toronto Western Hospital with her brother — Dr. George Carveth — helped to establish.

After practising another decade at Newcastle, Ont., Dr. Higbee retired and in 1960 was given the Canadian Medical Association's highest honor — a senior membership.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

QUESTION: I'm planning a tea in honor of a visiting relative and was going to specify a client on the invitations. A friend says this is wrong; that a time such as 4 to 6 should be given as many arrive as they wish during that period. If a time range is given, should I wait until 6 even if all guests are present until I start serving? What is the correct procedure? — Mrs. H. V., Baltimore, Md.

ANSWER: A time range is specified for a tea for the reason given. Probably some guests couldn't possibly arrive at four. By giving a time range, they know they are welcome within that period and that they may leave when necessary. Refreshments should be ready so that guests may be directed to the tea table as soon as they arrive. It's not necessary to wait until a crowd is gathered before serving.

QUESTION: We've been invited to a party at the home of friends who live in the country. I'm a bachelor, but another girl who has been invited told me she's planning to wear a long cotton skirt, flat sandals and wear a simple linen sheath, but now I don't know what to do. Is it going to be a formal affair or fashionable 'at country dinners? What do-you think I should wear to the party? — Mrs. H. W., New York City

ANSWER: Your sheath sounds fine for a casual country dinner. But if you have doubts — perhaps your friend would like to help you select a better first-hand information about what is currently being worn in that area — then it would be a good idea to ask your hostess what to wear. It's perfectly permissible to do so, and getting the "word" directly from her will save you lots of worry about whether or not you will be dressed correctly.

Horticultural Society Hears Helpful Hints

STIRLING — Mrs. Grant Hubble, Mount Pleasant was hostess on Monday for the first meeting this autumn of Stirling Horticultural Society with an attendance of 26 members and visitors.

President Mrs. Floyd Armstrong was in the chair, and secretary Mrs. Ray Rose gave a detailed account of the summer activities which included a garden tour and three box lunches.

The correspondence included letters of thanks from Stirling public library for reference books; a summary of the annual convention at Guelph when 1200 were in attendance; a message from a well-known nursery regarding the new "Centennial Rose"; a letter regarding the sale of special dried arrangements; a special message to horticulturists from Irving at outline of plans for planting.

Mr. J. B. Belshaw gave a full report regarding the trees at the public school, and the work that has been accomplished. Mr. Belshaw reported the flower beds all ready for winter. A load of topsoil will be purchased and placed on the flower beds.

$50 GRANT

The usual grant of $50 will be given by the Stirling Agricultural Society to help defray the cost of horticultural prizes. The fall fair in the Twin Winter Fair in Toronto will be sponsored on Monday, November 16th. The annual meeting of district 3 will be held on Saturday, November 7th at Napanee, when Mrs. Belshaw will read members plan to attend.

Mrs. Ray MacMullen read an article written by Mabel E. Shepherd of the Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis, Mo. She explained that bananas grow upwards. The spike consists of numerous flowers, each opens and begins to roll back, showing a group of flowers which later form a hand or form of banana.

As these small bananas grow, they gradually move outwards and bend backwards. As they develop they bend upward until they are standing straight up. At first they are green, but become yellow as they ripen. Each sheath has one or two hands of bananas, each holding 12 or 16 pieces of fruit. In about two months the first bananas are ripe. The plant is then cut down and a new sucker emerges to carry on the next year's crop.

AFRICAN VIOLETS

Mrs. Ed Warren read an article on African violets. They need a basic soil, medium of one part loam, one part coarse sand and two parts peat moss. It is advised to bake the soil for 20 minutes at 150 degrees, thus removing weed seeds, pests and soil-borne diseases.

Mrs. Stella Bailey gave helpful hints for growing baby tears. This plant makes a good ground cover for a large list. It is easy to grow but does need plenty of moisture. It prefers cool shade to hot sunshine.

HYBRID BEGONIAS

Mrs. Morley Aylard said "I. M. Mason obtained an original plant of begonia from the Botanical Garden at Singapore and introduced it to his native England. Today Rex Begonia hybrids have a variety of pattern and color. The foliage is exquisite. The plants should have a dormant period in late autumn or winter and following a rest, new luxuriant growth will appear.

Two special books were given away to those guessing a number correctly. They were won by Mrs. Percy Ulman and Mrs. Kenneth Ray.

Refreshments were served and Mrs. K. Ray voiced thanks for the hospitality.

Church Groups

ST. JOSEPH'S C.W.L.

St. Joseph's C.W.L. met in the parish hall recently, for the regular monthly meeting. The meeting opened with the League prayer and the Rosary being offered up for the repose of the soul of former pastor and spiritual director, Reverend Father J. J. V. Buckley.

Mrs. R. Eilard reported on having attended the Diocesan meeting held in Belaws recently, with a lively discussion period and many topics of interest touched upon. Cartons of clothing were sent to Rev. Father Bernard at the Nova Scotia Mission Centre.

Spiritual convener Mrs. E. Barrett presented an interesting tape recording on "Vocations," narrated by Reverend Father Kerr. An opportune topic with the sudden loss of two valued priest, and the need for vocations is great.

PARK DALE SCHOOL

The parents of pupils attending Park Dale School met Monday evening, to hear an address by Mr. T. F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School.

Mr. Reid's theme was "What is Education?" which he qualified by saying that it is the development of character through schooling; the knowledge and ability gained through training. That the sole reason for education is to develop the full potential of each student, boy and girl alike, enabling them to live a full, complete life.

The speaker went on to explain the long process of learning from birth to maturity, through formal and informal education, covering pre-school teaching, elementary and secondary schooling and university training. "Theses are the years when we learn social skills, the arts and customs of people you associate with," he said.

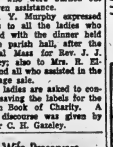
Though the role of the school is primarily teaching a thoroughly dependent creature in kindergarten, guiding it on through the various stages in his scholastic development and finally to the point where a goal in life, the teachers are ever ready to advise, he or she is pushed into the right path that suits his particular talents as everyone has different abilities, Mr. Reid himself. In such cases, there are qualified guidance counsellors to help. He stressed that the role of the home can never be underestimated. The ideal situation is for the parents to co-operate in fostering high standards of behaviour, proper manners, and all the virtues through discipline, perseverance and understanding.

Individual difference and capabilities must be recognized and accepted for it should be the aim of every person to develop some skill and be useful to the community.

The importance of every child achieving the utmost maximum of education through planning ahead was stressed because the future belongs to those who prepare for it. Although they should not have the dollars and cents attitude towards education, they should be made aware that the higher incomes go to those who have higher education if they wish to lead decent lives. It is the parents' job to get the idea across to the student that the purpose of education is a full time effort and some goal, no matter how remote or tentative, is necessary for success.

Mr. Reid stated, "The usefulness of a pencil depends is to stick to one thing until it gets there." He ended his address with the admonition to keep in mind that "education is not a bequest but a conquest."

Following a short silence in the classroom was any indication of the absorption of the speech, it was indeed a most interesting and thought-provoking talk, thoroughly enjoyed by all present.



Acknowledgment although overdue was given Miss Griffin for her excellent fall fair booth on "A Day In Kindergarten," at which meeting certain mothers were given a rose to wear from Mrs. Slack's garden in order to identify them as new mothers with children attending school for the first time.

Coffee was served from the new coffee urn.

family who were burned out to be given assistance.

Mrs. Y. Murphy expressed thanks to all the ladies who assisted with the dinner held in the parish hall, after the Funeral Mass for Rev. J. J. Buckley; also to Mrs. R. Eilard and all who assisted in the rummage sale.

The ladies are asked to continue saving the labels for the Golden Book of Charity. A short discourse was given by Father C. H. Gazeley.

Canadian Bible Society Lists Officers

IVANHOE — A meeting of the Canadian Bible Society was held in the United Church, West Huntingdon on Wednesday evening. Branch president, Mrs. John Walker presided and Mrs. Keith Bray assisted in the worship service.

The business session was conducted by district secretary, Rev. C. R. Rudd, Peterborough. The treasurer's report showed a substantial increase in giving in 1963.

The following officers were elected: president — Mrs. John Wallace; secretary-treasurer — Mrs. Stanley Frost.

Mr. Rudd told of the work of the Society and showed a film "Cornerstone of a Nation".

This film was prepared to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Bible Society in Canada and proved to be most interesting and educational.

Women's Institutes

MT. VIEW W. I.

MOUNTAIN VIEW — Mrs. Stanley Barber opened her home for the October meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute with approximately 25 ladies present. The president, Mrs. W. Motley, opened the meeting. Reports of the area conventions were given by Mrs. Stanley Barber and Mrs. Lottie Green.

The topic for this meeting was home economics under the leadership of Mrs. Stanley Barber. Guest speaker was Mrs. Melvin Batchelor, she was introduced and proceeded to demonstrate how to bone and roll a turkey. She also spoke on the difference of poultry marketing of the present time to that of the past.

Tickets were sold on the turkey and Mrs. Peter Koekmar was the winner.

Mrs. W. Nightingale expressed thanks to Mrs. Batchelor for such an interesting demonstration, and Mrs. Allan Wallbridge thanked the hostess and all the others for such an interesting and pleasant evening.

The lunches satisfied by the lunch committee, Mrs. Fred Motley and Mrs. Grant Minshall served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

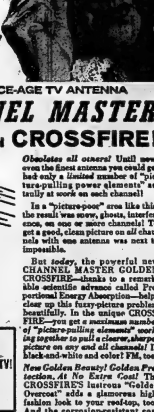
Talk on Glaciers Given at Field Naturalists' Meet

The October meeting of the Quinte Field Naturalists was held recently at the Entomological Laboratory when Miss F. Fitzgerald was in charge.

General business was conducted and the report of the outing to Lake Ontario was given and it was reported that those taking advantage of this were well rewarded. Mr. L. Knight gave a report of the directors' meeting.

Mr. William Watson introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Dr. E. Beschel of Queen's University, Kingston, who spoke on the subject "Vegetation near glaciers" and gave an enlightening description of their formation and how plants develop. He described their appearance as large avalanches of snow and continuously on the move and the fracture of these form icebergs. When the ice disappears large boulders are found with no plant life whatsoever. Later flowers appear in the sand between the rocks and these are usually Arctic poppy and Arctic willows.

The disturbances of glaciers are usually caused by the trampling of the soil once and when two advancing glaciers meet ice lakes are formed.



The speaker stated that much of the knowledge of glaciers is gleaned through the use of photographs and he illustrated several slides which gave his audience a much better understanding of the formation of glaciers.

An enlightening question and answer period followed, after which Miss Fitzgerald thanked appreciative thanks to the speaker.

The social committee served coffee.

QUESTION:

. . . I clip and use your recipes faithfully and I think they are tops. I love baking and would give anything just to be a "mouse in the corner" of your kitchen some day watching you and yours at work. I am wondering if you could by chance have a recipe for a salad (suitable for serving to a bridge club) using cranberries. My turn to entertain comes in December. I thought the cranberries would somehow denote a "Christmasy" air. Since it will be very early in December I won't be using a strictly Christmas theme but on the other hand I would like something colorful. I would prefer a recipe that could be made the day before if at all possible . . . Now would you like my humble little offering? I have made them for more years than I care to say without a failure.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Grilled Fillets of Haddock with Lemon Butter; Tomatoes and Eggplant Casserole; Baby Limas; Cole Slaw; Grape Sponge; Nutmeg Custard Sauce; Coffee.

YUM YUM GEMS (courtesy E.I.W.):

¼ cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup raisins or dates, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup walnuts (chopped).

Cream shortening and sugar, add beaten egg, stir in mix Dissolve soda in sour milk. Sift flour with spices, add to first mixture alternately with sour milk, fold in chopped nuts and raisins or dates. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. These are best baked in paper cups and are delicious frosted with maple icing. These little gem served along with cold applesauce make a tasty dessert. Also they freeze beautifully . . . E.I.W.

ANSWER:

Thank you for the Yum Yum Gems, particularly because you recommend them for freezing.

I have exactly what you want. You did not mention the number of guests. This will serve 8 adequately if appropriate garnishes are added.

CRANBERRY SALAD MOULDS

2 cups raw cranberries. 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon plain gelatine, 3 tablespoons cold water, 2-3 cup finely diced inner celery, ½ cup chopped blanched almonds or pecans, 1 cup canned drained diced pineapple (see note below).

Add the boiling water to the raw cranberries in a saucepan and cook until cranberry skins break and cranberries are tender. Remove from heat. (If desired strain cranberries through sieve now, but salad is prettier if cranberries are left in.) Soak gelatine in water 5 minutes. Stir into hot cranberries until dissolved, then add sugar and salt, stirring. Chill until mixture is thick but add celery, nuts and pineapple, mix well and pour into canned pineapple. Raw pineapple prevents gelatine from setting.) Turn into fancy mould (or into 6 or 8 individual moulds) and chill until set. Serve on delicate cupped lettuce leaves garnished with sections of Mandarin oranges or fresh oranges or grapefruit. Plain jemaine mayonnaise.

Avoiding Voting Privilege, Reaps Negative Results

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am neither a Republican nor a Democrat. I am an independent who voted for Eisenhower in '56 and Kennedy in '60. At the moment I am disenchanted with both candidates for the presidency.

I've decided the best way to express my dissatisfaction is to sit home on election day and read a good book. My wife is a strong party member but I'm not saying which party she is strong on. She is presently working hard for a candidate on whom she is not completely sold. Her rationale is this: "He is a second-rater, but the candidate running against him is a fifth rater."

ANN LANDERS

My wife insists it is stupid to sit home on election day but she can't tell me why. I don't think you can tell me either, but I'm asking. Isn't this the best way to express dissatisfaction!— BALLOT BOX BLUES.

DEAR BOX — Sitting it out on election day expresses nothing — except a denial of your responsibility as a citizen.

Someone is going to be elected, whether you vote or not. Maybe you don't have the senior heck for either of the candidates but unless you've been living in a cave these last six weeks surely you must have read and heard enough to make an intelligent choice.

How anyone can be undecided this time is beyond me. Exercise your franchise, Buddy Boy!

DEAR ANN LANDERS — The letter from the 48-year-old man who gave the widow a large diamond engagement ring brought back some unpleasant memories. I have been in the same situation myself I can tell you that people can be pretty mean. So please, Ann, don't be too critical of the engaged lady who kept her ring in the drawer.

When I first appeared at work wearing my 2 carat diamond, the office supervisor said, "Was that his first wife's ring?" I answered, "I really don't know. I didn't have the nerve to ask him." Another cat announced, "A perfect stone that size would cost a fortune. Your ring probably has some flaws."

When the office nut declared a real diamond could cut glass and challenged me to prove my ring was real by cutting her purse mirror, I decided to leave the ring at home and wear it weekends. I sympathize with the woman who wrote and I hope you will, too. — BEEN THROUGH IT.

DEAR IT — I call these high class worries. And now on to the everyday-type problems — like the one that follows:

DEAR ANN LANDERS — The current crop of TV shows is enough to make a person sick. I didn't think anything could be as bad as a steady diet of gangster stuff, killing, cowboys, good guys and bad guys, but I do believe that what we have to look at this season is worse.

I will use Thursday as my example, since that was yesterday — and I kept the set on all day in preparation for this letter. There were four shows which used as their format, "School girls expecting babies."

I realize your column appears all over the United States and TV programs vary according to city, but here is what we are getting in Grand Rapids, Michigan:

At noon, Love of Life — a school girl is expecting a baby. At 3:00 p.m. General Hospital, a school girl is expecting a baby. At 4:00 p.m. Secret Storm, a school girl expecting a baby. After supper we get Peyton Place — and another school girl expecting a baby. Comment please. — MRS. E.M.

MR. MELTZER ON REAL ESTATE
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD. C. MELTZER

Many people who make mortgage payments to a bank have the mistaken idea that they are buying their houses from the bank, and that the bank is responsible for any housing concerns that they might have.

This is erroneous. Banks do not design, build or sell houses. Their role is to advance funds for home purchases. Don't repeat the mistake of two of our correspondents this week.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: How do you figure a bank? My question is can they stick me with a house I don't want — the way they are trying to?

Marriage didn't turn out to be my particular groove, and when we split, the furniture store took back the furniture, the auto dealer took back the car — the jeweler even took back the ring. Did the bank go along with this program? No sir! They are trying to stick me with a house I can't really use any more. I don't want it and they refuse to take it back.

When are they going to catch up with the modern world and start doing business like everybody else? — S. J. R.

ANSWER: I don't know what you mean by "modern world", but to my mind even the modern world includes the need for a sense of responsibility and the honoring of obligations.

You are confusing the role your bank played in helping you buy a house.

Unlike the auto dealer, furniture man and jeweler, the bank did not build or sell you your house. All they did was lend you the money to buy, and all they want is to get their money back. Somehow, that doesn't seem too unfair a request.

If you interpret this as "being stuck", I'm afraid you are. If you want to get rid of the house, the best plan is to contact a realtor in your area. He will arrange to sell it for you and satisfy both you and your bank.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Is it unfair or dishonest to protest when you've been cheated? Doesn't one have the right to refuse to pay for shoddy work or defective goods?

We bought a new house a few months ago. Small down payment, and $125 per month mortgage payments. The house is literally falling apart! There are big cracks in the foundation, the brick walls and the sheetrock inside. The water pipes sprung leaks and ruined our carpeting. Every day it's something new.

We have protested, but we are ignored. I don't think it is fair to expect a man to spend 25 years of his life paying for something he was cheated on when he bought it. I have refused to pay any more payments until something is done about this house. I even offered to give the place back to the bank. They refused and have threatened a law suit and my loss of credit standing if I don't continue to make my payments.

If anyone should be making threats it should be me against the bank. I am the injured party and it is they who are denying their responsibility. Don't you agree? — E. D. C.

ANSWER: However different your attitude and sense of responsibility, you are making the same mistake as Mr. S. J. R.

Your argument is not against the bank, and your grievances toward them are misdirected.

You picked the builder. You picked the house — the bank didn't. Your quarrel is with the builder who sold you the house — not the people who lent you the money to buy it.

If the house is as bad as you indicate, your best bet is to present your case to an attorney and let him assess your legal position and secure for you whatever recourse you have. As far as the bank is concerned, you are obligated to make your payments. After all, there is nothing defective about the money they lent you.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I hope you can help me. After 22 years of marriage, I don't suppose my husband will throw me out in the street — but he will be sorely tempted.

We had some landscaping to do. My husband started the job, but I thought I would surprise him and I hired a contractor who stopped by when he saw the work in progress to finish the job.

He offered to do the job for $2.50 an hour. Considering what my husband had already done, I figured it would take no more than two days — surely no more than $40.

I realize now, I just don't understand contracting.

The first day four men showed up. Until it started to rain, one used a shovel — but with no noticeable enthusiasm. The others more or less just commented on his technique. It rained the next two days, but they weren't discouraged. They sat in their truck and drank beer.

Eventually they finished the job. It was a mess. Then I got the bill: $420! I'm in a state of shock. I'm afraid to show my husband the bill, but the contractor keeps calling me, demanding payment. Is there anything I can do? — C. J.

ANSWER: Domestic relations is not my field, but this real estate problem requires a lot of diplomacy. I recommend that you prepare a series of your husband's favorite meals, insist on watching all of his favorite TV programs, decide against a new coat this year — and smile a lot. Preferably a bit wistfully. Then show him the bill.

Seriously, you have created a rather complex situation. You are probably aware by now (and too late) that no work should be contracted for without a firm price and specific agreement.

Your husband may be able to reason with the contractor. If he can't arrive at a reasonable settlement, perhaps your attorney can. You may choose to defend your position in court, but in my experience, such cases are often and most effectively be handled by arbitration.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: This summer my husband and I and another couple visited New York and the world's fair. We were shocked by the prices we had to pay for lodgings. True, we are from a small town, but my husband has been a carpenter, and has a pretty good idea about how much things should cost. He didn't think it was necessary to have to charge $18 per day for motels and $22 for hotels — even if they were very nice and modern.

Our friends got annoyed because we complained. They say people charge a lot because everything costs a lot. My husband claims that at the rates we paid, you could build and pay for those rooms in a couple of weeks. He thinks we were just taken advantage of. Who is right? — T. B. A.

ANSWER: If your husband was correct (unfortunately, he is not), he would be the most sought after carpenter in the U.S.

Modern motels and hotels just can't be built at investment costs that can be recaptured in a few weeks.

Motels, these days, cost about $10,000 per room. Hotels, with their requirements for expensive land, amenity space, and high rise construction costs, run about $20,000 per room.

At any rate, I hope you enjoyed the fair.

CAMPBELLFORD
Gives Statement on Sewage Plant

CAMPBELLFORD — At a previous council meeting, Mr. Ken Sharpe, OWRC, stated if after sewage disposal plant is built and in future industry might settle in corporation it should be considered the better plan is to provide facilities when demanded.

Mr. Sharpe stated in regard to Brellhaupt Leather plant the industry should be considered separately. Brellhaupt Leather uses approximately 200,000 gallons of water per day, equivalent to 2,000 people, the cost of dealing with the sewage of this plant was not included in estimated cost of sewage disposal plant. The industry does not use town water, it draws direct from the river and discharges directly into the river.

According to Sewage and Industrial Waste Act, "Southgage 213 is of the opinion that there is currently no satisfactory method for treating tanning wastes and believe it is first necessary to have a concentrated drive to reduce the sources of waste in the tanning before it will be feasible to treat the waste water."

It would appear that settling tanks in which the solids such as hair and fat settles are still strong pollution to the water which flows through and over the settling tanks to be discharged into the river.

Any municipality with the possible idea of building a sewage disposal unit of any type should take a long look at their industrial waste. In the case of Elmira, with their chemical plant and the potency of their industrial waste the industry should bear as Elmira did a very large percentage of the initial cost.

Here's an arresting fact: Now, more than 591,000 Canadian automobile owners can stop paying too much for gasoline!

Their cars are designed for premium grade fuel, but not for the full power in the top-octane premiums they have been buying. These motorists pay for extra octane their cars can't use.

Up to now. Now, BP has added two new medium-octane, medium-price Super gasolines. With four great BP gasolines... one Regular and three Supers...you can exactly match the power requirement of your car at the lowest possible cost.

Think about that. Maybe you're one of the thousands of premium gasoline buyers who can use one of the new BP Supers and save 2¢, even 4¢ per gallon.

advantage of the eight-all debate to criticize the government on a wide variety of issues and they showed no signs of slowing down Thursday. Many members of other parties are entering the debate to discuss pet subjects with vote appeal back home.

The supply debate is blocking commons action on the new flag recommended by a Commons committee, the long-delayed Canada Pension Plan, the $1.25 minimum wage labor code, redistribution of seats, constitutional amendment and other top issues.

ATMOSPHERE ELECTRIC

The atmosphere was electric Thursday as the 15-member flag committee recommended a design with a single red maple leaf on a white field with a red bar at each side.

About 15 minutes before the Commons met at 2:30 p.m., the Ottawa Citizen hit the streets with a front-page story by Grant Deachman, Liberal MP for Vancouver Quadra, summarizing the committee report and injecting the MP's personal observations.

The story was headlined: "MP tells inside story of flag committee."

Conservative MPs protested tonight that Mr Deachman, one of seven Liberals on the committee, had shown contempt of Parliament, violated the secrecy rules of the flag committee and "leaked" a major news story on the instructions of the government.

"A deliberate . . . disgraceful performance," charged Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South).

"I certainly think it was untold," commented Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre), who also criticized Opposition Leader Diefenbaker for giving an "arrogant" television interview on the flag Wednesday.

MOTION DEFEATED

Eldon Woolliams (PC — Bow River) tried unsuccessfully to introduce a motion to refer the "leak" to the Commons privileges committee for an investigation. He gave notice he will try again today.

Mr. Deachman said he wrote the article for the Citizen and the Vancouver Sun with the expectation that the newspapers would be published after the committee report was tabled in the Commons.

"If I have caused any embarrassment . . . I do indeed humbly apologize," he said.

Speaker Alan Macnaughton said he would look into the Conservatives' complaints and make a statement later . . .

NOT IN ORDER

Mr. Woolliams' motion for a committee investigation was ruled out of order by Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux on the grounds that it had no connection with the interim supply debate.

The Conservatives appealed the ruling, but lost by a vote of 118 to 59. The 90 Liberals were joined by 13 Creditistes, 11 New Democrats and five Social Credit members in supporting the ruling.

After the vote, the debate subsided into a discussion of CBC programming, peace - keeping forces, student exchanges and slum clearance.

The supply bill gives the government $740,000,000 in spending authority for November and December. Almost any topic can be raised on such measures since they cover the whole range of government spending.

Sunday School Lesson

A Man and His Money

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Nothing reveals a man more clearly than his attitude toward possessions, especially money. The misuse of possessions has been an age-old problem. Communism's answer to this problem is to take away a person's possessions. While doing so, it also takes away his right to believe in God. This is obviously not God's answer. God's answer, according to the Bible, is stewardship. Now, what is stewardship?

Some people have a very limited idea of stewardship. They think it applies only to what they give to their church. It does include that, but it is much more.

Stewardship is a way of looking at life. It sees life as a trust. It recognizes that everything one owns in this world is his on a temporary basis. When a man dies, his hold on his material possessions is over. 1 Timothy 6:7 (RSV) puts it bluntly when it says, "We brought nothing into the world, and we can take nothing out of the world."

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 1: "Stewardship of Possessions," 1 Timothy 6.

Stewardship begins by recognizing that God is the real owner of everything. It agrees with the Psalmist who says, "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof." (Psalm 24:1) It believes with Haggai, the Hebrew prophet, that the silver is mine, and the gold is mine, says the Lord of Hosts." (Haggai 2:8 RSV) The metal or wood of One Sure Way to Happiness.

Many young people, frantically running in pursuit of happiness, are never going to capture it. "Nothing makes it more unapproachable", says Canadian author, June Callwood, "than trying to find it!" ...But there is a better way that has worked, and June Callwood tells you what it is! Don't miss this article in the November Reader's Digest, now on sale everywhere.

every material we own came from God's hand. The talents by which we earn our money, and the ability to use and enjoy material possessions are His gifts also. He has a right, therefore, to indicate how we shall use them.

THE CRAVING FOR WEALTH

The desire for wealth is often one of the major drives in life. It can become a "snare" and lead people into "many senseless and hurtful desires that plunge men into ruin and destruction." (I Timothy 6:9 RSV) Even clergymen can fall into this trap. A humorous story tells of a minister who was asked if he took notes when he went out to preach. The minister replied, "I do sometimes, but I prefer cash."

Paul may have overstated the case for the sake of emphasis when he said, "The love of money is the root of all evils," (1 Timothy 6:10 RSV), but it certainly contributes to many evils. Men often engage in questionable deals because they are profitable. They sometimes sacrifice family, leisure, health, even integrity to the pursuit of money. The craving for wealth, says 1 Timothy 6:10 (RSV) has even led men to desert their faith, and "pierced their hearts with many pangs." The possession of wealth can lead to "haughtiness."

People crave money for what it can buy. It is needed to buy the necessities of life. It can provide a measure of security. It is needed for times of sickness and old age. Money can open the door to education and enriching interests. It makes possible the enjoyment of music, drama, travel, and hosts of other interests that require money to pursue.

Men crave money because it gives them power. A wealthy man does not have to ask favors. Often he is in a position to command others. By giving or withholding his money, he can influence political life, community affairs, and even church life.

But the piling up of money for money's sake, can create problems. It can concentrate wealth in the hands of the few. It can create a chasm between the rich and the poor. It can blind the eyes of the rich to his responsibilities to others.

CALL FOR COMPASSION

He who has wealth must also have concern for others. Jesus said, "Every one to whom much is given, of him will much be required." (Luke. 12:48 RSV) Often owners of business enterprises do not live in the communities in which their money is made. They live in beautiful suburbs far from the smoke and grime of their factories. Sometimes they do not know or care about the social conditions under which some of their employees live.

A steward knows he did not make his money alone. Hundreds of hands have helped him secure his success and possessions. If he had more than others he does not boast, but remains humbly grateful to God. He will seek to use his wealth for the benefit of his family, and, as he is able, for the benefit of mankind.

Above all, he will remember his obligation to God. He will contribute to the church of his choice knowing that when faith is gone, when Christian principles no longer prevail, life becomes a dog eat dog affair.

Not every one can be wealthy in things. But every one can be rich in good deeds, liberal and generous." (I Timothy 6:18 RSV) In this way, whatever wealth he possesses, he can use to help to create a better world.

Thirteen of 38 Canadian Life Insurance Companies Now Under Foreign Control

OTTAWA (CP) — Thirteen of the 38 Canadian life insurance companies have already fallen under foreign control, the Commons banking and finance committee was informed Thursday.

With another 13 companies mutualized, that leaves only 12 to be affected by Finance Minister Gordon's proposed legislation setting limits on the sale of company shares to non-residents.

The status of the Canadian life companies was outlined by the superintendent of insurance Richard Humphrys, as the committee began detailed study of the bill.

Aim of the legislation is to prevent a Canadian company from selling more than 25 per cent of its shares to non-residents, or more than 10 per cent to any non-resident or his associates.

The information on the status of the companies was outlined when matched against the superintendent's report on their 1963 operations, shows these results:

The 13 foreign - controlled companies have only six per cent of the entire groups' assets of about $10,000,000,000.

These 13 are Allstate, Acadia Life, British Pacific Life, Canadian Premier Life, Canadian Reassurance, Commercial Life, Continental Life, Dominion Life, Excelsior Life, Fidelity Life, Montreal Life, National Life, and Western Life.

Canadian stock companies have about 30 per cent of the total assets. They are Crown Life, Dominion of Canada General, Eaton Life, Great - West Life, Imperial Life, London Life, Manufacturers Life, Monarch Life, Northern Life, Sauve-garde Life, Sovereign Life and Westmount Life.

Biggest block of the assets — about 64 per cent—resides with the Canadian mutual companies. They are Alliance Mutual, Assurance-Vie Desjardins, Canada Life, Confederation Life, Co-operative Life, Equitable Life of Canada, Manufacturers Life, Life of Alberta, Mutual Life of Canada, North America Life, Sun Life, Toronto Mutual Life, Wawanesa.

Besides these 38 companies, also operating in this country are 16 British and 57 American life insurance companies. The Canadian companies last year did about 67 per cent of all the business in life insurance, compared with 77 per cent for the foreign companies and six per cent for the British.

Flag 'Secrecy' Breach - - Accused MP Asks Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—Grant Deachman, Liberal MP under fire in the Commons for breaking secrecy on the flag committee recommendations, asked today for a special inquiry into the matter by the Commons privileges committee.

Mr. Deachman, MP for Vancouver Quadra and a member of the Commons flag committee, made a brief statement on a question of privilege as the Commons met.

He said that in view of the fact that an article by him had been published before the committee's report was made to the Commons and that his actions had been attacked by the opposition, he requested that the whole matter be referred to the Commons privileges committee.

The Progressive Conservatives made an unsuccessful attempt Thursday to have the privileges committee take up the matter and served notice that a further attempt would be made today.

There was no immediate comment on Mr. Deachman's request, which loudly applauded by his Liberal colleagues.

Conservative protests Thursday centred on the fact that the committee members had been bound by secrecy regarding the committee's hearings during the six weeks the 15 members met behind closed doors to pick a flag design.

Mr. Deachman's copyrighted article, giving a description of the design recommended to the Commons by the committee, came out in the streets and in the Parliament Buildings before the Commons met Thursday to receive the flag committee's report.

The Liberal MPs met in closed caucus today to discuss the flag question and assess the charges directed against Mr. Deachman.

Following this meeting, he defended his action and said the Conservatives were upset mostly because his article received greater prominence than reports of a television speech by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker attacking the committee's choice.

"If I'm guilty of any crime, it's that Diefenbaker ended up on page three," Mr. Deachman told reporters after the caucus meeting.

He said his Liberal colleagues apparently had mixed feelings about his actions, which were attacked on grounds that the committee members were bound by secrecy. Some praised his action but not all concurred in it.

Speaker Alan Macnaughton said unanimous consent would be needed to refer the issue to the committee and some Creditiste members shouted "No."

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) said his party had hoped for a formal motion to refer the issue so an amendment could be proposed. He asked that Mr. Macnaughton's suggestion be amended but the Speaker said Mr. Gregoire could raise the matter in committee and report any recommendations.

Mr. Macnaughton said it was a serious matter to attack the conduct of a member and a committee and that his actions had been attacked by the opposition, he requested that the whole matter be referred to the Commons privileges committee.

Parliamentary Notebook

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—For a few moments Thursday afternoon there was a good chance that the Commons flag committee report wouldn't see the sight of day and the House would be thrown back into the kind of turmoil that prevailed during the celebrated 1956 pipeline debate.

In those days of millions of dollars, points of order questions of privilege and challenges to the Speaker's rulings, no one member of the government ever knew what would happen as each day's sitting of the Commons began.

The government might have its business all neatly lined up with its party line and backers as a whole or any minor party could raise a point and make it stick to the extent that the whole day's business was sidetracked.

Such was the atmosphere as the House met Thursday afternoon. A few minutes earlier, newsmen had filed into the Citizen at its usual time in the House of Commons cafeteria, spread over the top of the front page, was the first-hand report of the committee proceedings by committee member Grant Deachman, Liberal MP for Vancouver Quadra.

MEANT TO BE PRIVATE

The committee had met in private and there was no offi cial word—nor was there supposed to be—on the proceedings until the committee report was tabled and officially made public.

When the quorum bells finished ringing and Speaker Alan Macnaughton called order in the Commons, the first order of business was "presenting reports by standing and select committees."

But at that point Donald Maclnnis (PC—Cape Breton South) rose on a question of privilege, which takes precedence over all other House business. He complained of a slight to the House by publication of Mr. Deachman's report.

At that point, the proceedings hung by a slim thread.

Questions of privilege are frequently raised—sometimes several times a day—to air a grievance but rarely come near to get any further unless "he member raising it moves a formal motion for House action. Such a motion would be to send the case to the Commons committee on privileges.

Such a challenge is debatable, if it is in order. A debate could have been precipitated Thursday. Two honorable members in this class were given to Dorothy Allen and to Steven Badgley.

Entries were judged by a committee working with Mrs. Lennox Smith.

Mrs. Kennedy's Apt. Searched For Bomb

NEW YORK (AP) — An anonymous telephone caller reported Thursday night that a bomb had been planted in Mrs. John F. Kennedy's new apartment on Fifth Avenue. However, the threat turned out to be a hoax.

A Secret Service agent said Mrs. Kennedy and her two children, John and Caroline, 6, were not evacuated from the apartment during a massive search. Police originally reported she was forced to leave.

A roof-to-cellar check of her building at 1040 Fifth Avenue, at 85 Street, lasted almost two hours. Police, firemen, Secret Service men and FBI agents took part. Nothing suspicious was uncovered.

A male caller dialed the operator first at 3:12 p.m. and told her a bomb would go off in Mrs. Kennedy's apartment, but erroneously listed the address as 1060 Park Avenue. Police found nothing there either.

Toronto Paper Pickets Fined

TORONTO (CP)—Five striking newspaper printers were each fined $75 Thursday for creating a disturbance while picketing the Enterprise Printing and Publishing Company here Oct. 8.

They pleaded guilty in police court and were allowed two weeks to pay the fines.

They were among 240 striken picketing the printing plant Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC) struck on strike against the Globe and Mail, The Star and The Telegram July 9. The papers have continued to publish.

The printers contended that the company was setting advertisements for use in Toronto daily newspapers.

Those fined were Kenneth David Osborne, 30, Robert John Goodfellow, 34, Bruce MacMurchy-67, John L. Martin, 28, and Donald J. Robins, 30, all of Toronto.

PRIZEWINNER in the Belleville United Appeal art contest, Cheryl Armstrong, Prince of Wales School, was presented with prize today by Appeal representative A. S. Lewis. Prince of Wales School principal Don Lockyer looks on.

Students Get Art Awards

Prizes in the Belleville United Appeal art contest for intermediate and senior public schools students were announced today. One prize was presented this morning.

The 73 entries were divided into three groups, with one class for grades six and seven together, and one class each for grades five and eight.

First prize in the grade five group goes to Colleen Fluhle of St. Michael's Junior School. Second prize goes to Ricky Gibson of Sir Mackenzie Bowell school. Third prize was presented this morning to Cheryl Armstrong at Prince of Wales school. Honorable mention in this group went to Helen Crawford, Prince of Wales School.

In grades six and seven, first prize winner is Lois Wanamaker of Sir Mackenzie Bowell school and second prize will be presented to Patty Ann Bankey of St. Joseph's School.

Three prizes winner in the grade eight group are all from Sir Mackenzie Bowell School. First prize goes to Susan Shaver, second, to Douglas Wonnacott and third to Susanna Gibson. Two honorable mentions in this class were given to Dorothy Allen and to Steven Badgley.

Entries were judged by a committee working with Mrs. Lennox Smith.

Minister Says Policies Are Being Expanded

FALHER, Alta. (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harry Hays Thursday criticized former Liberal administrations and commended Progressive Conservative government for its concern on farm problems while in office.

Mr. Hays, elected when the Liberals defeated the Conservatives government in 1963, told a meeting sponsored by the Farmers' Union of Alberta that Canada and the Liberal party needed a change when the Conservatives were elected in 1957. "Canada had been in a government had forgotten the farmers during its declining years. I'll even go further— I think that on the basis of its record with our farmers, the last Liberal government deserved to be kicked out when it was."

He said the present government has continued the agricultural policies started by the Conservatives and expanded them.

"We have tried to show the same kind of concern for our farmers under the present government as was shown by the previous government.

"I won't take anything away from them on that score. They did things for our farmers that should have been done long before. My only objection is that they only went half as far as they should have."

Architects Get Awards

OTTAWA (CP) — Former governor-general Vincent Massey presented 18 Massey Medals for architecture to leading Canadian architects at the National Gallery Thursday night. The medals are given on competition among Canadian architects, also opened an exhibition of photographs and plans of the award - winning structures and of 76 other designs that reached the final stages of judging.

The winners were selected by a jury of three. Seven medals went to Toronto firms, six to Vancouver firms three in Montreal, and one each in Winnipeg and Ottawa.

Federal Corporation Income Tax Claims 34 Cents Out of Every Dollar of Profits

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal corporation income tax claimed about 34 cents out of every $1 of business profits reported in the 1962 taxation year.

The figure is drawn from the revenue department's "green book" of corporate tax statistics, published Thursday.

Latest figures show that in 1962 there were 142,859 companies of which $2,910,—approximately 59 per cent—were profitable.

These companies reported profits of $4,991,900,000. They declared $1,383,200,000 in income tax.

The 58,940 unprofitable corporations declared losses totalling $692,900,000.

However, these figures include about 7,300 tax-exempt companies as well as some 18,033 corporations classed by the revenue department as inactive —that is, mainly those with a gross revenue before deductible expenses of less than $2,000.

EXPORT PROFITS

Excluding these along with Crown corporations and co-operatives, there were 115,082 active, taxable companies in Canada that year. Of these, about 65 per cent—74,567 of them—reported a profit.

Their profits totalled $3,897,300,000. Against these $183,100,000 in losses for the previous year, they had a net taxable income of $3,714,200,000.

They declared $1,363,300,000 in taxes, about 25 per cent of their profits and some 37 per cent of their taxable income.

The rate of federal corporation income tax in 1962 was 47 per cent of the first $35,000 of taxable income and 50 per cent of the rest.

Reporting on 1963-64 estate taxes, the department showed $30,460,000 in taxes were collected from 5,936 taxable estates, including an aggregate net value of $821,595,000. The estate tax revenue equalled about 11 per cent of the estates' value.

Total receipts of Belleville's United Appeal campaign to last night were $71,555, more than double the $35,470 recorded for the same time last year. More than $66,000 of the money has been turned in to the United Appeal office in the Kiwanis Centre, the remainder is at individual campaign offices.

Belleville General Hospital yesterday returned $272.50, collected from employees, an increase of nearly $200 over the $276.50 collected from the same group last year. A corporate gift from Vagden Mills in Belleville shows a 25 percent increase over the firm's donation last year, and Vagden Mills employees are reported to have raised about $350 so far. The $350 is about double the amount raised by Vagden Mills employees last year.

EXPECTS TOURIST DOLLARS

TORONTO (CP) — On tario government expects tourists to spend $3,000,000,000 in the province during 1967 James C. Auld minister of tourism and information, said Thursday.

New OPP HQ For Peterborough

TORONTO (CP)—M. J. Finn Construction Limited of Peterborough has been awarded a $243,863 contract for the construction of a new provincial police headquarters building on the Peterborough bypass, facing Highway 17.

The two-storey building will include offices, a three-cell detention area, an interrogation room, dark room and filing section, plus a three-bay garage. Construction will be of steel frame and concrete block.

BEACH AGREEMENT

TORONTO (CP) — The 1,231-member Toronto Firefighters' Association and the City of Toronto reached agreement Thursday on a two-year contract. The new pay scale, subject to ratification by the association's membership, will increase the salary of a first-class fireman to $5,985 from $5,269 in four stages, retroactive to last April

Presidential Opponents Agree Broadly on Foreign Policy, Disagree on Methods

NEW YORK (CP)—The day is gone, says President Johnson, when "all we need to do is guide a button and determine everybody's foreign policy."

Communism is just like the neighborhood tough guy, says Republican challenger Barry Goldwater. "Let him push you around and eventually you'll have to fight."

The two statements point up fairly well the part foreign policy has played in the campaign for next Tuesday's presidential election.

Both candidates have tended to shy away from setting up their foreign policies on specific issues.

But on the broad question of the United States' general attitude respect to the Communist world, the differences have been deep and clear-cut.

This despite the fact that at times both candidates have appeared to be presenting the same general aims.

Both insist that the U.S. must be strong enough to keep the peace; to keep the United States strong and prevent Communist expansion; to forge a stronger Western alliance and support the United Nations.

The difference lies in the way the two men propose to carry out their programs.

Johnson has attempted to reflect the image of a strong, steady statesman who will give in to the Communists but will explore every possible avenue for lessening cold war animosities.

Goldwater says the Johnson government has been characterized by the soft-sell co-existence policies of Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet premier who was ousted by U.S. has not been tough enough in Viet Nam and Cuba; that it has helped the Communist world by selling it wheat.

The Democratic charge that Goldwater is trigger-happy and might set off a nuclear war.

Goldwater, denying this, says the real danger is that the United States will drift into war the weak and vacillating line that calls the "trigger-happy" accusation an "outright lie," but admits it has been the single issue most damaging to his campaign.

Democrats charge that Goldwater's policies would mean withdrawal from United Nations, cutting diplomatic links with the Communist world, reducing foreign aid, abandoning of the partial nuclear test-ban treaty and fighting to roll back the Iron Curtain.

Goldwater, on the other hand, says the present government has led NATO into disunity and disarray and that if elected he would hold a "conclave" to "rebuild our grand alliance."

He said the United States needs a "more discriminating and practical foreign aid policy" but denies he is an isolationist.

He says he would continue American backing for the United Nations — although he once brushed it off as a "debating society." And he no longer advocates a break in relations with Russia, although he says the threat of such a break might be used as a bargaining device.

RC Priest Criticizes Que. Clergy

MONTREAL (CP)—A Roman Catholic priest said Thursday night the Quebec clergy burdened by tradition, "does not seem to quite grasp what is going on today."

Rev. Claude Blain of the Sulpician Order, speaking at a Mercantile Club dinner in Montreal's St. Albert le Grand Monastery, said Christianity, "as everything else is very living place in Quebec," is undergoing a more or less great revolution.

Topic of the discussion was: "Are our elites betraying us?"

He said the clergy betraying us" and it would not be an exaggeration to say that Catholicism in those today is undergoing its moment of truth. It seems like a terrible moment.

"We should have a 20th century theology which would not be 100 years behind the economical council and present-day theological research, a theology that would take into account the state of Quebec and all its problems."

Gerard Filion, director - general of the General Investment Office, said such interests as "we are betrayed" make up a cry of a vanquished people concerned to assume for its defeat. The corporation was set up by the government ot invest in economic and private funds in economic development.

What is the trend among French - Canadians who would like to find outside reasons for their weakness," Mr. Filion said.

For example, it would be difficult to blame French - speaking Canadian financiers for Quebec problems.

Wilson's Channel Announcement Eases Anglo-French Tension

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's new hands-under-the-Channel gesture to President Charles de Gaulle may take some of the tension out of relations between the two countries.

The British labor government pledged Thursday to go ahead with Britain's part in a channel tunnel, a project that has been mooted off and on for years.

Significantly, the pledge came on the same day that Britain's aviation minister, Roy Jenkins, began a re - examination" in Paris of another Anglo-French project, the supersonic airliner Concorde. Doubts about the future of the Concorde caused by soaring costs.

And the announcement also coincided with sharp French criticism of the new Labor government's import surcharges, which apply to a high proportion of goods sold by France to Britain.

But, if the history of the channel tunnel is any guide, the Thursday announcement will mean no immediate dramatic moves, although it does remove French anxiety that Britain might withdraw altogether.

The French and British governments first talked of a channel tunnel—that any cross-channel link would be a rail tunnel, not a bridge, but surveys have yet to determine whether it should be a bored tunnel or an immersed tube. There also are important legal and financial problems to be solved.

R. F. A. C. Bellenger, the British banker who is chairman of the channel tunnel study group, reported earlier this week the estimated cost now climbed to £180,000,000 from the earlier figure of £130,000,000.

Our expert consultants estimate that a bored twin tunnel, with services in between, will cost more and build and an immersed tube four years."

British officials have approved in principle a bored twin tube tunnel than the French and the Conservative government has criticized the decision during the recent election campaign for its approach to the project. The bored project envisages two separate tunnels, each containing a single rail track, reducing London-Paris train trip to 4½ from seven hours. Apart from normal passenger and freight services, there would be automobile "ferry" trains at frequent intervals.

Traditional British objections to the scheme arose from defence considerations and these persisted until the late Sir Winston Churchill was prime minister. Harold Macmillan, then defence minister, said "strategic considerations" really were not involved.

CRASH KILLS 12

SAIGON (AP) — A Vietnamese helicopter crashed into a rugged terrain of Darlac province, killing 12 persons aboard, most of them civilian dependents, the defence ministry said today. The crash, 140 miles north of Saigon, occurred Tuesday and was not reported earlier because it was not connected with the war, a ministry spokesman said.

Writer-Commentator Says Face of English Canada Has Changed Towards Quebec

By JOHN LeBLANC

TORONTO (CP) — A conference on English-Canadian attitudes ran into an exchange of criticisms between English and French elements Thursday over the Queen's recent visit to Quebec.

Writer - commentator Blair Fraser's criticism on the way the Queen was received at Quebec City drew from two French-Canadian university students the retort that the Royal Visit was politically-inspired. One accused Prime Minister Pearson of an "impasture."

Mr. Fraser was one of the speakers at the opening session of a four-day series of meetings, sponsored by students of the University of Toronto, to examine "The changing face of English Canada." Students and experts from across the country are looking into the subject in the light of the more-publicized French-Canadian changes.

Mr. Fraser expressed the view that the face of English Canada will have changed—"and not a warm change"—towards Quebec as the result of the disturbances that surrounded the Royal Visit.

"On that day, there was no respect in which Quebec looked good," said the speaker an eye witness to what he called police brutality and "shocking rudeness" by demonstrators.

REPORT 'MISLEADING'

In dealing with the role of the Quebec police, Mr. Fraser said Quebec Attorney-General Wagner's report clearing them was "misleading." While he would not impugn Mr. Wagner's veracity, "his account of police behaviour was not correct."

The only symptom of police training he had seen was the fact there was a bloodshed. Onlookers had been struck so that blood did not spill.

"A totally depressing day," Mr. Fraser said.

Mr. Fraser's theme was whether there was homogeneity among English Canadians. He concluded there was not. He also thought the Royal Visit events might do something to disturb French-Canadian homogeneity, which would be good.

Prof. J. M. S. Careless head of the University of Toronto's history department, said he believes an acceptance of French culture is growing in Ontario.

"I think there's some reason to believe it will be accepted—if we have the time," he said.

At present, he said, it could be stated that culturally speaking Canada is two nations. Though it was politically one, the cultural division had a very strong place.

Church Services Mark 151 Years At Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — On October 25 the 151st. anniversary of the Johnstown services of its people was celebrated morning and evening at the church with a fall house and Rev. George Asbury of Redneersville as guest speaker.

The church was decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums. The choir members were resplendent in their gowns, and their singing was much appreciated. Rev. Asbury spoke on "Giants" saying "Everyone is exercised about the new curriculum of the United Church. A pamphlet had on the cover "Did David Kill Goliath". When we get drawn into small controversies we miss the whole story. It is not that David killed Goliath, but that God gives us strength to defeat evil, for David did not trust in his own strength but in God.

FEARS ARE GIANTS

"Most people face obstacles. These are not giants. The real giants are fears of what life brings. Fear is not a birthday party bot a battle. Sometimes this is the only way we can learn humility and trust in God. Sometimes guilt becomes an all consuming thing in our lives. We should not let this thing grow as God sees that there are times when sins can not be made right but He wants us to let bygones be bygones.

"When we have the giant of fear it is like a telescope, enlarging everything out of proportion, but if we bring these things to our Father in Heaven, problems seem to shrink. We have to look above our environs to get a better proportion of things, so many of our problems are in the way we look at them," said Rev. Asbury.

"The only true greatness is to be humble and the way to greatness is the way of service."

HISTORY OF CHURCH

In 1813 John N. Stickie who was of U.E.L. descent came to this community when he was very young. At that time his father moved to Lot 3, Concession 2 of Sidney. They made a clearing and built a log cabin and it was in this cabin that the first religious services were held in Johnstown. This portion of the township was then a wilderness, without roads and with only a few paths through the wilderness where two or three settlers had preceded them. Walking along these paths was the only way settlers had of moving from one cabin to another.

The church meetings were held every two weeks in this cabin and later when a frame house was built the meetings were held there, where there was more room. These services were continued until about 1840 and services were held in the first Johnstown school house until 1876, when the church was erected.

MANY NAMED JOHN

This community received the name of Johnstown due to the number named John who settled here. Some of them are John Harry, John Stickie, John Harder whose descendants are still farming in this neighborhood. The Stickie farm dates back to the Crown.

In 1874 Lewis Davis gave land to the Johnstown people to build a church. Everyone turned in to help with it. The cost was around $2,500. The Johnstown United Church started as a Methodist Episcopal Church. This Church with Grace Church Trenton became separate charges with Rev. Dewey as minister in 1884.

A few years ago Johnstown was put with N. Trenton Church as Grace Church had grown so it was impossible for one man to handle so much. Mr. Brien Thrasher, a student-minister has been in charge of N. Trenton and Johnstown for the past few years. His term will be up next conference when he will be ordained. During his term of office a Mr. and Mrs. Club has been formed, a Young People's Union, a nursery and at present a Sunday School held at the school with 57 pupils enrolled and more wishing to join. This is held at the same time as church so that all can go home at the same time.

WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Curtis Plugbbon suffered a severe injury to her head when her son's car in which she was riding and one driven by Clive Wilson of Ormsby were in an accident on Sunday on the Base Lake Rd.

Quebec Conservative Reflects

Wanted: 'Tory Leaders With Whig Ideas'

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP)—We need Tory leaders with Whig ideas," said the stocky financier, giving his swivel-seat a no-nonsense whirl as he earnestly paraphrased Disraeli.

Marcel Faribault sat in the deserted office of the trust company he heads and spoke with bilingual gusto about Canada's future and the future of his native Quebec.

His staff had long since left for the day but the 56 year-old Mr. Faribault talked on tirelessly to a reporter in the manner that won him the attention of Progressive Conservatives at their recent Fredericton conference on national goals.

A Conservative himself, he has never sought political office. He may still take the plunge, however, and the party would have in its Quebec camp a forceful sophisticate who wants a decentralized federal system for Canada and less reliance on government in the tackling of economic problems.

Of the young separatists in Quebec, he says: "Put them to work and they'd soon get to know hard, dollar realities."

TOUGE FOR TORIES

At Fredericton he presented a sample preamble for a draft constitution for Canada that would grant each province "all the powers, rights and prerogatives of a state" except for "matters and powers hereby conferred exclusively in the federal government."

Marcel Faribault would claim for his draft that it drives its inspiration from the "hard, dollar" facts of life. For him, a grasp of these realities is the hallmark of a true Tory, while the term Whig signifies a taste for new ideas and a wit to implement them.

But whether he enter active politics depends on how it will affect his wife and seven children, he says. "Their welfare comes first."

And then there are the prospects for the Conservatives in Quebec right now.

"Things look rather bad for them here at the moment. But no one must think in terms of years. Maybe later things will be different."

The Faribaults have been lawyers since 1754 when the first of them came to Quebec from France. But Mr Faribault—great - great - uncle, Georges-Barthelemi, won a place of honour outside law for compiling a plumed list of works on North American history.

DIRECTOR OF BELL

This scholarly bent also appears in the character of Marcel Faribault, trained though he was to be a practising notary. A friend of Disraeli, the 19th century British prime minister, comes easily to the voluble man of affairs.

It was in 1946 that he joined the Financial de Canada as a director, becoming the Montreal firm's president in 1955.

He served with a preponderance of French-speaking personnel, listed total assets under its control at the end of 1963 as $367,748,000 Its net profit for the year was $467,828—15 per cent higher than in 1962.

Mr. Faribault is also a director of Dupuis Freres department store in Montreal, Banque Canadienne Nationale, Bell Telephone Company of Canada and 10 other firms

In 1960, John Diefenbaker appointed him to the Canada Council, and membership in several Quebec learned societies is further reflection of his intellectual interests.

He has written a book on notarial law and taught the subject at his alma mater, the French-language University of Montreal, also serving as the university's secretary - general from 1950 to 1955.

SEEKS EFFICIENCY

Mr. Faribault says it is business that has taught him an love of efficiency for what he calls unreal and obsolete elements in the present constitution of Canada. And he believes most Quebecers are similarly "hard-headed" about the no-nonsense which has been "earnestly paraphrased" Disraeli.

IRONS IN FIRE—Marcel Faribault is a lawyer in a long line of lawyers since 1754 when the first of his family came to Quebec from France. But he has not remained only in law. He is also president of a Montreal trust company, and a director of 13 companies including Bell Telephone of Canada and Banque Canadienne Nationale. In 1960, former Prime Minister Diefenbaker appointed him to the Canada Council. Mr. Faribault is married and has seven children. (CP Photo)

Other provinces want changes too, he declares, but whenever Quebec voices such a wish, "prejudice" leads to hostile reactions among some English-speaking Canadians.

"Look here, governing a huge country like Canada is no job for pygmies. You can't rely on prejudices in ruling Canada.

"What's more, to me, democracy is simply people locked together in discussion."

FAVORS ARISTOTLE

If one side demands too much of another—a surrendering of provincial rights, the death of a language — discussion becomes impossible and democracy collapses, he said. His voice echoing through the empty corridors of the 10-storey Trust General building.

He traced Quebec's current demands for constitutional changes back to the government of Maurice Duplessis, who died in 1959.

But where eyes fired up behind unrimmed glasses, the versatile financier ranged much further afield in tracing the security roots of what he called "true federalism."

Quebec chapter and verse, he cited the political readings of a lifetime—Locke, Burke, de Tocqueville, Montesquieu and a variety of other idea-makers, British and French.

Then there was Aristotle, ancient prophet of the "realism" Mr. Faribault says he prefers to the "idealism" of another Greek, Plato.

Though Mr. Aristotle brought on a paean to private property and this in turn brought up the question of young separatists.

'NEVER MENTION NAMES'

"Aristotle says that under a system based on private property things are cared for better and people are kept busy enough not to be able to indulge in excessive discussion and dreaming."

Education has a rightfully prominent place in Quebec's development, he said, but education by itself is not enough and can sometimes drift away from life's realities.

The Mr. Faribault voiced other opinions, just as strong as his political views but a mite more abstract. There was the problem of translating works of literature, for example, and why such rendering of St. John of the Cross and Cervantes was easier 200 years ago than today.

Talk of the French poet Paul Valery and the philosopher Jacques Maritain followed, with the added comment that artists and thinkers are as much grist to the businessman's mill as they are food for academic speculation.

"Quote Mill or Burke to a businessman and he'll probably tell you it's marvellous, common-sense stuff. Tell him who said it and he'll accuse you of idealism. The thing is never to mention names."

In his 1963 report to the shareholders of Trust General, he remarked:

"Created in the image of God, man wishes himself to be in business and he'll probably some way a creator and will ever seek the means to become so.

"A moderate capitalism remains one such means especially through the very modern form of capitalism which is called a company or a corporation."

GOLFERS PLEASE NOTE

Bay of Quinte Country Club pro George Balasz announced this morning that, weather permitting, the course will remain open late in the month of November.

Conditions are good right now, but, as we said, it all depends on the weatherman.

And, all those with equipment, either in the club house or pro shop, are asked to please take it home tomorrow—as it may end up there for the winter, at your own risk.

Back to the golfing end of it for a moment, a number of the game's real addicts claim they enjoy the sport most this time of the year.

Cool days and much-less crowded courses make for enjoyable golf. And, according to street-corner runners, some mighty fine scores are being carded these days, too.

One problem to keep in mind: don't make your golfing plans too far ahead or you could end up with a six-inch snowfall for a caddy.

A HUNTING WE WILL GO

With the deer hunters away and gunning this weekend, the district forester, from Tweed, passes along some reminders on the rules and regulations as applied to the Tweed forest area:

The Northern portion of the Tweed District (north of No. 7 Highway) lies within Schedule 4 of the Summary of the Ontario Hunting Regulations. The season here runs for two weeks, commencing on November 2 and closing on November 14.

The season in the Southern portion of the district, the area lying in between Highways No. 7 and No. 2 is for one week only, commencing on November 2. This area is listed in Schedule 6 of the Summary and there has been some misconception here as to certain regulations.

In the Tweed District, dogs are permitted as are high-powered rifles.

There is no deer season south of No. 2 Highway in the Tweed District.

Hunters are reminded that the Tweed District Office needs your co-operation in collecting deer jaws. Keeping track of the age analysis of the kill is an important part of deer management which can only be done through an examination of wear on the lower teeth of the deer.

Deer jaws submitted to Tweed or to any of the field offices should be tagged stating the place (township), date of the kill and the sex of the animal.

Have a good time and above all — BE CAREFUL!

JUNIORS GETTING READY

Belleville's Junior "B" pucksheasers are working out again this evening at Memorial Arena, from 9.00 to 10.30 o'clock.

Secretary Don Barclay says the first cuts were made last Sunday and that as yet no players have been signed to official playing forms. "But we'll be ready when the opening bell sounds," adds Barclay.

The league schedule is yet to be officially approved, but Belleville expects to open in Trenton on Wednesday, November 11, followed by a home-opener here against Napanee on Friday, November 13.

We learn from Canadian Sports Associates, a promotion firm from Cornwall which handles booking for touring sports shows, guest speakers, etc., that Eddie Feigner will be making his final swing through Canada in 1965.

At least that is the word from Feigner himself. The King and His Court provided far and away the best softball show seen here in many a moon during the 1963 season.

The printed word has it that Feigner, no spring chicken, is switching a lot of his sports interest from softball to bowling, and, as you might expect, he is said to be a great one on the lanes.

Perhaps this has something to do with "The King's" announcement that "1965 will be my last circuit through Canada with my four-man softball team."

While with softball, we learned with deep regret this week that the district is losing one of its finest competitors.

Leroy Wannamaker, of Trenton, is leaving his home town for a position in Kingston.

Wannamaker, best known, at least in Belleville, for his softball ability, has had a lengthy career in baseball, hockey, football and basketball, both as a player and official.

A real scrapper every inch of the way, Wannamaker will be greatly missed on the local sports scene.

This department joins with sports as a whole in wishing Leroy and his family the best of luck in the future, business and sports-wise.

Crozier Chalks Up Another Shutout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There's nothing wrong with Boston Bruins that a few goals wouldn't cure.

But no one on the club appears to have the right medicine.

The Bruins have been impotent around the net so far this season, a factor that has contributed heavily to their early losses and one tie in eight games.

Entrenched deeply in the National Hockey League cellar, Boston has managed only eight goals in eight contests. The Bruins get enough shots on goal—currently averaging more than 36 a game—but they can't get the puck into the net.

It was the same story Thursday night as Detroit Red Wings blanked the Bruins 2-0 on bruce MacGregor's first two goals of the season and rookie Roger Crozier's third shutout in the only NHL game played. The win moved Detroit into a three-way tie for first place with Toronto and Montreal.

Boston had 33 shots at the Detroit net, but Crozier has their measure. The rookie goalie also blanked the Bruins 4-0 last Sunday and has allowed just two goal in his last four games.

Boston's trouble seems to be a major collapse among their corps of veterns forwards. Of their eight goals, four have been scored by newcomers (Reg Fleming and Ron Shock) while defenceman Ted Green has one marker and two assists, a team high.

OLIVER'S OUTPUT DOWN

Murray Oliver, the club's top scorer last season with 36 goals and 44 assists, has two points to date on a goal and an assist. Dean Prentice had 23 goal last year, but just one this season and Johnny Bucyk, an 18-goal man, has a single.

Youngsters Orland Kurtenbach and Gary Doak hooker, who each had 12 last year, have yet to score. The same is true of Ab McDonald and Murray Balfour, expected to accomplish mighty feats after being traded to Boston.

The Bruins tried hard enough, pumping 15 shots at Crozier in the first period before tiring as the effects of their second game in two nights began to tell. Goalie Ed Johnston stopped 36 Red Wings drives to keep them in the game.

MacGregor struck within a nine-minute span during the second period. He tallied first when the teams were playing five men aside and rubbed salt in the wound by breaking up a Boston power play and scoring while Gordie Howe was in the penalty box.

A crowd of 10,107 was treated to a third-period melee as Norm Ullman and Bob McCord slugged it out in front of the Bruins net. They each got five minutes for fighting while four others were handed two-minute roughing terms.

A field goal attempt was

Clay Says Will Call In U.N.

BOSTON (AP) — Muhammed Ali, the former Cassius Clay, plans to bring in United Nations observers for his defence of the heavyweight boxing championship against Sonny Liston.

"I dreamed I went into the ring but I wasn't fighting Liston," Muhammed said. "I was fighting the whole world. And they were all screaming, 'Get him!'

"If I lose it'll be a dirty loss, like the last time when Liston put that hot stuff on his gloves But I'll have my army there, because I expect the referee, the crowd, the judges and the newspaper men to be with him. Everybody will be with him except those I know personally. I'll have 11 people flown in from the United Nations, people from Asia and Africa and everywhere to observe. If it's a clean fight, this isn't only a fight, this is a big thing."

Tommy Rawson, Massachusetts boxing commissioner, reduced publicity over the suggestion the ring officials would be against Muhammed.

"I'm not making no judgments or statements against no party," the champ replied. "I'm just letting you know us a way I got a bad feeling."

Petes Down Hawks; Habs Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series leaders remained the same Thursday night but two Montreal Canadien farm clubs made moves toward the top.

Montreal Junior Canadiens posted a 5-1 victory over Hamilton Red Wings to climb into fourth place with seven points while Peterborough Petes downed the Kitchener Black Hawks 4-3 to move into a two-way tie for sixth place with the Hawks.

Niagara Falls, Oshawa and Toronto are first, second and third in the division with 12, 11 and eight points respectively.

Jacques Lemaire's two-goal performance helped the Junior Canadiens, with the other goals going to Guy Dufour, Carol Vadnais and Claude Larose. Captain Jimmy Peters counted Hamilton's goal.

Peterborough got two goals from Andre Lacroix, including one on a penalty shot, and one each from Leo Thiffault and Dan Grant. Bill Carson and Doug Shelton got the Hawk goals in the rugged contest which was marred by 13 penalties, including five majors.

Clip Picton 16-14

BCIVS Seniors Force Playoff

By DAVID TEMPLER

BCIVS Seniors clipped Picton 16-14 in a Sunday Bay of Quinte COSSA tilt at the Fairgrounds last night to keep their hopes for the championship alive.

The victory forces a sudden-death playoff against first-place Quinte Saints, to be played on Tuesday. Time and field for this game is yet to be decided.

BCI must win in regulation time, which would force a 20-minute overtime period, in order to oust Quinte.

BCI Juniors wound up their season's play in the other half of last night's doubleheader by defeating Picton 16-13 on a final-quarter rouge.

Early in the senior game a fumble gave Picton the ball on BCI's 37. After two incomplete passes a blocked field goal attempt was recovered by Picton for their second chance. This one from BCI's 25-yard line. George Sewffer drove to the five and Neil Fennell carried to the one yard line.

Picton drew the kick-off BCI punted. Mott, the outside man, rushed the punt receiver and knocked the ball into the open.

Murray Swan picked it up and ran for BCI's first T.D. Purcell converted to tie the score.

After Picton's safety man was caught by Wellesley for a rouge.

In the middle of the third quarter Picton attempted a quick kick but alert BCI safeties returned the ball to the 53. Ron Walsh drove for five yards and Terry Wellesly went wide to the left for 36 more.

A field goal attempt was wide and Ray Hobson, for Picton, returned from the end zone to the one. After two plays Picton had a punting situation on the two, but a faulty snap gave BCI lineman Laverne Allair his chance to nail Ray Hobson in his own end zone for two big points.

Three plays later BCI again regained possession on the BCI 43 yard line. Bill Hallam pitched out perfectly to Allan Mott, who, faking an end run, passed to Tom Larvie all alone; he romped over for the TD.

In the final period a 40-yard gain by Neil Fennell put Picton on the BCI 23. Roy Hobson carried three times for the necessary ten yards to a first.

JUNIOR GAME

BCI took a 7-0 first-quarter lead after a 20-yards penalty. A series of plays by Jim McCreary, Ross McDougall and Ray Thibeau moved the ball to Picton's two-yard line. Pete Helm jumped over for the touchdown and McCreary converted.

In the second quarter Picton came back with Larry Lawrence carrying to the one and Ernie Sharpe getting the TD. The try after was missed.

In the third Picton climaxed a 60-yard march with a single to tie the score. With five minutes left in the game Sharpe drove from the 17 for his second TD. There was no convert.

In the first play after the kickoff the determined collegian squad roared back with McCreary hitting Steve Lee with a long, looping pass. He carried ot the end zone but the missed convert left the score tied.

With 40 seconds left in the game McCreary punted into the end zone where Scott Scrimshaw nailed the punt receiver for the winning rouge.

The Juniors, through for the season, thanked coach Allan for an excellent job despite the team's failure to win the championship.

their play with B.C. this season. He was dressed by mistake Wednesday when Lions fell 26-16 to Calgary.

Edmonton manager Hark Capozzi said it was an oversight. Lions picked Taylor up from Saskatchewan as a free agent after Oct. 15 and players can not be signed by a club after Oct. 15 and used in the same season.

B.C.'s injury problems included Tom Hinzo and defensive half Neil Beaumont, who also doubles as the club's punter. Whether either would dress for the game against Bombers was a question.

Oldtimers Attend Funeral

OTTERVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Oldtime hockey players paid tribute Wednesday to Warren Russell (Russ) Oatman, National Hockey League player in the 1920s, at a funeral service in this village 30 miles southeast of London.

Oatman, who died Sunday at 39, played for Detroit, Montreal Maroons and New York Rangers for three seasons beginning in 1926 and was rated among the fastest skaters of his day—the day of Howie Morenz, Hec Kilrea, Nels Stewart, Babe Siebert, Eddie Shore, Hooley Smith and other stars.

A summer automobile accident cut off his career in its prime when he suffered permanent injury to his legs.

Red Anderson, Harbie Hawes and Chuck Esselltine were among hockey players and fans of the 1920s who attended the funeral.

Berra May Join Stengel With Mets

Job Up To Casey

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Dollar Yogi Berra will likely have something to say after a vacation about the latest development in his baseball career.

The former New York Yankee manager was reached at his home by telephone Thursday night on the eve of his departure for a 30-day golfing holiday at Pinehurst, N.C.

"What about the New York Mets business, Yogi?" he was asked.

A brief pause followed, punctuated by what sounded like the rattle of golf clubs from the Berra end of the line.

"We understand," the questioner continued, "that Mets president George Weiss wants you in his organization, that he considers you 'a man with a great deal of baseball knowledge and popularity."

"Yeah, now I talked," said Berra. He referred to a meeting Wednesday with Weiss in New York City.

"And what did you say?"

"I said I'm going to think about it."

"Think about what? What did he offer you?"

"Well, I don't have anything to say now."

Berra was equally noncommunicative after he was fired as manager of the Yanks on Oct. 16. The Yanks had won the American League pennant, then lost the World Series to St. Louis Cardinals in seven games.

In New York Thursday, Weiss said there has been "no concrete discussion of any type of job he might be interested in." But Weiss said he wanted Berra and understood that he was a free agent.

The job, Weiss said, would be up to Casey Stengel, the Mets manager and another former manager of the Yankees.

'Quoted Out Of Context'

Plante Denies Dissension, Trade Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran goaltender Jacques Plante denied Thursday that he had pictured New York Rangers as a dissension - riddled hockey team as that he had asked to be traded.

Plante, now playing with the American Hockey League Baltimore Clippers, said he was quoted by a New York newspaper as saying the Rangers were a "cheap organization" and that he would never play again for Ranger coach Red Sullivan.

At a well-attended press conference, Plante denied the charges one by one, claiming he had been misinterpreted and "quoted out of context."

"I've been in hockey since 1947 and I've never knocked the game or any organization in it," Plante said. "The game has been my life. Why should I knock it?

"I never said I wouldn't play for Sullivan. I said I couldn't play for him right now because of my knee."

COMPLAINED ABOUT KNEE

Plante was sent to Baltimore after the Rangers claimed he was complaining of an injured right knee. His injury, diagnosed as cartilage trouble, is being treated by the Clippers team physician and, according to Plante, "improving with every game."

Sullivan, who had been quoted as saying he wanted to trade Plante, denied that statement. "I never said I wanted to trade Jacques," the coach explained, "I said I'd consider trading him."

Plante said he was glad when he was dealt to the Rangers a year ago last June. "And I'm still glad to be with the organization. I hope to stay with them for the next 500 days are over."

He said I was happy playing in Baltimore and that's true. I'm happy because I'm able to play in the National League.

Plante said that, although his knee is improving, he is not ready to play in the National League.

"I'm playing good hockey, but there's still some pain in the knee," he said.

A six-time Vezina Trophy winner and winner of the Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player three years ago Plante was traded to New York by Montreal Canadiens in a seven-player deal in June, 1963.

Gump Worsley, the goalie the Rangers gave up in the trade to get Plante, also is playing in the American League. Worsley is the netminder for the unbeaten Quebec Aces, a Montreal farm team.

Golf Lead To Harrison

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Dutch Harrison tucked into the lead in the second round of the $35,000 National Senior Open golf tournament Thursday, adding a two-under-par 70 to his opening-day 68 for a 138 total.

Harrison, who backs up 140 was Al Feldman of Olympia, Wash. Jimmy Demaret was in a three-way tie with Harry Umbinetti and Zeli Easton at 141.

First-day leader Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb., dropped into a tie for fourth with a three-over-par 75 for 142.

Clair Raps Nothing Games

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Though fans and some players have gone to view games played THIS IS the season when final standings have been decided as "nothing" games. Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders couldn't agree less.

There isn't any question left as to who the Eastern Football Conference league champions are, but there's still a tough playoff set to get through and Clair, Ottawa coach, is hoping to hone his sagging Riders back into winning form Saturday when they meet the Argonauts in Toronto.

Ottawa is firmly in second place behind Hamilton Tiger-Cats while Toronto is just as firmly in last place behind Montreal Alouettes.

"I don't think there is such a thing as a nothing game," said Clair Thursday in an interview.

"We can't exactly plan for the next game in the one against Argos, but we'll have that in mind."

"The next game" is the sudden-death eastern playoff semi-final against Montreal Nov. 7 in Ottawa to decide which team enters the two-game, total-point final with Hamilton starting Nov. 14 in Ottawa.

The Riders have lost their last three games, two to Hamilton and one to Argos, but he and Clair is hoping to reverse this trend Saturday.

The final game of the regular schedule in Montreal Sunday will be on the CTV eastern network, also starting at 2 p.m.

Hamilton coach Ralph Sazio says he may go to his bench for the game against Montreal, bringing back halfback Bobby Gaiters to replace Johnny Counts.

Although technically bench strength, Gaiters has played most of the season in place of veteran Willie Bethea, injured in the first game of the season.

Sazio says Counts has a slight muscle pull and won't play unless he is 100 per cent fit.

"I never thought I'd see the day when we'd have a man like Gaiters waiting in the wings," says Sazio.

Horlocks, SACO Win Openers

Horlock Electric and SACO racked up victories as the Quinte Hockey League opened the 1964-65 schedule at Memorial Arena last night.

SACO took an early lead and went on to thump Ter-Haar Daubers 7-3 while Horlocks whipped 7-1.

L. McBride spearheaded the Horlock attack, scoring once in every period. The other goals went to G. Little and B. Wannamaker, with two each. B. Hill drew three assists, D. Stewart and B. Lambert two each, R. Burrows and Wannamaker one.

R. Boulter potted the only Rossmore marker. The score by periods was 2-1 and 4-1.

SACO led 2-0 after one period and 5-1 going into the final chapter before splitting four final goals.

Johnson was the only two-goal man for the winners, single goals going to L. Potter, R. Reid, D. Lucas, K. Forsythe and D. Ray. D Knapton earned two assists with one apiece for Lucas, Forsythe and Ray

H. Polster scored twice and B. Strachan once in defeat. Rutan had an assist.

Games are scheduled in the four-team league every Thursday night.

OBTAINS RIGHTS

NEW WYORK (AP) — The Mutual radio network announced Thursday it had obtained radio rights to the Canada Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight at Boston, Nov. 16 for approximately $250,000. The network said the rights cover the 50 states and Canada. There will be no regular home television of the fight.

NFL Has Key Games On Sunday

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pittsburgh Steelers, who threw a monkey wrench into last season's battle for the National Football League's Eastern Division title, have an opportunity to scramble the race again this weekend—with an umbrella.

The Steelers parlayed three ties and seven victories into a shot at their first divisional crown last year despite a poor won-lost percentage, but bowed out with a loss to New York Giants in the last game of the regular season.

Now they're bogged down with a 3-4 record but could throw the eastern race into a tight struggle by beating Cleveland Sunday in one of the big games on the NFL schedule Sunday.

The Browns have a 5-1-1 record but their lone loss was to the Steelers, who got the job done with an effective 6-1 umbrella defence that stymied Cleveland.

MEET GIANTS

While the Browns are trying to even the season series with the Steelers, second-place St. Louis Cardinals 4-2-1, will be at New York against the Giants and third - place Philadelphia Eagles 4-3, at home to Washington Redskins.

Baltimore Colts, leading the Western Division with a 6-1 record, could break the race open by downing San Francisco 49ers while Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams, tied for second with 4-2-1 records, are banging heads.

In other games, Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears will try to get untracked against Minnesota Vikings and Dallas Cowboys respectively.

The American Football League gets under way tonight with Boston Patriots at New York Jets in a key Eastern Division game.

Sunday, Buffalo Bills, only unbeaten and untied team in either league, will go for a perfect 6-0 record at Houston Oilers. Oakland Raiders are at San Diego Chargers and Denver Broncos at Kansas City Chiefs.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Ships That Pass, a two-year-old colt owned by Conn Smythe of Toronto, scored a 1¼-length victory in the third race Thursday at Greenwood race track to return $6.80, 4.20 and 3.30.

The race was the first victory in 11 starts for the bay colt. Meeting and Bye Bye Bunty.

The daily double of Park Heights in the first race and Bordeau Bar in the second returned $19.90 while the sixth race quinella of Gray Mouse and Reap the Wind paid $116.10.

PLACED ON WAIVERS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes placed guard Bob LeBlanc on waivers Thursday and removed tackle Dick Daniel from the injury list. Coach Jim Trimble said Daniel, out most of the season with torn knee ligaments, will probably play Sunday when the Alouettes meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the schedule-ending game of the Eastern Football Conference.

Grey Cup Nov. 28
Football Playoff Dates

HAMILTON (CP) — Playoff dates for the Eastern Football Conference were announced Thursday by Frank Gibson, EFC secretary - treasurer.

A sudden-death game between Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders will be played Saturday, Nov. 14, in Ottawa.

If Ottawa wins, the first of a two-game final series between the Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats will be played the following Saturday, Nov 14, at Ottawa.

But if the Alouettes win, the game will be played against the Ticats Saturday, Nov. 14, or Sunday, Nov. 15, at Montreal, depending on the outcome next week of an intercollegiate game.

The second game will be played Saturday, Nov. 21, at Hamilton.

East meets West in the Grey Cup classic Saturday, Nov. 28, at Toronto.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dates and locations for semi - final and final games in the Western Football Conference were announced Thursday by Canadian Football League commissioner G. S. Halter.

First game of the two-game total - point semi - final will be played Nov. 7 in Regina at 2:30 p.m. Second game will be played at the home of the other semi-finalist Nov. 9 at 8 p.m.

First game of the best - of - three final will be played at the home of the semi-final winner — if it's Calgary, on Regina, at 2 p.m. Nov. 14; if Vancouver, 2 p.m. Nov. 15.

Second game will be played at the home of the league winner Nov. 18 at 8 p.m.

Third game, if needed will also be played at the home of the league winner, Nov. 21, if it's Calgary, Nov. 22 if it's Vancouver game time will be 3 p.m.

Clair Must Win Says Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Frank Clair's future as coach of Ottawa Rough Riders depends on the outcome of Saturday's game in the Eastern Conference playoffs, Le Droit said Thursday.

Robert LaBelle, sports writer with the French - language daily, quotes "very reliable sources" as saying the Riders must do more than eliminate Montreal Alouettes in the eastern semi-finals if Clair is to be assured of another year as coach.

Clair came to Ottawa in 1956 and has one season left in his five - year contract. It was signed in 1960, the year Riders last won the Grey Cup.

In his nine seasons with Riders, Clair has always had the team to the finals, but never the Big Four title.

NAMED COACH

NAMED COACH

Chargers Sign B. Frank

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (CP) — San Diego Chargers of the American Football League apparently made a dollar bid with a National Football League club for Bill Frank, tackle dismissed by British Columbia Lions.

Frank was signed by the Chargers Thursday. He had been dismissed earlier by the Lions for bad conduct off the field and waived out of the Canadian Football League.

When the Lions traded him to Dallas of the National League, he headed instead for San Diego.

San Diego officials said that Frank was drafted by Dallas and the Chargers in 1962 for the 1963 season. He went to Canada instead but he remained on both their reserve lists.

As there is no trade agreement between the CFL and NFL there is nothing to stop either club from signing Frank, officials said. Signing by Chargers amounted only to the San Diego team winning a dollar fight with the NFL club for a player who was on both reserve lists.

NOT REGISTERED

In Vancouver, general manager Herb Capozzi of the Lions said he had been advised by the AFL commissioner that the league had not registered Frank's new San Diego contract.

The suspension by Lions came after Frank was convicted in court on a traffic charge and later became involved in a fracas with another member of the B.C. team.

In Winnipeg, G. S. Halter, Canadian Football League commissioner, said Thursday in an interview that the contract between Frank and the Chargers had not been approved by the commissioner of the American Football League.

Halter said the CFL and the AFL commissioner were conferring on the question and no decision had been reached.

Windsor VS. Montreal
Junior Crown At Stake

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor AKO, two of its best blueline backs on the side-lines with injuries, leave today for Montreal and the Eastern Canada junior football final against Montreal Notre Dame de Grace Saturday.

Halfbacks Doug Ingalls and Frank Bellavy suffered similar severe shoulder injuries in last Saturday's all Ontario game against Weston Invictus and will not be available for action with AKO Saturday.

Coaches George Arnott and Ray Ryan will move Gary Talko into the starting lineup, replacing Ingalls. Bill Welsh will fill Bellavy's shoes as back-up man to Talko.

AKO is making its first serious bid for the Canadian junior crown since championships since 1955, when it lost 19-13 to Winnipeg Rods in the Canadian final. AKO won the Dominion laurels in 1952 and 1954.

ARE UNDEFEATED

Windsor, undefeated in nine starts to date, have played in the Eastern Canada final at Montreal three time since 1950. They defeated Lakeshore Flyers 22-6 in 1952 and Verdun Shamrocks 43-1 in 1954. On their last visit in Montreal in 1960, they suffered a 26-0 defeat at the hands of Rosemount Bombers, Canadian champions that year.

Since Montreal teams have captured the Eastern Canada junior title in each of the last three years, AKO coach Arnott is aware that his team will be definite underdogs in Saturday's two-thirds finale at Verdun Stadium.

"There's little doubt that's NDG will offer the best ground attack we've faced this season," Arnott said Thursday. "They're a big, strong ball club and our scouting reports indicate that they move the ball up the middle and around the flanks.

"We've altered our defences to protect against their option, Arnott said, 'and they'll have to be good to stop our passing attack.

"It should be a really good ball game."

SHOT KILLS BIRDS

MONTREAL (CP) — A wildlife biologist reported Thursday that the mysterious deaths of Canada geese at a nearby Laurentian shooting range were caused by poisoning from eating spent shotgun pellets. Rev. Jean Rene Mongeau, a brother who is a biologist with the Quebec wildlife management service in Montreal, said seven birds died in the vicinity. Many others were left feeble and weak and will probably die, he said.

Nicklaus Off To Bad Start

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, a pre - tournament favorite, got off to a bad start Thursday in the Australian Open golf championship and trailed a hometown Australian pro, John Sullivan, by five strokes after the first round of the 72-hole tournament.

Nicklaus, the Columbus, Ohio, strongman, tied for second place in South Africa's Cobie Legrange last week in the Wills Masters tournament, his first appearance in Australia.

Thursday Nicklaus shot a 75 on the 6,618-yard Lehes course.

Sullivan, from Adelaide, shot a 70 to lead another Australian, Ted Ball, by one stroke.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Pain Ridge Danny, a high-stepping six-year-old, staged a late surge at Garden City Raceway Thursday night to win the featured sixth race, a $1,000 pace.

It was the big gelding's 10th win of the season, raising his 1964 earnings for Murray Brown of Toronto to $9,377.

Palermo was second and Armbro Electra third.

Pine Ridge Danny paid $5.°°, $3.30 and $3 across the board and combined with Palermo, mee by the Ball and Ha..s Stable of Modonia, N.Y., for a $15 quinella.

Cherry Freeze in the first and Jolly Prince in the second combined for a $173.40 daily double.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Driver Johnny Chapman had a perfect average at the Western Fair Raceway Thursday night, reining two losers and winning them both—including the featured ninth, a pace for a purse of $1,000.

Atmore's first win was registered in the opening pace when he got the job done with Noble Dale, a three-year-old gelding, in 2:12 2-5 for the mile.

Noble Dale returned $4.°° and helped post a daily double of $33.20 when combined with Cook's Reagan, another gelding, that paid $11.80 in the second.

In the feature Atmore scored with Billy By-O, winning handily by two lengths. Billy By-O paced the fastest mile of the night, 2:10 flat.

A 13-year-old gelding, Herbert Carter, collected the third straight win in the fourth race, paying $4.00 and manufacturing an exacta of $25.00 with Adios Scott in second place.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

By GORDIE HOWE

I think all hockey players will agree with me that the most unsportsmanlike thing a spectator can do is throw coins on the ice.

They hold them in their hands until they get warm, then throw them. The heat causes them to imbed in the ice. If you skate over a coin, it will take the edge off your skate. When you go to stop, you may rack yourself up on the net or against the boards.

The City of Detroit passed a law making it a misdemeanor to throw objects on the playing area at a sports event, whether it was a hockey, baseball, or football game. Such articles delay play, spoil the game for everyone.

Rod Gilbert, New York's first young forward, nearly was lost to hockey because of just such a spoil sport. A program thrown on the ice caused him to skid into the boards, seriously injuring him when he was playing junior hockey.

Hockey skates are hollow ground so that each blade has two biting edges. The blades also are rockered. Set them on a flat surface and you'll be surprised at how little of the blade touches the ice.

Lefty Wilson rockers my blades so that less than half an inch touches the ice. This gives you mobility to turn them in a hurry. Again, a flat blade is difficult to turn.

When I see a youngster having trouble turning, I check to see if his blades are rockered.

I use three sets of blades a season. Every time I have them sharpened, I rub them with a piece of wood. This will eliminate the tiny little burrs developed in the edges. However, you can't see or feel them but they're there.

I don't want my skates too sharp. There are a lot of times when I put on the brakes to outmaneuver a checker. Or I want to slide to stay onside but still have momentum to go on with the play.

Canada Outdoors

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — A 16-page colored "comic book" carrying an appeal for the preservation of rural swamplands as a vital conservation measure is on its way to nearly 300,000 Canadian homes.

Although it is designed to attract the younger set federal officials hope adults will be tempted to read it as well.

The comic book is the most ambitious project yet in a decade-long campaign to educate Canadians to the need for retaining wetland areas as wildlife refuges and farm water reservoirs. It was prepared by the Canadian Wildlife Service, the federal agency primarily responsible for protecting migratory birds.

Entitled The Swamper it tells of a big city reporter's search for the facts behind a controversy over the use of wetlands. The 81 comic panels show how the reporter, first sceptical, sees the benefits of wetlands at first hand and becomes a devoted advocate of the preservation program.

BIG PRAIRIE ISSUE

Initial printing of the comic book, done by the Queen's Printer, ran to 267,000 English copies and 25,000 French.

Postmen will deliver 100 copies to rural homes in the Prairie provinces where the wetlands issue is a major one. Others will be distributed through sportsmen's clubs, conservation groups and hunting licence vendors across the country.

Copies were sent earlier to United States agencies and the project has been enthusiastic. J. C. Carlsen, wetlands program supervisor for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, sent a congratulatory letter to the wildlife's service here praising the "accurate, interesting presentation."

There was some early hesitation here in giving the go-ahead for printing because of the Liberal government's sensitivity to "comic books." The Liberals turned out a political comic book during the 1963 election campaign and reaped harsh criticism for their trouble.

Resources Minister Laing's concern over the wetlands situation finally overrode this objection.

No advance distribution of the comic book was made in Ottawa, however apparently to sidetrack political critics until the comic book actually gets into general circulation and people know exactly what it's about.

No Tryouts For U.S. Puck Team

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota will spawn the United States hockey team which will compete in the 1965 world championships in Finland in March.

Officials here Thursday announced the 17-player team will be coached by Ken Yackel, former University of Minnesota star, ex-Olympic player and former coach of Minneapolis Millers in the International League. The manager will be Cal Marvin of Warroad, Minn., manager of the 1958, U.S. national team and coach of the Warroad skaters.

There will be no tryouts; Yackel will make player selections at his own discretion.

The team opens practice July 5 at Duluth. It will play a five-game exhibition series in Minnesota before going to Europe for six more exhibitions before the world meet at Tampere, Finland, March 4-14.

Marvin said the team will have a $30,000 budget, a far cry from the Canadian national team's budget of $157,000.

Will Britain Scrap Supersonic Concord?

By JOE MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Is the dazzling Concord, the "world's first supersonic airliner," going to vanish from the horizon without ever getting airborne?

That was the £300,000,000 question today as Roy Jenkins, 44, Britain's new aviation minister, went to Paris to "reexamine urgently" the Anglo-French project.

Under an agreement signed Nov. 29, 1962, Britain and France became partners in producing the 160-ton Concord that would hustle passengers to New York in three hours.

With work now at the metal-cutting stage, there have been soaring hopes the Concord could take a good clear lead over the United States into the era of supersonic transport. The delta-wing, 118-passenger Concord's target date for airline service is 1971 after making its first flight in 1967.

However, Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his new Labor government, facing a tough economic situation, decided to restudy the giant "prestige" job, leading to anxiety in aviation circles that Britain will withdraw.

Another possibility is that work will be "stretched out" on the 1,400-mile-an-hour aircraft, which has a planned range of two Queen Marys, but this, too, might give the U.S. an advantage never to be regained.

SWITCH MEANS DELAY

The French government pledged Wednesday to protect its aviation industry no matter what Britain decides and there are reports West Germany might become an alternate partner. Any switch would mean delay because the nose of the plane are being built in Britain and parts in France.

Negotiations between Jenkins and French Transport Minister Marc Jacquet are expected to have wide implications since the Concord is virtually the only major enterprise on which Britain and France now are engaged in warm partnership.

Britain, a leader since the early days of aviation, has in recent years suffered heavy financial losses in aero-space projects, particularly in competition with the U.S. which enjoys far greater resources and home markets.

Wilson, in his election campaign, promised a thorough study of British aviation.

The Concord was an obvious starting point since the original cost estimate on £160,000,000, to be shared equally by the two countries, now has rocketed to £280,000,000. Unofficial estimates of the final cost go as high as £500,000,000.

Each country now has spent £20,000,000 on the two prototypes being built at Sud Aviation's Toulouse plant and at British Aircraft's Bristol factory, each company producing specific airframe parts. The Concord would use an Olympus engine similar to the one in Britain's new TSR-2 bomber.

WORTH READY YET?

Politics aside, some observers argue—the world is not ready for supersonic passenger flight and also that the noise would be intolerable to people on the ground.

"All the time the aeroplane is cruising at a supersonic pace it will be followed on ground level by a continuous double bang which is very likely to cause violent objection over populated areas," wrote Sir Miles Thomas, former chairman of British Overseas Airways Corporation.

Anyway, some 50 orders for Concords have been placed, including bids by some U.S. airlines. Canadian airlines, however, have not taken the bait. Each plane would cost between £3,000,000 and £5,000,000.

The plain fact, as the Manchester Guardian notes, is that no one knows for sure that the Concord will be a success since the project is stretching the "state of the aeronautical art" to the limit, if not beyond.

A big question in the competitive position is whether the U.S., which has not yet entered the supersonic race formally, will be content to build a twice-the-speed-of-sound plane like the Concord or go for more than 2,000 miles an hour with a bigger aircraft.

WOMEN'S ROLE

In Britain women form the largest body of the work force in such industries as distributive trades, clothing, footwear and textiles.

Here Is a Granny Still Interested in Beauty Care

DEAR DORIS — Is there a safe preparation for a 76-year-old Granny to use to mask wrinkles? I have a network of them on my left cheek but not so bad on the right. Is toilet cream any use or are these better left alone?

What will help to revive eyelashes? — SEVENTY-SIX.

DEAR SEVENTY-SIX — The leaflet "A Delaying Action for Wrinkles" is on its way to you. Not to delay the wrinkles — alas — but because of the facial gymnastics and other ideas which can improve skin tone at any age. Available to others for ten cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

DORIS CLARK

Good skin creams keep the skin soft and moist; and a cover-up foundation cream can mask the worst of lines.

Eyelashes tend to thin out with age, as head hair does. Apply vaseline each night to keep them soft.

DEAR DORIS — My parents are very strict with me; as a matter of fact they seem too strict. I just can't cope with them nagging me.

I'm 14 and have to be in at 8:30 or 9 o'clock so I miss most of the fun. What can be done about this? — PRISONED.

DEAR PRISONED — Have fun until 8:30 or 9 o'clock.

Confidential to CHEST PAIN — I couldn't possibly prescribe for you; nor could anyone else who is not a medical doctor. If you don't like your own physician's ideas, it's your privilege to change doctors.

Jackie Coogan Reaches 50, Made Debut at 16 Months

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Kid is 50.

There is still a touch of boyishness in his face, though his head is as bald as a cashew. Retired partly by age, partly shaved for a television series. His outlook is youthful as ever. He is always looking forward with eagerness to the next show.

Jackie Coogan at the half-century mark is a thoroughly alive figure. At 16 months he made his movie debut in a film starring Bryant Washburn in Chicago. At he toddled on stage during his father's vaudeville act and so convulsed the audience that he became part of the act.

At four he was playing in the Coogan set in Los Angeles when Charles Chaplin happened to be in the audience. Jackie seemed to be just the right boy for a movie the comedian had been planning. The Kid. Jackie's face, sly askew, eyes furtively searching for the cop on the beat, became famous the world over.

On a day off from playing Uncle Fester in The Addams Family television series, Jackie relaxed in his modest North Hollywood home and talked about his birthday this week and other matters.

"I didn't have a party or anything like that," he said.

Jackie was the first great child star of films, and he set the pattern for those to follow.

"We pioneered the commercial tieup market," he recalled. "At one time my name was on 30 or 40 different items, from dolls to pencil boxes. Peck and Peck paid me $100,000 per year to put out a Jackie Coogan line of clothes. Millions and millions of caps were sold."

Where did all the money go? Not to Jackie. After turning 21, he sued his mother and stepfather for an accounting of the $4,000,000 he said he earned as a minor. He never saw the money. California enacted "the Jackie Coogan law" which now protects the earnings of child actors.

Jackie himself looks back on his life and career with few regrets. "I only regret losing touch with the fans that I was hoping to get," he remarked.

During his near-50 years in show business, Jackie has made 125 movies, numerous tours in vaudeville (including one with his first wife, Betty Grable), legitimate plays and night clubs, plus 750 television shows.

"I'm where my future lies," said Jackie. "I think there is no end to its possibilities."

Immobilized Carol Burnett Likes to View Soap Operas

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Jokesters answering phones on CBS' The Entertainers set often say "Entertainers Went" these days. And Bob Newhart, one of its stars, refers to it as "The Hope Diamond Show."

Carol Burnett, its top star, is in hospital with a spine injury "probably the result of five years of pratfalls because I'm not a professional tumbler."

Imogene Coca, in her guest-star appearance tonight, will be immobilized on a swivel chair —it. result of breaking an ankle bone two weeks ago.

Now Gwen Verdon, the dancer, scheduled to appear on Nov. 8, has fractured a small bone in a foot. She may be able to play in a sketch, but there will be no dancing.

Meanwhile, Miss Burnett, while having her vertebrae stretched, has been exposed to real danger: Day-time television.

I watch the re-runs of old movies, re-runs of My Little Margie, re-runs of I Love Lucy, and of course Password and You Don't Say.

"But the real excitement is the soap operas — As the World Turns and Guiding Light and the rest. In fact, the other day I got particularly involved when they wanted to take me down to therapy at one o'clock.

"I told them to forget it for a half hour—I had to find out what was happening to my family. It's wild."

Supreme Court Will Rule on School Taxes

BY JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked next week to rule on the procedure to be followed by companies wishing to pay a major portion of school taxes to separate school boards in Ontario.

The case, dating back to April 20, 1960, involves the Ottawa branch of Provincial Bank of Canada, the Ottawa public school board and the assessment commissioner of the City of Ottawa.

The bank, which caters to the French - speaking segments of many Ontario and Quebec communities, appealed to the assessment commissioner that it wanted 63 per cent of its school taxes paid to the Ottawa separate school board.

After the request was denied, the bank appealed to the court of revision. This court dismissed the appeal on grounds that the bank had not proved that 63 per cent of its shareholders are Roman Catholic.

Under the Ontario Separate School Act a company may request the whole, or part, of the school tax it pays be used for separate school purposes. The percentage cannot be greater than its percentage of Catholic shareholders.

APPEALS DECISION

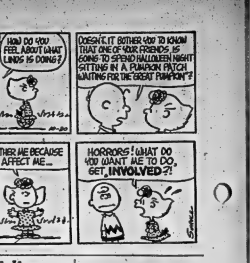
The bank appealed the decision of the court of revision to an Ontario county court judge who ruled 63 per cent of the bank's school tax could go for separate schools. This decision was upheld by the Ontario Municipal Board.

The judge and the board held the bank had proved 63 per cent of its shareholders were Catholic. However, the Ontario Appeal Court reversed this decision. Counsel for the bank had not proved its case.

During the hearing, a bank official said 443,472 of bank's 700,000 shares were owned by Roman Catholics.

He said this represented 63.35 per cent of shares issued.

The Ottawa public school board said this determination was hearsay because it was obtained by a survey conducted by branch banks and was not supported by affidavits. He said the managers of banks in the area should have been called as witnesses.



The bank declined to file affidavits with the court on grounds that the names of shareholders and the number of shares they own are confidential.

CAN'T TEST CLAIM

The Appeal Court said that as a result of the bank's refusal to file affidavits, neither the public or school boards or the judge had any opportunity to test the accuracy of the bank's claim. It ruled the evidence was hearsay.

The bank will ask the Supreme Court Monday for leave to appeal against the Ontario Appeal Court decision. It will argue that the court should hear an appeal to clear up "this confused state of the law."

The bank says that the outcome of the case is of vital importance to Roman Catholic school boards in Ontario.

Stirling

STIRLING — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morrow entertained on Sunday Mrs. Walter Warren of Belleville; Mr. Douglas Warren of Welland; Miss Terry Charbonneau, Mrs. S.J. Elliott and Mr. Glenn Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Warren spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warren in Kingston.

The regular meeting of Riverview Women's Institute will be held November 5 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Carr when the topic will be based on agriculture. The conveners are Mrs. Clarence Dand and Miss Mary Thomas. The ladies are asked to bring a sample of jam, jelly or pickles that will be sold at the close of the meeting.

Mr. Oscar Clapper is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zuidema and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bell were Sunday dinner guests at the wedding of David William Sager and Joan Elizabeth McArton in the Bible Anglican Church, Stirling on Saturday and the reception at the Rotary recreation hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Allen have returned to their home in Annapolis Royal, N.S. after visiting Mrs. S. J. Elliott and other relatives in this area.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling held its 110th anniversary on Sunday. Guest minister was Rev. A. L. Sutherland of St. Andrew's in Belleville. The morning theme was based on "The Church is the Foundation of the World" and in the evening he pictured the theme of "The Lowest and Highest". Mrs. Harry Morrow, church organist, provided the appropriate music with others taking part in the service.

Mrs. E. C. Martin, Front St. is a patient in the Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

VARSITY BOUND

The Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter of the I.O.D.E. sponsored a successful variety show in the community hall. Mrs. W. J. Morton, Regent, chaired the program. There was a fine selection of vocal and musical numbers which the large audience enjoyed!

FAAR'S TOMORROW

In 1945, Jack Paar at 29 was heralded as "outstanding star of tomorrow" but it took 14 years before he gained a regular TV show.

FATHER - SON BANQUET

MADOC — The annual Father and Son, Scout and Cub banquet was held Wednesday night in the Masonic hall. Some 25 fathers and over 50 boys were present.

Rev. James H. Thompson was chairman for the evening's program, following the grace, the toast to the Queen by Bill Naylor, a delicious turkey supper was served by the boys' mothers. Mr. Thompson welcomed the guest visitors and expressed to the Scout leaders and members of the local group council his appreciation for their time and energy in back the past year a most successful one.

Rev. David Potter was guest speaker who spoke on the importance of the Cub and Scout law and promise, that duty to God, to self and one's country was still important in one's life to uphold.

Awards presented in the nominations for the next group council committee, at the session of October to be held at the next meeting in November with names now nominated.

D. C. Joe Irish of Stirling, gave a few words of encouragement and spoke briefly on the growth of registration of boys over the past few years in the province.

Mr. Ronald Smith, chairman of the past' committee, expressed his thanks for the assistance and co-operation he had received during the year's events.

The banquet ended with a film entitled "The World of the March," shown through the courtesy of the Tweed Lands and Forests Department. Expression of thanks was conveyed to the ladies and Mr Potter.

Professor Tougas of U.B.C. Has Twice Visited West Africa on Carnegie Grants

By GERARD McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP)—An average North American might connect "African literature" with the writings of Robert Sca'k or Ernest Hemingway.

A deeper penetration comes up with such names as Alan Paton, the South African, or the late Albert Camus, an Algerian

But the African writers now attracting attention in European literary circles are darkskinned men whose poems and novels pump with the pulse of the continent's new nationalism.

Aime Cesaire, deputy for Martinique, and president Leopold Senghor of Senegal both weave the concept of "negritude" — the big literary word there—into their poems.

Cesaire's work is surrealistic and striking. It has been made famous in France by poet Andre Breton, who introduced it to Europe.

Also writing in French, focusing on nationalist themes, but dating so in a highly individual fatic way are novelists Ake Feridiand Oyono and Mongo Beti both of the Cameroons, and Camara Laye of Guinea.

CRITICIZED AT HOME

Where Oyono's indictment of colonialism in Africa is tumor ous, Beti's is biting. Laye's work, in politically h a r s h Guinea, is a moving and beautiful look at African life. His expression of the idea of brotherly love has placed him under a cloud in his own country.

These facts are valuable for members of the United States Peace Corps going to West Africa. They spent three weeks here in September, learning about French writing in Africa from, oddly enough, a University of British Columbia professor.

Did the 150 youths, now teaching English in African countries, have any knowledge of modern writing there?

"A perfect blank, of course," says Gerald A. Tougas, who teaches French language and literature at UBC.

Edmonton - born and raised Prof. Tougas, 43, a trim six foot - four, has twice visited West Africa in recent years on Carnegie grants.

He joined UBC in 1953, at a time when the Carnegie foundation has granted the university money for French - Canadian studies. Since then, UBC has developed a library of French-Canadian writing the' Prof Tougas says is "second to none."

FOUND UNION UNLIKELY

Carnegie money is used to promote understanding between nations, and one of his missions to West Africa was to report on the likelihood of French - speaking Senegal and Gambia, an English-speaking silver that runs 200 miles into the heart of the larger country, uniting.

His report had gloomy over tones for Canada: Unio- wasn't likely because of the difference of French and English mental ity in the new African nations.

While there, Prof. Tougas took time to read the flourishing African authors and talk with them. President Senghor, the poet, put him up at the guest palace — there were no other guests and the professor had the palace and a chauffered limousine to himself—in Dakar.

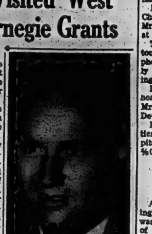
There are about 1,500 Peace Corps workers on the continent, where French is vital in more than half the 32 countries, and some have been hampered by lack of knowledge of the language and of the cultures.

The 150 youths who arrived here in September included some who were fluent in French, and others who could barely get along, but Prof. Tougas found them eager, intelligent students.

TAUGHT ENGLISH

In a dry run for their African mission, they taught English to girls in Quebec's French-language classical colleges by day, then took the Tougas course by night.

They evidently impressed the pupils here as much as their professor.



"When they left l'Assomption-Lorette Airport for Africa, the girls from the classical colleges were there, on their own, to say good-bye, and some were crying."

The Tougas course was a revealing one on the complex weave of the modern world.

The young Americans learned, for instance, that West African wishing to break away from its inspiration from that of American Negroes like County Cullen and Langston Hughes, who wrote in Paris before the Second World War.

"It was the American Negro who first started speaking of the originality of the Negro in the world," says Prof. Tougas. "The French-speaking Africans have developed the concept and call it 'negritude'."

It has fascinated him to the point where he is raising money for a year's leave of absence from UBC to study more closely this development in French literature.

PREPARES MEMBERS—Gerald A. Tougas of the University of British Columbia is teaching members of the United States Peace Corps facts about French literature in Africa. This year about 150 students came to Quebec City to learn both the French language, spoken in more than half of Africa's 32 countries, and something about the culture. Tougas, himself a student of West African literature, is an instructor in French language and literature at UBC. (CP Photo)

GRIN AND BEAR IT — Bill Shilling has the distinction of being the only Indian known to be living in Newfoundland's Avalon Peninsula. The 33-year-old Chippewa says he has never been confronted with any form of discrimination and he brushes off good-natured ribbing with his sense of humor. Shilling was born on a reservation 100 miles north of Toronto. He arrived in St. John's in June where he now works as an art director for a television station. (CP Photo)

TV Director Only Indian In 'Shooting Distance'

By DAVE BUTLER

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Bill Shilling says he likes to be an individualist and he should have no difficulty fulfilling his desire here. As far as he knows, he's the only Indian on the Avalon Peninsula.

A sinewy six-foot-four Chippewa, he was born in 1931 on a reservation at Rama, 100 miles north of Toronto, but left home at 17 and hasn't looked back. He arrived here in June and is working as art director for a television station.

The last known of Newfoundland's native Beothuk Indians died in 1829, and although there are Micmacs living in several west coast settlements, Bill Shilling is the only Indian known to be living in this part of the island.

The distinction sometimes results in good-natured ribbing from friends and fellow employees but his sense of humor helps him slough it off. And he just smiled when an impish announcer introduced him as the last of the Mohicans.

Mr. Shilling says he has never encountered any form of discrimination and as a result sometimes forgets he's an Indian. He recalls a visit to a Toronto night spot where he heard someone whisper, "Look, there's an Indian." He found himself looking around, too. "I never realized they were talking about me."

DROVE TRUCK

His 15 years since leaving the reservation have been dedicated to developing his nonconformist personality. He is a talented artist but has also worked at such jobs as driving a truck, picking tobacco and strawberries, selling magazines and instructing in a YMCA camp.

He says he doesn't know his family's correct name, explaining that his grandfather adopted the name Shilling because that was the amount of money he was paid by the British for some furs.

"It was the only English word he knew so they began calling him Shilling. It stuck."

Bill Shilling feigns seriousness when he tries to recall the name of "one of those little huts made of crossed sticks and hides" that he says his great-grandfather lived in as a child. Although he feels free-lancing is the ideal mode of employment, he has grudgingly stuck to steady work for the last few years. Before coming here Mr. Shilling worked as a junior artist for a Toronto firm and then as a designer for a film company. He considers himself a graphic artist but finds most of his work here involves pure art for advertisements.

When not drawing ads for the station or working out plans for a "tricky little gadget" to be used as a Christmas decoration, he does bit parts in TV commercials for a local brewery.

"Life is meant to be lived as we see fit," he says. "And I don't intend to miss a minute of it."

QUEBEC ULTIMATUM TO EXTREMISTS

Two U.S. Military Planes Collide

Six Are Killed As Transports Catch Fire

Accident Happens South of Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Two U.S. military planes collided during manoeuvres south of Augusta today, and six airmen were reported killed.

Firemen said three bodies were in each of the air transport planes, which caught fire after they plunged into a field about 18 miles south of Augusta.

One of the planes crashed in Richmond County and the other in Burke County, sheriff's officers reported.

Small brush fires were started in the area.

DESCRIBES CRASH

Mrs. Ann Walker, who lives near the crash scene said the planes collided shortly after taking off from a temporary air field.

"My aunt, Mrs. B. H. McDermot, saw them collide and came running in the house," Mrs. Walker said. "They were about a mile away, and when I went out they were already down and burning.

"They were low when they collided and my aunt said the wings touched just before the collision.

"Others say one of the crew members bailed out. They said they saw him parachute, but they have not been able to find him."

Use Base Against Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) Indonesia has set up a forward invasion base against Malaysia on the island of Bengkalis off Eastern Sumatra, the Malaysian army claimed today.

An army spokesman said the swampy island, about 20 miles across the Straits of Malacca, was used as a springboard by a 52-man Indonesian force that landed in the Merlimau area of southwest Malaya on Thursday.

The Indonesians were trapped in a mangrove swamp near the mouth of the Kesang River and put out of action by Malaysian field police and Australian troops.

According to an official account of the Merlimau landing given by the Malaysian government today, a party of Indonesians seized six Malaysian fishing boats and took them and their crews to Bengkalis Island.

Five of the boats were used to make the landing in the mouth of the Kesang River.

The statement said the landing force was made up of 25 Indonesian air force paratroops, 21 Indonesian volunteers and two Malaysians.

A government spokesman said the Indonesians apparently hope to establish a secure jungle base from which to organize subversion and sabotage.

REPAIRS NOW IMPOSSIBLE

FREMINGTON, England (CP) — After more than 200 years the chimes of the church clock at this Devonshire village are to sound no more. Since 1700 the clock has tolled the hour but now experts say the mechanism is beyond repair. Rev. Peter Pearson has asked parishioners whether they wish to spend £300 on a new electric clock.

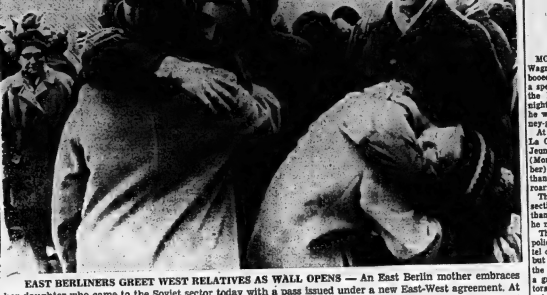
The Dark Continent Takes Dim View of Stretch Pants!

NAIROBI (AP) — The modern black African girl who has changed her loin cloth for stretch pants and high heels is under fire in Kenya for aping the modes and morals of the west.

An African student recently returned here from Europe, sparked off a lot of local talk with an indignant letter to the press. He accused the girls of being "easy gimmicks of western civilization" and charged they were more interested in money than happy marriage.

One indignant letter said: "These new girls not only imitate western civilization but even try to copy the western flesh and hair, the beautiful African natural hair is burnt with chemicals from kinky to straight. Some use so much make-up and lipstick that instead of looking like human beings they look like models."

Another reader pointed out that while women spend considerable sums having their hair waved, spend hours in the sun acquiring a nice dark color and "have reached the advanced stage of social evolution where high fashion dictates they must expose their breasts as the world in the top less dress."



"Their African counterparts," he noted, "are evolving in exactly the opposite way."

Finally a protest from "disgusted girl." She wrote: "An African girl is free to wear what she likes, love whom she can, straighten her hair or even shave her head clean, and no big-mouthed brat has any right to point a finger!"

The only thing you can get without working is hungry.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A weather disturbance over the central United States is moving slowly towards the Great Lakes area. Vote Recount Is Requested At Wellington

WELLINGTON — Mrs. Walter Nind, returning officer for this week's liquor plebiscite here, said today a recount of the vote had been requested.

The referendum on beer and liquor outlets in the village of Wellington was lost when a 51 per cent wet vote was recorded. A 60 per cent majority is necessary under Ontario legislation to approve a local option plebiscite.

If a recount is granted, it will likely be supervised by County Judge Edward W. S. Lane.

PCs Aim Guns At Govt.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Conservatives withdrew their assault from the CBC Friday and aimed their guns at the federal-provincial issue as they hammered the government through the sixth day of the stretched-out interim supply debate.

With another possible flag debate lurking menacingly in the wings, there was a toughening of tones Friday as opposition members zeroed in on the government's handling of federal-provincial relations and responsibilities.

"The charge I make is that the Pearson government in Canada's session and that you are all honorary pallbearers to this nation," shouted Eldon Woolliams (PC — Bow River) to the government benches.

This was the tone setting speech that set off a chorus of criticism over the alleged erosion of federal power in Canada, involving the government's "opting out" formula, and the proposed formula to amend the constitution in Canada. The records of Confederation are being loosened, said the speakers.

"The question we now are discussing . . . is so serious as to cause us to wonder about the very fabric and form of the chamber in which we are speaking today," said Heath Macquarrie (PC—Queens).

It was "unbelievable" that the situation could change so quickly, said Howard Grafftey (PC — Brome-Missisquoi). A year ago, he said, federal-provincial relations were in a "terrible state" because the central government wasn't even consulting the provinces on joint programs.

Transport Minister Pickersgill jumped to the defence of the formula, agreed on by the federal and provincial governments, under which future constitutional changes could be made without getting final approval from Westminster.

FULTON'S FORMULA

He said the part of the formula under which federal powers could be delegated to the provinces—and this involved most of the arguments Friday—is identical to the formula drawn up by former Conservative justice minister E. Davie Fulton.

Mr. Pickersgill said Mr. Diefenbaker took responsibility for this when he was prime minister "and when we put it forward in precisely the same terms, he condemns our government."

LBJ Is Ahead, Say Polls But Barry Predicts Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson and Barry Goldwater headed into the final weekend of a hectic, searing campaign today with polls showing Johnson ahead but Goldwater predicting victory.

Both picked the final week-end to make last appeals to their areas of strength—Johnson to the northeast, Goldwater to the south.

Switcheroo!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A hostile helicopter buzzed a Republican rally with a sign Friday night as Senator Barry Goldwater spoke.

Republican turned a spotlight on it, and the pilot flew away, perhaps because of the glare.

The helicopter's sign said: "In your guts, you know he's nuts."

Johnson, in a speech prepared for a rally in Dover, Del., promised to "declare a war on waste" including the "most awful waste of all"—the waste of war.

Goldwater prepared for his southern finale by preparing a speech for Columbia, S.C., that will be beamed by television to 12 states in the south.

In his talks Friday, Goldwater pitched his confidence against the prediction of the polls.

In Las Vegas, Goldwater told an airport crowd "you understand what odds are and you are looking at a fellow that is supposed to have no chance.

"You are looking at the most under underdog that ever lived in this country," he continued, "and if it weren't for the fact that the only thing we have going with us is the people I might tend to get discouraged."

Goldwater said "I've had a feeling for the last two or three weeks that we are going to win this thing. I know the polls don't agree with me, but they never have."

Democratic vice - presidential candidate, Hubert H. Humphrey, called for a landslide vote for Johnson to repudiate forever what Humphrey called "radical extremists who have made the Goldwater campaign one of the most sorry chapters in American political history."

Humphrey, in a speech prepared for a rally in Los Angeles, said:

Ontario's Conservatives Compete With U.S. Elections

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Conservatives will be competing with the U.S. presidential election for the public eye next week—and they realize they're going to be second best.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Progressive Conservative association has been scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 23. The U.S. election is to be held Tuesday.

This was not how Conservative officials wanted it. But it worked out that way because their constitution says the annual meeting must be held in November. The Monday-Tuesday dates were the only suitable ones that could be scheduled at the Royal York Hotel.

Premier John Robarts will be the speaker at the wind - up banquet Tuesday night, when the first reports of the presidential election begin trickling in.

Federal Opposition Leader Diefenbaker is to address the convention Monday night.

For the convention's keynote speech, Education Minister William Davis has been chosen by the party. Mr. Davis is being increasingly looked upon as the heir apparent to Premier Robarts in Ontario.

More than 1,000 delegates—five from each of the 198 ridings in Ontario, plus five alternatives — are expected to attend the two-day convention. It will include meetings on Monday of the young Progressive Conservatives and the party's women's branch.

The provincial association will elect a slate of officers Tuesday. Elmer Bell, Ontario president, will be up for re-election. The posts of secretary, treasurer, and 12 vice-presidencies are also open.

The party is instituting something new this year — an experiment that will give the who's of the provincial cabinet subjected to questioning from the convention floor.

The 18 cabinet ministers will be on the firing line for three hours. While it is not expected any attempt will be made to embarrass the ministers, Conservatives feel some interesting questions could ensure.

Exports Ahead Of Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian exports continued to rise faster than imports in both July and the first seven months of 1964, the bureau of statistics said today.

Imports in July rose 9.3 per cent in value to $629,800,000 from $576,200,000 in the same month last year. However, exports were up by 29.8 per cent at $788,300,000 compared with $607,400,000 a year previous.

This resulted in a surplus of $148,400,000 in world-wide trade in July, up sharply from the $22,200,000 surplus in the same month last year.

Value of imports in the first seven months of the year rose by 17.6 per cent to $4,345,900,000 from $3,696,000,000 in the 1963 January-July period. But the seven-month total for exports was up 23 per cent at $4,752,300,000 from $3,840,500,000.

Result was a surplus of $377,400,000 in trade in the first seven months of the year, compared with one of $144'600,000 in the same 1963 period.

DEFICIT ROSE

Canada's trade deficit with the United States continued to rise in July and in the seven-month period. However, rising trade balances with overseas countries more than offset the deficit with the U.S.

Seven-month imports from the U.S. advanced 17.9 per cent to $3,040,100,000, outstripping a gain of 10.6 per cent in Canadian exports to the U.S. totaling $2,475,600,000.

The deficit for this period rose to $564,500,000 from $500,100,000 a year previous. For July the deficit was $44,200,000 compared with $36,600,000 a year earlier.

Canada's trade surplus with Britain over the seven months totaled $698,500,000 in the period, while purchases from the United Kingdom climbed 17.5 per cent to $349,300,000.

Trade with the rest of the Commonwealth produced a seven-month trade surplus of $46,600,000, up from $39,400,000 a year earlier. In trade with all remaining countries as a group, Canada had a surplus of $348,200,000, compared with one of $167,200,000 in the first seven months of last year.

'Obey The Law Or Suffer The Consequences'

Attorney-General Booed at Meeting

MONTREAL (CP) — Claude Wagner was jeered at and booed by demonstrators during a speech in which he laid down the law to separatists Friday night, less than six hours after he was appointed Quebec attorney-general.

At one point in his address to La Chambre de Commerce des Jeunes de District de Montreal (Montreal district junior chamber), he was stopped for more than three minutes by the uproar.

Three separate times, large sections of the audience of more than 400 roared "Quebec" when he mentioned the word Canada.

There were about 50 Montreal policemen in the downtown hotel during Mr. Wagner's speech, but there were no incidents and the meeting calmed down after a group of some 40 demonstrators — apparently mostly students—left the hall noisily.

In his first speech as attorney-general, Mr. Wagner called on separatist sympathizers to respect the law or suffer the consequences.

"To the supporters of separatism generating illegalities, sedition and violence, I say you will respect the law, you will respect the municipal regulations of towns where you militate.

"If you do not, you will be stated as are all violators of Canada's penal laws or municipal or provincial regulations. There will be no special legislation or regulations for you."

Mr. Wagner called on sincere and serious separatists to "organize, express your ideas on the public platform, prepare for the next elections and go to the people democratically to find out what they think of you and your ideas."

He said people are still wondering, "after four years of philosophic and pseudo - intellectual dissertations," what the positive achievements of separatism are.

"For my part," he said, "I reject separatism itself because I do not believe we can expect from it a constructive solution to the problems now facing Quebec and Canada.

He denounced "certain partisan hate and violence" and said that as attorney - general, "charged with the administration of justice, I will see all the power conferred on me by law to have democracy respected.

"It is my duty and I will fulfil it without fear."

Dirtiest, Dreariest Election

By CARMAN CUMMING

NEW YORK (CP) — The United States election campaign now ending is being widely described as the dirtiest and dreariest in recent times.

"The bitterest and most vicious I've ever observed—or for that matter, heard tell of," says Bruce Felknor, chairmas of the non - partisan Fair Campaign Practices Coimittee.

"What kind of madness is upon us?" asks Senator Karl E. Mundt, South Dakota Republican, in condemning 'gutter-sniping" by both sides.

Much of the dirt has flown on a semi-underground level, carrying racist or lecherous connotations.

The low point probably came with a case reported Friday by the Wall Street Journal.

It said a "mystery story" was being circulated in book form containing that a prominent candidate had "toyed with the affections" of actress Marilyn Monroe and then had her killed by Communist agents under his control when she threatened to tell all.

"FEAR OF SMEAR"

The same journal story, under the headline The Fear of The Smear, reported a number of racial slurs, such as on anonymous leaflets distributed in Louisiana reading: "If you want a Negro in the next door flat, let your wife vote for Democrat."

All the mud-slinging has not been confined to the gutter.

Republican candidate Barry Goldwater has called the Democrats "fascists, and "soft on communism," and President Johnson in turn has called Goldwater a "ranting, raving demagogue."

Protests have come from both sides in the late days of the campaign.

John M. Bailey, the Democratic national chairman, called on Goldwater to put a stop to what he called the flow of "venom and filth" injected by the Republicans.

Dean Burch, Republican chairman, filed a complaint with the FCPC saying the Democrats were running a campaign of "fear, smear, cover-up, news suppression, arm - twisting."

It was Burch who earlier charged news suppression in the case of Walter Jenkins, the Johnson aide who resigned after Don't Mask Your Feelings -- It's Shell-Out Time Again!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hallowe'en isn't what it used to be, some of the older folks might say, but for the thousands of kids who disguise themselves behind hideous masks and under over - sized robes tonight it brings a special excitement rarely found at other times of the year.

The threat of "Shell out, or I'll break your windows inside out" will still be heard in many Canadian neighborhoods, but as more of a long-standing Hallowe'en war cry.

For a few hours tonight the pint-sized witches, clowns and little red riding hoods will scamper from door to door — most under the watchful eye of parents — collecting loads of candy, apples and other treats.

Many others will be seeking donations for less-fortunate children in other countries through the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

And still others will attend community socials and parties.

There will be plenty of police mingling with the shouting children, because children in dark, hard-to-see costumes present an extra traffic danger, and because of the possibility that pranks and high spirits may turn into something more than harmless fun.

Hallowe'en or All - Hallows Eve is the day before All Saints Day. But traditions associated with it have been traced back to several pre-Christian religions.

Old-Time Equipment Display To Be Special Feature at Empire Dairy Show Here

A special centennial year display featuring old-time cheese making equipment, used in the late 1800's, will be an interesting highlight of the 37th British Empire Dairy Show in Belleville, November 25 and 26.

The cheese show, to be held in the former Seymour Hardware store on Front Street, is sponsored by the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association and is held in conjunction with its annual cheese convention. Harold Elliott, maker at the Foxboro cheese factory, is president of the makers' association.

This is the 100th anniversary of the cheese making industry in Ontario. To mark the centennial special displays have been arranged by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Special display of cheese equipment to be featured at the Belleville show includes a milk processing vat with its own built-in heating boiler, together with old time curd cutters, scoops for the cheese and hand-operated presses.

MURALS

Wall murals depicting, 100 years of cheese making, will lend further interest to the show.

Every effort is being made to have all the cheese makers convention and cheese show the best ever Association secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Marilan Matthews, says the cheese factory list will be the biggest in recent years.

This year's cheesemakers' banquet will also see a change in the program. The banquet to be held at the Club Canada through Christmas and Hallowe'en cards sold on behalf of the UN was one factor in the government's decision to increase its contribution.

Ford Workers Return to Jobs At Oakville

OAKVILLE (CP) — Production was expected to return to normal today at the Ford of Canada Limited plant here after an unexplained walkout halted operations Friday night.

A meeting between union and company official Friday night patched up a dispute which resulted in 1,500 of 2,000 workers, who would have reported to work at 6 p.m., remaining off th. job.

The matter was settled about four hours later and maintenance men reported for work on schedule at midnight.

A company spokesman said the 6 p.m. shift usually works until 1:30 a.m. or to 2:30 a.m. on overtime. The plant was idle until the morning shift reported.

Ed Bruce, president of local 707 of the United Auto Workers (CLC), said following the meeting that he did not know what caused the walkout.

CONTRIBUTION RAISED

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 1965 - 66 contribution to the United Nations Children's Fund will be increased by $200,000 to $1,000,000, Prime Minister Pearson announced Friday. The announcement from the prime minister's office said raising of $780,000 in Canada last year through Christmas and Hallowe'en cards sold on behalf of the UN was one factor in the government's decision to increase its contribution.

Ready for Teen 'Howl'

Hallowe'en is here again and for the eighth consecutive year the Belleville Armouries will be the location for the teen-age Hallowe'en Howl.

Tonight goes up to 1,000 teenagers invade this city stronghold in various garbs and get-up with a view to taking home the prize loot, Constable Jack Parker of the city police department has promised some appropriate prizes, donated by local merchants.

Dancing will get underway at 7.30 p.m. and continue through to 11.30, with various breaks to judge costumes and made a presentation to UNICEF. All profits from the dance go to this organization. The emcee will be Cam Finlay.

Co-operation on the part of the Belleville Recreation Committee, the Belleville police department, Radio Station CJBQ, and the Belleville secondary schools makes the night possible.

Pumpkins Small And Scarce on Local Market

Pumpkins were scarce and small on Belleville market this Hallowe'en morning. One priced by a grower was offered for 40c, others were about the same size. More than a dozen vendors were on sale under a clear sky.

Potatoes were offered at 65c for six quarts, turnips at various prices from 10c to 25c, carrots at 50c for six quarts, beets at 60c for six quarts and parsnips at 60c for six quarts.

Green hubbard and butternut squash were offered by one vendor at two dollars for a bushel of either kind, acorn squash was offered for 20c each and onions were offered at prices varying from 10c to 50c.

Cabbage was offered at various prices from 15c a head up, Spanish onions were two for 25c or a dollar for six quarts, (one vendor had extra large Spanish onions at 15c each), cauliflower ranged from 10c to 30c a head, brussels sprouts were 30c a quart, field tomatoes were a dollar for six quarts, green peppers were 50c for six quarts.

Apples were offered at 75c for six quarts and crabapples, cider was a dollar a gallon and the Hi Y girls offered candy apples at 10c each or three for 25c.

KHARLAMOV FIRED

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government confirmed Friday that Nikhail Kharlamov, whom former premier Khrushchev made boss of the country's radio and television, has been fired and replaced. Named to head the state committee for radio broadcasting and television was Nikolai Mezyatsev, 44, formerly a department head of the Communist Party's central committee.

Kremlin Leaders Circulate New Dosier Against Nikita

MOSCOW (Reiters) — Ex-premier Nikita Khrushchev was Friday reported to have stepped down from his last Soviet Communist party post, as Kremlin leaders circulated a new dossier of charges against him.

Informed sources said Khrushchev handed in his resignation as a member of the Communist party's central committee, the group which approved him as party leader and premier two weeks ago.

He also resigned as a member of the Supreme Soviet, Russia's parliament, the sources said.

The report could not be officially confirmed, but western observers said they came from sources which are usually reliable.

The two posts were the only official functions left to Khrushchev when he was removed from power as premier and party first secretary.

SPICY LETTERS

The sources said he sent letters of resignation to both bodies, apparently in the last few days.

Khrushchev's withdrawal from the central committee and the Supreme Soviet means his total withdrawal from political life, observers said.

The reports came as Communist sources disclosed new charges against the ex premier in a 20-point indictment said to have been circulated in the Kremlin, accusing him of one-man rule, nepotism and "bungling" on major issues of party policy.

Western observers said the charges amounted to the most slashing indictment levelled against any Soviet leader since Khrushchev himself denounced Stalin in 1956.

The 20-point list of Khrushchev blunders have been a mystery since his replacement was announced. Here, for the first time, the news is living in a Moscow apartment, close to the Kremlin. Earlier, there were reports he was undergoing treatment in a clinic for high blood pressure.

Communists Most Powerful Single Force

By GEORGE McARTHUR

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Communists have emerged as the most powerful single force in the Sudanese civilian government which took office today, closing the books on six years of military rule.

Ahead was the task of restoring order swept aside during 10 days of rioting in which mobs were cut down by waves of machine gun fire from hurried armored cars and scattered by volleys of tear gas bombs.

At least 100 persons were killed and more than 200 wounded.

The plotting students and workers forced President Ibrahim Abboud, who with seven colonels seized power in a bloodless military coup six years ago, to capitulate.

Abboud managed to retain control of the army and the title of president, but technically he is stripped of most executive power.

The new prime minister, El Khatem Khalifa, 40, and his Moslem Brotherhood right pledged that they would begin work on "good relations" immediately after the swearing-in this morning by Abboud.

Khalifa, a former deputy minister of justice in the education ministry, named three Communists to the 15-man cabinet Friday morning, and a fourth Communist Friday night.

Khalifa has announced the cabinet would be pledged to liberty, freedom of speech, press and public assembly. His government is pledged to anti-imperialist, non-aligned foreign policy.

China Nuclear Talks: De Gaulle Interested

From Reuters-AP

PARIS (CP) — Diplomatic circles here today saw signs of contact being made between the French foreign policy following President Charles de Gaulle's message to communist China on nuclear disarmament.

De Gaulle's message reaffirmed France's willingness to take part in any serious discussions on nuclear disarmament.

By coincidence or design, the de Gaulle message was paralleled in Peking by the president of Communist China, Lau Shao chi, who declared his country in favor of an international conference on the prohibition of nuclear arms.

In the absence of official clarification, diplomatic sources here expressed the view that taken together the French and Chinese statements meant that de Gaulle was ready to participate in an international nuclear disarmament conference between Russia, the United States, Britain, France and China.

At such a conference, the question might be raised whether the Polaris submarines —destined to form part of the multilateral nuclear forces inside NATO — constitute "real" forces capable of ensuring "real" clear arms," the suppression of which the official French attitude on nuclear disarmament has always called for.

FRANCE OPPOSES FORCE

The multilateral nuclear force has become increasingly the centre-piece of President de Gaulle's policy in Europe, French authorities say, and accordingly the French original indifference to this proposal has hardened into active opposition.

East German Authorities Strengthen Wall

BERLIN (AP)—East German authorities strengthened security along the Berlin wall today, guarding against attempts by East Berliners to escape in the confusion of the authorized visiting period for West Berliners.

Five gaps have been opened temporarily in the wall for the 14-day period during which West Berliners have been authorized to visit relatives in the Communist-ruled part of the city.

Within three hours after the first gates were opened today, about 40,000 persons were checked through by Red border guards. It was the second day of the visiting period, which extends until Nov. 12.

At the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint, used both by pedestrians and motorists, a heavy East German army truck was posted next to the gap in the wall, its engine running.

The truck apparently is to be driven into the gap in case of an escape attempt by car.

The Communists were issuing wall passes under recently signed West Berlin-East German agreement, allowing four visiting periods in the next 12 months. A second period will cover the Christmas-New Year holiday. The other two are scheduled for next year.

Friday, 21,329 West Berliners visited East Berlin.

ALBERT E. (BERT) ATKINSON

TRENTON — On Monday, Canon K. F. Bischford of St. George's Anglican Church and Rev. J. C. Wilson of King St. United Church conducted a service at the R. Douglas Bushnell Funeral Centre in Trenton for Albert E. (Bert) Atkinson. Mr. Atkinson, who was 62, died suddenly at his home at 156 McLellan Ave., last Friday.

Bearers were: George Greer, James Utley, Robert Haker, Sr., John Tripp, George Kind and M. Burley.

Mr. Atkinson was cremated at the Toronto Crematorium.

Born in Carlisle, England, Mr. Atkinson was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Atkinson. He was educated in English schools and graduated from the University of Newcastle-on-Tyne. He was a member St. George's Church in Trenton and a member of Trenton Lodge No. 38, A.F. and A.M.

Mr. Atkinson was an electrical contractor and had worked in Toronto before coming to Trenton with the DCA Food Company in 1935. He worked with this company, having charge of all electrical equipment, until the 1940's when he went into business for himself. "Bert" was one of Trenton's best-known and best-loved citizens and his sudden death came as a shock to his many friends and acquaintances.

A member of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission for 10 years, Mr. Atkinson was chairman of this body for five years.

Mr. Atkinson is survived by his wife, the former Susan Bradbury, a sister, Mrs. Denby Lloyd of Bolton, Ont., and a nephew, Gerald Lloyd.

Cancer Victims Protest U. S. Drug Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government appeared ready today to use its police power to break up the demonstration of henchmen supporters at the office of the health, education and welfare secretary, Anthony J. Celebrezze.

Sixteen men and women, most ill with cancer, have gathered around the entrance to the office since mid-day Thursday. They are protesting a federal indictment against the producers of the controversial anti-cancer drug.

The government says krebiozen is worthless, but these users say it keeps them alive.

A spokesman for the department says the demonstrators were told Friday night that their "continued presence in a public building which is closed is a violation of the law."

GIVEN ULTIMATUM

A spokesman for the demonstrators, Mrs. Margaret Fuhro of New Hope, N.J., said they have received an ultimatum: leave peacefully or face arrest and a possible fine and six month jail term.

Mrs. Fuhro, who said she is affiliated with the citizens committee for cancer survivors on krebiozen, said they have chosen to be arrested. They are no going to leave the building. They feel that they are going to die without krebiozen if they will die in jail."

The federal government banned interstate shipment of krebiozen on July 17, 1963, when the secretary, Dr. Stevan Dubovic of Chicago, withdrew his application to allow use of the drug.

In its own investigation, the Food and Drug Administration declared the drug worthless. This finding was based on medical records and on the FDA's analysis of the contents of some samples.

Earlier this week, a federal grand jury, investigating the drug, returned indictments against the producers of the drug on charges of conspiring to put the drug into interstate commerce with intent to defraud.

COLD FEET . . . ?

A generation ago some people thought rubbing the soles of the feet with grease would ward off a head cold. Today, we know better. Regular rest and a well-balanced diet go a long way toward preventing colds. But, sometimes even the best precautions aren't good enough. When you are ill—whether you have a cold or something more serious—effective medications are important. They can be the difference between pain or comfort . . . slow or fast recovery. Let your physician decide the remedies you need. Then come to us for the prescribed medication.

400 Government Officials Will Get Pay Raise

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart announced Friday the government has approved uniform salary scales for magistrates and others dealing with the administration of justice in Ontario.

The scale for magistrates will be from $12,000 to $15,000 a year, and for deputy magistrates $8,500 to $11,000. Magistrate's salary may throughout the province but in most cases of new scales will mean a increases.

The uniform rates are ... active until Sept. 1 of this year. Magistrates also serve as juvenile and family court judges or deputy judges will be entitled to extra remuneration.

Arthur Klein, appointed Ontario's chief magistrate a week ago, is to receive a salary of $16,000 a year. The position of chief magistrate was created at the last session of the legislature.

ABSENT UNDER ACT

The judiciary and related workers do not come under the Ontario Judges Act which governs the salaries of most civil servants.

Because of this, Mr. Wishart also announced that uniform standards are to be established with respect to the classification procedures of local court officers.

Affected by the uniform standards will be sheriffs, local registrars of the Supreme Court, county court clerks, surrogate of surrogate courts, district treasurers and their clerical and auxiliary staffs.

Mr. Wishart said about 400 persons will benefit from immediate salary increases retroactive to April 1 of this year. Their salaries will range from $6,000 to $12,500.

Kingston Plant Being Extended

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—The Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd. announced Friday that work has started on the expansion of Alcan's centre plant sheet mill here.

The building extension, with an estimated cost of more than $1,000,000, will house a continuous strip annealing line and space for storage of coils in process.

The continuous annealing line will be the first machine of its kind to be built in Canada solely for the treating of aluminum sheet, the company said.

It is designed to soften the coils before final rolling.

This addition will give Kingston works an increase in capacity and will permit Alcan's Kingsteel in markets which were not possible before, the company said.

Rene Hamel, Old Liberal Firebrand Retires, Place Is Taken by Claude Wagner

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP)—An old Liberal firebrand retired from political life Friday and his successor in the Quebec cabinet probably will be a man who is described as "a bolt of lightning in the team of thunder."

Rene Hamel, 54, resigned as attorney-general and as right-hand man as member of St. Maurice in the Commons to accept an appointment as a justice in the Trois-Rivieres district of Quebec Superior Court.

His successor to the senior cabinet post is Claude Wagner, 39, a former judge who has declared war on criminal activity and is said to be from sophisticated racketeering to political extremism.

Mr. Wagner, who resigned as solicitor-general to take over the attorney-general's job, is a newcomer to politics. He was brought into the cabinet in late summer by Premier Jean Lesage after a clear-cut victory as member for Montreal Ve Jun Oct. 5.

He already is a controversial figure, chided in editorials for confusing separatism with extremism in a report to the Premier on incidents during the royal visit.

GOVERNMENT PROMISED

Tough police action then, and Mr. Wagner's statements, have led the government to believe his promised crackdown on crime will be focused at this stage on gambling.

Mr. Hamel himself was a fiery radical early in his 20-year political career. He entered the House of Commons from 1945 to 1949 as one of the two Independent members of the Bloc Populaire.

He entered politics because of an ideal," he said in an interview. "The Liberals had been elected in 1945 on the promise that Canada would not participate in any war outside the country."

That was the year Mr. Hamel, a graduate in law from Laval, returned from Belgium after taking political science at Louvain University. He practiced law in his native St. Maurice where he still lives, but was drawn into politics after the Liberal government of Mackenzie King called a national plebiscite on conscription in 1942.

"This was in effect asking the people of the whole country to relieve the government of a promise made in Quebec."

The Bloc Populaire attracted some of the eminent figures, among them Andre Laurendeau, vice - chairman of the royal commission on bicultural ism and bilingualism, and Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal.

"We were nationalists but we weren't the kind that place bombs," Mr. Hamel said. "It was nothing like the nationalism of today. We were elected, and we spoke on behalf of the people."

In 1949, the Bloc Populaire was a shaky ship and Mr. Hamel ran as an independent in St. Maurice-Lafleche. Quebec politics became much fuller in an independent and he was elected.

But in 1952, he entered the Quebec legislature with 22 other Liberal members to reserve seats in St. Maurice riding and began the eight-year battle that finally brought the Liberals to power.

"Those were the hard years," he says. "It was summer for the first time in 60 years to hear tell of a fiery Liberal orator."

WAS ACTING PREMIER

In the Lesage administration he has been labor minister and attorney-general, and was acting premier when the news came today.

Recent months have been tough. The legislature committee on privileges and elections has investigated Mr. Hamel at

The Flag

Once again the flag issue has hoisted new warnings of a national storm.

For days, before the controversy was delegated to a committee, the Canadian public was treated to fantastic demonstrations by its parliamentarians.

The committee has now returned a majority report—and it appears we are to be treated to more antic behavior. This time, however, the charade threatens to deteriorate into something akin to a parliamentary dance of death—unless the issue is resolved once-and for all.

And the solution can not be found by way of a general election.

In this respect, Canadians of all political faiths should heed the ominous warning of Leon Balcer, popularly described as Mr. Diefenbaker's Quebec lieutenant.

Further undue prolongation of debate, he said, "would inevitably result in a general election which would be fought on the French-English issue and would set provinces against province, group against group and would place in jeopardy the future of Confederation."

There are rumors that the Liberals may force a showdown by using closure—an integral part of the parliamentary procedure.

Admittedly, closure has a neurotic identification for the Liberals since the pipeline debacle which brought down 22 years of Liberal power.

Yet, in the present mood of the country, the majority of the Canadian electorate would probably accept closure as justified. Any attempt to bring about an election on such an issue as the national flag, undoubtedly would be rejected by the same majority.

Ontario's North

Premier Robarts and his Cabinet have concluded another tour of Northern Ontario. These trips are made, supposedly, in token recognition that the North—so far removed from the seat of government—has crucial problems peculiar to itself.

At times it appears—and in fact for the typical citizen of Southern Ontario—the province's North is another world entirely.

It is identified as a treasure chest to be developed for the general wealth. It is regarded also as an incomparable outdoor playground.

As a residential area, it does not rate too highly. In fact, it is often impossible for the Southerner to credit that people actually want to live there.

But they do, geography, climate and price differentials notwithstanding, and they love it fiercely. Just how proudly loyal they are to their region was demonstrated to the Cabinet when the arrival at Port Arthur was greeted by picketers.

They have their problems and anxieties, not the least of which is the fear of being ignored by the rest of the province and its government. These fears are not confined to the mining camp waiting for the day when the mineral wealth runs out and another community folds.

Some of the most important Ontario centres are involved. Take for instance the city of Sudbury.

That city's recreation and welfare departments are housed in a former auto showroom and garage. Need for a new police station is so acute that it has had to be adopted as a Centennial project.

Mayor J. J. Fabbro estimates that his city needs up to $60 million to provide basic municipal services.

Sudbury is a city of 80,000—the biggest in the north. But it is only one of many substantial communities where people of this province have put down their roots and are seeking the amenities of life to which they feel themselves entitled. The days of the transient miner and lumberjack of popular conception, are gone forever.

They are a tough breed these Northerners. But this is no more consolation for them than it is excuse for the rest of the province to brush aside their problems.

Northern Ontario, with its vast resources, has given much to the rest of the province. Now its people are seeking a fair return for having contributed greatly to the economy of the rest of Ontario.

Every man has a right to utter what he thinks truth, and every other man has a right to knock him down for it.—Samuel Johnson.

A vessel is known by the sound, whether it be cracked or not; so men are proved, by their speech, whether they be wise or foolish.—Demosthenes.

CBC Blatantly Shows Contempt for Parliament

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Conservatives, long convinced that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation played a large and unfair part in driving them from power into the Opposition benches, have been mounting a campaign for an investigation by a special Parliamentary committee into CBC affairs.

They are counting on an increasingly irritated public opinion to finally force the government into standing aside so that the extravagantly expensive CBC at last will have to give an accounting to Parliament which pays by far the largest part of its bill.

For some reason which mystifies the Conservatives, the government still seems to feel compelled to run interference for the CBC, despite the undeniable fact that the publicly - owned and vastly subsidized broadcasting corporation, with its talent for trouble, constantly embarrasses the Liberals.

Somehow, the CBC which costs the taxpayer an annual $86,000,000, has managed to insulate itself from Parliament.

In this fashion especially, the CBC has developed such an immunity to parliamentary criticism that it cavalierly condescends to offer an explanation when its more controversial programmes and operations are questioned.

A SILENCE

The Hansard index lists more than 300 questions, the overwhelming majority of them critical, that MPs, mostly of the Opposition, have asked about th. CBC.

Item: Why was it necessary to use nearly $50,000 to cover the Canadian Open Golf Tournament?

Item: What did it cost to staff the Royal Visit with nearly 400 people?

Item: Why was CBC allowed Federal land for a building site in Vancouver that the city urgently required for park purposes?

Item: When CBC President Alphonse Ouimet's salary was doubled to an annual $50,000, how far down the executive line did the increase go and what did it amount to?

Item: When there are only 60,000 bilingual listeners in the entire broadcast area why does CBC convert a popular Toronto English-language radio station to French?

Item: Why, despite a public outcry of protest, does CBC persist in producing television crime and sex dramas?

It is pointless to go on, for scarcely any time in Parliament that CBC isn't under fire and in such public and political hot water as would make the ordinary end of almost any other Federal Government agency.

But it is not pointless to ask — and the Opposition is doing just this, hammering away, day after day, session after session — why questions are never answered satisfactorily.

This despite the fact that the CBC with its positive genius for antagonizing both politicians and public, does not stop short of embarrassing Prime Minister Pearson, Justice Minister Favreau, LaMarsh and assorted other members of the Cabinet in its seeming determination to display what a great many Opposition MPs are convinced firmly is nothing less than its contempt for Parliament.

ARROGANCE

The CBC likes to think of itself as independent of Parliament.

But how independent can you be when you get an $86,000,000 Parliamentary handout.

In mounting this attack o.. the CBC, Conservative leader Diefenbaker has said that it is the business of both politicians and Parliament to know what the Broadcasting corporation is doing with that subsidy from the taxpayer that runs just about a quarter of a million dollars a day.

While the Opposition correctly claims that it is demanding a parliamentary investigation solely in the public interest, there could be another, if lesser motive, too.

The Conservatives — as now, in their turn, do the Liberals — think they have a score to settle with the CBC.

Perhaps Deputy New Democratic Leader Douglas Fisher put it best when he charged on several occasions — and without effective denial — that the CBC is "loading" its public affairs programs and "slanting" its news, did much to torpedo the Conservatives in two stages, damaging the public image of the former Diefenbaker Government in the 1962 campaign, and sinking it in the '63 election.

Then, too, there is this. . .

Many Parliamentarians, including some extremely highly-placed Liberals, suspect that the CBC has played an important if not key role in Quebec separatism and the not-so-quiet revolution of French Canada.

The things that have been said and heard on the CBC French network — nationalist Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque for years was one of its "stars" in the public affairs field — were seldom if ever seen and heard on the English network. What troubles Parliament is that much of the stuff over the Quebec stations of the CBC is still on the wild side.

Christians In India

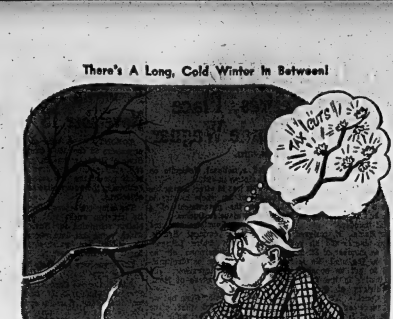
New York Times

When Pope Paul VI goes to Bombay to attend the Eucharistic Congress in December he will be picking up one of the oldest missionary threads in Christian history. It was St. Thomas — "Doubting Thomas" — to whom the early records tell us, India was allotted when the known world was divided up among the Apostles for missionary work. One belief has it that St. Thomas was martyred on a mountain near Madras on a missionary journey.

Although it is not clear just when established Christian communities appeared in India, it was very early — perhaps in the fourth century, certainly by the sixth. There is an ancient community of Christians on the Malabar coast in southwestern India who still use the Syriac language in their liturgical worship.

This does not mean that either Hindu or Moslem converts can be overjoyed by Pope Paul's visit. Moslems always resented the efforts of Christian missionaries to convert their followers. With the Hindus it was largely a question of caste. Few upper caste Hindus became converts because that made them outcastes. The vast majority of Christian converts came from the lowest Hindu castes, the Untouchables, who had nothing in social or material way to lose and who found a human dignity and hope in Christianity that was denied to them by their fellow - Hindus.

However, Hinduism is a very tolerant religion and the tenets, the ethics, the philosophy of Christianity always had an intellectual and even emotion al appeal to educated Indians. That most Christian of non-Christians, Mahatma Gandhi, wrote in his Autobiography that the Sermon on the Mount, "went straight to my heart."



Are Heels Necessary?

Windsor Star

Women's stiletto heels seem the ultimate of what heels can become. But they have created a neat question by a correspondent to The Times of London, England. He asks why do humans have any heels whatever on their shoes. He points out that when maximum efficiency is required, as in soccer, running or other sports, the shoes are without heels.

Come to think of it, when men had only primitive methods of transportation, they did not have heeled shoes. They either went barefoot, or used such heelless footwear as sandals, pacs or moccasins. And probably, they didn't have the back trouble that moderns with their heeled shoes do have.

When, or why, did heels originate? We don't know. Quite possibly some potentate of short stature contrived them to make him appear taller, and it became a style. We recall one man prominent in Canadian life, somewhat shorter than his wife, who had his heels built up to make him nearer her height. He never quite managed it—partly because she insisted on wearing high rather than low heels.

Railway Talk Is Upgraded

Brantford Expositor

The Casey Jones' of the railway world apparently are not keeping up with the rest of the Jones family when it comes to projecting a public image. To remedy this, the American Railway Magazine Editors' Association has issued a glossary of words it regards as inappropriate, misleading or derogatory to describe those working on the railway.

"Deadhead," as applied to those who ride the rails free, is out in favor of "pass holder," "pass rider," or just plain "railway employee." Since "gang" has a possible street gang or chain gang connotation, it gives way to "crew." The streamlining of railway terms extends also to "private car" which suggests an image of railroad officials travelling sumptuously in the much publicized private railroad car of yesterday. "Office car" or "business car" is to be used instead. The association would also have "fatality rate" replaced by "safety record" or "safety standing" in an attempt to accentuate the positive.

The public may have some trouble at first keeping track of the switch, but in time it should get its signals straight. It has become acustomed to undertakers who are mortlicians, lifeguards who now belong to the beach patrol staff, real estate agents transformed into realtors, and casino control officers who once were dog-catchers. It won't get stamped up over the railwayman's glossary changes provided it can still get dinner in the dining the banned list go suggestions for replacements.

To Your Good Health

Should Consult Doctor On Constipation Remedy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My wife evidently is a misguided expert on keeping everyone in the family healthy, and cannot be deterred from her objective.

We have two daughters in high school, aged 15 and 17. Like many others in this age bracket they have spells of binding constipation. As soon as their mother becomes aware of either girl's inability to have a bowel movement, she is unwillingly closeted in the bathroom until she submits and has a full 2½ quart soap suds enema. I feel that the full amount is too much for them now.

She also embarrasses the girls in front of their friends in the house by going to their rooms and telling them to excuse themselves for a time because she is ready to give them an enema.

When I suggest other remedies, I am told that girls are always constipated as they grow up, and that having enemas will keep them cleared out and healthy.

Over the years my wife has been a constant user of the enema herself. How do you deal with such a person except by providing the facts and hoping that she will listen to reason.

Girls are not always constipated. There is no reason why they should be constipated at all, provided they are given a reasonably good diet.

If the girls are truly constipated, something is wrong and you'd better have your doctor take charge.

However, you tell me nothing to convince me that they really are constipated at all, but rather only that, if they don't happen to have a bowel movement when their mother thinks they should, that she thereupon decides arbitrarily that they are "constipated" and must be subjected to a brutally large enema. For the amount you describe is beyond all reason, and besides the soapsuds will be irritating and serve no good purpose anyway.

The added indignity of hauling these young ladies away from their friends, and without even the decency not to blab that they must have their enemas — this I can interpret as no other way than to feel that the mother, for some distorted emotional reason, is really punishing the girls.

The mother herself seems to have a strongly established "enema habit" which she intends to force on her daughters to their life-long misery unless they understand what is happening to them, and can ward it off.

I suggest you send 25 cents in coin and a long, unstamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Chicago Sun Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dunde, Ill., for the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." Read it. Let the girls read it. Their mother should read it. But frankly, it sounds to me as though this cruel insistence on huge and unnecessary enemas must be neurotic.

For the welfare of the girls, I think their bowel habits should be supervised by your doctor — and only by him. But my book will at least give you and the girls a sane understanding of what constipation is and what it isn't.

Oldest High School Holds Splendid Graduation Night, Certificates, Awards Made

Traditionally, high school graduates are warned what is expected of them.

Last night they, by one or their own, were warned what they might expect — and the picture was surprisingly hopeful.

Speaking to BCIVS graduates, valedictorian Sally Macdonald stole the thunder of other speakers when she intimated modern youngsters might be prepared to famously face modern society.

Hopes for a better social future are brighter, she told the students, gathered at Belleville's oldest high school to mark scholastic successes.

"I say this because I have heard the young people of today—many of them among my fellow graduates, speak tolerantly of other races and religions said Miss Macdonald.

"I have heard them speak hopefully and confidently about their own, and about the world's future."

Miss Macdonald was a top BCI scholar in the past year and her choice as valedictorian was unanimous.

However, it probably was the most relaxed of all graduations at city high school this year — thanks to the guest speaker, Arnold Orr.

Now superintendent of district secondary schools, Mr. Orr's last position was that of BCI principal.

IN SERIOUS VEIN

Familiar with school procedure and what he made the event sparkle with his address.

In serious vein he reminded the graduates that the ability to make decisions still is the most crucial thing in life.

"We must admit," he cautioned, "that to make a decision — or still more, to remain one — is the most responsible and exacting part of the process of living.

"The man who trains himself to make quick, energetic decisions . . . is contributing to his happiness by realizing his capacity as a vigorous, accomplishing character."

Yet, he emphasized, spiritual realization was vital.

"You just have to search hard, in this disbelieving generation, to discover a religious believer that will sustain you," he said.

"But in the years ahead you will need a code to live by that will put real meaning and genuine purpose into your every day living. And only you can work out that code for yourself".

MUST FIND PURPOSE

Mr. Orr also emphasized the psychological need to find a purpose in life.

"There are no greater tragedies than those brought about by drifting into jobs or situations," he warned the graduates. "Young people who fail to choose a life activity which gives them purpose and provides real satisfactory self-expression are like—unhappy people with no landmark on the earth, no lodestar in the heaven. They find themselves in dead-end jobs, disgruntled with life, and frustrated in their desire for self expression.

Mr. Orr's successor at BCI, principal D. C. Stirling, told the graduates they must never be satisfied with achievement easily within scope of their tal ents.

"Don't be satisfied with just getting by," he said. "The more you use your abilities the greater will be your rewards."

The diplomas, awards and certificates given out were:

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

"What's the string on my compass for?"

Valedictory Address

The valedictory address, given by Miss Sally Macdonald at the graduation exercises at the Belleville Collegiate Friday night:

"The climax of this commencement cause just a few moments ago when my fellow graduates and I were presented with our diplomas. This evening we have assembled here as a group for the last time. Our thoughts about B.C.I. at this night now are bitter-sweet because, although we have a feeling of accomplishment in our hearts we are sad that our carefree high school days have come to an end.

"I am sure that most of the sophisticated graduates here this evening will remember their first bewildering days at B.C.I. V.S. Wandering lost and alone through the maze of hallways is frightening enough to a confused grade nine, but after entering the wrong stair well and trying to push his way up a down escalator the sneering seniors is almost too much to bear. Soon, however, we found our place in the school community and we were not long in learning that we had to conform to the standards, athletically and socially to the high standards of B.C.I.

"In the classroom we found that we were expected to participate in discussions and for the first time to express our own ideas. And it was our patient teachers, who listened to our opinions and made radical opinions. I am sure that if it had not been for their kindness and help, their dedicated teaching and their frequent reprimands, we would certainly be drowned, some of us would not have graduated.

LONG RECOGNIZED

"B.C.I.'s prowess in the field of sports has long been recognized in the Bay of Quinte District. Which one of us does not remember the excitement of seeing one of our collegians dive over the line with a touchdown or the thrill of watching another of our skilled athletes sink the winning basket of a C.O.S.S.A. championship? In our gym classes, on courts, the pool and on the playing field we learned that it takes more than just hard work to be a winner. In addition, it takes perseverance, confidence and a sense of fair play, these traits which are inherent in any successful person whether he be an athlete or not.

"The many clubs of B.C.I. offered us a wide variety of social activities as well as the arts and service organizations to religious. 4-H Athlete Association, I must not fail to mention the Prefects. They are a group of hardworking student who, I am sure, will be remembered for their efficiency.

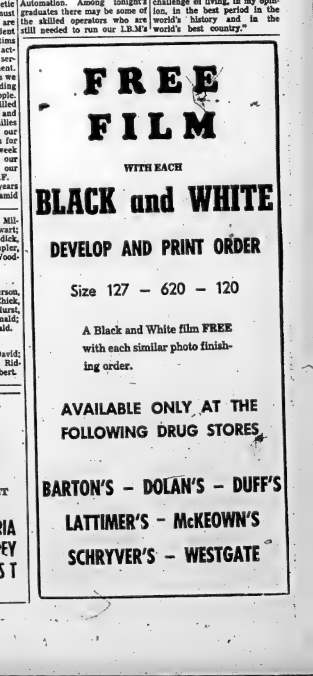
"Through our service clubs we gained a keen understanding of the problems of other people. At Christmas-time we filled our cars with toys, food and clothing for the needy families of Belleville; we donated our used clothing to the Save the Africa campaign, and each week we did without a few of our dietary pleasures for the sake of loose change to U.N.I.C.E.F.

"Our first three or four years here passed very quickly amid a whirl of dances, games, club activities and exams, and all too soon we were in our graduating year. It was a year of preparation - preparation for jobs in the business world, preparation for schools of higher learning and for those of us in Grade XIII a sometimes almost frantic fervent preparation for our June Exams. It was a busy and exciting year for us. Among our graduates this year are Mr. and Mrs. B.C.I., most of the executives of many school organizations, three Ontario Scholars, and last but certainly not least, the winners of the Upper School Interform Basketball Championships. In addition to our annual Kampus Kapers show, whose vitality and originality has been imitated unsuccessfully by rival schools. B.C.I's Winter Wonderland was initiated last year and we are proud that so many of our graduates had a hand in the success. And, personally, I still think that the sphinx should have won.

"Last June we left the secure walls of B.C.I. and entered the often-chaotic, ever-changing adult world.

HAVE ADVANTAGE

"But we have had an advantage over other generations in growing up in the 60's. We have seen the flowering of the Space Age. John Glenn's historical flight in 1962 proved that man is no longer limited to the earth's surface and opened new doors for scientific research and exploration.



"Our commercial Graduates by now have realized the full implications of the word "automation". Automation, in merchandising industry, has made possible the 35-40 hour workweek, which in turn has resulted in more leisure time. However we have had to adjust to Automation. Among our grads graduates there may be some of the skilled operators who are still needed to run our I.B.M's and our highly complex computers.

"Dramatic changes have also taken place in the world situation. In this age of technical advances we have reached in stage at which a push of a button can result in our complete annihilation. In less than one year, the United States has lost one of its great est Presidents, Russia's premier has been deposed and Britain's political leadership has twice changed hands. The problem of racial equality — smouldering in the southern states since Lincoln's time, has flared up with a fury which has made it of world wide concern.

ASKS QUESTION

"We may well ask themwhat does the future hold for us? Is it darker, or more uncertain than we think? In 1790, William Pitt, then Prime Minister of England, remarked, "There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair." Later, in 1851, the Duke of Wellington on the eve of his death thanked God that he would be spared from seeing, 'the consummation of ruin that is gathering about us.' Now, in 1964, I think that hopes for a brighter and peaceful world were very good. We can rise with assurance because I have heard the young people of today, many of them among my fellow graduates, speak tolerantly of other races and religions; I have heard them speak proudly of Canada; and I have heard them speak hopefully and confidently about their own, and about the world's future.

"And so, in saying farewell we find it impossible to thank adequately our parents, our teachers and B.C.I. as a whole, for preparing us to meet the challenge of living in my opinion, in the best period in the world's history and in the world's best country."

QUESTION:

I am watching to see if there are any new apple dessert recipes. We buy a bushel of apples every year or three weeks, but I haven't found anything very different to do with them for a long time . . . M. M. L.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Roast Stuffed Chicken; Chicken Gravy; Mashed Potatoes; Green Peas; Cranberry Salad Mould (see Friday); Maple Walnut Ice Cream; Hallowe'en Chocolate Cup Cakes (see Thursday); Tea.

ANSWER:

Try these.

APPLE CUSTARD PIE:

One 8" unbaked pie shell, 1 cup milk, scalded, 2 eggs, separated, pinch of salt, 4 apples, pared and cored, 1 tablespoon butter, melted, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 4 tablespoons sugar.

Make the pastry shell with high fluted rim. Prick and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Remove from oven. Peel and core the apples, then grate coarsely or shred coarsely on grater. At once mix apples, butter, the ½ cup sugar and nutmeg. Pour the scalded milk gradually over the egg yolks. beating all the while, then stir this mixture into the apple mixture. Pour custard mixture into partially baked crust. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 30 to 40 minutes, or until the custard is set. While pie is baking, beat the 2 egg whites until stiff, gradually beating in the 4 tablespoons sugar. Spread meringue over the cooked custard and return to oven at 375 deg. Fahr. to brown — about 8 to 10 minutes.

APPLE PANCAKES:

1¼ cups flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 eggs, separated, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons melted fat, 1 cup shredded unpared apples (shredded just before adding).

Sift flour with other dry ingredients, beat egg yolks, add milk and melted fat. Add liquid to dry ingredients and beat until batter is smooth. Shred apples and add immediately. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot greased griddle until golden brown on both sides. Lovely served with sprinkling of icing sugar and topped with fresh dairy sour cream.

HUNGARIAN APPLE PUDDING (6 servings):

6 cups shredded cooking apples, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-3 cup sugar (or a little more), 2 eggs, yolks and whites separated, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Pare and shred apples on medium shredder. Add bread crumbs and mix. Cream butter add sugar, egg yolks, salt and beat thoroughly. Add to apple mixture and combine well. Make a meringue by beating egg whites until stiff with the 3 tablespoons sugar. Fold into apple mixture. Pour into a lightly greased baking dish. Oven-poach at 375 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour. Serve hot with Spiced Hard Sauce: 1 cup icing sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1-3 cup butter. Sift together sugar and spices. Cream butter, add sugar mixture gradually, and stir until well blended. Chill.

Successful Living

Dignity in This Case Shows Good Breeding

DEAR DORIS — I live four doors away from this woman and I have a lot of reasons to hate her. She sure can act smart. When she has a few drinks she calls us names, me and my two little girls. She is a white lady and I am an Indian. She and her husband separated years ago. She is a great one for making remarks about Indian people. She sure wears lots of make-up; mascara smears all over her eyes. Just like she fell in the paint.

I dress in good taste and don't wear make-up. My two little colored girls have nice things to wear.

My girl tells me that one day she and her little Indian friend were going by and this woman told them to "get the h - - - home." Every time this woman and her friend get together they sure make remarks about dark races. Why is that?

DORIS CLARK

This man she is running around with is married to a half-breed girl-too, and he's white. When he sees us he just looks mad at us.

I am not one bit scared of him or her. I am not afraid to talk up or lay charges if anything goes wrong, or if they assault my children. I know I have rights. Right? I am very proud to be an Indian. I am not ashamed of my dark race. After all, we are all God's children on earth. — DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED — Right. But such a one does nothing but talk. The stronger the beer the louder the report. You are a member of a fine race and will best show your breeding by remaining calm and dignified.

I'd suspect her wrath is rooted in resentment against her boy friend's legal, but dark-skinned, wife.

Women's Institutes

PINE GROVE W.I.

MARSH HILL — The October meeting of Pine Grove W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Garnet Scarles with 12 members and two visitors present.

President, Mrs. Farley Lindenfield opened the meeting in the usual manner and welcomed the district president, Mrs. Herrington, who was visiting Pine Grove.

A letter was read from the Canadian Mental Health concerning Christmas gifts for the mental hospital at Cobourg.

The canvassers who collected for the Canadian Institute for the Blind, handed in their money.

TOPIC IS IRELAND

Mrs. Harry Coulter, public relations convener introduced the speaker, Mrs. Herrington, who spoke on Ireland where the A.C.W.W. will be held in 1965. She read a report of the work the Irish Countrywomen Association and their work is similar to the work of our institutes. She also spoke of the geography of Ireland and told of the people.

Mrs. Ivan Clare favored with two Irish piano selections.

Mrs. Harry Coulter read the history of the two former Marsh Hill schools which had been prepared several years ago by the late Miss Eva Bird a former teacher.

Mrs. Don Irish is to prepare the Christmas program.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Ethel won't be ready for a minute—would you like something to do while you're waiting?"

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

When children have friends over, do you treat them, as guests or intruders? For instance, do you:

1. Say hello warmly and pleasantly?
2. Show interest by asking for their parents or inquiring about a particular sport or hobby they are engaged in?
3. Offer refreshments?
4. Introduce them to your own guests who may be present?
5. Provide materials, if asked, for a project the youngsters may be working on for school?

6. Supervise tactfully if your teenager is giving a party?
7. Help her greet her guests when they arrive?
8. Try to keep younger children from becoming nuisances when older children have guests?
9. Help organize activities if youngsters ask "What can we do now?"
10. Take time to answer questions and engage in conversation to let young guests know you welcome their presence!

HOW YOU CAN BENEFIT FROM THE $500. WINTER WORKS BONUS...

Under this federal government program — the Winter House Building Incentive Program — a direct payment of $500.00 may be made to the purchaser of a winter built home.

WHAT IS THIS $500.00 FOR?

The $500.00 is sent to the purchaser directly and may be used in any manner he chooses. It could be used as part of the down-payment on the home or for landscaping purposes, to buy furniture, rugs, drapes, etc., finish a recreation room, or for any purpose whatsoever.

WHO MAY RECEIVE THE PAYMENT?

You may receive the incentive payment if you have a house built for you by a contractor this winter providing its construction meets the requirements of the program. (Foundation up by Nov. 31st — Home completed by March 31, 1964).

HOW CAN YOU APPLY?

You can apply for the winter works $500.00 bonus by contacting one of the following firms and ask for an application form. They will explain how you can collect the bonus and also save considerably more by avoiding the increased sales tax effective shortly.

Legion News

COL. PHAY WILLS BRANCH NO. 587

The general meeting of The Col. Phay Wills Branch No. 587 was held in the Legion hall on Monday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Comrade Janet MacDonald who requested two minutes silence for a late Comrade, "Bobbie" Elizabeth Robinson.

Comrade Ina Rollins reported a success in both the rummage sale and dance. She thanked all those who assisted in any way in both these events.

Comrade Billie Kirby spoke on Poppy Days and requested any comrades of the branch to come and sell poppies on the sixth and seventh of November. Approximately 200 wreaths have been sold.

SILVER CROSS TEA

The Silver Cross tea with Comrade Kathy Smith in charge will be held on the Sunday prior to Remembrance Day. Any one who is a Silver Cross mother is invited to attend.

One new member was initiated into the branch, Comrade Kathleen Dalbey who served in the A.T.S. in Jamaica.

Jack Rashotte, Zone Commander of F3 spoke on public speaking. Comrade Dorothy Barriage will be chairman of this for the branch.

GUEST SPEAKER

Comrade Dorothy Howes of Marysville, a former Nursing Sister in the army was guest speaker and recalled some of her experiences while serving overseas in the second world war. This was in keeping with the Remembrance Day theme. The speaker showed pictures of different places she had visited and some beautiful lace doilies and luncheon cloths she had brought from Belgium with her. In conclusion she read the poem "In Flanders Fields" which is appropriate at this time of year.

The branch will parade with the rest of the veterans' organizations on Remembrance Day and any lady who has served in any of the armed forces is requested to join with them. Comrade "Robbie" Robinson who recently passed on will be sadly missed at the cenotaph this year. In former years she has placed the branch's wreath for them.

Church Groups

ST. MARK'S W.A.

BONARLAW — Mrs. Jack Fraser opened her home for the October meeting of St. Mark's Women's Auxiliary, Bonarlaw and the theme was Thanksgiving. Rev. Stewart opened the meeting and the Bible reading was read by Mrs. Jack Prest.

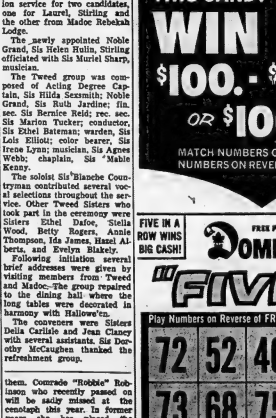
Mrs. Prest, the Little Helper's Secretary, gave a splendid report on a conference she attended at Camp Hyanle, conducted by Rev. Fleming, Dean of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston. The need for becoming better acquainted with the camp and camp conditions was stressed, because it is the Anglican Young People's Camp and should be supported and patronized by the parents and Anglican Young People.

Several topics for discussion followed. The first was the annual turkey supper and bazaar. The next item of business was the catering to a wedding and finally some badly needed repairs to the church property were discussed. Rev. Stewart agreed to look into the matter.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Everett Heath on November 12th.

Tweed Lodge Installs Officers At Stirling

STIRLING — On Tuesday evening the degree team and several members of Tweed Rebekah Lodge, also members of Madoc Rebekah Lodge came by chartered bus to the IOOF hall in Stirling. The Tweed group presented an impressive initiation service for two candidates, one for Laurel, Stirling and the other from Madoc Rebekah Lodge.



The newly appointed Noble Grand, Sis Helen Hulin, Stirling officiated with Sis Muriel Sharp, musician.

The soloist Sis Blanche Countryman contributed several vocal selections throughout the service. Other Tweed Sisters who took part in the ceremony were Sisters Ella Dafoe, Stella Wood, Betty Rogers, Annie Thompson, Ida James, Hazel Alberts, and Evelyn Blakely.

Following initiation several brief addresses were given by visiting members from Tweed and Madoc. The group repaired to the dining hall where the long tables were decorated in harmony with Hallowe'en.

The conveners were Sisters Della Carlisle and Jean Clancy with several assistants. Sis Dorothy McCaughen thanked the refreshment group.

Bluebloods Dance to Dawn In New York

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The jet set, bluebloods, French mayors, Hollywood stars and the ordinary rich danced 'til dawn today at one of America's biggest charity affairs, the 13th annual April-in-Paris ball.

It was neither April nor Paris, but planeloads of decorations, dance bands, dignitaries and drinks made the three ballrooms of the Astor Hotel nearly seem that way.

More than 1,200 persons were pressed into three ballrooms for drinks, a six-course dinner, two fashion shows, a crack at the all - for - charity roulette wheels and dice games, some frenzied frugging or wetusi-ing to the discotheque band, and for a sing-along with Sammy Davis Jr.

Much of the party was arranged in Paris by a committee and shipped over a planeload at a time.

For instance, Mrs. Alfred Lavitt, in charge of the decor banked several U.S. - bound planes with ferns and palms as well as 12,000 carnations and 6,000 roses from Paris, many of which adorned the carved wooden urn-holding statues on the tables.

Other imports for the evening included mayors of French towns, an orchestra, a discotheque singer, fashions, and tiled bluebloods.

Despite the extravagant show the ball is expected to net a profit of $200,000 once the chips are counted. Much of the money is to be used by the French Hospital of New York and French - American foundation charities. Some of it will establish journ a l i s m scholarships named for the late Rea Marsh, the party-giving co'umnist who founded the ball 13 years ago.

Claims Women Not Interested

CALGARY (CP) — Women today are too worried that their children watch sex and violence on television, Ethel Wilson, minister without portfolio in the Alberta cabinet said Thursday.

Mrs. Wilson told the Calgary Council of Social Credit Women's Auxiliary: "A few years ago we would not have tolerated violence and sex on television. We would have tossed the sets outside.

"But today women are not too interested in what their children are doing.

"And if anyone tells you viu-ut-Doctors do not teach children, ask them why we are putting television in school classrooms."

Referring to recent criticism of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Mrs. Wilson said "this battle should be the greatest clean-up in Canadian TV. . . ."

Women Outnumber Men In U.S. But Not at Polls

Tuesday's presidential election is expected to underline this fact of political life.

Bureau of the census figures for 1964 show that there are about 64,650,000 million men of voting age in the United States compared with 6,9200,000 women.

Yet if experience means anything, it is the male vote that will decide the election.

In 1960, with the population figures slightly lower but the sex ratio about the same, more than 1,000,000 more men showed up to vote than did women.

Why don't more women vote? REASONS VARY

Researchers have come up with a variety of reasons for 1960's general 10-per-cent difference in voting turnout between men and women. Mostly it boils down to women considering politics dirty and unladylike and best left up to men.

One of the country's more knowledgeable women voters and one who has decided views on the subject is Mrs. Robert Stuart, president of the non-partisan League of Women Voters.

"First of all," she says, "women have not been able to function as citizens as long as men have. They are not so aware of their responsibility as citizens.

"Then, there are attitudes in the family that may have to be overcome. Up until 1920, you know, voting really was a man's job."

Although there is always talk of a women's vote—or women's bloc—Mrs. Stuart, along with many researchers, doesn't think so.

"Women vote just like men do—for many different reasons. They aren't likely to vote the same way any more than they would all wear the same hat," she says.

VOW Seek Termination Of NORAD

MONTREAL (CP) — The Voice of Women has called on Prime Minister Pearson to seek termination of the North American Air Defence (NORAD) agreement with the United States.

The VoW, in a letter to Mr. Pearson made public today said it is clear to most people that NORAD is becoming useless.

It said that "NORAD is a waste of money and energy, that Canada has an international role to play which NORAD is not. In November, that regional military commitments anywhere are contrary to the spirit of the United Nations charter, that Pomaras are already obsolete against bombing a t t a c k s which are themselves less and less of a threat, and finally that any spread of nuclear weapons, with all the dangers of accident and escalation, may create a spark that could blow up the world."

Going Places

St. Andrews, Scotland, Supreme Court and Parliament of Golf

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Recipe for a golf course:

Take a Scottish field, any field. Mow the grass. Mow it a little shorter for the greens. Dig holes for cups. Dig bigger holes for sand traps (if course is at seaside, and will be waiting at bottom). Leave some broome and gorse around the edges for rough. For water hazards, use nearest loch or firth. Proceed to play.

There is no record of how golf began, though it is entirely likely some bored Scottish shepherd knocked a stone an amazing distance across just such a field with his crook, then discovered to his even greater amazement that it had landed in a rabbit hole.

Naturally, the shepherd in the next field didn't believe he had done any such thing, so he proceeded to bet him $1 Nassau he couldn't do it again. It's been going on ever since, and for all we know that shepherd is still trying for his second hole-in-one on That Great Course Up Yonder.

ONE LUSH GREEN

It is easy enough to be convinced golf began in Scotland. Most of the country is one lush, green, naturally watered, rolling fairway, dotted with all the frustrations and enjoyments artificially engineered into golf courses elsewhere.

Nearly all Scotsmen play golf and every village in the country has at least one golf course. Edinburgh, a city of only half a million, has dozens. It was on that city's golf links, home of the Honorable Company of Edinburgh Golfers, that Charles I was just addressing the ball for a delicate seven-iron chip shot when a messenger addressed him with the news that Cromwell's rebellion (presumably the courier was slain on the spot, which he should have been even if he's brought good news.)

But it is here at St. Andrews that all golfers bow down and face the east. They come here to play the one of this c m e l town's four courses on the royal layouts known as the Old Course.

St. Andrews is the Mecca of matches, and has been almost since the time James IV gave up his efforts to ban the game and took it up himself — a classic example of if-you-can't-lick-'em-join-'em.

It is not just the deceiving layout of the Old Course which gives St. Andrews its pl e a s ant though it is a layout where Bobby Jones once threw sway his clubs in disgust, where countless invisible bunkers the size and shape of trenches and foxholes abound, where huge double greens sometimes entrap otherwise fine parties of ten to eight putts, and howling coastal gales cut soaring drives into m e e k pitch shots.

WHERE RULES ARE MADE

Nay. Laddie, it is not just these. It is the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews the Supreme Court and Parliament of golf, the place where all those inscrutable rules are made about lies, drops, penalty strokes, legal clubs and everything else that makes the game impossible to play for everyone except Arnold Palmer.

The R. and A. is housed in a brooding old Victorian m a s t r o s i t y that appears to have been designed by Charles Addams. Sitting between St. Andrews' unfrumented beachfront and the first tee of the Old Course, it has no touring par. Nor for that matter, any sign of its 1,500 odd members particularly famous for their golf. Membership costs are not prohibitive (though the waiting period for membership is likely to be).

But all the world's golf regulations are proposed and approved or rejected within these hallowed and hoary walls which surround dozing retired brigadiers in overstuffed leather chairs.

Along with its famed trophies — including the silver golf stick decorated with silver and gold (for royalty) ball, symbolic of each club captain — the R. and A. maintains a fascinating museum of gold sticks, legal and otherwise.

Among the latter are a wepon with a face so deep it actually strikes the ball twice, a putter with a revolving surface, another with a head adjustable to the green, and a rake-like club for hitting the ball out of the water. Any one of these might suggested these days that were not previously considered a century or more old.

HAND MADE CLUBS

The king of clubs in St. Andrews is Laurence Auchterlonie, fourth generation professional, firm of D. and W. Auchterlonie. Mr. Auchterlonie claims to be the last man in the world who makes golf clubs completely by hand. He says the difference is that he is the last remaining hand-tailored and store-bought clothes.

Mr. Auchterlonie makes clubs according to their original concept, delicately balanced and gracefully curved on top, bottom and side to give the ball assures for its soundness and which he says has been lost in the machine age. For $35 he can produce a rosewood putter that looks like a miniature of an old-fashioned wood, is exquisitely balanced and a work or art to behold. However, he turns down just quite reluctantly; even for a man who makes golf clubs by hand for a living, they're t o o time-consuming.

St. Andrews is a charming and peaceful seaside city, famed for the oldest university in Scotland, the ruins of St. Andrews Castle with its dungeon shaped like a bishop's bottle, and the stately skeleton of 12th Century St. Andrews Cathedral.

But golf is far and away St. Andrews' only and major i. t y. The Royal and Ancient its present day establishment.

Where else would you find a town with four golf courses for 10,000 population, all of them fairways and none, apparently, backers? Where else would you find a road going across a fairway with a stop sign that reads "Danger — Golf Course", instead of "Watch for Cars"?

In Scotland, and especially in St. Andrews, golf is as much a fact of life as whisky, Kilt and clans.

Unique Doll Collection Makes Interesting Feature at Bazaar

"Hello Dolly, a doll bazaar" was a unique presentation by the Contact Club of Christ Church on Friday evening with Mrs. June Fisher as convener.

After a greeting at the door by Mrs. R. Wright, wife of the rector, Mrs. Shirley Harris, president of the Contact Club, and Mrs. June Fisher, the visitor entered the toy world of childhood. A Christmas tree at the entrance was gay with lights, green festoons and red balloons.

POURING TEA

The tea table was presided over by Mrs. Florence Lennox, Mrs. Doris Stewart, Mrs. R. Wright and Mrs. Shirley Harris. An original centrepiece was formed with a church and houses made of icing. In front of the church a bride, her bridesmaid and her bridegroom are standing, and around the scene the bare white branches of trees show it to be a winter wedding. Lighted white tapers circled the whole group, making an interesting conversation piece.

Cards Doris Stewart was decorating convener and Joan Ford was convener of refreshments.

Each quartet table held a toy container for sprigs of greenery with a tag tied to it saying, "Dolly says welcome." A hurricane lamp in amber glass held a lighted candle. Music was played throughout this setting by Laura Birch.

The dolls, stuffed toys, dolls' beds, and wardrobes were quickly sold out. This table was convened by Dorothy Sinclair, Mary Phillips and Ruth Owens who could hardly keep up with the demand.

Equally quick to be cleared was the homecooking table convened by Edith Pringle, and the candy table in charge of the Junior Auxiliary.

A white elephant table where plants, boxes of cards and other items were sold was convened by Marjory Bunnett. A parcel check and nursery for added convenience for the shopper and a fishpond interested the younger set.

ORIGINAL IDEA

What gave this bazaar originality were the collections of dolls and toys of other years and other lands. A merry-go-round was shown that was built in 1908, and an hoop with a rod to steer it was over 100 years old. Meribeth Folwell showed dolls of other lands with Spanish senoritas, Dutch dolls in costume, dolls from Jamaica and Bermuda and others. Carolyn Fisher showed Hawaiian dolls, oriental ones, and a Scotchman with bagpipes. Bonnie Lennox in addition to her doll collection had a Noah's Ark with carved animals which her grandfather had made for her father; and a farmer's wife at the door.

UNUSUAL COLLECTION

On the platform at the front of the room was an unusual collection of antique dolls owned by Miss Mary Moult. The oldest of these was about two feet high and was over 120 years old. It had a split head with hair inserted in the split which was then waxed flat and the ends curled. It had a linen body and cost about $100 to add to the collection.

A Jumeau doll was made by this famous Frenchman, and had been used to display dressmakers' fashions. It had pierced ears and earrings and was dressed in a grey silk dress with tight bodice trimmed in soutache braid, long gloves sewn on, a parasol our hair-type coiffed with flower-trimmed, broad-brimmed hat.

Many of the dolls had china heads, and a white hairline down the centre helped to identify it as one. Other dolls had bisque

A Lift for Living

Curiosity Necessary Instinct For Any High Form of Life

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

Curiosity is among the necessary instincts for any high form of life. Especially those animals that are scantily armed need an abundance of inquisitiveness. It is by their curiosity, mixed with fear, that they survive. Curiosity prompts the rabbit, squirrel and deer, the ruffed grouse, pheasant and wild turkey, to look intently at every thing they move in their field of vision, to investigate their surroundings with eye, ear and nose and to decide whether harm or good lies there. All creatures of a high order possess the spirit of questioning; they are curious.

Curiosity is present to a peculiar degree in human beings and manifests itself in countless ways.

Why is it that nobody who can read is ever effective in cleaning up an attic? Curiosity!

Why is it that if you tell a person there are 281,796,349,973 stars in the heavens he will instantly believe you, but post a sign that says "Wet Paint" on a door or a chair and he must test it and see for himself? Curiosity.

Why is it that the newspaper being held by the person sitting next to you on the bus is so irresistibly fascinating that you simply must sneak a peek at it over your neighbor's shoulder? Curiosity!

Why is it that the quickest way to get your wife home from a trip out of town is to send her a copy of the local paper with one item clipped out? Curiosity!

DRIVING FORCE

Curiosity is a driving force in the worst people and in the best and examples of the lowest and highest expressions of this urge can be found in every community.

It is present in the meddlers and the trouble-makers. A severe, sour-faced, tough-minded woman complained to the county sheriff because several small boys were swimming nude in a stream near her home. She said they could easily be seen from her porch, and the situation was disgraceful. The sheriff must do his duty and put a stop to this degrading practice. So the sheriff came to the site, found the boys and told them they must do their swimming upstream, far from the lady's house.

After a few days the sheriff received another call from the woman who was fretting about the boys and their uncouth swimming in the nude. The sheriff asked, "Haven't they moved upstream yet?"

"Yes, they've moved, but if I go upstairs I can see them from my bedroom window," the woman whined.

The sheriff visited the swimming site and urged the boys to re-install farther upstream. They went. But the complainis continued. The lady called at the sheriff's office and reported, "They have moved upstream, but I can still see them with my Woolscolars from the attic window."

CLAMOR FOR SEATS

One of the places where we see a twisted curiosity most shockingly displayed is in the public clamor for courtroom seats when a sensational trial is about to be held. Before the beginning of a French trial last promised lurid revelations concerning the passions of some of the principal participants the judge turned to the ladies who said, "It may be that you are not acquainted with the sordid things that will be said here. things that no respectable woman should hear in view of this I ask that all respectable women leave the court room." Not one woman budged from her seat. Then the judge turned to attendant and ordered: "Now that all the respectable women have left, show the remaining women out!"

Peeping, prying, intrusive and interfering people are among examples that demonstrate the abuse and perversion of curiosity. An old Latin proverb states a profound truth concerning human nature: "The corruption of the best produces the worst." When curiosity goes astray and becomes deranged it expresses itself in mean inquisitiveness, in a craving to know the worst.

But when curiosity is nobly used it produces scientific discovery and encourages religious faith. The advances of science have been contingent upon the curiosity of the scientists who have put it to work in careful, patient, persistent investigation. The craving to know, inspired navigators to range unknown seas and to discover new worlds. It invited Marconi to work on wireless telegraphy and Alexander Bell to invent the telephone. Curiosity summoned the George Washington Carvers to unravel mysteries of goodness buried in the peanut and sweet potato. Dr. Andrew Fleming, curious about mold on the edge of a dish, followed his questions to the discovery of penecillin.

Men of the men and women who have benefitted mankind through discovery have been prompted by a consecrated curiosity.

HOLY CURIOSITY

But even more significant, a holy curiosity has been at the heart of religious faith. From the beginning of man's sojourn here we have hungrily sought answers to such mysteries as "Whence have I come?" "Who made me?" "To whom do I belong?" "Whither am I headed?" "What is expected of me while I am here?" The life of faith is lived in answer to such questions.

The rapid spread of Christianity in the First Century can be largely credited to the power of early Christians to excite the curiosity of the pagan world. Those first Christians made their neighbors ask questions: "How do these Christians come by—their love for one another "Where do they get their courage to face martyrdom, while praying for their persecutors?" "Why do Christians accompany their dead to the grave with songs of rejoicing rather than with loud lamentations?" "What does Christ mean to them?"

Christianity had the power to arouse the curiosity of the world.

Perhaps the world can be redeemed only when people of faith compel the world to ask such questions.

Does your faith arouse such curiosity?

Do you make people ask such questions?

The Commons continued debate on the government's interim supply motion, seeking $740,000,000 to meet November and December bills.

Opposition MPs criticized the government's method for bringing the British North America Act to Canada and the amending formula for it.

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said a "dangerous" situation could occur under such a "weak and indecisive" government as the present one.

Heath Macquarrie (PC—Queens) said the Liberals have eroded federal powers in favor of Quebec.

Elden Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said Canada is being led toward balkanization to appease Quebec separatists.

Transport Minister Pickersgill said the Formula is the same one the Conservatives tried to have adopted in 1961

Sleep-Talkers Rarely Put Foot in Their Mouth

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a boy, 17 years old. College is a year away, but I am already beginning to worry about something. I talk in my sleep.

ANN LANDERS

For years my brother has been ribbing me about it. I accused him of making up lies to get my goat, but he swears he is telling the truth.

According to my brother the talking goes on and on like a soundtrack of a movie. He says I speak distinctly and call people by name. I've said things to my sleep that have made two girls look bad and I'm ashamed of myself because it isn't true.

Do you know any way to cure a sleep-talker? Every morning when I wake up I ask my brother what I said during the night. — 24 HOUR ORATORY.

DEAR ORATORY — Your brother is giving you the business. So long as he can get a rise out of you he'll keep it up.

Stop asking him what you said in your sleep. Chances are you said nothing that made any sense. Most sleep-talkers mumble unintelligible phrases. Occasionally you may utter a word or a sentence, but you can be sure there is no "self-incrimination." (Now go to sleep and keep quiet.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am writing on behalf of my niece. She is 30 years old — and in a jam. Corrine has been going with a married man, (age 40) whose wife is in the state mental hospital. The man told Corrine and her parents that he could get a divorce because his wife won't consent to it. He also volunteered this: "It's against the law to divorce a person who is in a mental institution."

Last Sunday I went to see the man's wife in the hospital and she was as gracious and fine a person as I have ever met. She told me her husband had never asked her for a divorce and if he wants a divorce he may have one. She said she would not want to be the cause of a child born out of wedlock.

Corrine's mother has dumped this problem into my lap because she is too nervous to deal with it. What should be done about this mess? — SELECTED.

DEAR SEL — If sounds as if they have the wrong person in the institution. The wife appears to be the most sensible one of the group.

In some states it is not possible to divorce a person who is in a mental institution. See a lawyer and learn what the law is in your state. The man is obliged to pay the medical expenses and support the child — whether he marries Corrine or not.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I've been going with Don for three years. He is a wonderful young man and I love him very much.

The problem is Don thinks he owns me. He insists on knowing where I go, what I do, who I talk to and what was said. It's a battle every time I want to spend an evening with the girls. Don insists on driving me over and taking me home.

I've tried breaking up with him for as long as one whole week. I can't stand to be away from him and he knows it. This is true love but I wish he wouldn't act like my Lord and Master. I feel like I'm being trailed by the F.B.I. What can I do to build his confidence in me? — BALL 'N CHAIN.

DEAR CHAIN — It's not his lack of confidence in you that makes Don behave this way, it's his lack of confidence in himself.

People in love hold each other close only when they set one another free. When Don is sure of himself he will be relaxed about you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lefts Riot In India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Student riots in eastern India mushroomed today into a leftist-backed assault on Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's troubled government.

Reports from the eastern city of Bhubaneswar indicated at least half of Crissa State has been hit by looting and arson. Police stations, government buildings and the homes of officials have been attacked.

Rampaging mobs also destroyed telegraph wires and roads to prevent the police and troops from putting down the violence.

Communists and members of the opposition Samyukata (united) socialist party were reported to be actively supporting the agitation in at least six of the state's districts.

Reports reaching New Delhi put the death toll at three killed by police. But much of the rioting is in remote areas and there are fears the toll eventually may increase.

Pinch Hitting

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Activity at Memorial Arena these days is not confined to that with hockey sticks and pucks.

The Quinte Figure Skating Club, looking forward to another fine season, swung back into action this week.

Smooth-skating youngsters and oldsters alike, and many not so smooth on the tic-toed blades, will be taking advantage of this city's excellent club facilities from now until late spring.

Presently the club has arranged for membership skating three nights a week. Skating time is from 4.30 to 7.45 p.m. each Monday, Thursday and Saturday.

Those smoothies on the blades will be even more so, and the not-so-smooth group will on a lot of catching up between now and next March when the club holds its annual skating carnival.

Much of the credit for the improvements will go to the Quinte Club's two excellent teaching professionals.

The Belleville club is lucky indeed to have the likes of Mr. Paul Tatton, gold medallist, and Mr. Benny Hemsley, instructor with the group star test skaters, as its professionals.

Over the years their abilities have been proven time and again by the high average of Belleville skaters passing tests under Canadian figure skating standards.

But it is not all fancy dan stuff either. Mr. Tatton also instructs at summer hockey school classes in Toronto.

Figure skating is becoming more popular all the time, as a method of improving hockey players' skating habits. The various intricate steps and strokes help a player learn the fine points of skating, speed, quick turns and exact co-ordination, according to many of today's top hockey stars.

The Quinte club offers its members a good choice of learning as much as possible, according to the individual's capabilities. Whether it be just for the fun of skating, to help in hockey or to take up the sport as a challenging career.

Skating times are arranged to accommodate every class of skater, from tiny tots just learning, through high school boys and girls gaining a relaxing break from daily routines, to those talented and interested enough to take extra lessons in figures, dance or free skating.

As we mentioned before, each member is free to make a choice of the program suitable in their particular case.

The club has another point going for it too. Figure skating is one of the very few organized winter sports for girls in this city and many find it a relaxing, healthful pastime.

Back to the hockey end of it for a moment, Tatton is quite taken with the benefits to future players through early figure skating.

"Start them on figure skates at a young age," he advises, "since the high boots give good support when ankles are weak.

"Some children do well on figure skates at three years of age," he continued, "and adapt easily to hockey skates at a later age."

Tatton speaks from experience. As well as instructing in figure skating at the Tam-O-Shanter summer school in Toronto, his services are being sought for the summer hockey school there.

A club spokesman says some Belleville boys attended the Toronto school this summer and hope to continue their skating improvement here this winter.

Figure skating has also proven popular as a family sport, where mom, pop and the children can play together, so to speak.

The sport is a growing one too.

Near at hand, clubs have been operating in Trenton and Napanee, as well as Belleville. And this year a fourth has been formed, in Picton. Even clubs have been in operation in such centres as Kingston and Cobourg for some time.

So, if hockey is not your forte, or even if it is, there is still plenty of room for new members in the Quinte Skating Club.

Habs Seek First Win At Home

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The friendly ice of the Forum hasn't done much for Montreal Canadiens so far in the current National Hockey League season.

The Canadiens are off to a flying start—they have yet to lose a game—but their three tie games have all occured on home ice, while they have picked up three victories on the road.

So the Montrealers' plagued by erratic shooting in their early encounters, will still be looking for their first home-ice victory when they meet the perennial last-place Boston Bruins tonight.

In tonight's other game, Chicago Black Hawks visit Toronto Maple Leafs tied with Montreal and Detroit Red Wings for first place.

Sunday night, Toronto visits Detroit, Boston is at home to Chicago and the Canadiens are in New York against the Rangers.

Muzz Patrick Resigns Ranger Post

Emile Francis, a former NHL goalie and the assistant general manager of the Rangers since 1963, replaces Patrick.

Patrick, a former Ranger player and coach who has been in the New York organization since 1934, will continue as a director of the Rangers

The new Madison Square Garden Centre is scheduled for completion in September, 1967, and Patrick will concentrate in that city on programming and booking the wide variety of sports and non-sports activities and presentations to take place in the various facilities of the centre.

These facilities include the new 22,000-seat Madison Square Garden, a small 5,000-seat arena called the Forum, the Centre Cinema seating 500, a 48-lane bowling centre and convention and exhibition space.

PRAISES PATRICK

Francis said that Muzz Patrick is uniquely qualified to perform his new duties with our great sports and entertainment centre."

Said Irving M. Felt, chairman and president of Madison Square Garden Corporation,

Patrick has served as Ranger general manager since 1955 and as coach in 1954-55 and 1962-63.

"It was obviously difficult to terminate my active participation in a team which I feel have been so closely associated for more than 30 years," Patrick said. "But the opportunity afforded by my new post was too appealing to turn down."

Francis was coach of the Rangers' junior club at Guelph in 1960.

A 14-year veteran of professional hockey, Francis played a total of 22 games with the Rangers in the late 1940s and early 1950s. A much more successful leaguer, he also played most of the 1947-48 season with Chicago Black Hawks.

Go West, You Bears, Go West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hershey Bears have been anything but impressive in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League this season, but when they go West it's a different matter.

The Bears have played and lost all five games in their East ern Division but their four-game undefeated record against Western Division clubs has taken them into second place in the standings.

Hershey continued its victory string against the Western Division Friday night, coming from behind a 2-0 deficit to dump first-place Rochester Americans 4-2.

Wayne Rivers, who had counted only one goal in eight previous games, paced the Bears with two markers.

In other action, Springfield Indians moved into third place in the Eastern Division, one point behind Hershey, with a 5-4 victory over Providence Reds.

Roger DeJordy and Myron Stankiewicz were the other Hershey marksmen. Dick Gamble and Gerry Ehman got a goal each for the Americans

Gerry Foley paced the Indians with two goals.

Napanee Ends QSS Win String

By ROBERT SNEJDELLA

Quinte Secondary School's junior and senior football squads have both earned berths in the Bay of Quinte finals.

The seniors, although losing yesterday afternoon's game with Napanee 18-14, are in the final against B.C.I.

The juniors edged into the finals against B.C.I. ing Napanee 13-13 in a thriller.

Over the season, the seniors won five and lost one, while the juniors won four, lost one and tied one.

In the senior game Don Forbes scored the first Napanee touchdown early in the game. He climaxed a 55-yard drive by scoring from ten yards out.

Napanee took a 12-0 lead a few plays later when Ken Rhyndress scored on a 65-yard pass play.

Harry Knoit recovered a Napanee fumble later in the half to set up the first Quinte touchdown. Grant Vandervoort scored a few plays later, after a drive by Mike Morton and Bob Moon.

Dennis Lane kicked a single for Quinte, and Grant Vandervoort scored Quinte's second touchdown late in the half, this gave Quinte a 13-12 lead.

Fred Boone's interception of a Quinte pass in the second half resulted in the third Napanee TD. Bob Stinson scored this one on a three-yard pass play.

Mike Morton almost gave Quinte the game with a fine 45-yard gallop to the Napanee five, but on the next play the ball was fumbled by the ball carrier and Napanee recovered in their end zone to give Quinte a lone point.

JUNIOR GAME

Eric Emerson scored Quinte Juniors first major after Quinte had marched 80 yards, going over both 5 yards out.

Dale Hike ended a Napanee drive by scoring from 5 yard out, and the convert gave Napanee a point lead.

Danny Fox scored the second Napanee TD on a fine 10-yard run.

Wharren Bongaard intercepted a Napanee pass and carried the ball to the Napanee five yard line before being stopped. Eric Emerson scored his second TD on the next play.

With a minute remaining in the game Quinte quarterback Dale Duvall pitched a 40-yard pass to Richard Ellis to bring Quinte into range for a single. Mike Shoniker boomed a point in for the point with seconds left.

The game was marred by a head injury, possibly a concussion, to outstanding Quinte lineman David Muir.

It is expected that the junior and senior playoff games will be played Tuesday. Playing fields and game times will be announced as soon as they are available.

Flyers Boost Junior Lead

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers boosted their lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series to three points Friday on the strength of one period of play.

After being thwarted by Montreal Canadiens goaltender Ricky Farr for two periods, the Flyers found the range in the third and scored three goals for a 4-3 victory. The narrow homicie win gave them 14 points on the season, three more than Oshawa Generals.

In a game at Kitchener, Toronto Marlboros, defending Memorial Cup champions escaped a third-period comeback by the Rangers for a 7-3 victory.

Farr stopped 22 Niagara Falls shots in the first two periods while his teammates built up a 2-0 lead on goals by Norm Ferguson and Carol Vadnais.

In the third period, Don Marcotte cut the margin to 2-1 before Vadnais scored again. Then Brian Bradley, Andre Lajeunesse and Marcotte scored in quick succession for the Flyers as Farr fills the victory. Marcotte got the winner with Canadiens' Serge Savard in the penalty box.

At Kitchener, Paul Laurent gave the big Toronto scorer with four goals. Neil Clark, Wayne Mosdell and Jack Chipchase got the other Marlboro goals.

Sandy Fitzpatrick and John Beechey each scored twice for the Rangers and Bob Jones added a single goal as Kitchener hit for three goals in an unsuccessful comeback attempt.

HARRISON MOVES UP

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Duch Harrison moved a step closer to winning his fourth consecutive U.S. National Senior Open golf championship by shooting a 65, lowest score of the tournament, in the third round at the Washoe golf course Friday. Harrison's 65 brought his 54-hole total to 203, four strokes in front of Harry Umbinetti of North Bend, Wash.

Bidding For First PGA Win

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Steelsmith, 25 - year - old pro from Glendale, Calif., shot a five-under-par 67 Friday to take the first-round lead in the $25,000 Almaden Open golf tournament.

Steelsmith, who never has won a tournament on the PGA tour, held a one-stroke lead over Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif.

Tied at 69 were Sam Carmichael of Martinsville, Ind., and Fred Marti, 23-year-old rookie from Dayton, Tex.

British Open champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., shot a two-under-par 70.

Jerry Magee of Toronto shot rounds of 36 and 37 to join 16 others at 73.

Sports Director Says

Montreal Drops 1965 Cup Plans

REGINA (CP) — Ken New-ton, sports director of television station CHRE, Regina, said Friday night he has "learned from reliable sources" that Montreal has abandoned plans to stage the Grey Cup game. Newton said financial problems, which will prevent completion of stadium facilities in Montreal for the game, are behind the move to withdrawal. He said that the 1965 game has been re-scheduled for Toronto's CNE Stadium.

Earl Lunsford Workman of the Alouettes said two weeks ago the Montreal Eastern Football Conference had needed more capital to finance the proposed stadium.

WILL BE READY

E While he said the new stadium will be ready for the 1965 Grey Cup game, he admitted that several problems have been encountered and the Canadian Football League has been advised of the difficulties.

"I spoke to commissioner (Sydney) Hoban yesterday and discussed the situation," said Workman. "He said that CFL would like to have the (1964) Grey Cup meeting. I just wanted to be fair with the CFL."

The 1965 national finals was awarded to Montreal last spring on the understanding that the 40,000-seat stadium in east-end Ville d'Anjou would be ready at that time.

"I don't even think about the stadium not being ready for the 1965 football season," Workman said. "Calgary completed its stadium in 92 days and we've got a lot of leeway yet."

Four Entries In Junior 'D' Hockey Loop

The Trent Valley OHA Junior "D" hockey league held its organization meeting this week and announced plans for the coming season.

Four teams, the champion-ship Wellington squad, Tweed, Stirling and Bancroft, have entered.

The loop will play an 18-game schedule with more games than last year, expected to open during the final week of November.

The teams decided to play double-headers, at Wellington and Marmora, during the first third of the schedule.

Wellington is the league's lone entry with artificial ice at this time but Tweed expects to put their new plant into operation shortly.

BRITONS HESITATE

LONDON (AP) — Britain's hard-up track and field officials hesitated Friday about accepting the gift of a $168 000 country house and estate as an Olympic training centre. The house is Timbury Manor in Hampshire. The British Olympic team trained there for 10 days before going to Tokyo last month. Oliver Cutts, 44 - year - old gasoline magnate, offered Timbury Manor as a gift to British athletics. But the estate costs $14,000 a year to maintain.

Als Bidding To 'Prove Improvement'

Clash With Cats

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Alouettes, the cinderella team of the Eastern Football Conference this season, get a chance to prove how much they have improved when they meet the defending Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the last scheduled game of the season Sunday.

The Alouettes, pre season candidates for the last place in the east, are in third place in the standings with a record of six wins and seven losses.

They have victories over every other club in the EFC this season, including last weekend's 22-21 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders.

Before that game, Montreal coach Jim Trimble predicted his Alouettes would end the regular season with a 7-7 record. The outcome of Sunday's game will have no bearing on the final standings, but it could prove Trimble's prediction.

The Alouettes wound up first place last weekend. Ottawa wound up in second place, and Hamilton gained two third and final playoff berth

PLAYOFFS SET

The Alouettes meet the Rough Riders at Ottawa Nov. 7 in a sudden-death, semi-final game. The winner advances to the two-game final series against the Ticats, who get the bye.

In the other weekend game in the east, Toronto Argonauts were to meet the Riders in their final game of the season at Toronto today.

The Toronto game was to be televised by the CBC Eastern network starting at 2 p.m. The Hamilton - Montreal game will also be televised from Montreal Sunday by the Eastern network of CTV beginning at 2 p.m.

On paper the Tiger-Cats record compared to the 13-game performance of the Alouettes this season is awesome.

Hamilton has scored 308 points during the season compared with Montreal's 176, outrushed the Alouettes 4,350 yards to 2,581 and picked up 2,186 yards in the air to Montreal's 1,385.

George Dixon is the only Alouettes player to figure in the top five positions in any category.

DIXON DOUBTFUL

Dixon, a doubtful starter Sunday, is fourth among EFC players with 594 yards. He is also in a three-way tie for eighth spot in the scoring race with 30 points and has returned kickoffs for 329 yards, second best in the conference.

Hamilton's placekicker, Don Sutherin, is the EFC's top pointgetter with 67 and has been named first in third in EFC rushing with 639 yards gained.

Hamilton quarterback Bernie Faloney is the second best in the EFC with 1,989 yards gained in the air through the season on 89 yards a pass and Tommy Grant is the second best pass receiver with a two-game catch and 978 yards gained.

There is only one category in which the Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders are currently hold the edge over the Ticats. Hamilton could finish only as well as with British Columbia Lions of the Western Conference in an interlocking game this season.

Montreal has the distinction of being the only Eastern club to share the Lions.

Pool Helps Attendance Poor Clubs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Good news for Edmonton, Winnipeg, Regina and possibly Calgary.

British Columbia Lions will be able to help them out of their financial predicaments as the turn of about $80,000 this year.

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the Western Football Conference club, estimated this week that amount as the Lions' record contribution to the conference's gat.. equalization pool.

Last year the club put $65,000 into the pool.

The pool is designed to help poorer clubs. An average net revenue figure is struck for the conference. Those above that figure contribute to the pool. Those below it are paid from the pool.

The Lions expect attendance to reach a Canadian Football League record of 250,000 after Sunday's final game of the season here.

Capozzi figures that Winnipeg Blue Bombers, with an average attendance at home of just over 13,000, will receive $25,000 from the pool. Edmonton Eskimos should get about $30,000 and Saskatchewan $13,000.

Calgary Stampeders are not expected to put in or take out a sizeable amount from the pool.

But Bombers Are Due

Lions Need Tie To Cinch Top

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Every team in the Western Football Conference has something at stake in the last two games of the regular season this weekend, even Calgary Stampeders who aren't playing.

In fact two cities will be rooting for the underdog in the televised Winnipeg Blue Bombers-British Columbia Lions game Sunday—Calgary and Winnipeg.

Consider:

The Lions must tie or beat the last-place Blue Bombers to capture first place and a bye in the WFC finals. The Stampeders took first place from the Lions Wednesday when they squashed them 26-14.

Winnipeg wants to break a 12-game losing streak and pick up coach Bud Grant's 100th victory.

At Regina today Saskatchewan Roughriders can be assured a 9-7 won-loss record, the best since 1956, when they meet Edmonton Eskimos.

The outcome of the two games will determine who will be in the two-game two-point semi-final that starts Nov. 7 in Regina.

The second game will be at Calgary or Vancouver depending on who wins Sunday—Nov. 9.

MAY SET RECORDS

Two attendance records are at stake. The spoilers could 12,00' fans to reach a record of 130,000 for the season. If the Lions get their usual attendance of around 30,000 at Empire Stadium they will have a season's total of about 258,000, breaking their own Canadian Football League attendance record of 251,000 set last year.

Grant gave some indication of what can be expected in Sunday's game, televised over the CTV network.

"Lions have to give it their best, but we've got nothing to lose and we're going to do that too.

"Aside from nine men still on the injured list, all hands are healthy and there are no additions.

"It's been a long season," he said. "We'll be glad it's over so we can go to work on next year."

Coach Dave Skrien of B.C. agrees that Winnipeg can be regarded as healthy, which is more than he can say for his club. Punter Neal Beaumont has a pulled back Steve Shafer are still out with injuries. To oeef up his offence Skrien will replace Canadian halfback Bill Lasseter with import Lou Holland. Tackle Tom Brown will the last game with an injury, will play. Ron Morris will fill Shafer's place and Beaumont's punts as well.

Sullivan Holds Slim Lead

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) Jack Sullivan, 30 - year - old Adelaide professional, leads after two rounds of the Australian Open golf championship.

Sullivan Friday added a one-over-par 73 to his first-round 70 for a 143 total which gave him a lead of one stroke over fellow-Australian Len Thomas.

Burly American Jack Nicklaus took four putts from 15 feet at the fourth but recovered to finish with 71 for 146.

Britain's Guy Wolstenholme returned his second 73 for 148. He sank 15-foot putts at the 13th and 15th, buttbree-putted the 16th hole.

Only five strokes separate the leading 19 players in one of the most wide open Australian championships in years.

Open Practice Called

An open basketball practice for Belleville players wishing to play in the Bay of Quinte Men's League has been called for Monday night, it was announced this morning.

Belleville Lightfoots will workout at 7:30 p.m. at the Centre Secondary School gym, and all city players are invited to attend.

It was also disclosed this morning that there may be two clubs from this city in the grouping, along with Trenton Wilson's, RCAF Flyers, Cobourg and Picton.

The other possible Belleville entry, as yet unnamed, will likely depend on the number of players showing interest during the early workouts here.

BY PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP)—From humble beginnings six years ago, the Ottawa Area Babe Ruth Association has progressed to the point where it is talking of bringing the Little World Series to Ottawa and Canada for the first time in 1967.

In the meantime, it is going to do some spadework in Eastern Ontario in the hopes of spreading Babe Ruth baseball throughout the province.

Babe Ruth competition for boys 12 to 15 began in the United States in 1951, and moved into British Columbia a few years later. It got into the Ottawa Eastern Canada in 1958 at an Ottawa meeting.

Hubert Fried, now director of Ontario Babe Ruth leagues, recalls that the Ottawa Kinsmen Club offered to sponsor the league. The fathers attending, who had found their sons' organized baseball cut off at the Little League maximum age of 12 was reached, took the club up on its offer.

The first year there were three four-team leagues. Today there are between 800 and 1,000 boys playing on 40 teams in eight city leagues. Another 1,000 are involved in such Eastern Ontario centres as Bells Corners, Carleton Place, Smiths Falls, Perth, Manotick and Brockville and in Aylmer, the last Quebec community represented.

Central and western Ontario cities have shown little interest in Babe Ruth ball. The Ontario Baseball Association covers youngsters up to 18 years old. Fried has some plans in that area.

"We plan to hit every town in the province and show them our movies and literature."

IN FOR SERIES

Fried, assistant superintendent at Lansdowne Park, home of the Ottawa Rough Riders, says George Barr of Tulsa, Okla., world director of Babe Ruth baseball, is in Ottawa this May and suggested "we try to bring the mid-Atlantic Ruth championship here in 1967."

"If we get that, our bid for the Little World Series in 1967 is almost sure to be approved."

The men who started Babe Ruth baseball in the area included civil servants from the external affairs department, income tax branch and printing bureau; fathers serving in the armed forces, a Canadian executive of a British auto firm, a Brockville druggist and several Kinsmen.

At the league level, the Alta Vista Babe Ruth League in Ottawa is typical. League president James McLaughlin, a justice department official, oversees six teams of about 90 boys.

"Babe Ruth ball does a great deal for youngsters who have no place out of town to go in the summer," he says.

This league, more affluent than some, charges $5 per boy registration. Its annual budge' is $2,000 with local merchants and builders helping to raise the money.

Fred Kimmons, department store executive and Kinsmen Babe Ruth liaison man, says his club is solidly behind the bid to bring the Little World Series here.

"An Ottawa team has never reached finals but it would be nice to hold them here in centennial year."

DEED REMEMBERED

MARGATE, England (CP)—Solicitor and retired regular army captain, Ralph Castello, who died here recently, has left £75 to Harold Letts for rescuing him when he was wounded on a Gaza battlefield in 1917.

BOSTON (AP) — The handicapped children suffering from Sclerosis Clay on crutches and in wheelchairs. The heavyweight champion was in his glory—and so were the kids.

Clay delayed the start of his workout Friday to attend a Halloween party at a school for crippled children.

About 140 youngsters, knowing Clay was training just across the street, took a chance and extended the invitation.

"We didn't really think he'd come but we were ready for him anyway," said William Carmichael, superintendent.

"I told the boys he would visit them, but they didn't believe me," said one teacher. "The children at today's party until he arrived."

Clay was surrounded quickly by the young admirers, patiently signed autographs, visited the classrooms, admired the colorful masks and costumes.

Although late for his drill, Clay spent more than two hours by boxing an amazing nine rounds. Before that he did some shadow boxing and at one point stopped, pointed to the floor and said:

"There's Liston, lying down there."

The champ's defence against Sonny Liston is scheduled Nov. 16 at Boston Garden.

Clay sparred three rounds each with his brother, Rudolph Valentine Clay; Dave Bailey and Jimmy Ellis.

As the ninth round came up Clay had the announcer tell the crowd: "This is the round the Big Bear is going out Nov. 16."

Liston took a day off from his preparations at his Plymouth, Mass., training site but will work out today and Sunday.

AFL Hits Hard

Largest Fines Levied

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Ladd, San Diego Chargers huge defensive tackle, and veteran Houston Oilers' quarterback George Blanda have been slapped with the heaviest fines levied against players in the five-year history of the American Football League.

Commissioner Joe Foss handed down the fines Friday for "actions detrimental to the best interests of the American Football League" in last Sunday's Houston-San Diego game. Foss also warned that further infractions would draw stiffer penalties.

Foss, who said the fines were the largest against players in the league's history, declined to announce the amount.

The New York Daily News, however, said Foss had learned that Ladd's fine was $500 and Blanda's $250.

The commissioner said Ladd was fined for striking Houston's defensive tackle, Ed Hausmann, with a helmet.

Blanda was fined for some outspoken comments about the officiating call on his field goal attempt in the closing seconds of the game. Officials ruled that Blanda's kick went wide.

SIGN COACH

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP) — Veteran Alfie Treen of Kingston has been signed as playing coach of Windsor Maple Leafs of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, the club announced Friday night. Treen, a 33 year-old defenceman, is due here Monday one week before the league opens play and two days after the Leafs open training camp

'Ridiculous Report'

Riders Reassure Clair

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Football Club Friday denied a report in Thursday's edition of Le Droit that Frank Clair's future as coach of the Ottawa Rough Riders depends on the club's performance in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

"It is the most ridiculous thing I have heard in my two years with the Ottawa club," said general manager Red Quinn.

"In all my time here Frank Clair's future has never been questioned or even mentioned," he said. "I am in touch constantly with the club directors and the matter has never entered any conversation."

Robert LaBelle, sports writer with the French-language daily, quoted "very reliable sources" as saying the Riders must do more than eliminate Montreal Alouettes in the eastern semi-finals if Clair is to be assured of another year as coach.

But Ottawa Citizen Barry O'Brien said there has been no discussion of buying up the remaining year in Clair's contract.

"There has been no discussion about Clair at all," he said. We are not the kind of employers to hold a gun to a man's head and say 'win or out.' The whole idea is nonsense. It's an irresponsible thing to say without even talking, and constantly nobody checked with me."

O'Brien said that as far as he is concerned Clair will have "no trouble obtaining a contract renewal when the time comes."

RULES FOR RACING

LONDON (AP) — A London judge ruled Friday that the Aintree Grand National steeplechase, where the Grand National has been run each spring since 1837, must not be sold for a housing development. Judge Arthur Stamp of the London Chancery Court said he was not satisfied that Aintree could not be carried on profitably as a race track. The Grand National is generally regarded as the world's most famous steeplechase.

Regals Get Four Wins In Row

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph Regals, leaders in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Series, could make a runaway of the league this season if they continue to receive the scoring punch from their free - wheeling forwards that they have in the early going.

Friday in Guelph, Rick Hay led the Guelph onslaught with four goals as the Regals posted an 8-3 victory over Welland Buriloaks for the fourth victory in as many starts.

At Woodstock, the defending champion Athletics snapped a three - game losing streak by holding off Oakville Oaks for a 5-4 decision.

Hay's sudden outburst against the last-place Buriloaks helped snap a 2-2 second-period tie forged mainly by the goaltending of Welland's Lynn Zimmerman. Zimmerman made 42 stops, 21 of them in the third period.

SCORE TWO

Defenceman Elmer Skov scored two goals for Guelph and Dave Sulk and Jim Male scored one each. For Welland, Barry Zimmerman, Mike Latin, Patrick and Vance Millar had a goal each.

Linesmates Gerry Striagle and Bill Hay gave Woodstock with two goals. Defenceman Byrle Klinck scored the winner.

Rookie Jim Donaldson with two goals, Gus Mortson and Dave Hall and veteran Melville scorers, Oaks drew to within a goal of Woodstock' with less than six minutes remaining but failed to get the equalizer despite pulling goaltender Bill Monzon in the final minute.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Now you can make constructive changes. View situation in new, creative light. Remain alert. Applies especially in dealings with member of opposite sex. Romance in the air!

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Finish project — keep promise. Family member seeks advice. Don't "pass the buck." Give whatever aid is possible. You will be repaid! Evening especially good for study, learning.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22). Good lunar aspect highlights journeys, putting ideas to work. Feature showmanship, originality. Insist on added touch of elegance or thought, action. Lead rather than follow.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Find the why of things. Don't be satisfied with superficial indications. Dig deep. You could strike pay dirt! Good time for planning. Your intuition rings true. Heed inner feelings.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Cycle high. You receive plaudits, compliments. Watch personal appearance. You may be called upon to speak. Say yes to challenge. Circumstances due to "twist" in your favor. Be ready!

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Appearances apt to be deceiving. Obtain valid hint from today's Virgo message. There are hidden factors. Uncover them. Be thorough. Check details. Ask questions. State views succinctly.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): May be clash of moods involving mate or close friend. Maintain sense of balance, humor. Realize condition is but temporary. Make some concessions. Attend church of choice.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Push ahead. Those "in charge" due to offer encouragement. State needs, goal. Take time in preparation of format. Consult expert. Find out how best to present material.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Favorable lunar aspect coincides with long-range planning. Look to future instead of past. Invite challenge, adventure. Change frame of reference. Mental-energy level very high.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Emphasize originality. Don't follow past patterns. Break through to new vistas. Include the way you handle everyday chores. Take a chance! You have nothing to lose but "the blues."

If today is your birthday . . . you have ability to handle responsibility. But, at times, you become bogged down with details, doubts. Strive for greater outlets of expression.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius. Special word to Geminis. Permit happiness to enter your life!

For November 2

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Key continues to be careful approach. Be patient. Ride your time. Emphasis on partnerships, agreements. Do more listening than talking. Realize you are being observed.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): The more you co-operate . . . the better for all concerned. Avoid obstinancy. Conditions at place of employment due to improve. Good for future planning, solving old problems. Mental activities high.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Favorable lunar aspect highlights romance, speculation, dealings with children. Key is being creative. Don't wait for others. Show that you really are a self-starter.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Frank discussion becomes a necessity. Assert views, needs. Then you earn respect of higher-ups. One close to you confesses "problem." Be sympathetic, mature and aware.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): Stress on journeys, ability to communicate needs. Gather resources. Be courageous. Your intuitive intellect provides reliable guide. State needs. Heed "inner voice."

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Expand...horizons. Look beyond immediate indications. Realize potential. Fine for paying, collecting debts. Persons you seek to impress areabout to swing to "your side."

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Cycle continues high. Good time to make appointments . . . see people. State views with complete frankness. Overcome secret fears, doubts. Day represents test and opportunity.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): What was previously a puzzle . . . now due to become clear. Face facts as they actually exist. Do some careful investigating. You can obtain valuable answers. Major change "in the air."

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Friend should be consulted. Throw false pride away. You can be given valuable aid . . . if you ask. Be analytical. Hopes, wishes due to fulfill ment. Remain aware, alert.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Persons with "influence" now watch your efforts. You can elevate prestige. Do so by taking time to make right choice. Don't rush or permit emotions to rule over logic.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Be sure you are aware of goal. Day when you get what you go after. But you must know where to go. Study charts, directions. You can obtain answers to pressing questions.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Settle money arguement. You do this by volunteering extra services. Key is being mature, co-operative. Marital or business partner needs encouragement. Provide it!

If today is your birthday . . . you have love of beauty, art, music — your sense of fair play leads you to corner of the underdog.

General Tendencies: Spotlight on Libra and Aries. Special word to Cancer. Be sympathetic to needs of family member.

The Trots

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A healthy daily double of $242.20 was posted at the Western Fair Raceway here Friday night, manufactured when Bo Adyn won the first at $26.10 and Chief Operator took the second to return $14.9.

The feature event of the 10-race card, an invitation trot for a purse of $1,200, went to Bobby Reid in the ninth. He paced the mile in 2:10 and returned $4.40 for each $2 win ticket.

Camden Champ, a five-year-old gelding, took top honors in the secondary feature, the 1:30 division Fanshawe Trot with a purse of $500 on each race.

Camden Champ went the mile in 2:11 in the second division to pay $3.80 while Honey Dares accounted for the first in 2:13 3-5. Honey Dares paid $3.50.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Betsy Herbert, a high-stepping brown mare owned by the W. H. Herbert Stable of London, Ont., made Garden City Raceway's first added-money fixture her sixth win of the season here Friday night.

The five-year-old trotter got an expert drive from Jack Herbert to capture the $4,080 Joseph Brant Stakes.

The mare's $2,040 share of the purse boosted her 1964 earnings to $14,345.

The favorite, Danny Song A, key close to Betsy Herbert and as Jack Herbert moved rounding the final turn, Ken Galbraith took Danny Song A with him. Swinging wide, the two trotters made up ground all the way down the stretch.

Owned by Arnold Bell and Earl Ash of Chesley, Danny Song A hung in for second by a head over Cyclone Symbol with Canadian Intrusion another half length back in fourth.

Winless Red Wings Add Pair

HAMILTON (CP) — Last place Hamilton Red Wings of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series have acquired a new goalie and a defenceman. The Wings, who meet the Junior Canadiens in Montreal Sunday announced that they have obtained Jean-Paul Gosselin, 18-year-old netminder from Baie Comeau, Que.

The defenseman is Eric Morris, 18, who comes to Wings from Peterborough Petes of the Central Ontario Junior B League. The Hamilton club sent forward John Tyson, left winger Pete Ververgaert and goalie Allen Frank to Stratford in exchange for Morris.

Coach Danny Lewicki, whose club has only two ties after seven games, said Friday that Peter Firstch of Hamilton will be in goal for the Montreal game. Firstch will make his first appearance when Oshawa Generals play here next Thursday.

Hard-Fought Jr. Final Expected

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's NDG Maple Leafs and Windsor AKO meet here today in what is expected to be a hard-fought Eastern Canadian junior football final.

The teams advanced to the final with respective semi - final wins over Ottawa and Weston, Ont. last Saturday. They will battle for the right to take on the western finalists, either Edmonton Huskies or Regina Rams, who also meet today in Edmonton.

A Canadian finalist for the last two years, NDG is determined to reverse the defeat at the hands of Edmonton in the 1963 Little Grey Cup game played in the West.

The Maple Leafs reached this year's eastern final with a come - from - behind 21-20 victory over Ottawa Sooners, largely on the strength of a solid defence.

Windsor has long been a junior football power, and AKO counts among its graduates such past and present Canadian professional stars as Joe Krol, Bobby Simpson and Tommy Grant.

Gee-Gees Share Leadership

OTTAWA (CP) — Rene Sicotte and Vince Thompson, both of Ottawa University Gee-Gees, share the scoring lead in the Ontario Intercollegiate Football Conference, the league said today.

Each has 42 points, Sicotte on seven touchdowns and Thompson on six touchdowns and six converts. Ed Turek of Waterloo Lutheran is third with 36 points, Bill Stankovic of Lutheran, Bob Law of Ottawa and Paul St. George of Loyola share fourth place with 24 points and Volker Leyerapf of McMaster has 18.

Ottawa and McMaster are tied for the league lead with five wins and no losses apiece. Sicotte is the top rusher with 546 yards in 57 carries. St George is the leading pass receiver with 301 yards on 12 completions.

Quarterback Bernie Young of Loyola has the most yards passing—688 on 30 completions in 72 attempts. Dave Macdonald of Carleton leads in punting with an average of 37.9 yards.

CALL UP DEFENCEMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League called up defenceman Mike McMahon from Baltimore Clippers of the American League Friday so that Arnie Brown of the parent club can attend the funeral of his father in Apsley, Ont. Brown will miss Sunday's game with the Montreal Canadiens but will rejoin the Rangers in time for Tuesday night's encounter in Chicago.

'Slattery' Has Trouble Keeping Politics Secret

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Only Dick Cresna knows how Dick Cresna will vote on election day next Tuesday. But he's been asked it, "says Dick, "who do I like for president, what I think about extremism, what's my position on civil rights.

"I've learned to talk just like a politician and give a politician's answer.

The Cresna all-purpose, all-politician's answer (launched in political drawl):

"Well now I've studied the matter and I see your point of view and I know that in such a serious situation there are always two sides to the problem and I'm going to give it further consideration before I come to a final conclusion."

CRITICISM ON TV

The answer almost always brings criticism with the television critic.

"We've had only two critics who don't like the show," says Dick. "And one of them has been knocking us a lot every weekly. But he doesn't criticize the acting, he takes shots at our political stands."

When the show started out, most of the letter writers asked for an episode on civil rights.

"We haven't done one, because that wasn't the type of situation we had in mind. People are getting the hang of what we're doing now—like the show of Salisbury we just finished rehearsing."

Despite the political tightrope, Dick is pleased with Slattery.

"I've been acting for 27 years, since I was 15, on radio and on radio," he says. "And I've been on television almost since it began. But for the first time, I can walk into this restaurant and people know me — they watch Slattery."

For years, Cresna was squeaky-voiced teen-ager Walter Denton on Our Miss Brooks. Then he switched to hillbilly Luke McCoy on The Real McCoys.

Whichever way Slattery goes, Cresna's career is bound to zoom on the upswing. He plays the title role in the comedy movie of Sinclair Lewis' Please Come Home which will open during the Christmas holidays.

AT THEIR BELLE — Last Day—Carroll Baker as Nina in "The Carpetbaggers" from the best-selling Harold Robbins novel, is showing today for the last time at the Bell Theatre in Belleville. The technicolor film co-stars George Peppard, Alan Ladd, Martha Hyer, and seven other favorite players.

Bill Frank Still At Loose Ends

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tackle Bill Frank has not succeeded in pulling an agreement between British Columbia Lions and Dallas of the National Football League, Lions announced Friday.

The club said it has been informed that Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, has refused to register Frank's new contract with San Diego of the AFL.

This means that Frank still is legally bound to report to Dallas under terms of a trade agreement with Lions of the Canadian League.

Frank, suspended by Lions for disciplinary reasons, was ordered to Dallas earlier this month but went straight to San Diego instead and the AFL club announced his signing Thursday.

The Foss announcement is taken as a sign that all three professional leagues intended to continue honoring each other's contracts.

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the Lions, said he now expects San Diego to advise Frank to report to Dallas. If he makes the Cowboys, Dallas will be obliged to supply Lions with a player in return.

MARINA BURNED
WASHAGO, Ont. (CP)—Fire destroyed a marina on the Trent Canal Friday. Some $75,000 worth of boats stored for the winter and the home of owner John Reid, situated above the main building of the marina, were destroyed.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: How many miles is the following from Belleville: Smith Falls, Portland, Ottawa, Perth, Peterborough, Sudbury, Montreal and London? — Miss W. Bellerville.

ANSWER: Smith Falls — 105 miles; Portland—80 miles; Ottawa — 150 miles; Perth — 98 miles; Peterborough — 84 miles; Sudbury — 276 miles; Montreal — 243 miles; London — 236 miles.

QUESTION. We are planning a motor trip to South America and would like some information as to highways, motels and places of interest, also the proper highway maps. — D. M., Belleville.

ANSWER: The Ontario Motor League does not advise motor traveling in South America at this time, due to the high bond which is required (as high as $10,000) and the necessary documents and red tape which is too lengthy to go into in this column. We advise you to contact your nearest Consulates for complete and up to the minute facts. For your information, tourist cars are not allowed to enter Brazil at the present time either with or without a Carnet.

QUESTION: I would like to spend a week in Washington, D.C. Could you please give me the average temperature for this time of year and the address we, down? — Miss I. C., Napanee.

ANSWER: The average temperature in Washington D.C. for October according to the records of the U.S. Weather Bureau, is average max. 68 and average min. 50.

C.N.R. INSTALLS LOOK-OUT TOWER

Toronto, Ontario — The Canadian National Railways giant new marshalling yards on Metro Toronto's northwest border have a new look-out tower where visitors can view Canada's largest rail complex.

BIG MONEY IN SUDBURY

Sudbury, Ontario — An enlarged replica of Canada's 1951 nickel has been erected in Sudbury's new 17 acre Centennial Numismatic Park. The nickel is 30 feet in diameter, and made of stainless steel. It commemorates the 300th anniversary of the discovery of nickel for commercial use.

It stands on an eight foot stone base on a rocky plateau overlooking this northern city. At night, the monument is illuminated and can be seen for miles. Sudbury is 376 miles from Kingston.

BALA — MUSKOKA, is Ontario's smallest town, 300 population.

TORONTO — When visiting this city don't forget to view the construction of the new City Hall — it is magnificent.

ernment for doing something that he did, and that we approve and agree should continue to be done. . . .

"Of course, if the right honorable gentleman (Mr. Diefenbaker) thinks he made a grave mistake at that time and wants to change his mind, he can get up honestly and say 'I made a fool of myself when I was prime minister' . . . I'll wait."

Under the formula, any four provinces, with the approval of the federal parliament, can be given responsibility over certain federal fields.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said there was no doubt that the constitution must be modernized — even the Quebec leader suggested it when she spoke in Quebec City earlier this month. He said it was useless for lawmakers to single out Quebec when talking about the increasing responsibility of the provinces. "Quebec does not want any special favors."

He compared Canada with a family of 10 children, each of whom was an individual and each having responsibilities. But each having respect for each other in a united family. "Let us stop accusing each other in such an unreasonable way."

CONFERENCE MONDAY

OTTAWA (CP) — The third Canada-Japan technical conference on atomic energy will open in Ottawa Monday. The private conference will be attended by a four-man delegation from Japan, one of several countries expressing an increased interest in the purchase of Canadian - designed nuclear power plants. They will confer with officials of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., and will also visit Canadian nuclear establishments at Chalk River, Rolphton, Douglas Point and Port Hope, Ont.

Seaway Traffic Up Almost 3 Million Tons

(UTAWA (CP) — Seaway traffic between Montreal and Lake Ontario has already exceeded the 1963 season by nearly 3,000,000 tons, with a month still to go, the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority reported Friday.

Cargo movement climbed to 42,79,000 tons at the end of October, an increase of 31 per cent over the same period last season.

Welland Canal cargo traffic reached a total of 43,800,000 to..s, an increase of almost 27 per cent over the same period in 1963.

October traffic between Montreal and Lake Ontario was 4,800,000 tons, exceeding 1963 fi...s by 17 per cent. October traffic on the Welland Canal climbed to 5,000,000 tons, an increase of 14 per cent over the same month last year.

LEGITIMATE ISSUE

This was regarded by many Republicans as a legitimate campaign issue in its relationship to national security, has become the focal point of a campaign of innuendo concerning government morality.

Johnson's running mate, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, has been a particular target of the Republican camp.

Miller accused him of being a founder of an organization — The Americans For Democratic Action—that was "attempting to subvert our traditional American government and change it into a socialistic totalitarian state."

"This campaign is more personal than any I have ever known," he said of former president Eisenhower. "The candidates are just not dancing the same tune."

Columnist David Lawrence of the New York Herald Tribune made a similar criticism recently and added that it was "small wonder that many citizens are not happy about the current campaign and are glad it is going to an end."

Columnist James Reston of the New York Times said the campaign is coming to an end of the election campaign in an unhappy mood. It is not enthusiastic about Johnson but it is clearly not convinced by Goldwater. . . .

Even Walter Lippman, dean of American columnists, said the campaign had been "dragged down to the lowest level within memory."

How One Bored Retired Man 'Washed' His Troubles Away

By THOMAS COLLINS

Roger W. Jackson didn't like retirement. He never thought he would.

But he went through the motions.

"The separation ceremonies at the company went well enough," he says, "and it's pleasant to hear somebody say how wonderful you've been. But retirement parties are basically sad things. . ."

He loafed around home for a month, got his financial affairs straightened out, took a week's trip with his wife to see the children, then went out and found a job that was to turn him into a small-time business tycoon.

"A new coin laundry had just opened in a shopping centre three blocks from home," he explains, "and was having a hard time getting attendants to run it. Mainly it needed an overseer, who could make change, supply soap, call repair men and generally keep things moving.

"I offered to take the job temporarily — it required no special training. It was hardly the kind of work a man who had held a good job would take, but that didn't bother me. I had seen retired men take worse. It embarrassed my wife, but I told her I had to do something or shrivel up and die. . . and this was the best I could find for now."

The coin laundry, anticipating growth, had vacant floor space for 12 extra machines later on. Mr. Jackson got permission from the owner to use this space to start selling soft drinks to the customers waiting for their clothes to dry. He bought a second - hand refrigerator, moved it in, and was now in business for himself. In a couple of weeks he had a transparent door put on the refrigerator. It increased sales. He got permission to sell candy bars, and moved in another second - hand refrigerator, also with transparent door.

"When I wanted to move in a third one — for ice cream — the owner got wise. Why let me operate my private business on the premises when the owner could sell concessions? I pointed out to him that in the deal he was getting me as an overseer for his laundry at a very low salary, and that this was worth more to him than a concession fee. He agreed to go along. In fact he agreed to let me expand, so long as I didn't interfere with the laundry operation, and provided I would sign a rental lease with him for my space when and if my sales reached a certain level. . ."

Mr. Jackson installed two shelves of house plants for sale. "Ladies coming to coin laundries are often apartment or rooming - house dwellers. They don't want shrubbery."

He installed on a wall a large "Want Ad Board" where, for 25 cents his lady customers could advertise anything they wanted — except washing machines.

Then, for the time being, he stopped expanding.

HAVING GOOD TIME

"I'm making some money," he says, "and I get the stipend from the laundry. But mainly I'm having a good time. The laundry business has grown rapidly, due largely to the new life my business ventures have brought the place. I know more people than I ever knew in my life — the people coming to coin laundries are democratic souls, you know. I have something to occupy my time. I have responsibilities. . ."

Mr. Jackson has a plan afoot to have the owner hire three of the housewife customers of the laundry to be part-time overseers. One would work form 7 a.m. to noon, one from noon to 5 p.m., and the third frm 5 to 10 p.m.

Mr. Jackson then would work as a super-overseer, having more free time to come and go. He would still be boss, but would give up his salary in exchange for free rent for his small business empire. Which he intends to expand further.

He faces one long-range problem. If he keeps bringing new life and new customers to the place, the laundry will want to put the extra machines in the area where his businesses are. "But if that crisis comes," he says, "I'll think of something. I'm a laundry expert now. I could open a place of my own. . ."

Driver Flunks Again on His Eleventh Test

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Arthur Ries — who has taken more than 1,000 driving lessons in the last 17 years—has flunked again. This time — his 11th test—he didn't even get behind the wheel.

"I'm bitterly disappointed at the way I failed this test," he said. "There's always a different excuse they give me.

Ries, now 65, took his first driving test in 1947. He failed it.

"I can't remember what excuse they gave me then," he said, "but it's always something and the terrible part about it is that I'm a very fine driver."

Since his first turn-down he said he had spent £3,000 ($8,400) on driving lessons and practice runs.

As a learner - driver, Ries must carry a bright L-plate on the front and rear of his car. Also as an L-driver he is not allowed to drive alone, by only when accompanied by a person with a va'id licence.

FAIL BEFORE START

Ries failed his 11th driving test Wednesday before he got into his car.

He said that as he and the official who was to give him the test approached the car, the official asked him to read the licence number on the back of a truck parked beside his car. This is a standard eye - test procedure in Britain.

"I put on my glasses and I made a mistake in reading the registration," explained Reis, "but I got only one letter wrong. Anyhow, the plate was dirty."

Asked if he would try still again, Reis said:

"Yes. This won't stop me. I shall keep on until I get the licence. I'm a splendid driver. I've never had the slightest accident.'
